Summit Closed Off for Coasting Hill

Barrington young folks were able to enjoy winter sports at the Summit street hill, Otis lake and at the Cook county forest preserve hills and slides after the snowfall of last Thursday morning.

John Carroll, chairman of the village board road committee, had arranged to block off Summit street hill during the afternoon hours, 3 to 5:30 o'clock and the evening hours, 7:30 to 10 p. m. Minus all vehicle travel, Summit hill (Hillside and Russell streets) made an ideal hill for sled coasting.

Otis lake has been a popular recreation site during every cold spell since early December. The skating plus a slide at the edge of the hill offered variety in winter sports.

It was also a surprise to the representatives of those firms who were present at the meeting proposed to see this contract let to the firm bidding for the work at the lowest price.

Before the bids from the array of auditors were to be opened, David Maloney, village attorney, presented the letter from Arnold, Himmelblau and Co. in which the auditors offered their assurance that the work would be completed as per contract of $1,000, but would not consider the job of installing a new set of record books for the village for an additional $400.

The board had approached the auditors with the suggestion that the audit might be completed at $1,000 and a new set of books installed at a cost of $400.

The misunderstanding over the books resulted from a letter that the board in which the auditors declared the auditing job was costing much more than it had been estimated to cost.

A severe criticism of the present records was included in the letter and a request for $2,738.13 was made. A few weeks ago, the auditors proposed that the board pay them $1,800 for completing the audit and installing a new set of books. The board refused this request and suggested the original contract for $1,000 be carried out and the company be given the privilege of installing the books for $400.

Because Arnold, Himmelblau and Co. neglected to accept this offer, the board advertised for new bids for the job. The bidders were on hand Monday night for the expected letting.

Special Lenten Services Are Planned for St. Paul Church

Special Lenten services will be held at the St. Paul-Evangelical church beginning with Sunday evening, Feb. 11, and continuing each Sunday evening until Easter, March 27.

The pastor is planning to preach a series of sermons in which he will point out how various are the groups were involved in the drama of Christ's Passion. The sermon topics and the dates for which they are scheduled follow:

February 14—"Facing the Issue."
February 21—"The Children's Hoax." February 28—"Perplexities of Youth." March 6—"The Daughters of Jerusalem and the Woman of Galilee." March 13—"Men, and the Son of Man."
March 20—"Palm Sunday, Confirmation Reunion Service." March 27—"Easter Sunday, Song and Praise Service."

18 Boys Will Be Initiated Into
Cub Pack No. 102

Cub pack installation and Legionary initiation for 18 members of Cub pack number 102 which was to have been held Friday in the school gymnasium has been postponed until some time next week. This was because the school building is closed, O. I. Baird said.

This will be the first important ceremonial meeting of the cub. Parents and friends of the boys as well as all members of troops 10 and 21 will be welcome at the meeting which will be announced later. Mr. Baird said.

Arnold, Himmelblau to Complete Audit at Cost of $1,000

Accountants Agree to Finish Village Job at Contract Price

Arnold, Himmelblau and Co. of Chicago will complete the audit of the Barrington village records within a period of about 30 days at the original contract price of $1,000, according to assurance given by Mr. Arnold at the village board meeting Monday evening.

The assurance by Mr. Arnold, that the firm would willingly complete the work at the contract price came as a surprise to the board which had a dozen bids on hand from as many accounting firms.

It was also a surprise to the representatives of those firms who were present at the meeting proposed to see this contract let to the firm bidding for the work at the lowest price.

Before the bids from the array of auditors were to be opened, David Maloney, village attorney, presented the letter from Arnold, Himmelblau and Co. in which the auditors offered their assurance that the work would be completed as per contract of $1,000, but would not consider the job of installing a new set of record books for the village for an additional $400.

Former Superintendent of Barrington Public School
Dies in Arlington Heights

Nathaniel Moore Banta, former superintendent of schools in Barrington, died at his home in Arlington Heights at 2 p. m. Friday following an attack of acute indigestion. He had been in good health. It was reported prior to the day of his death.

Mr. Banta was superintendent of the Barrington public school at the time the main section of the present building was constructed and is credited with being one of the residents of Barrington most influential in having the improvement made.

Airplane Burns

Three wings of the Heron Aeronautical corporation's new and first airplane were burned up in a fire which broke out about 7:30 p. m. Thursday night.

