Forces in Deadlock on Unemployment Relief Task

Attempting to break a deadlock over proposed legislation for unemployment relief is the task that confronts the Illinois senate reconvening in Springfield after failure to reach an agreement last week. Administration forces are preparing to attempt to send through their program of a $20,000,000 bond issue. But the opposition appears to be confident that the required vote cannot be mustered, unless a compromise is reached.

Senator Simon Lantz, Congerville, and his followers are standing firm for bills that will make the extension of taxes for relief purposes mandatory. The administration is urging that they be made permissive. When senatorial apportionment was made up several year ago, a similar debate occupied the time of the senate at intervals of several weeks.

Arlington Semi-Pro Team Defeats Barrington 6 to 0

Pass, Heckmiller to Bolte, Results in Game's Only Touchdown

The string of scoreless games played by the Barrington Merchants was broken Sunday when Arlington Heights put over a touchdown in the second quarter and romped off with a 6 to 0 victory. Heckmiller, Arlington fullback, tossed a 20 yard pass over the heads of the surprised Barrington secondary into the waiting arms of the quarterback Bolte for the touchdown.

The local semi-pro team had some excellent scoring opportunities but failed each time to display the punch to put the ball over.

The Merchants had their opponents on the defensive in the first quarter by virtue of the superior punting of Buckley and the completion of several long passes. One of Buckley's kicks was downed on the Arlington 3 yard line just as the first quarter ended. To put the Heights boys in a bad spot the punt from the end zone barely escaped being blocked by the fast charging Merchant line.

Midway in the second quarter Thorp attempted a drop-kick from his 30 yard marker with the wind at his back but the kick was short and Heights recovered. A few minutes later Arlington completed a 20 yard pass to the Barrington 7 yard line but a 15 yard penalty for holding set them back. On the next play Bolte caught the pass from Heckmiller to score a touchdown and give the Arlington footers something to cheer about. The place kick for the extra point was blocked.

Late in the third quarter a pass gave the Merchants a first down on the Heights 5 yard stripe but the black clinched line held on three line plunges and on fourth down a pass was incomplete in the end zone. In the last period a fumble by an Arlington back deep in his own territory, was recovered by Barrington on the 11 yard line. In four downs the Merchants advanced to the 2 yard marker, the closest they came to scoring in the game.

In the matter of first downs Arlington was on top with 14 to the local eleven's 9, yet in yardage gained the Merchants had the edge, largely due to many long passes completed.

Heckmiller was the thorn in the side of the Barrington eleven. The hard driving Arlington fullback dominated the play and threw the pass that scored the six points to beat the local team.

Abbott and Taylor were injured in the fray and had to be carried from the field. The Merchants' next game is a return match with Palatine at Palatine Sunday.

350 Woodpecker Types

The woodpecker is not a single type of bird, but one of a family which numbers some 350 branches. About half the species are found in the New world and about 25 species in the United States. The woodpecker is probably the greatest friend of the farmer and orchardist among the birds, for it is the most effective of all birds in keeping down insect attacks on trees, both of the forest and the orchard.
