Old Oak Tree, Administer of Death, Laid Low by Wind Storm

Two days after receiving a warning to stay out of "Death Oak" bordering N. Hough street, two miles north of Barrington, E. C. Wetten, owner of the Wetten farms, found his famous old tree shattered, the trunk broken completely off and the branches spread out over the ground. Death Oak, the legendary dealer of death, was itself a victim of the great wind storm of last Thursday night. Two days earlier, Mr. Wetten and his son were busy sawing off the branches of the oak and its equally famous twin of unknown variety, which are located on the Wetten farms north of the old Hollister's corner. An old timer passing the place, stopped and in all seriousness warned the owner to spare that tree—not for the tree's sake—but to avoid accident. The breaking up of the old tree on Thursday night came as the fulfillment of Old Timer's warning. Because of the very dry season, both trees, which incidentally are said to grow on the highest point of land in Lake county, contained a number of dead branches. Mr. Wetten was told of the tree—the oak was a fine specimen. So was the other, and it was and is interesting because of its undetermined variety. A specialist from the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, one from the University of Illinois, and a tree specialist from the University of Iowa have examined the tree, but none has been able to name it, although in many respects it resembles a Hackberry. The story behind Death Oak is legend. The site of the oak and its mate is said to have been the scene of no less than four unusual deaths of human beings. One person caught in a snow blizzard sought shelter behind the tree and froze to death. Another committed suicide by hanging himself from a limb, one person was found under the tree dead from an undetermined cause, and a fourth was killed in a collision accident on the road opposite the tree. The last death was the accidental one and was the death of Alexander Smith, some 13 years ago. The others are from earlier dates. The oak is gone, but the unmarked tree still stands, adorning the high point of ground.

Frame of First Airplane Ready to Be Covered

The skeleton or frame work of the first airplane to be built in Barrington's new factory is nearly complete with only a few minor adjustments to be made prior to covering it. Wings and fuselage are assembled, the tail is being fitted this week-end, the motor support is ready, airerons are in place, and even the two eight gallon gasoline tanks are tucked snugly between the supports of the upper wing, neatly resting above the front cockpit of the plane. Another week or ten days will be required before the wings and fuselage may be covered. In fact the battle of building the body of the plane is practically won. However, several weeks will elapse before the first motor unit is delivered, ready to put in place at the extreme front tip of the fuselage. The crankcase of the patented lightweight power unit has been delivered and checked for return to the foundry preparatory to finishing the permanent mold. If the power unit is delivered in three weeks, the airplane will be assembled and ready for government inspection and test flight by October 1.

Relief Corps Presents Flag to Boy Scouts of Troop 21

Acceptance of a large parade flag, a gift of the Woman's Relief Corps, in one of the several vivid memories which boy scouts of Troop 21 will carry with them from their many activities of the summer just ended. The presentation ceremonies took place on the evening of August 20 at the high school gymnasium with nearly all members of the troop present and in the presence of several members of the Lions club which is sponsor for Troop 21. The W. R. C. women who made the presentation were Mrs. L. E. Murphy, Mrs. Ed. Rieck and Mrs. H. W. Grimm. At present the boys and scoutmasters Burris, Cloar and Charles Kosack are arranging a very busy program of activities for September, a program which will fill much of the scouts' spare time without interfering with their school work. The troop's activities for July and August included an all day hike July 11 to Indian Lake where they met Des Plaines Troop 18. On July 20 the boys left for camp where they remained for the first two weeks of August. On August 22 seven of the boys and scoutmasters Kosack and Cloar hiked to Fox River Grove to meet the honor scouts of Camp Oh-De-Ka-Ta who were on a four day canoe trip down the Fox River as a prize they won for being honor scouts at the camp. After greetings in the honor scouts, the Barrington boys held a target practice near Fox River Grove. Charles Kosack is a new scoutmaster of the troop. In charge of the program will be very busy with the program which will fill much of the scouts' spare time without interfering with their school work.