The fire was started by a hot electric light bulb on an extension cord in the factory building. The bulb was resting on one of the upper wings and caused it to ignite. Within a few seconds the entire upper wing was in flames. Both right wings and the upper one of the left side of the plane were burned up. The fire was extinguished by factory employees and officials before the village department arrived.

Following the fire, V. H. Schroeder, a member of the department and of the board of trustees, called attention to the large number of automobiles which crowded onto N. Cook street ahead of the trucks. There is an ordinance prohibiting persons from driving automobiles ahead of the fire trucks. Hereafter this ordinance will be enforced even if arrests are necessary to enforce it, he said.

Proprietor of Spanish Lantern Arrested in Raid

Fred Bunch, proprietor of the Spanish Lantern at the east edge of Fox River Grove was arrested on charges of violating the prohibition law in one of two raids conducted by Sheriff Edinger and his deputies of McHenry county Saturday night.

Al Renard, proprietor of the Pigtail Inn on Highway 61 near Crystal Lake was arrested in the other raid. A quantity of alcohol, gin and beer was seized in the two raids.

Renard was released on bond shortly after his arrest, but Bunch was lodged in the county jail at Woodstock until Monday when he furnished bond and was released. Hearing in justice court was scheduled for Monday.

Fixing Drain Sewer

Sam Peters reported the progress made on the sewer problem in Jewel Park. A representative of the Yeoman Bros. Pump company has tested the Hough street pump and found it pumping more than the specifications called for when it was installed. Specifications called for a pump of 125 gallons per minute capacity, whereas the pump was found to be pumping more than 200 gallons per minute.

The engineers are at present checking the Hough street sewer and the Jewel Park sewer for possible leaks that would cause a "back-up" in the system.

Some complaints in regard to the blocking off of Summit street to permit children to coast on the hill were reported but no action was taken. "Let the kids coast" was the popular sentiment of the board.

A motion made by Carroll and seconded by Schroeder was passed which provided that all village employees be paid twice a month and that the village clerk is authorized to issue warrants for salaries direct to the employees.

Joy Annette Paulson Wins
Prizes for Second Baby

The second baby of February, according to birth records, was Joy Annette Paulson, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Q. R. Paulson, 418 W. Main street.

The six pound 10 ounce baby girl was born at the Barrington General hospital at 2:10 a. m. Saturday, February 6. As second baby of the month, the new arrival will be awarded gifts by the Plague Home Furnishing Co. and by the Barrington Review.

Funeral Saturday for Mrs. Sally Volz, Well

Mrs. Sally Volz died Wednesday evening, Feb. 8, at the Evanston Memorial hospital. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church at Arlington Heights, Saturday, and burial was at Rosehill cemetery, Chicago.

Trustees Move to Re-Instate Action Against R. D. Hay

Seek to Assure Full Value to Holders of Village Bonds

Legal action may be re-instated against Roger D. Hay, former special village attorney, by the village of Barrington. The decision was reached by the board of trustees at a regular meeting Monday night after hearing a complaint by Fred A. Kuckuck, holder of two of the over-issued special assessment bonds alleged to have been issued by the former attorney.

A motion made by Trustee Maxon and seconded by Gieske was passed instituting Village Attorney D. B. Maloney to take action as he sees fit, whether criminal or civil, to straighten out the matter of the over-issued bonds so as to regain the confidence of holders of village bonds.

The matter was brought to the attention of the trustees by Mr. Kuckuck, who appeared before the board and explained how he had purchased the bonds in good faith, had twice been paid interest on them and had twice verified their validity, only to have them recently called in for examination and then he found them found to be defective. The trustees agreed that every possible means should be made to assure holders of village bonds that their investments would be worth "100 cents on the dollar."

The attorney also was instructed to compile a list of all the over-issued bonds.

A new industry has been organized near Barrington under the name of Nature's Hydor Water Co., with R. A. Miller and F. H. Miller proprietors.

10 Tooters Wanted for Drum and Bugle Corps

Ten vacancies on the Drum and Bugle corps of the Barrington American Legion post will be filled, if possible, within the next month or two, Noel Stayer, commander of the post announced.

There are 27 members in the filled corps, including drummers, buglers, and the drum major. More buglers have dropped out than drummers, so a call has been sent out to all former service men who can tout a horn or want to learn how to blow a bugle.

