Wondering Is a New Feature of The Review

Did you know that automobiles will be parked in ferris wheels in Chicago, that there are exhibits in the Field Museum of fish that carry nets and actually swim for other fish, that a program has been mapped out for cleaning up the streams in Cook county's forest preserves? If you did not know it, we refer you to page 10 of this issue of The Review where there is published a column of feature news about the Chicago vicinity under the caption of "WONDERING."

The editors of The Review wish to call your attention to other features of The Review. "THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON" is a weekly review letter written by the Washington correspondent of The Review. This letter includes a review of that type of personal Washington information not found in the daily newspapers. "THE WAY OF LIFE" by no less an author and student of psychology than Bruce Barton, "THE FAMILY DOCTOR" by Dr. Joseph Gaines are also features which have been appearing weekly in The Review.

Accident Occurs on Park Avenue Opposite North Western Depot

Cecil Schreiber, 20-year-old son of Mrs. Flora Schreiber, 242 E. Main street, sustained serious injuries about the face, a broken jaw bone and possible skull fracture when he ran into the side of a moving automobile on Park Avenue near the North Western station at 1:15 p. m. Saturday.

William Stout, 431 N. Thought street, was the driver of the automobile. Schreiber had returned from the Sowers' taxi barns after completing some odd repair jobs on the automobiles and was standing talking to Mr. Sowers when he recalled having left his wrist watch at the barn. He turned suddenly to get it, running through the heavy traffic on Park Avenue, and there met with his unfortunate accident. It is believed that the heavy foliage which borders the pathway to the street prevented his seeing the oncoming car which was approaching from the east. His face struck a protruding hinge on the door of the car which lacerated his face and threatened the loss of an eye.

The young man was picked up in an unconscious condition and taken to the Barrington General Hospital where first aid treatment was administered. He was taken to a hospital in Waukegan Sunday afternoon for further care and treatment. Latest reports are that he is resting and his condition is somewhat improved.

Many Children at Story Hour Goblin Party

A merry group of 45 children met at the library Wednesday afternoon and were entertained by the librarian, Mrs. Violet Barrington, and her assistant, Miss Helen Drussel.

Each guest was in costume making the party a colorful occasion—so much so that the judges had a difficult task in deciding which costume deserved the award.

Donald Jorgensen, as the little witch with the broom stick, was the chosen one to receive the prize for the most appropriate costume.

Games and contests kept the happy folks busy for an hour, after which refreshments were enjoyed by the little people and several of the mothers who were also guests.

Interest for the story-hour is steadily growing. It is open to all children from 3 to 5 o'clock each Wednesday afternoon.

Cuba Card Party at Biltmore Nets $175 for Charity Work

Township Relief Fund Is Near $500 Mark; Heavy Demand Anticipated

Net proceeds of $175 were realized from the card party held at Biltmore Country club last Friday night for the purpose of increasing the Cuba township relief fund, according to figures received from Mrs. Harry Hammond, chairman of the card party committee.

This sum amounted to considerably more than had been expected by the committee which are managing a series of three entertainment events to raise money for the township relief fund. Two hundred twenty persons were at the party, and gross receipts of slightly more than $200 were realized. By keeping expenses down to the minimum, a net sum of $175 will be turned over to the relief fund through the township board.

The party was a successful affair from every point of view. Bridge, Five Hundred, Bunco and other games kept the large crowd entertained throughout the evening. The affair was arranged by the following women: Mrs. Harry Hammond, Mrs. H. D. Kobay, Mrs. Henry Pepper, Mrs. Leo Riley, and Mrs. Andrew Grom.

Cecil Schreiber Runs Into Moving Car; Badly Hurt

Accident Occurs on Park Avenue Opposite North Western Depot

Plan Joint Meeting Barrington and Cuba Relief Committees

A joint meeting of the Cuba township and Barrington relief committees is scheduled for next Wednesday evening at the office of the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois. The purpose of the meeting is to plan for coordination of the relief work in order to prevent duplications and omissions. The meeting will be called at 7:15 o'clock.

Defunct Little Railroad Freed of Tax Burden

Taxes on the idle Palatine, Lake Zurich & Wauconda railroad, that ceased operation in 1920 after funds were exhausted, were cut from $30,000 to $1,700 by County Judge Perry L. Persons on the request of Attorney Paul MacGuffin, counsel for the road.

MacGuffin pointed out that as the right-of-way is not used for a railroad, and as there is no sale in sight on the line for railroad purposes, that it carries no more value than adjoining farm land.

A tax of $300 on 350 acres of St. Mary's of the Lake Seminary at Mundelein was also abolished by the court when Attorney Max Przyborski and Attorney Harold Talbot explained that all of it was being used for educational and religious purposes and not for profit.

First Baby of Month Club Is Prepared to Initiate New Member

And now it is almost baby time again.

A second stock race is scheduled for the first part of November, when the earliest infant arrival of the month will become a member of the honored First Baby of the Month club of Barrington.

A large announcement of the event appears in this issue of The Review. Eighteen business firms of the village have prepared an array of gift prizes which will make the big event in some home a great event—and a mighty happy birthday party.

The first baby of October was a boy. Will the first baby of November be a boy also, or will a tiny girl take the honors of the Thanksgiving month?

Although the first baby gets most of the prizes, there will be two nice gifts for the second baby and a gift for the third—there is a third baby in November.

The baby must be the child of parents residing in Barrington or near-by communities as outlined in the page announcement. The merchants sponsoring this club do not care whether the baby is born in one of these communities or not. The father or some other relatives of the early babies should register them with A. C. Barand, village clerk.

Barrington Farms May Receive Fire Department Aid

Subject Comes Up Again Before Board; Hope to Work Out Feasible Plan

The matter of adding to the present fire equipment an auxiliary fire truck to handle emergencies on farm roads and the purchasing of an auxiliary fire engine for the fire department was discussed, but no action taken, Monday night, at one of the quietest meetings of the village board in many months.