Professor Would Take Laurels From Ericsson

Another patriotic myth has been forced to lower its colors in the face of careful historical research.

writes William E. Rae in a Boston paper. The popular conceit that the United States led the rest of the world in the introduction of ironclad warships and that the dramatic combat between the Monitor and the Merrimack began this revolution in naval architecture which transformed navies the world over receives no countenance from Prof. James Phinney Baxter, assistant professor of history at Harvard and master of the seventh house to be built under Harvard's new house plan.

The dramatic qualities of this first fight between ironclads have led Americans ever since to exaggerate the efforts of the battle of Hampton Roads. Professor Baxter says, "An examination of manuscript material in Paris, London and Washington shows clearly that France, not the United States, played the leading role in the introduction of ironclads."

DOORBELL RINGERS

Today I watched two aggressive sales ladies "making" one of Barrington's principal residence streets. House to house, doorbell by doorbell, they were keeping up a fairly even pace. Each had a notebook and pencil in hand, each wrote into her little notebook the names of the residents farther down the street. You know how it is done—"and could you tell me the name of the lady who lives in the next house?" "Mrs. Brown?" "And who lives in the white house beyond that?" etc. And then at Mrs. Brown's house:

"How do you do, Mrs. Brown. One of your good friends, a Mrs. Campbell, urged me to see you and let you in on this wonderful opportunity. You know we only do business with the best people in—" and a lot more whoopey.

These two transient saleswomen were apparently working together, one taking one side of the street, one the other, stopping at every house in every block they could possibly reach between trains. Yes, they were honestly impartial—energetically trying to offer every house wife in town that one golden opportunity that comes once in a while, about once every half day—that always present golden opportunity to get fleeced.

Itinerant saleswomen, house to house solicitors, peddlers, amateur fleecers. Most of them are amateurs, rank amateurs. It is the unreliable business houses behind them that are the professionals.

The sad part about this house to house situation is that it continues and persists. There is only one reason why a community like Barrington can not shake itself free of these peddlers like come to pester in winter as well as in summer, during hard times and good times. There are suckers in the community who furnish them encouragement to stay, to come again, and to pass the word on to others to pick on Barrington. In other words, these house to house peddlers actually succeed in pawing off their wares—inferior wares—in exchange for good sound money.

OFFENSIVE SIGNS

In keeping with what is becoming a world-wide protest against offensive signs and billboards, the authorities of Paris have decreed that no signs shall be displayed on its famous thoroughfare, the Champs Elysees, which advertise any goods not actually sold on the premises.

Recently protests were heard in Spain concerning objectionable American billboards which mar the landscape. In this country the women's clubs and other organizations are waging a campaign against the billboard nuisance.

By their erection of signboards which spoil the natural scenery along the highways, and by their encroachments in residential sections of our cities, the billboard people have brought upon themselves the just resentment of that section of the public which has regard for appearances.

When we become more civilized the billboard will go the way of the town crier. As an advertising medium it is an anachronism already.

A new contraption enables a man without vocal chords to sing. A more useful device would be one to fix a fellow with vocal chords so he couldn't.

War trophies go begging for lack of parking space. Practical folks prefer a live flyover to a dead cannon.

The Way of Life
By BRUCE BARTON

ARE ALL THE CHANCES GONE?

You run across all sorts of surprises in the course of a business week. For instance, the vice president of a big chain store organization was telling me a business story. And what do you suppose he based it on? The Bible.

He has charge of the company's personnel. It is a job to sort over a hundred young fellows in order to find the one who will start at small wages, work long hours, and fight his way up to the top.

The prizes are big, but the battle is hard, and only the toughest survive.

The part of the Bible to which the vice president referred was the Feeding of the Five Thousand. Five thousand tired and hungry people. The Lord said, "Feed them."

His disciples, who were practical men, were aghast. "We can't do it," they protested. "It would take too much money."

Others urged: "Send them away."

Finally a boy was discovered in the crowd with five small loaves and two fishes. Said my friend: "All they had to work with was what that boy had."

