"Petticoat Fever" Coming to Catlow Sunday, Monday

"Everybody's Old Man" Stars Irvin S. Cobb on Bill Saturday

Little Shirley Temple in sou'wester and slicker is altogether winsome and charming as the waif of the lighthouse in "Captain January," which closes its three-day run at the local theatre Friday.

This salty yarn gives a new zest to Shirley's talents, and as the sweetheart of the sailor-folk, and the darling of the grizzled old lighthousekeeper, she is more adorable than ever before.

The man with the face you can't forget—that's Irvin S. Cobb; a face that even he himself admits isn't altogether popular with its owner! But it expresses such droll humor and such a jovial personality, that Cobb—long a writer of importance—now finds himself a coming star in pictures.

And it is as a star he will appear in the title role of "Everybody's Old Man" coming to the Catlow Saturday night.

Cobb, as a captain of industry on vacation, assumes the burden of reforming a pair of wild, young moderns; and how he wins them around to his way forms a delightful evening of comedy. Rochelle Hudson, Johnny Downs and Norman Foster have featured roles.

Movie-goers will welcome Robert Montgomery in "Petticoat Fever," which is scheduled as the feature number Sunday and Monday.

Myrna Loy plays the feminine lead in this story of a young wireless operator in an ice-bound Labrador station. He is so lonely that when a young girl and her pilot make a forced landing nearby, he holds them prisoner rather than face another Arctic night alone.

From here on the story runs its merry course with humorous, dramatic and unexpected situations cropping up at every turn.

William Boyd in the character of Hop-Along Cassidy has earned himself a great deal of well-deserved popularity. A new Cassidy adventure under the title of "Call of the Prairie" comes to the Catlow Tuesday as the bargain offering of the week.

It will be followed by the Wednesday-Thursday showing of "Things to Come" from the pen of H. G. Wells.

Fans may well be interested in this production from the standpoint of a spectacular prediction of the future 100 years hence. In this amazing flight of the imagination are pictured the mechanistic changes on land and sea and in the air, and the psychic changes in human hearts and minds.

Australia Has Many Plants

Australia has 10,000 species of plants, most of which are peculiar to that continent. The forests of eucalyptus tower 300 feet in the air and single trees reach a diameter of more than 20 feet. Hundreds of varieties of evergreen with seasonal blossoms of great beauty are found everywhere.

Public Donations Increase Volumes in Grove Library

Henry Stiller has been named as chairman of the Fox River Grove library committee and that group is rapidly organizing a unit of many books for the benefit of residents in the community. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Melba Cherney, George Ferenc, George Grahlfs, Mrs. Edith Hegner, Mrs. Maisie Sperling and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Siedenbecker.

Miss E. Graves of Hebron has been employed by the board to catalogue the present supply of books that have been donated to the library. The committee requests that any persons wishing to donate books to the library, leave their gifts at the Grove Drug store where they will be taken care of by the committee. The library has its quarters in the village hall.

Plants Supply Oxygen

Part of the earth's oxygen supply is manufactured by growing plants.