The subject of furnishing fire protection to surrounding farms is not a new one as it has been brought up and discussed several times before by boards prior to the present administration. The matter was turned over to the fire department committee to work out some feasible plan to present at a later meeting of the trustees.

The committee plans to call a meeting of residents around Barrington whom it would be possible to serve with an auxiliary truck and then try to convince some cooperative plan to finance and upkeep the truck.

Two plans were suggested Monday night: one, that the village purchase the truck and charge a sufficient rate for emergency calls that would justify such an expenditure; and two, that the surrounding residents' cooperative fund the truck and turn it over to the village. The village in return would furnish the volunteer firemen and maintain the truck.

The fire department committee of the board also was authorized to order six new mailcoats at a cost of $7.30 each.

Help and Job Wanted Classified Advertisements Will Be Published Free in Next Issue of The Review

When a charity dollar is given in payment for the performance of an odd job, it ceases to be a charity dollar and becomes remuneration in an honest-to-goodness business transaction.

Believing implicitly in this statement, The Review will donate classified advertising columns next week to the cause of finding jobs for unemployed. In other words, there will be no charge on help wanted and jobs wanted advertising.

Any man or woman who is out of a job is invited to place an advertisement in next week's issue without cost. It will be suggested that he tell the kind of work he prefers, and give whatever details may be included in a five line advertisement.

Any person who has a job to offer, whether it is steady employment or merely two hours work of putting on storm windows is invited to insert an advertisement of this kind in The Review next week. It will be suggested but not required that such details as wage rate, etc., be included.

Most Barringtonians who are employed and have incomes are glad to donate one or two dollars to charity. They will be glad to pay that amount to men or women out of work for doing some odd job around their homes or places of business. And most Barringtonians who do not have an income or money saved will be glad to pick up a few dollars by doing honest work here and there.

The Review will go to press a day earlier next week. Those persons who can take advantage of the offer should bring or telephone their want ads to the Barrington Review, 100 N. Cook street, telephone Barrington No. 1, not later than Tuesday night, or mail them not later than Tuesday morning. There will be no charge.

HUGE DROUGHT TASK MET BY RED CROSS

Relief Given to Distressed Helps in Meeting Serious Situation, Chairman Payne Says.

"The year of the great drought," as these past twelve or more months will be known to future generations, wrought great damage to millions. Not alone did the crops, which were burned in the fields in twenty-three states, in the summer of 1930, deprive several million persons of food, but the drought disaster continued in the summer of 1931 in the northwestern states and also brought other minor catastrophes in its wake, such as forest fires, and the grasshopper plague.

More than a year has elapsed since the American Red Cross launched, in August, 1930, its first moves for relief of the drought-stricken farmers, and in that time more than 2,750,000 persons were given food, clothing, medical aid, shelter or other type of assistance. At no period during this year were there fewer than 70,000 persons being aided and at the peak of the relief work on March 1, last, more than 2,000,000 persons were being helped.

Today, still as a result of the drought, the Red Cross is giving extended relief in parts of North Dakota, Washington and Montana, where resources of hundreds of families were wiped out this past summer, when a second and more severe spell of dry weather was prolonged in that region.

This drought relief presented the greatest task that has ever been undertaken by the Red Cross as a peace-time activity. The Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, while more spectacular and calling for relief of a costlier type, because homes and possessions were swept away, affected hardly one-fourth the number of people who suffered because of the drought.

In addition to the broad program of drought relief still being carried on, John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, has given the following suggestion to Chapter chairmen, in regard to unemployment relief: "Where there is suffering and want from any cause and the fundamental local needs are not being met, Chapters may participate in the community plans for meeting the need."

Some type of general family relief, whether for the drought victims, the unemployed or the war veteran and his family, were carried on by more than 3,000 Red Cross Chapters last year, Judge Payne said.

"The drought relief work of 1930-31," he added, "the relief now being extended following last summer's drought, principally in Montana and North Dakota; the assistance which is being given to ex-service men and their families; and the part which several hundred Chapters are taking locally in their communities' relief measures are activities of the Red Cross, national and local, which have met and are meeting some of the serious needs of the present situation."

RED CROSS RELIEF IN 79 DISASTERS IN YEAR

Forest Fires, Plagues, Storms, Earthquakes, as Well as Drought, Call for Help.

The forest fires which have raged in Idaho and other western sections this year have presented a serious disaster—one of a number, in addition to the enormous drought relief problem, which have been met by the American Red Cross relief forces.

Suffering, faith and courage are contained in a story coming from the Priest River section in Idaho, told by a volunteer Red Cross worker as follows:

"Picture a happy little homestead near the banks of Priest river in northern Idaho. While father, with a little son tagging at his heels, is out tending crops and adding to the clearing, mother is at home making preparations for another arrival. Then comes the fire demon, sweeping all in its path. While father fights to protect his little home, the stark announces its arrival.

"Mother and baby are bundled in a quilt and loaded on a truck for the race through the flaming forest. Father drives the truck and the little boy sits at his mother's side, brushing away the sparks which fall like rain upon the improvised litter."

To the Red Cross worker, the mother expressed her anxiety to return to the hills to rehabilitate the little homestead. All they possessed was lost in the forest fire. The Red Cross aided all of the families and is working to help them rebuild their homes.

Altogether seventy-nine disasters called for Red Cross help and money during the year just closed. Aside from the drought, which required services of volunteer workers numbering more than 60,000, and a

Chief Justice Hughes In Tribute to Red Cross

One of the finest tributes ever paid the American Red Cross and its membership was that by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, on the occasion of the fiftieth birthday anniversary of the organization on May 21 of this year. Mr. Hughes said:

"The American Red Cross represents the united voluntary effort of the American people in the ministry of mercy. It is the finest and most effective expression of the American heart. It knows no partisanship. In the perfection of its cooperation, there is no blemish of distinctions by reason of race, or creed or political philosophy.

"However we may differ in all things else, in the activities of the Red Cross we are a united people. None of our boasted industrial enterprises surpasses it in efficiency. . . . It moves with the precision and the discipline of an army to achieve the noblest of human aims.