"So with our company," he continued. "It's one of the leaders, yet there isn't a really brilliant man in it. We've all come up from the ranks."

"We can get money to do anything that we need; but money alone won't do it."

"We can get materials and equipment."

"But all we really have to work with is what our four thousand boys have. They are going to decide what this business will be in the years to come."

When we had this conversation business was booming and all big industries were employing more people. Since then we have had a heart-breaking period of unemployment.

But, good times or bad times, the search for ability goes on. At the bottom of the depression the president of one great industry asked me if I knew where he could find a twenty-five-thousand-dollar man. The president of another said: "We have installed a system of compulsory pensions. We must make sure that this business will continue in the future to be run by young men."

The size and the set-up of businesses change, but their message to youth is just the same:

"Come on with your five loaves and two fishes. All we have to go on is what you boys have."

THIS WEEK IN Washington
Special Correspondent

THE EYES of the entire country have been focused on the appointment of Walter S. Gifford to head the President's Relief Committee. It is generally realized that Mr. Hoover, in taking the step, has returned to a field in which he is conceded by everybody to be supreme—that of relieving distress.

Gifford is the commander of five billions of capital and the employer of hundreds of thousands of workers, as head of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The mere size of any problem means nothing to him; a valuable asset to a man faced with the prospect of caring for an unemployed army of between five and seven millions of people out of work. His main task, however, will not be to deal out direct aid, or to draw upon the Federal Treasury for money to alleviate the sufferings of citizens, but to coordinate relief plans being made by the multitude of cities and states.

President Hoover believes that every community is able and willing to handle its own problem by raising a fund sufficient to care for its people out of work. States will handle the destitute rural districts, he believes, and all that is left for the Federal Government to do is to correlate all these activities so that all will be taken care of without draining the Federal Treasury.

Comment in Washington is that the President has come close to solving the condition and the working out of the plan will be watched with absorbing interest. Mr. Gifford is a man of deeds. He has the real set of figures as to the number who can be expected to ask for aid, along with the number of public works that have been set on foot to furnish employment. Most of these figures have been obtained by the President's Committee on Employment, whose active head has been Frederick C. Croton, the man who headed the work under the direction of Colonel Arthur Wood.

Mr. Croton has been named chief assistant to Mr. Gifford. He brings with him all the figures he has lined up the last year and the new bureau will start fully armed with information that it would otherwise take months to get and assimilate. It is expected that immediate results will begin to appear and the criticism that Mr. Hoover is doing nothing to avert distress will die down.

DEMOCRATS HERE are making capital out of the recent letter to the President from Governor Roosevelt, of New York, who is conceded the best chance of being the opposing candidate to Mr. Hoover in next year's presidential race. The letter carried a question, asking if the Federal Government was dealing directly with Canada in regard to the St. Lawrence river power project. As New York, which is the state most affected by the project, has been dealing with Canada itself, Mr. Roosevelt naturally wanted to know what the National Government was doing, and if its work was conflicting with that of the New York experts.

Instead of replying directly to Governor Roosevelt, Mr. Hoover turned the letter over to the Under Secretary of State Castle, who replied in an informal personal letter couched in a patronizing manner, saying that New York's interests would be carefully watched. The Governor thereupon gave his letter over to the papers, letting the public judge as to the merits of the controversy. The result has been to make it appear that Mr. Hoover is using the project as a political football, the one point he tried to avoid by handling the situation in an informal way. The fault is laid at the door of one of Mr. Hoover's advisers, but, politicians here say, it will not aid Mr. Hoover when he asks for votes from New York's upstate farmers.

