WRONGDOER PAYS THE PRICE

Society's Penalty on Man of Wealth and Position Guilty of Complicity in Bribe Giving.

With the recent departure from New York of a certain gentleman who has his wife on a ship bound for Germany the curtain falls on a little tragedy about as pathetic as any to be found in fiction. The story can be told without naming persons or places, but the man possesses a large fortune, and until a few months ago he was a prominent banker, honored and trusted by everybody, in a leading city of the United States.

When official investigation disclosed wholesale bribery and other forms of corruption in the city government this old man, overwhelmed either with remorse or with fear of a prison sentence, appeared in court, confessed himself guilty of complicity in social orgies of a bribe giving and was fined $500. But that was the smallest of the penalties that fell upon him.

He realized that he had wronged society, that the community no longer respected him and that mere wealth was not recognized as an atonement for crimes committed by the possessor. And so, with the winter of age upon him, this broken man has gone back with his faithful wife and his money to spend his last days in seclusion in the fatherland where he is known a poor boy, nearly half a century ago.—New York Sun.

Suggestions That Hurt.

It is cruel to constantly remind children of their deficiencies or peculiarities, says Orline Wade Meeker, in Success Magazine. Children shrink from being seriously injured by the suggestion of inferiority, and defects are exaggerated when they have been pointed out to them. This sweet, beating hyphen against the bad does not help the child half as much as heeding its mind full of the good, the beautiful and the true. The constant love suggestion, purity suggestion, nobility suggestion, will so permeate the life after awhile that there will be nothing to attract the opposite. It will be as full of sunshine, as full of beauty and love, that there will be little place for their opposites.

The child's self-confidence should be buttressed, braced, encouraged in every possible way; not that he should be taught to overestimate his ability and his possibilities, but that he should be to God's child, that he is heir to an infinite inheritance, magnificent possibilities, should be instilled into the very marrow of his being.

Proper Attitude Toward Life.

There is considerable misapprehension in regard to work. Many of us long for opportunity, long for leisure in which to enjoy ourselves. This is a wholesome idea. But no idle person is happy. Of course, it's pleasant to be able to choose one's work. For those of us who cannot there is often a certain mental attitude toward work which will do the taste of rebellion. We may feel sorry for ourselves because we have to work. Right here you get the martyr spirit, which again is a thing that you hate your stepmother. But your father loves her. Your duty comes in your loyalty to your father. You may hate your stepfather. But your mother likes him. He may have his good points. Anyway, your attitude should be loyal. Work is what is expected of you.—From an Article in Farm and Fireside.

Brakes on Progress.

Major Duley of Little Rock, in an interesting address on municipal ambition, said:

"We'd make faster progress in improving the city if everybody if we didn't meet with so many foolish objections.

"One man, for instance, will object for religious reasons to the extermination of mosquitoes. Another, if he knew he will say, hence they must be here for some good purpose.

"It's all very laughable.

"With a little more concerting sic feel our said the other day to his neighbor:

"I see the health board is after spitters.

"Then, by gosh!' said his neighbor, 'how's a fellow goin' to get a grip on his chew?'"

Full Vengeance Exacted.

The Abyssinian code of vengeance goes far. The individual chosen as the victim must be killed, and he is informed. An instance is recorded of a man armed man who was the victim of a crime committed by one of his relatives. The man killed the injured party was, however, not satisfied with this sacrifice, and his family had to kill another member of their own tribe, in order that the spirit of their injured brother might rest in peace.—From an Article in Catholic Mission.

FLEES DANVILLE QUIZ

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER SUDDENLY GOES TO DETROIT.

Hardy H. Whitlock Alleged to Have Been Urged to Leave Before Subpoena Could Be Served.

Danville, Ill.—Hardy H. Whitlock, who was indicted for embezzling county funds, returned to Danville in custody of Sheriff Shepard and gave bond. In a newspaper story Whitlock said that he had received no subpoena.

Mr. Whitlock was asked to what extent he had been urged to leave. He declined to answer the question, saying that he had not been brought out at his trial and before the grand jury he was called.

Mr. Whitlock suddenly changed his mind about remaining in Danville, and left for Detroit. Previous to the statement is being freely made on the outcry and rumor that persuasion that Whitlock was urged to return to Detroit before a subpoena for the grand jury could be served on him.

Sheriff Shepard and his deputies began Monday to serve bench warrants on some of the persons who have been indicted.

Seventy-six additional indictments for vote selling were ordered prepared by the jury.

ARCHBISHOP RYAN IS DEAD

Passes Away at His Residence in Philadelphia—Had a Notable Church Career.

Philadelphia.—Most Rev. Patrick John Ryan, D. D., LL. D., archbishop of Philadelphia, and one of the greatest archbishops of the country, died Saturday at the archiepiscopal residence.

Archbishop Ryan, known as the greatest orator of the Catholic church in America, was born April 11, in Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland.

He came to Philadelphia in his native country, coming to America in 1853 and going at once to St. Charles.

On April 14, 1872, he was consecrated bishop in Rome, with the title of bishop of Tricomia, and made coadjutor to the then venerable Archbishop Kendrick.