"The American Red Cross is not only first in war but first in peace. The American people rely upon its ministrations in every great catastrophe. It has given its aid in over one thousand disasters. When, as we hope, war will be no more, still the Red Cross, in the countless activities of relief and rehabilitation, will continue to function as the organized compassion of our country."

drought relief fund of more than $15,000,000, of which $5,000,000 came from the national Red Cross treasury, help was given in 22 fires, 13 tornadoes, eight storms and eight floods, six forest fires, four earthquakes and four mine explosions, three typhoons and three epidemics, two cloudbursts, and one each hurricane, mine cave-in and railroad accident.

Aside from a major catastrophe, such as the drought, when the whole public was asked to contribute funds for relief, Red Cross relief in these disasters was met from the organization's funds and from special local contributions. Part of each membership, subscribed to Red Cross Chapters at the roll call period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward this important work.

Aid for War Veterans

More than 430,000 ex-service men and their families were aided through 3,008 Red Cross Chapters and the national organization during the year ending June 30, 1931. Dependent families were cared for veterans' claims were filed, hospitalization obtained and many other services given. Part of each contribution during the American Red Cross annual roll call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward supporting this vital work for veterans of the World War and other wars in which the United States has engaged.

Red Cross Life Savers

The right to wear the red and white insignia of the American Red Cross Life Saving service has been earned by 335,895 persons, who have been graduated in the organization's expert life saving classes.

World-Famous Diamonds From Golconda Region

The only diamond known to the ancients came from the Golconda mines of India and the nearby mountains. The Great Mogul and the Koh-i-noor, oldest of all known diamonds, and the scarcely less famous Orloff gem, each with a history reeking with romance, were found in this region.

The Koh-i-noor, also known as "The Mountain of Light," is said to have been discovered 4,000 or 5,000 years ago, says Gas Logie. It was kept safe in Delhi until the Persian invasion of India in 1739, when the Persian conqueror craftily gained possession of it by exchanging his turban for that of the dethroned Indian ruler, in whose headgear the diamond was concealed. Finally, after passing from ruler to ruler, the Koh-i-noor was presented to Queen Victoria in 1849, and it is now in the British Royal treasury at Windsor castle.

The Great Mogul diamond of 240 carats, figured in some of India's worst revolutions, but disappeared from sight when the Persians conquered India two centuries ago.

The greatest of all diamonds is the Cullinan, now unofficially called "Star of Africa." Weighing 3,025 carats, it was found in South Africa in 1905. Of the more than hundred stones cut from it, the largest, 516 1/2 carats, is in the British scepter, while the second largest, 300, is in the British crown.

Nickname That Stuck

In about 1881 President Garfield appointed a man by the name of Robertson as collector of the port of New York. At that time there were two factions in the Republican party, and one of these factions opposed the appointment of this man. Roscoe Conkling and Thomas H. Platt were both senators from New York. Senator Conkling protested and fought against this appointment. Senator Platt merely agreed with his colleague. Thomas Nast, who was a famous cartoonist at that time, in his cartoons labeled Senator Platt as "Mr. Too." The nickname stuck.

Provide for the Birds

Pheasants and other birds do not attack melons, tomatoes and berries because they have a particular liking for them, but because fruits and vegetables contain water which slakes their thirst, California game officials have discovered. It is not necessary to use rifle or shotgun to keep the birds away from fruit and vegetable crops if containers with water are placed at convenient points where pheasants and other feathered species are found in abundance, the official report.

Quotation on Verbosity

The celebrated quotation on verbosity was delivered by Benjamin Disraeli in a speech made in London on July 27, 1878. He was referring to his great rival Gladstone, who he said was: "A sophisticated rhetorician, inebriated with the experience of his own verbosity, and gifted with an egotistical imagination that can, at all times command an interminable and inconsistent series of arguments to malign an opponent and to glorify himself."

'The Star Witness' to Play at Catlow Sunday, Monday

Wheeler and Woolsey Antics in "Caught Plastered" Start Tuesday

"Skyline," which plays The Catlow theatre Friday and Saturday nights of this week, is one of those rare screen entertainments that holds one's interest from beginning to end.

The story is unusually gripping. Thomas Meighan, Hardie Albright, Maureen O'Sullivan, Myrna Loy and Donald Dillaway are the featured players.

"Skyline" depicts the adventures of a young man, who has never known his father, and who rises from the city's slums to the heights, by sheer pluck, aided by a girl's true love.

"The Star Witness," featuring Charles (Chic) Sale and Walter Huston, and coming to The Catlow theatre Sunday and Monday nights, depicts ways by which Camp, leader of a group of thieves, silenced those who might have appeared against him at the trial. Kidnapping the boy of the family, he threatened his death if the truth was revealed. Chic Sale plays the lad's old fire-fighting Civil War granddaddy—who on a forty-eight hours leave from a soldiers' home, devises a clever way to foil the thugs and help the cops.

An unusual selection of short subjects will add interest to this bill. Community sing in which Don Keller, soloist with the University of Illinois Glee club last year, will be featured, will add further variety to the program.

For Friend's Night, next Tuesday, and the Wednesday following, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, will be on The Catlow screen in their new comedy feature, "Caught Plastered."

Opposite Wheeler is Dorothy Lee, a combination flittingly called "Romance and Juliet of the Comedy World." Wheeler's whimsical love-making and Dorothy's charm are very much in evidence all through the picture.

Action plunges into an absorbing story, strange as that may seem in connection with comedy.

Wheeler and Woolsey enter a mid-western town on their uppers. They meet Ma Bailey, who is about to lose her drug store because of the machinations of a villain.

They take over the store to save her from the pothouses, and are about ready to pay the "heavy" when he spikes their soda with liquor and tips off the police. When things are darkest, Dorothy Lee (daughter of the local police chief), outmaneuvers the crook.