THE ENTIRE COUNTRY is watching Governor Roosevelt's other controversy, the one with Tammany. The latter demands that the Legislative inquiry now on foot, uncovering Tammany's political sins, be enlarged to cover the entire state, and particularly the upstate Republican cities. They hoped to stall off action by the State Legislature, which has been called into an extra session with the aim of increasing the powers of the investigators. It looks as if Governor's action would result in adding to the troubles of Tammany and reprisals on Mr. Roosevelt, are being expected by the politicians. The Governor is gaining in prestige nationally by this controversy and observers point out that both Wilson and Cleveland, the last two Democratic presidents, were elected in spite of the bitter opposition of Tammany.

MORE FIRST AID

A small boy isn't worth a cent that doesn't try to climb the shade tree in the rear lawn once in awhile. Naturally he may fall in his effort to get somewhere, that he doesn't belong. He may tumble from his tricycle in an unusual spurt of speed. He cuts his scalp; it bleeds something fierce; he runs to mamma howling for first aid.

Don't fear fracture of the skull from a trifling injury. Don't fear bleeding to death. Wash the wound with clean soap and warm water, using clean things always. DON'T POUR PEROXIDE IN A SCALP WOUND at any period. After washing as above, paint the wound with tincture of iodine; smart a little, but apply freely. Dust freely with talcum powder and apply a loose bandage. Keep the wound dry until recovery.

For a "crop" of chiggers, get at 'em early as possible, before they have bored in deep. First scrubbing with good soap and water; dry, and apply the bug-icide, whatever you have. I use a mixture of carbolic acid, one dram, spirits camphor, one ounce, menthol twenty grains, and rose-water, enough to make four ounces. This can be dabbed over the lesions freely, allowing it to dry without wiping off.

Sunburn is not to be sneezed at—it has been accompanied by big doses of the ultra-violet ray—a blessing in disguise. The oxide of zinc, in a dram to the ounce of rose-water ointment will soothe the inflamed skin in time. Keep out of the fierce sun until well.

For a child's "busted toe," bruised, torn and bleeding, soak the foot in water with a teaspoonful of carbolic acid—or formalin—to the pint. Make the member clean. Then apply soft dressing of carbolized or borated vaseline and wrap comfortably.

SIDELIGHTS
By MABOY E. DARNALL

A pig belonging to Merle Harley of Cedar Rapids, Ia., might be rated as the Lindebergh of the porkers. A bald eagle swooped down to the unsuspecting pig and started to fly away with him, when Harley grabbed a rifle and brought down the bird from a height of about 20 feet. Landing safely on the ground, the pig fan back to his trough and resumed his slop, instead of strutting about like a hero.

H. Angolevitch, a cabinet minister of Yugo-Slavia, experienced a ride shock to his dignity upon his early morning arrival by train at Belgrade. Arousing from sleep he found that thieves had stolen all his clothes from an open window in his compartment, and he was able to leave the train only after members of the crew had lent him some workman's apparel.

This is a fish story, but George R. Besser, superintendent of the Denver civic center says it is true. Three months after he placed 16 goldfish in a small pool for breeding, their number had increased to about 200,000 which required their transfer to a larger lake in one of the city parks.

Herr Burchmann of Berlin was recently given a 3-year sentence for robbery and laughed heartily, thinking it a good joke. It seems that in addition to being philosophical, he also has a sense of humor. The joke lay in the fact that he had already been given sentences aggregating 205 years, for committing some 500 robberies; so he didn't mind three years more.

An odd account of a church service recently appeared in the Cedar Rapids (Ia.) Gazette, which told that "Last night Evangelist Scoville spoke on 'The Bible Hell' and Mr. Deloss Smith sang 'We Will Meet You There.'"

Rev. Henry Teichmann of Berlin was suspended by a council of his church for "degrading a serious religious ceremony." His offense consisted of marrying two couples in an airplane. Then his critics went up in the air.

From a missionary in the Solomon Islands comes word of the sad plight of the natives with suggestions for their relief. He writes: "Our small force of brethren are unable to cope with the distress which prevails in this lighted land of cannibals. Many natives are starving. Please send a few more missionaries."