During the Civil war he was chaplain of the soldiers stationed at St. Louis, and in 1866 he went to Rome at the invitation of Pope Pius and delivered the Lenten lectures in English.

During the strike of the anthracite miners of Pennsylvania in 1900 Archbishop Ryan, who in 1884 had been made archbishop of the Philadelphia diocese, spent more of his time in the coal fields. The strike ended and conciliation was much sought. He influence with the miners, and that they was said to have kept many acts of violence from being committed.

While chaplain of the military prison at St. Louis, which was known as the Gratiot street, he did much good among the prisoners, baptizing as many as 600 converts in a day.

JAMES BOYS' MOTHER DIES

Mrs. Samuels, Who Defended Sandt Sons, Passes Away Suddenly.

Oklahoma City, Okla. — Mrs. Zerelday Samuels, mother of the comedian bandits, Jesse and Frank James, whom she defended from being captured by her wit and courage for 20 years, died in her bedroom at her home on a San Francisco train near Ada, Okla. Her death was due to an abscess at the age of eighty years.

With her husband, Frank James. They were en route from Fletcher, Okla., the present home of Frank James, to Kansas City, a distance of 500 miles from the old James homestead in Clay county, which is now one of the most noted strongholds of outlawry on the border.

Forty years ago, during an attack on the James boys by detectives, a bomb was thrown into the house and tore away Mrs. Samuels' right arm. Mrs. Samuels was of aristocratic ancestry.

TERRITORIAL TRADE GROWS

America's Business With Its Distant Possessions Reaches $202,494,343 in Year.

Washington. — Within the last fiscal year the trade of the United States with its noncontiguous territories doubled in value, according to statistics issued by the statistician of the department of commerce and labor.

IN LINCOLN'S HONOR

MARTYRED PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED AT SPRING-FIELD, ILL.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE PRESENT

Taft Briefly Addresses Joint Session of Legislature and is Principal Speaker at Elaborate Banquet Held in Chamber of Commerce.

Springfield, Ill.—President Taft was the honored guest of Illinois at the celebration of the 102nd anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln and the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the great emancipator from Springfield for the White House in Washington. There were many other distinguished guests from many sections of the country.

President Taft and his party arrived early in the afternoon, having come from Springfield, where Mrs. Taft's private car on the interurban from Decatur, where they were met by Representative Israel Dudgeon of Morris, chairman of the joint legislative committee in charge of the program. As soon as Mr. Taft alighted from the car the cannon were fired with Maj. Gen. Edward C. Young of Chicago as grand marshal and Adjt. Gen. F. S. Dickson as his chief of staff.

The First regiment, from Chicago, acted as an escort to the president, and the regiment was furnished the military music, turning out slightly over strong. The parade moved down Capital avenue to the state house, as the presidential suite of twenty-one guns was being fired.

Arriving at the capitol the president entered the building and was received by the two houses of the legislature in special joint session. To the lawmakers he made his first address of the day, speaking briefly but spiritedly. Mr. Taft and the other visitors were then escorted to the old Lincoln home at Eighth and Jackson streets.

The culmination of the day's events was the great banquet in the arsenal in the evening, which was held beneath the new monument. Mr. Taft and the other guests entered the memorial hall at 8 o'clock and were reverently viewed the priceless Lincoln relics preserved there. These include much of Lincoln's correspondence and the famous autograph which he wrote on one sheet of paper. The party also viewed the empty sarcophagus of the Emancipator's key for many years.

PAY ROLL FRAUDS BIG

U. S. STEEL CORPORATION DEFRAUDED OF THOUSANDS.

Evidence Shows Thefts Made Possible by Carrying Dead Men As Employes.

Hammond, Ind.—Evidence adduced in the trial of John T. Caldwell and Charles Hloomhoff, former timekeepers at the Indiana steel plant at Gary, Ind., charged with conspiracy to defraud, shows that the United States Steel corporation has been swindled out of upwards of $500,000.

The aggregate size of thefts were made possible by carrying dead men, straw men and missing men on the pay rolls, through the negligence or connivance of the defendants.

It has been brought out during the trial now under way for three weeks that a dead employee of the United States Steel company was carried for months on the pay roll. Hloomhoff and Caldwell are asserted to have purchased a garage and automobile on Indiana avenue, Chicago, with proceeds of the alleged peculations. The two defendants are in jail to-day. The defendants charge that higher officials of the United States Steel company—are involved in the conspiracy.

PLOT TO RUIN COTTON CROP

Governor-Elect Smith of Georgia Exposes Scheme to Infect Fields With Boll Weevil.

Atlanta, Ga.—Governor-elect Hoke Smith Saturday gave out a statement exposing a plot of New York speculators to infect the cotton fields of Georgia and South Carolina with the dreadful boll weevil in order to be able to make a fortune in the market next season by reducing the crop and raising the price of Dixie's staple.

The first information came to a letter to Mr. Smith from a man, whose name he refuses to give, but in whom he places entire confidence. At Mr. Smith's request the writer came here from New York for a personal visit with the governor-elect. Convinced by the evidence offered by this informant, Governor-elect Smith has given proof warning to the farmers and the planters of the south that two plotters have in their possession at least 1,000,000 live boll weevils, and are waiting their opportunity to scatter these destructive insects over Georgia and South Carolina.