"I Like Your Nerve" starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will play The Catlow theatre Thursday night of next week. With him is Loretta Young, and this personable pair will carry the audience through a story of breath-taking speed showing "Doug" as a wealthy young American involved in political intrigue in a Central American republic. He averts a revolution, saves the finance minister from ruin and incidentally wins the minister's daughter after spectacular kidnapping on the eve of her marriage to another.

Stuart E. Pierson, director of the state department of agriculture, observes that low-priced grain and forage crops that go to waste suggest a revival of horse breeding as a timely plan to cut the costs of farm power and to reduce the crop surplus.

Cary

Mrs. Elizabeth Dunn, a reverent group of home folks emerged from S. S. Peter and Paul church on Tuesday of last week after attending the services for a neighbor who had died after a long life in the community which had loved and greatly appreciated her.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dunn nee McGraw, had lived her life almost entirely in and near this community. She was one who chose to do well the simple things of home and neighborhood life.

She assumed no place as a leader, but in all the activities wherein she was needed she took a part and added her encouragement. In her later years Mrs. Dunn was in poor health, but this did not affect her cheerfulness.

The funeral services were attended by a large gathering of friends. Relatives were present from Barrington, Des Plaines, Chicago, and Wauconda, Rev. Kilderry was assisted by Rev. McCormick of Crystal Lake and Rev. Keenan of Dundee. In addition to the music of the church service, the voice of Mrs. Bessie Kydner and James Neely, Jr., rendered the favorite hymns of the deceased.

Mrs. Dunn leaves a family of two sons and one daughter, besides her husband, John Dunn of Cary. The sons are Edward of Wauconda and William of Cary. Mrs. Lillian Oleott of Barrington is the only daughter.

Return of Newbeoms

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boomer returned Thursday from their honeymoon trip through Kentucky and Tennessee and are very enthusiastic about the beauties of that region. They enjoyed ideal weather. All the historical points around Nashville and Chattanooga were visited and the scenery of Lookout Mountain and Signal Mountain was especially pleasing as it was adorned with autumn colors. But the most charming visit was at Gatlingburg, Tenn., in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Here they enjoyed auto trips, hikes and hill climbing, visits to homes of local characters, horseback rides on mountain trails, and a night spent in a cabin on Mt. LeConte at 6,000 feet elevation.

Since the return of Rev. Marshall E. Miller, by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, to serve another year as minister to the local church, there has been a new organization of the various committees assigned to the work of the congregation. Mr. Miller comes back with many new plans for more definite activity in the groups making up the Sunday school and church body. He plans a monthly social meeting or forum and some interesting programs are expected. Recent meetings of the committees and officers have been held. The interest is greatly renewed. Friends of the church should be pleased to know of the progress of the Sunday school under the direction of Mr. Vynadek, of Fox River Grove, and his corps of teachers. The young people are finding that Sunday school classes can be of great social advantage and of real educational interest, as well as helpful spiritually. Solicitation for the church needs, is going to be given a more hearty reception now, because of the good that the young people are finding in its enlarged program.

Chopin's Ancestry

The grandfather of Chopin—named Shop (Szop)—at one time migrated to France, and there Chopin's father was born, writes a correspondent to a Philadelphia paper. By that time they added that "in" at the end of their name to "Frenchify" it. Then the family moved back to Poland, where young Szopien—that is the way they spelled it—was born in Zelazowa Wola. At that time there was a great deal of such migration. So, Chopin or, to spell it correctly, Szopien—the same pronunciation—was born in Poland of Polish parents, with a Polish family, and was a Polish patriot.

Windmill Study

To keep alive the art of building windmills, a town in the Netherlands has a natural training course for boys and girls which teaches windmills.

Mouses Like Towns

One of those great dwelling houses which are like small towns has been opened in Vienna. It is built round grassy courtyards set with trees, and will house 5,000 people in 1,382 flats. It has cost $4,200,000. In the building are two electric laundries, two bathing establishments, two kindergartens, a dental clinic, a "mother's" advice center, a library, a post office, a chemist's, and 25 other shops. The bathes are heated by the steam which is electrically generated for the laundries.

Helping Mother

Gene was near by when her mother and a neighbor were discussing the approaching housecleaning problem. A few days later when the four-year-old's mother returned from an errand, the youngster, smiling, ran to meet her, saying: "I helped you, mother. A woman wanted some old clothes and I cleaned out your closet."

Her Choice

I know but two lovely things in the universe—the starry sky above our heads and the sense of duty within our hearts. All the wonders of creation are included in these.—Madame De Staël.

H. H. The autobiography is now in possession of Mrs. Harriet F. Richardson, Milwaukee, Wis.

The "Farm Warehousing Act," a law which has been inoperative since its passage in 1927, has been placed in active operation by Governor L. L. Emmerson. This law enables cooperative agencies to store grain under the state's seal. The law will enable Illinois farmers to hold their grain for higher prices.

Governor Louis L. Emmerson recently visited his birthplace at Albion. He gave an address in the Little Prairie church which celebrated its 103rd birthday anniversary. The church was established on a farm settled by Governor Emmerson's grandfather in 1817.

Lewis B. Springer, superintendent of the division of forestry, and Stanley S. Locke, assistant state forester, have returned from a very successful lecture trip in northern Illinois. The purpose of the lectures was to give the people a better knowledge of the problems involved in forestry and how they might be better met by the state and the nation.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson recently stated that the flow of cash has turned back toward the banks of Chicago and Illinois. Auditor Nelson said that he believed confidence has been restored and that hoarders of money are bringing their savings back for deposit.

In a report of a survey made jointly by Illinois and Federal departments of agriculture a corn crop of 338,180,000 bushels is forecast for Illinois. This is about one and one-half last year's corn crop. The average yield per acre was placed at 37 bushels.