In 1916 Fred Barnes, an English actor, befriended a millionaire of Yonkers, N. Y., during the Zeppelin raid over London. Recently the millionaire died, leaving $425,000 to Barnes in token of his gratitude. Not to be outdone in generosity, Barnes in turn has given $100,000 of his legacy to hospitals of Yonkers.

Speaking of words the inconsistencies of the English language in matters of tense are interesting. We have swim, swam, swum; why not skim, skam, skum? If we may say speak, spoken, spoke, why not seek, sook, soaken? Or if get, got, gotten, why not let, lotten? And if see, saw seen, why not fle, flew, fleen?

It is a curious historical fact that the five Presidents of the United States who died in office were elected in 1840, 1860, 1880, 1900 and 1920, at 20 year intervals. Wonder if this peculiar circumstance will cause any superstitious aspirants to say "I do not choose to run in 1940."

The worst play on record is reported from an Eastern city, where it is declared that the disgusted audience began leaving soon after the first act had gotten well under way. A little later they were pouring out of the theater in droves, causing some way to shout: "Women and children first."

Henry Ance of Pleasanton, N. J., thought to do a 32-year-old mare a kindness by shooting her. The mare seems to have had similar ideas about Henry and when he approached on his errand of mercy she kicked him to death.

State News

Secretary of State William J. Stratton was granted a life membership in the State Association of Supervisors, County Commissioners, County and Probate Clerks and County Auditors of Illinois at its meeting in Springfield, he having been a supervisor for fourteen years.

Brigadier General Richings J. Shand is the title by which this popular state military officer is now known. He was retired as property and disbursing officer for the federal government on his 64th birthday, but re-appointed from the retired list to continue service as acting assistant adjutant general.

Illinois ranked second only to Michigan among the east north central states, according to the recent Wickertman crime commission report, in the total cost of penal and corrective treatment in 1928, spending $3,117,515, a per capita expense of 40.9 cents. The report said, however, that figures could not be taken "as a basis for judging the relative efficiency and economy of the penal and corrective systems of the several states." "A low cost per inmate," it said, "may mean an efficient or economical institution, or it may mean a parsimoniously run, inefficient institution, which makes rather than rehabilitates criminals."

Per capita cost of penal and corrective treatment in large Illinois cities, outside of Chicago and Evanston, as given in the Wickertman crime commission report based on 1928 figures, starts with Rockford at $2.96 and proceeds downward in this order: Springfield, Oak Park, Quincy, Aurora, Peoria, Joliet, Cicero, Waukegan, Berwyn, East St. Louis, Danville, Elgin; then at less than $2.00, Alton, Decatur, Maywood, Moline, Belleville, Granite City, Rock Island, and Galesburg. Galesburg's figure is given for year ending March 31, 1931, and Bloomington per capita is not given. Chicago's per capita cost is $6.05 and Evanston's $4.05. This includes police, prosecution, courts, penal and correctional institution and probation costs.

Interest in Russia's experiment, "The five-year plan," has stimulated the publication of a large number of books about this country, within the past year. Of special interest is Mark Shak's "New Russia's Plan," written for the use of Russian boys and girls, to acquaint them with the "Five-year plan" of construction. This book has been translated by George S. Counts of Columbia University with the purpose of explaining to American adults the various phases of the Russian experiment. Other books written on Russia's economic and political policies are: Hoover, "Economic Life of Soviet Russia"; Hindus, "Red Bread"; Fischer, "Sovietism in World Affairs"; Hoppen, "The Sovietism"; Eddy, "Challenge of Russia"; White, "These Russians"; and they are available for loan from the Library Extension Division, Springfield.

Just Thinkin'
by Charles S. Kinnison

Me and Touse Head

We're the first uns out of bed—
Me and little Touse Head.
She's alert and happy-eyed—
As for me, I'm petrified!
She is laughing, full of play,
Life to her is very gay—
Full of sunshine, birds and flowers,
Gay and gladsome are her hours.