The corps practices each Friday night in the vacant rooms above the Heffernan and Winn garage. A business meeting has been called for Friday night of this week at which the members will plan their calendar of corps activities for the year. The local unit still belongs to the Ninth district musical corps, but does not attend general practices regularly. Commander Stayer predicted that by next fall, the corps will enter into the district corps work preparatory to the Chicago World fair in 1933.

Scarlet Fever Epidemic
Remains About the Same

Although there have been two or three severe cases of scarlet fever in Barrington, the epidemic is not getting any worse. There are at present seven families quarantined. Quarantine has been lifted from three other homes.

The school was closed Thursday morning and will remain closed until next Monday morning in order that the building may be thoroughly disinfected and fumigated. As a precautionary measure, the school board has ruled that children may not return to school until 14 days after being dismissed from quarantine.

The long drawn out periods of segregation are due to several persons in most of the families being ill. Seven members of one family have had scarlet fever. Six members of another family have suffered with the disease. The situation in Barrington is not different from that in many other communities. Villages, cities, and rural districts in all parts of Illinois and surrounding states have had their epidemics this winter.

George Deissler, 14, Succumbs to Scarlet Fever

The death Tuesday of George Deissler, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Deissler, 531 W. Northwest highway, marks the only fatality among the more than a score of scarlet fever cases which have been reported in Barrington this winter.

George died at 7 p. m. at the Durand hospital for contagious diseases cases at 637 Wood street, Chicago. He reported not feeling well last Saturday evening but did not become seriously ill until Monday. On Tuesday he was taken to the Durand hospital for emergency treatment but failed to respond. The lad had not been ill prior to Saturday—in fact he played basketball in a junior high school game Friday night.

George Deissler was born in Chicago Dec. 27, 1917, the youngest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Deissler. The family moved to Barrington five years ago. During his life in Barrington, the boy had become one of the popular lads in the Barrington public school.

A private burial was held at St. Joseph's cemetery, River Forest, Thursday. Members of the family were permitted to see the body through a glass partition at the hospital Wednesday afternoon.

The youth is survived by his parents, a brother, Martin, and a sister, Virginia. Another brother, Raymond, died May 5 of last year, a victim of spinal meningitis.

Hold Funeral Services for Mrs. Rose Farrell

Mrs. Rose Farrell, wife of William Farrell of Cuba township died at the Billings Memorial hospital Sunday Jan. 21, following an operation.

Mrs. Farrell came here with her husband from New York six years ago, and was known to a large number of friends in this neighborhood. She was much liked and respected for her cheery disposition and friendship. Surviving are her husband, William, one daughter, Margaret, a sister, Mrs. Sadie Jackson of New York, a brother, Russell Kane, also of New York, who came here to attend the funeral services.

A solemn high mass was celebrated at Saint Anne's church at 10 a. m. Wednesday, Feb. 8. Interment was at Evergreen cemetery, Barrington.

Plan for Opening First State Bank Is Now Underway

Full Details to Be Announced Next Week; Auditor's Report Monday

A plan is being developed and an organization perfected to re-open the First State Bank of Barrington. A group of stockholders and other interested persons will start active work early next week canvassing the place and presenting their plan to local persons who are desirous of having the institution open for business.

This information was furnished by the Review by A. H. Saks and J. H. Pohlman, who returned Thursday evening from Chicago following a business conference relative to the bank opening.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson stated Thursday that his report would be submitted to the officers of the institution Monday, Feb. 15. All details for re-opening will be completed at that time, it was reported. The stockholders of the old institution will be visited by one or more members of the committee during the few days following receipt of the auditor's report.

"We have no doubt about the success of our undertaking," Mrs. Saks stated. "However, we will need the cooperation of everyone interested in seeing the institution operating again in Barrington. The officers of the old bank are gratified by the large number of persons who have volunteered their cooperation."

Although complete details of the plan will not be announced until next week, the fact that new stock will be issued and a new organization perfected was given out.

Larson Stock Scheduled for Sale Thursday, Feb. 11

An order to sell at public auction all tangible assets remaining from the O. Larson's stock store was issued by Abraham Simon, trustee in bankruptcy with a ruling of Henry A. Pringle referee in bankruptcy. The notice sent out to creditors of O. Larson stated:

"Pursuant to an order of said United States court, I shall sell on the 11th day of February, A. D. 1932, at public auction, all the tangible assets of said estate consisting of stocks, bonds, and securities, removed from Barrington to 3424 S. Wells street, Chicago, Ill., said assets to be sold at the premises where said assets are located and commencing at 11 a. m. of said day.