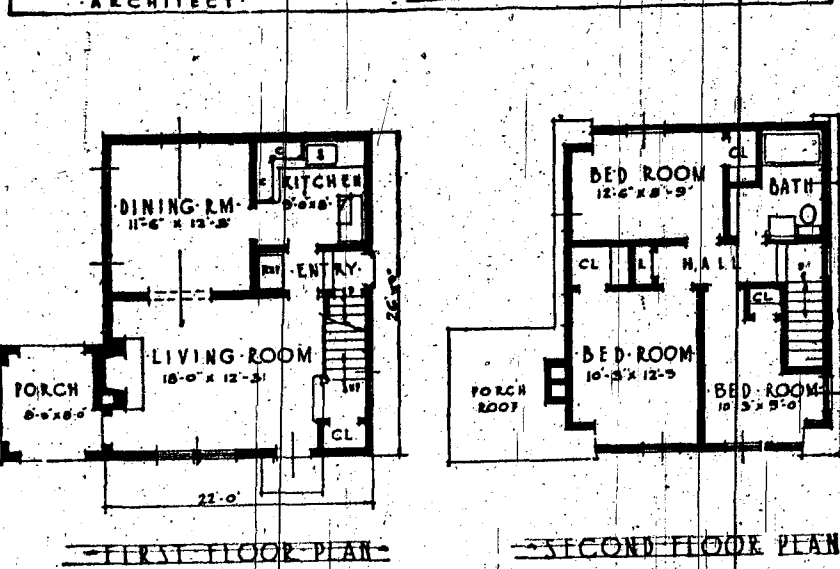

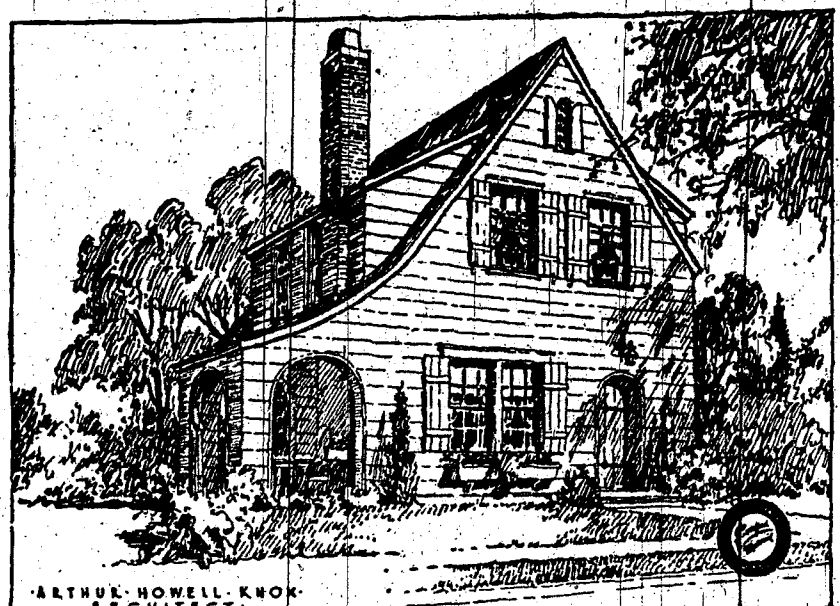

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois District of the United Mine Workers of America, in a recent interview forecast a six-hour day and five-day week for coal miners and a bright future for the coal mining industry.

Praying Pilgrims

Mariaville is still the most famous pilgrim resort in America. On the eve of St. Peter, in June each year, great hosts of pilgrims leave Vienna and other places for the famous shrines, just as they have been doing for centuries. Half the population lives on the 50,000 pilgrims who go there every year, many coming from America to pray before the silver altar and the Twelfth-century statue of Our Lady of Mariaville. Over the mountains to Mariaville they went in thousands on foot years ago, but today the trains carry for the climb. Mariaville is a famous winter resort and is usually packed at Christmas time. Those who love the grotesque effects of Gothic architecture will find much interest in the church.

Beautiful Home for the Average Family is Easily Available

This attractive English cottage is ideal for the family of moderate income. It's not expensive to build, yet it contains all of the conveniences of the average family needs and desires. It contains six large comfortable rooms and arranged in such a fashion as to ease the work of the housewife.

The main section of the house is 22 feet by 26 feet. A porch to the left, which gives the whole unit grace and charm, adds eight feet to the width.

The first floor has a good size living room with an open fire place. At the far end, a stairway leads to the upstairs or sleeping portions of the house. From the living room, one goes directly into the dining room through a large well designed opening.

The dining room is 11 feet 6 inches by 12 feet 3 inches and well lighted by three windows from two sides.

The kitchen, which serves the dining room direct, is well laid out with a view to saving the housewife many steps. Cabinets are on two sides. The waist high sink is directly in front of a window.

The second floor is arranged so that each sleeping room has a good cross ventilation. The bath is large, commodious and contains the latest built-in fixtures. Ample closet space is provided in each of the bedrooms with a linen closet in the hallway.

The exterior may be finished in either shingles, brick veneer or stucco. Its low sloping roof, together with the louvered shutters and flower boxes makes this a home out of the ordinary and much to be desired.

Snake as Insignia

Various medical fraternities and sororities, as well as the United States public health service, United States Army Hospital corps, etc., have in their crests or insignia a representation of snakes. The caduceus or wand of Hermes or Mercury, messenger of the gods, has been the insignia of the healing profession for thousands of years. It consists of two serpents twined on a staff, with wings. According to LaWall's "Four Thousand Years of Pharmacy," the symbol of the serpent played a prominent part in the healing ritual of both the Egyptians and the Babylonians and dates back to at least 4000 B. C. The same authority claims that it is Esculapius whose emblem the caduceus; originally carried by Hermes and dating from Egypt and Babylonia, is still seen in connection with medical insignia.

Clever French Gypsies Prey on the Ignorant
Superstition still flourishes in France as a thriving commercial proposition, despite the advance of general education. Apparently any gypsy with a fluent tongue can make an easy though dishonest living. The latest example is reported from a village near Amiens, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph, where a tradeswoman, Mme. Dobresecq, has been swindled of $1,200 by two fortune-tellers.

The first gypsy appeared under the guise of a hawker of lace. As she displayed her wares she mentioned that there had been many fires in the district, and that it was under the curse of a particularly malicious demon. Having thus aroused the tradeswoman's interest, she offered to tell her if she herself was threatened.