She's a sprite of glad delight,
But her Dad—oh, what a sight!
He's as fresh and clear as mud—
Hear his footsteps' gentle tread!
She is like the morning dew,
Sparkling 'neath a sky of blue.
Rosey-tinted is her cheek,
But her Dad—oh, hear him creak!

We're the first uns out of bed—
Me and little Touse Head.
Hear our laughter, watch us run—
Gee—we have a lot of fun!
Eat our breakfast, laugh some more,
Roll a minute on the floor.
Leave the house and wave good-bye—
What a lucky guy am I!

Many Great Stars Featured in Week Program at Catlo

"Framed" will have a sensational definition in "The Vice Squad," which plays the Catlow theatre Thursday and Friday nights.

"This picture has been furnished with an abundance of big city photographs and a host of interesting scenes. It carries the story of a highway robbery and a trickery. It tells a story of intrigue and trickery. It tells a story that only the newspapers have dared reveal heretofore.

Paul Lukas and Kay Francis play the part of a young man and woman who are in love. A special group of admirers will be in effect Friday night, keeping with Barrington's Dollar celebration.

Saturday night brings the new Nancy Carroll-Fredric March picture drama, "The Night Angel," to the Catlow screen.

Miss Carroll, in the title role, is seen as the daughter of an impoverished and disgraced countess who is seduced by a notorious night club boy and capital of modern Bohemia. March is the public prosecutor with a brilliant legal mind, who brings about the arrest and incarceration of the countess only to arouse the hatred of the tempestuous Nancy.

When a brutal episode of the set conceals a fiendish plot against March, Nancy's feelings toward handsome young man change to love and the ensuing events lead the pace through a series of exciting heart-thrilling scenes in which suspense and thrilling suspense are ever in the air.

The ending is a happy one.

John Rubin in "The Messing Boy," a cartoon and news review, will be a variety of comedy and interest for the Saturday night program.

For Sunday, Sept. 5 and 6, the Catlow theatre has secured for its showing in this locality, Richard Dix in "The Public Defender."

The picture presents Dix in other remarkable characterizations of a returned war hero who has been so keyed up by the tense excitement of his battle experience that civil life is impossible for him. There are no more wars, and he not fight legitimately, so he organizes a campaign of his own against business shysters and society snobs who steal and cheat and are glib and weak and cunning and seem under the protection of the law.

To do this he fronts a double-edged knife in his natural self, an ideal young man, searching for information. At night he becomes a sinister agent, depending on his victims leaving a card reading: "Public Defender" to remind them of their mate fate.

With Dix in this unusual story Shirley Grey, Ruth Weston, and Madge Brasse.

The Bobby Jones golf series continue to grow in interest as the scores follow one another.

"Driver" is the subject of the "Golf Lesson" which will be shown in "The Public Defender."

Comedy and romance are blended together, are the principal ingredients of "The Great Lover," which will be at the Catlow theatre Tuesday and Wednesday night of next week. Adolph Menjou provides the mance, with his sparkling and friendly lordly love affairs with six beautiful girls; while Ernest Terroff, Cliff Edwards and Rosco Ates carry the comedy burden.

Other players of prominence Irene Dunne of "Charmony"; Hamilton of "Strangers May Meet" as the young lover; and Buckland "Son of India" with Ramon Novarro in the starring role and a supporting cast which includes Conrad, Marjorie Main, and Madge Brasse.

Chicago and these will be added to the permanent display in the local state museum gallery. The majority of the paintings and sculpture are the work of Chicago artists.

Major Outdoor Life for Illinois, published by the department of conservation, gives interesting and instructive information about fur-bearing animals, fish and birds. An account of the fish and fish hatcheries will add and includes a number of illustrations of the latter. Raising bluebirds and the breeding of quail, which are two of the recent projects of the department, are given considerable attention. The booklet also contains a great deal about other upland birds, as well as aquatic ones.

Many Great Stars Featured in Week's Program at Catlow

The sensational "Annel," which opened Thursday night at the Catlow Theatre, has been furnished by the city "atmosphere" beholder right in the metropolitan area. It tells a story which has been dared by Francis head group admission Friday night in the town's Dollar Day.