FAMILY OF SEVEN KILLED

Father Coming in Late Jars Gas Tube Connecting Pipe and All Are Asphyxiated.

Philadelphia.—A family of seven persons, including the father, mother and six children, died in their home Monday by illuminating gas in their home at Kensington.

The dead are: Hyman Berkowitz, forty-two years old; Rosa Berkowitz, forty years old; Minnie Kingsman; Michael, twelve; Israel, nine; Sarah, six, and Jacob, two.

The family was killed by the accidental opening of a rubber gas tube from a gas pipe running across the ceiling of the room and the flooding of the house with gas.

TRIUMPH FOR PACT

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY WINS FIRST ROUND IN HOUSE FIGHT.

VOTE ON TEST TO 120

Democrats Act Solidly to Displace the Regular Order and Give Priority to Canadian Agreement—Opponents Are Almost All Republicans.

Washington.—The McCall bill carrying out the Canadian reciprocity agreement reached the floor of the House Monday and that body by a vote of 197 to 120 decided to begin its immediate consideration.

Immediately after the representatives met Mr. McCall of Massachusetts called up the reciprocity bill. Objection was made by members of the District of Columbia committee, this being district day on the house calendar, and a motion of no quorum also was made.

To insure a full vote a roll of the house was ordered, and all members were summoned to the chamber.

The roll was followed by an overwhelming majority for reciprocity.

While the vote to dispense the regular order on the house calendar cannot be accepted as an exact indication on the final vote on the reciprocity bill, it is regarded as being approximately so.

The vote against taking up the measure came almost entirely from the Republican side. The Democrats voted almost solidly for immediate consideration.

Some of the Republicans who voted against displacing the regular order are not expected to place themselves on record against reciprocity at a final vote.

Mr. McCall will handle the time for debate in favor of the bill and Mr. Dalzell will handle the time for the opposition.

DIAZ TROOPS SLAY FAMILY

Massacre Aid to Rebels and Seize $1,500,000—Forty Federals Killed in Battle.

Galveston, Tex.—Reports of the massacre of an entire family of insurrectos in Pueblo, Mexico, and the seizure of $1,500,000 in gold coin were brought here Monday on a steamer from Frontera, Mexico.

Passengers on the steamer, presently the government, upon information that Agustin Sandoval, a prominent Puebla merchant, was acting as a treasurer for insurrectos, sent a force with a machine gun to his house. They took possession, and found the place apparently deserted.

Finally a secret cellar is said to have been discovered, containing the money, and his family were hiding. All surrendered, whereupon, it is alleged, the troops immediately shot the entire family in the cellar. Some of the prisoners is said to have revealed more than $1,500,000 in gold and negotiable securities.

Delayed advices received here Monday clear up suspense over the results of the fighting between insurrectos and federals around Medina. Word received the middle of last week told of federal reverses in the battle which on rebel lines at Medina. News received here says the tide of battle remained the same, but it is alleged that the federals retreated to Olinga, their base of supplies. Rebel forces were unable to check General Luque's retreat, and heavy loss of ammunition was exhausted. The federal loss was 40 killed and wounded.

TAFT AIDS ABSTAINERS' MOVE

President Writes Letter Which is Read in 3,000 Sunday Schools Throughout Country.

Chicago.—With the intention of enlisting all the Sunday school children in the support of the local abstainers' movement, a letter written by President Taft was read in 3,000 Sunday schools throughout the country.

The letter was written by the president December 29 and is addressed to Sunday school pupils as "My dear young friends," and reads:

"I am very anxious that the use of liquor is the cause of a great deal of poverty, degradation, and crime of the world, and one who abstains from the use of such liquor avoids a dangerous temptation.

"Abraham Lincoln showed that he was a great man by the care he bore for his friends the pledge of total abstinence which he made. Every man must determine for himself the course he will take in reference to his tastes and temptations, but I am very anxious the self-restraint to avoid altogether the temptation which liquor exerts on the safe and wiser side."

HEREDITY

Can Be Overcome in Cases.

The influence of heredity cannot, of course, be successfully disputed, but it is a fact that many diseases can overcome in some cases by correct food and drink. A Conn. lady says:

"For years while I was a coffee drinker I suffered from billious attacks of gloom and despair, from which I used to emerge as white as a ghost and as weak as a child. Your physician gave me various prescriptions for my relief, but I continued to suffer from the liver, which I tried faithfully but without any success.

"He was acquainted with my family history for several generations and once when I complained to him he said: 'If you have inherited one of your mother's ailments you will have to suffer more or less from its inaction. You can't dodge our inheritance, you know.'

"I was not so strong a believer in heredity as he was, however, and, beginning to think for myself, I concluded to discontinue the cause of what effect that would have. I feared it would be a hard struggle to give up, but when I took Postum and had it well made, it convinced me that I was free from the pain and debilitating effects that result from coffee.

"The change is surely very great, and I am compelled to give Postum the exclusive credit for it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.