Taking three hairs from Mme. Dobresecq's head and wrapping them in paper, she burnt them. The ashes dropped to the ground; she saw on the scorched paper a sign of a cloven hoof. That made up her mind for her. She paid the gypsy $300, which the latter said she would return after the notes had been blessed with magic rites.

Later another gypsy called upon Mme. Dobresecq, and said that they were having trouble with the evil spirit. A much larger sum would have to be blessed before the spell could be broken. As she was given to understand that her own daughter was threatened by the powers of darkness, the tradeswoman handed over $800 more.

Find Elephants at Bath

On a world cruise you may be disappointed at not seeing elephants in Ceylon, unless you plan to make your trip with knowledge of where they may be found. Ceylon has been the great home of elephants from earliest history, yet many who visit Colombo or Kandy never see one, though they search the streets of these cities for days. So, when in Kandy, get a ricksha and go down to the Katagastota river, about three miles away. In the afternoon, and you will find the river crowded with magnificent animals taking their bath.—Exchange.

Rosemary a Figure on All Pages of History

Rosemary is a plant of the mint family and grows in the region of the Mediterranean sea. It is a low shrubby plant with leaves dark green above, white beneath, and with margins rolled back to the under face. The flowers grow in clusters and the fruit consists of four nutlets. Rosemary was valued in ancient times for its aromatic quality and medicinal uses, but is now used mainly for its perfume. As an emblem of remembrance, rosemary plays an important part in folklore and literature. Shakespeare's "Hamlet" speaks of "There's rosemary, that's for remembrance." According to tradition, this herb strengthens the memory, and was also used as a great deal at one time to quiet the nerves. It was often used at weddings, and to wear rosemary was always taken to be significant of a wedding. The nurse in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" refers to the emblematic character of the herb, when she asks: "With no more show, when Romeo begins with his sweet letter? According to the language of flowers it means 'Fidelity in love'."

World Very Partial to "Eccentricities" of Rich

New York society enjoyed a hearty laugh when a certain very wealthy woman was held up by the customs authorities on the charge of attempting to smuggle in over a million dollars worth of jewelry. The laugh came in when the jewels turned out to be imitations, instead of the real thing.

"Well," remarked Senator Moses, "it just goes to show that a rich woman can't wear fake jewelry and people will think it real, while a poor woman couldn't wear genuine diamonds and fools would think they were fake." It reminds me of the man who was eating with his knife, much to the disgust of other patrons of the select cafe.

"I shouldn't think you'd let a man like that in here," one disgruntled patron complained to the manager. "His table manners are the limit." "But," huffed the manager, "he has a millionaire's 'grit'." "Oh, I see," roared the patron, instantly mollified. "It's just eccentricity."

Now GAS IS CHEAPER

and it's not too late to heat your home with this ideal fuel THIS WINTER

THERE is still time to have carefree gas heating service for your home this winter. And because a new gas has been brought into northern Illinois, it has been possible to reduce the cost of this most modern of fuels approximately 30%.

Let us figure your cost

To show you just what this reduction means to you, we will be glad to send one of our house heating engineers to call at your home. At once—and without obligating you in any way. He can prepare an estimate of just what it will cost to heat with gas under the new rates.

Remember in comparing gas with other fuels that it offers you completely carefree heating service. A temperature regulator in the living room takes full charge of the furnace—orders your fuel as you need it—keeps the whole house comfortably, healthfully warm.

Install gas heat now

Why not install gas heat now—for the coming winter. You can begin to enjoy its many advantages during changeable fall weather. When temperatures drop temporarily, your gas heater will start up automatically. As soon as the house is comfortable, off it goes again. Because the heater works automatically, you waste no fuel.

And, of course, you're through with shoveling coal, fussing with drafts, carrying out ashes forever.

In most cases your present heating plant can be "converted to gas" at small expense. A gas-burner can be installed in the fire-box whether your system is warm air, hot water or steam. The Public Service Company's testing laboratory has approved half a dozen of these conversion burners—will be glad to recommend one exactly suited to your home.

Mail the coupon

If you will mail us the coupon below, we'll send one of our house heating engineers to call on you. He will not only tell you all about the new gas heating rates and conversion burners—but also estimate just what gas heat will cost during an average heating season.

Gifts for the First Baby Born in November, 1931

The next six months are going to be lucky for new born babies in the Barrington district. Starting with October 1, every business man whose name is listed on this page is going to make a gift to the first boy or girl born in each of the six months. Official records at the village clerk's office, where the birth should be reported and recorded, will decide the "lucky" baby. Any baby is eligible if the parents reside in Barrington, Lake Zurich, Fox River Grove or within Barrington and Cuba townships or within Ela township south and west of Gilmer, or within Palatine township west of the village of Palatine. All babies within the district can and should be registered with the Barrington village clerk to be eligible.

Will it be a boy or a girl? That makes no difference.
The new arrival will receive a substantial welcome in the form of the many gifts described on this page. A similar page of this kind will appear prior to each of the next four months.

IT'S THE SPIRIT THAT COUNTS

After all is said and done, there's only one thing that is responsible for the growth or decline of any community.

That is the spirit of the people.
If the people are discouraged, blue, disheartened, pessimistic, growling, snarling, kicking, complaining, whining and weeping, the community is on the toboggan and sliding backward.

If the people can smile through their tears, show their spunk, keep pegging away, keep cheerful, live within their means, appreciate one another, consider the future, have hope for better times, determine to "see it through" at any cost, that town is on the upgrade, and will get somewhere.

Two men looked at a worn-out farm. One man turned away, said it was hopeless. The other man said he'd try it. He bought it for a song, and everybody called him a fool. He smiled, and began studying soil culture. He read everything he could find on soil building. He came to be known as an expert on soils. He put his theories into practice, building back into his farm the fertility that had been taken from it. The result, now he has a farm that is the envy of the community.

What wrought the change? It was the spirit of the man. It was his determination that turned the trick.