The newest March romance "Annel" to the title role, is that of an impoverished woman who owns a modern Bohemian public prosecutor, a man who brings about the prosecution of the woman because of the hatred of her.

The Messenger and news reviewer will come to the Catlow theatre next week Thursday and Friday. The picture is splendid with picturesque backgrounds, strange sights and unusual costumes, such scenes being faithfully reproduced as the streets and building of Bombay, India, with its quaint and colorful bazaars, the rugged mountain passes in which the bandits carry on their nefarious trade; and the jungle scenes in which the tiger hunt and elephant stampede take place.

O. preached in the morning and Rev. F. F. Jordan in the afternoon. The Sunday school, Sunday afternoon, was attended by 955 persons. An offering of $102 was taken up. All regular church services were well attended. One of the features of the camp was a combined band made up from four Sunday school orchestras and directed by Lloyd Ritzenthaler of Prairie View.

Enlarge Board
The board of directors was enlarged from seven to eleven. The aim of the board is to bring additional churches into the group. Eight hundred voting persons attended the special meeting of share holders. Several important improvements to the camp were voted. Among them was a new fence on the park along Hillside avenue.

This year's camp meeting will go down as one of the best in its 58 years of history. A joyful incident occurred during the Sunday service when Rev. J. G. Schwab, district superintendent, announced to the congregation that Fred Frye of Barrington was celebrating his 88th birthday. After suitable words spoken by the chairman, Mr. Frye responded in well chosen words announcing that he had attended all of the 58 camp meetings on the local grounds.

Fishing License in Notebook Leads to Arrest of Thieves

Brothers Found in Cottage Near Wauconda; Both Plead Guilty

A burglar's nest, fitted and equipped, and the two confessed thieves who stripped an automobile at Greenwood, were reported located in a cottage on Paddock lake, near Wauconda, Thursday, ending a sheriff's search which started with the finding of a little note book.

Frank and Will Beeler are the men. They were arrested, following the discovery, on a charge of stealing auto tires, batteries, radiator caps, and other automobile accessories from the Will Schmidt farm at Greenwood, McHenry county.

The two men, who are brothers 25 and 27 years of age, confessed to the robbery after being questioned by Deputy Sheriff Lester Edinger, Deputy Sheriff Harold Reese, and Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county.

Only Claw

The small note book was the only claw which led to the men's detection as the thieves who had committed the Greenwood robbery, which was perpetrated August 20. The book had been dropped near the Schmidt garage by one of the men. It was a fishing license issued to Frank Beeler. On Thursday, Sheriff Edinger and Deputy Reese went to Wauconda and in cooperation with Sheriff Tiffany rounded up the two bandits. At first both denied the robbery, but later owned up to it.

The cottage where the two boys were staying disclosed the fact that they may have been other "jobs" performed by one or the other of the brothers. Dynamite, tools of various descriptions and in general a regular nest for a gang of thieves was found in the cottage.

Were Using Loot

Both boys were taken to Woodstock and placed in the county jail preparatory to hearing. "On one of the cars owned by one of the brothers was found one of the tires and a battery stolen from the Schmidt farm. On another car was found the other tire and battery, and also a rear mirror.

Paper Has Kept Growth

In the United States the history of paper is the history of the country. When the Revolutionary war broke out there was hardly enough paper available to wad the guns of the soldiers or upon which to write the orders of their officers. There was virtually no paper. By 1810, however, the use had increased to about one pound per capita per year. It had grown to over eight pounds in 1850. The Civil war greatly accelerated consumption, which reached 25 pounds in 1861. In 1880 it was 57 pounds; in 1921, 150 pounds, and today the people of the nation annually consume more than their own weight in paper.

Federal Aid Sought for Fox River Improvement

Improvement of Fox River in Lake and McHenry counties by the federal government was boosted another step when Congressman Adolph J. Sabath spoke at a meeting of the Nunda-Algonquin Fox River Improvement association at Cary Sunday.

