Public Service Employes Have Excellent Records —No Accidents at Work

Goals of achievement in safety prevention have been reached by two men employed by the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois in many years of dangerous construction work.

Earl Jencks of Barrington has a record of no lost time accidents for the last eight years. During his time of service, neither he nor any of his crew of men has had an accident causing the loss of working time.

Charles Clinton, of the western division of Public Service, has an enviable regord of 34 years as a foreman of a crew ranging at times from four to 125 men. In all this time he has not had a lost time accident to himself or any of his men.

Hugh Ptolemy, safety supervisor for the company, is amazing on these records said. These records speak for themselves, and it certainly exemplifies the results that can be obtained by preaching and practicing safety. Many awards have been made to the company in the last several years for having the least number of accidents for an organization of its size.