Emerson said: "What a new face courage puts on everything. A determined man, by his very attitude and the tone of his voice, puts a stop to defeat and begins to conquer."

It's the spirit that counts.
—Democrat-American, Sallisaw, Oklahoma.

IT WILL FAIL

A recommendation that each farmer reduce his herd of milk cows by one cow out of each 10, accompanied by a warning that the increasing number of dairy cows threatens to result in "burdensome supplies of dairy products accompanied by low prices to producers," has been adopted by the dairy advisory committee, representing the dairy cooperative associations, the federal farm board stated Oct. 22.

This plan is similar to the one adopted for grain farmers who were urged by the board to reduce their wheat acreages. And this plan will be just as unsuccessful. The government might call a meeting of all executives of every industry in some special manufacturing or wholesaling industry, urge them to reduce production to maintain prices and get results. But there are some ten million farmers working in the United States and this number is too unquenchably for martyr-like cooperation. Because farmers are only human, it is safe to estimate that at least three million of these will figure, "If the other fellow cuts down his milk supply, the price will go up and I'll get the benefit—so I won't cut my herd." And the other seven million will figure, "The other fellow isn't going to cut his herd—why should I be the martyr? I won't cut my herd either." And as a result there will be the same old over-production, and the effort wasted. We still believe the farm board will eventually be forced to recognize that over-production is unavoidable, especially on bumper crop years. After having recognized that fact, the board will be forced to give it up for a bad job unless congress comes to the rescue with authorization for a plan to legitimately get rid of the surplus—when it is called a denture plan, an equalization fee plan, or something else.

The Way of Life

By BRUCE BARTON

OLD MAIDS

It had been a very pleasant crossing on the ocean and all of us who had been passengers had become well acquainted.

As the big ship moved slowly to her pier we stood on the promenade deck looking into the mass of up-turned faces, each hoping to discover a relative or friend.

Suddenly a woman beside me began to wave her handkerchief and, from the pier, an old lady waved back.

"That's my aunt," the woman confided to me. "Dear old Aunt Julia. My husband sent me a wireless that he is sick in bed with grippe. My mother is in the South. I was afraid there would be no one to meet me."

"But I might have known. Aunt Julia never fails. Blessed old maid, she mothers us all. How could we ever live without her?"

On the pier I was introduced to Aunt Julia. A trim little figure of a woman bubbling over with unselfishness, laden with an extra coat and a pair of overshoes—just in case her loving niece might happen to be cold.

Having just come from France, and feeling very continental, I bent over and kissed her hand. She blushed like a girl.

"You mustn't try to flatter an old lady," she said. But it was no attempt at flattery; it was an act of reverence. She is a member of the noblest clans in the world.

I had been reading, on the boat, a book about the Bronte family. Mr. Bronte was a self-centered country parson, who wore out his wife by making her the mother of six children in six years. Left with the motherless brood on his hands, he cast around for help; and thought of his wife's maiden sister. She, poor thing, was living peacefully in a lovely little town, with an income sufficient to provide comfortably for her simple wants. There was every selfish reason why she should stay just where she was.

Yet, at his summons, she did not hesitate. She cast aside every personal consideration, came down to the bleak parsonage in its ugly part of England and proceeded, for the rest of her life, to devote herself to those children.

How many millions of similar instances have there been in history! What a priceless wealth of affection is poured out on the other people's children by aunts and nurses and cooks and teachers to whom Fate gives no children of their own! How could humanity conduct its existence without them?

I thought of these things as I watched Aunt Julia wrap up her niece and hurry away. I lifted my hat reverently and waved them goodbye.

Wandering
From This to That

A Fish that Fishes

A fish that goes fishing for other fish with its own lip-net and basket provided by nature, and which even uses a perfect system of refrigeration for storing the surplus food it catches, is the subject of a new exhibit at Field Museum of Natural History. This fish is the pelican flounder, which lives in the depths of the Pacific Ocean, in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands. From an actual specimen received at the museum, a life-like durable reproduction has been prepared by a special process. The work was done by Taxidermist A. G. Rueckert of the museum staff.

Ferris Wheel Auto Parker

A step nearer the solution of Chicago's parking problem is seen in the announcement of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. of plans to construct a parking machine in the loop. The first installation planned for Chicago will be a double "two-car" vehicle parking apparatus, operating on the ferris wheel continuous chain system. This installation will accommodate 48 cars at one time, on a ground area of 32 feet by 24 feet, which is not much more than an ordinary two-car garage. It will be 105 feet high, constructed entirely of steel.

Children Art Lecture

Free lectures for the children of Chicago are given every Saturday morning at 9:15 o'clock, in the Children's museum, Art Institute, by Miss Helen Mackenzie. The subjects for the month of November are as follows: November 7, "Beautiful Doors and Doorways"; November 14, "Windows, Old and New"; November 21, "Saints and their Symbols"; November 28, "Grottoes in Art"; December 5, "Princes and Princesses in Art."

New Opera Stars

With the opening of Chicago's annual season of grand opera a few days away practically the entire company is assembled in Chicago and rehearsals for the first week's work and for novelties and revivals to appear later in the season are in full swing. Entertainment values have received major attention at the home of the Civic Opera at 20 Wacker Drive, and the result is a first week's program which includes some of the most popular works on the repertoire. Music lovers are showing great interest in the debut of Jan Kiepura on the opening night and Paolo Marzoni on the second evening of the season. Both these young tenors came to the Chicago company after having made careers at the Vienna State Opera, La Scala in Milan and other important European opera houses. It is the first time in several years that two men of such promising talent have been discovered in the same season.

Watch Your Radiator

With the possibility in mind of damage to automobile cooling systems by freezing, the Chicago Motor club points out that freezing temperatures may be anticipated in the very near future in this section of the state. "The average period when freezing temperatures arrive in this area is from Oct. 15 to Nov. 1," U. S. Weather Forecaster C. A. Dunne, informed the motor club. "Freezing temperatures arrived in the fall long before this in many previous years. In fact, the earliest fall freezing temperature ever recorded by the Chicago weather bureau during its fifty-eight years in existence was on September 30, 1899, when the mercury dropped to 32 degrees."