Sabath outlined the plan and urged the 200 members present to confer with Congressman Frank R. Reid of Aurora and urge him to introduce a bill at the next congressional session asking the federal government to appropriate funds to be used in making the river navigable.

Hens Busy

The treasurer of the Ladies Aid society of a Greensburg church made a deposit for her organization in a Greensburg bank recently. At the deposit window she spoke to the teller, whom she knew. The deposit was a considerable one for a church organization and as she passed in the money she said: "Here's the aid money." The teller understood her to say, "Here's the egg money." Then came the break. "Well, it looks as though the old hens have been laying pretty good lately," was his comment.—Indianapolis News.

Guests Brought Coffins

A custom of the Middle Ages was referred to at a party to inmates of Norwich (England) Great hospital, a hospital for aged men and women. When the inmates were admitted years ago, each had to bring a coffin. It was found, however, that the coffin was used as a cupboard in the cubicles and when some of the old people died the coffin was worn out. Nowadays instead of a coffin, each man and woman takes in $1 to provide a shroud.

Michael Coffey Asphyxiated by Gas From Stove

Neighbor Starts Investigation Which Leads to Discovery of Victim

Gas escaping from a gas burner in the kitchen caused the death of Michael Coffey, 57, in his home at 236 N. Ray avenue Tuesday evening.

Investigation was started when suspicion of Robert Miller, a neighbor, was aroused about 7:30 p. m. Tuesday evening because he had seen Mr. Coffey around his place at 10 p. m. Sunday. He went to the door but received no response.

Breaks Window
Miller then called Chief of Police E. W. Baude, who appeared immediately. Baude tried to force the door but it locked from the inside. The key in the keyhole. He then broke the window and entered the house. The back door also was found to be locked. Baude finally gained entrance by breaking a window and releasing the lock and found the house filled with gas. Mr. Coffey was found breathing heavily in a room adjoining the kitchen in which the gas was escaping. He spoke to him but received no response.

A local doctor and M. H. Seber, local superintendent for the Police Service company, were called. The pressing system of resuscitation was administered for two hours, to no avail.

Accidental Death

An inquest was conducted Wednesday evening at the Park funeral home by Norman J. Ryan, deputy coroner of Lake County, jury returned a verdict of accidental death. According to testimony at the inquest, it appeared the burner, which was only four years old, had been open for some time as it was a rear burner and the signs of little use.

Mr. Coffey was a widower, he having died on Aug. 9, 1927. He had been living at his home alone at that time. He was born in Rockford, where he spent most of his life. He is survived by two brothers and one sister living in Rockford. Burial will be in the green cemetery Saturday.

Ask Contract Bids for Paving Hough Street to Track

Raised Tracks, New Cross to Eliminate Bad Place Barrington Street

Agreement has been reached between the village trustees of Barrington and the officials of the North Western railway relative to repairing the Hough street crossing with the result that the board is to widen the paving from the existing south Main street.

A call for bids for the work is listed on another page of the Review. Bids will be received up to 5 p. m. Sept. 28, for contract to build a seven inch concrete strip on either side of the road to increase the clearance of the tracks consistent with that of the main tracks and thus eliminate the crossing hump. The strip will be 40 feet wide at the side and taper to a width of 20 feet at the north side of the tracks. The type of crossing has not been decided, although the tentative call for concrete. If a concrete crossing is laid it will be at the expense of the state, and of course depend on the state highway commission's approval.

Build Creek Bridge
With the promise of the railway company to raise the switch for a smoother crossing, the officials of the last board agreed to build a bridge over Flint creek at a point where the creek crosses a road owned by the railway. This bridge will convenience the stock shippers at the location of the stock yards. The board is prepared to select a low bid for the concrete bridge, decided at a special meeting Tuesday, to attempt to get 2, 20 for a frame structure. The board on the concrete bridge was a matter $100 above the bid of a frame bridge. The board decided the concrete.