Clean Up Cook County Streams

Steps towards mapping a definite program for cleaning up all Cook county streams, particularly those in the forest preserves, were taken at a meeting held a few days ago at which the clean streams advisory committee to the board of county commissioners and the board of forest preserve commissioners perfected organization.

STATE NEWS

In a recent speech at Springfield, Ill., Congressman William E. Hull made the statement that the inland waterway system from New Orleans to Chicago will develop the Illinois Valley more rapidly and substantially than any other project ever built in Illinois. Congressman Hull who is the strongest supporter of the deep waterway project declared that the project would be practically completed in 1933. Congressman Hull was the principal speaker at a recent meeting of the Springfield Lions club.

In a recent report compiled by John G. Millhouse, director of the state department of mines and minerals, it is stated that during the month of September, 36,846 men were employed in the coal mines of Illinois. The number of mines working was found to be 126, the average days of work in September 124 days, and the total tonnage for the month 3,352,548 tons.

Dr. Andy Hall, state health director, declared recently that life can be maintained indefinitely on a diet consisting chiefly of wheat. The grain is used as it comes from the threshing. Dr. Hall is loud in his praises of the "back to wheat" movement.

At a recent meeting of the Illinois convention of the Lutheran church which was held in Danville, it was voted not to discontinue the Concordia Seminary in Springfield. Quincy was selected as the convention city in 1933.

Lieutenant Governor Fred S. Sterling was initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity, at a recent meeting of the Illinois chapter at Champaign.

Do Your Christmas Giving Early

THIS WEEK IN Washington

Special Correspondent

THE HALLOWEEN spirit of spooks and goblins frightening children has permeated official life. The fear of meddling and bungling legislative action is everywhere apparent. The sparks that fly about in congressional interference and high-handed blustering tactics have in the past justified the gloomy apprehension. There is a marked desire to have various unemployment relief projects well under way and beyond harm from prying legislators. It is, indeed, a sad commentary on the effectiveness of the national legislative body. Already signs point to return of the congressional mania for investigations. Unfortunately, the motivating force behind these probes is usually an open bid for personal publicity by the legislators, rather than the rendition of a real public service.

IT WILL REQUIRE a high-grade of political courage for a handful of congressional thrift advocates to enforce their economy program. There is an old maxim about government employees that "some die, but few resign." If the federal expenditures are reduced by salary cuts applicable to more than 600,000 men and women on government payrolls the proponents of the savings schemes must be prepared to face the discordant music of those affected by the economy plan. The legislators will be in a dilemma unless they are prepared to force the issue.

THE FOLKS BACK HOME who have been out of work, or sustained wage cuts will not take kindly to the idea of the government employees living in the security of twice-a-month pay days and no downward revision in their earnings. Something extraordinary convincing in alphas will be in order if federal workers, whose salaries come from the taxpayers, are left outside the pale of wage adjustments. The average congressman has always been stammered into voting salary advances by organized government workers particularly postal employees. How they stand up under pressure for tax cuts from the majority as represented by the taxpayers and demands for wage raises from the organized minorities will present an interesting political spectacle this winter.

THE POLITICAL barometers indicate that the visit of Premier Laval of France will provide the senate with ammunition during the winter. There is a small but powerful clique of senators who pride themselves on their knowledge of international affairs. They are never hush about airing their views in public. Fortunately, the house of representatives lacks treaty ratification power and devotes its time to domestic affairs.

THE BELIEF that President Hoover seldom seeks advice could be upset by close observation. A careful watch would show Eugene Meyer, director of the Federal reserve board, dashing from his office in the treasury building to the private offices of the chief executive. Meyer's counsel is sought on financial matters. Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, with experience in reparations some years ago, is also a frequent visitor. He is groomed as a successor to Melvin D. L. C. secretary of the treasury. Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, long identified with Mr. Hoover, while he was a cabinet officer, is consulted on business angles. Frequently Klein's speeches reflect the Hoover opinion. The great sorrow of Klein's career was Hoover's unwillingness to name him secretary of commerce. The Klein case is an instance where minor government officials are closer to the president than their chiefs.

Crowded China

The area of the whole territory of the republic of China is 4,377,000 square miles with a population of 400,000,000, giving the population per square mile about 93. However, this is hardly an indication of the great density of population in some parts of China proper. For instance, the province of Kiangsu, with 33,700,000 people in an area of 30,000 square miles, has a density of 874 persons to a square mile and is the most densely populated political unit in the world. Japan with an area of 143,750 square miles and a population of approximately 62,940,000 has a density of population of 433 persons per square mile.

Long Acquaintance

Bobby Joe was playing in the front yard one day when the next door neighbor stopped to talk to her.

Knowing that she was visiting relatives who were new to the neighborhood, she asked whether the young lady in the porch was her aunt.

"Oh, no," replied Bobby Joe, "that's my grandmother."

With a nod Bobby Joe resumed her play, settling the question with, "Oh, yes, she's my grandmother."

I know, cause I've known her for a long, long time."

Florida Once a "Republic"

In 1812 American settlers on the northern border of Florida organized a provisional government with Gen. John H. McIntosh as governor or president of the republic and Colonel Ashley as military chief, says Pathfinder Magazine. A short time later General McIntosh and his republican army besieged the Spanish garrison at Ferdinandina, which capitulated. This act was really authorized by the United States government, but was repudiated after Spain protested. St. Mary's was the capital of the Florida "republic."

Scotch Cure for Witches

Fisherfolk of the little village of Burghhead, on Moray Firth, Scotland, have again held the ceremony of "burning the clairs," a holdover from medieval times. While some continue the old Scottish custom in a spirit of merry-making, the majority of the people are superstitious and believe that witches will refrain from sneaking down their chimneys for a whole year if the clairs is burned. This ceremony is the pouring of cakes of tar on the ruins of a Roman altar, setting fire to it, then a dance by the villagers around the roaring flames.