"Each bid must be accompanied with a certified check or cash for 25 per cent thereof."

The receipts from assets will be used to defray expenses of direct and indirect costs. A mortgage on the property held by Mr. Larson's mother has been withdrawn.

A continued hearing of the case will be held in Judge Pringle's court room next Tuesday.

Forty Scouts Out for Parents' Night
Program Monday

Forty Barrington boys scouts, the parents of a few of them, and most of the local scout executives were on hand at the Standard Music Company garage the use of which was loaned by P. H. Deaver, when the boys gave a parents' night program and part of the national sports foundation week.

Most of the numbers were presented in the evening to hear and respond to the recommendation of the scout outfit, broadcast over a national radio hookup for the benefit of troops in all parts of the country. The broadcast had been planned for 7:45 o'clock. A last-minute change of 15 o'clock was learned by one of the executives who failed as many of the scouts as he could reach by telephone, advising them to be on hand early.

The following executives were on hand: C. O. Nimitz, J. L. Bell, Hugh Calkins, Rev. H. E. Koenig, Francis Clor, Walter Crook, and O. H. Baird.

Lions Club Among Leaders International Organization

Members of the Barrington Lions club were gratified by the committee club report received from the International and read at the weekly luncheon Monday evening, which showed that the local unit was twenty-sixth in merit point standing among the 2,430 clubs in the entire International organization. The local club was one of three in Illinois which placed among the 50 leaders in the organization.

The merit point contest is based on club sponsorship and on club activities. The Barrington Lions club has been one of the active ones in southern Illinois and was sponsor of two other good clubs during 1932, the Crystal Lake club and the Washington club.

Two Cleaning Shops Make Changes in Locations

A two-way change in cleaning shop locations in Barrington took place last week. The downtown office of the Greenleaf Cleaners was moved from its former location on Park avenue to a building at 106 N. Cook street. Frank Buchta, tailor, moved his office from the building at 106 N. Cook street and is now located in the Schwarz building on Hough street in partnership with William Schwarz.

Ed. C. Groff Moves Business to Newly Decorated Store

Quality Food Shop Is New Name of Firm; Formal Opening Saturday

With the moving of the Barrington Grocery and Market stock to the building formerly occupied by Miller's Food Shoppe, 133 Park avenue, this week comes the announcement by Ed. C. Groff, manager, of the adoption of the open display plan of merchandising which has proved so popular in late years. The location has been completely renovated and redecorated and will open under the new name of the Quality Food Shop.

The entire stock is open to display and may be seen at a glance in the new arrangement. Every article bears a price tag and this, in addition to the open display, permits the customer to wait on himself if he so chooses. The shelving and interior have been painted in orange and blue to conform to the standard plan of the Shield of Quality store system, of which it is a member. Through this connection, customers receive the benefit of lower prices through the combined buying of the independent firms, Mr. Groff states.

The formal opening in the new location is set for Saturday, Feb. 13. An advertisement on page 5 of this issue contains full details of the grand opening.

Move to Barrington
Two new families are moving to Barrington this week to make their homes, according to Wire Lawrence, through whose agency they have made their local arrangements. J. Mark Smith of Philadelphia has rented the John Frey house, 645 S. Hough street. Eric Etherington has rented the Caldwell house, 419 E. Hillside avenue.

24 Students Take Character Roles in 3 Club Plays

Barrington High Shorthand Class Here Talk on Business Qualifications

The Dramatic club of the Barrington high school, under the direction of Miss Ethel Schvab, presented three one-act plays last Monday night in the high school auditorium. It has been the aim of the club to give every member an opportunity to appear in three public performances, and the annual presentation of a group of one-act plays helps to make this possible. The plan is growing increasingly popular. This year there was a very appreciative audience in record breaking attendance.

The program consisted of two comedies, "The Love of Pete" and "Cabbages," and a serious play, "The Patchwork Quilt." The production showed talent among the members and competence on the part of the director. Several members of the casts were freshmen, most of whom had never appeared in a public performance of this type. Two members of the cast in "The Patchwork Quilt" had been absent during the last rehearsal because of illness. In spite of these facts, the program was one of the best in the history of the Dramatic club.

Two freshmen who appeared in leading roles were Elva Jean Cannon, a quaint little grandmother who was misinterpreted and misunderstood by all members of her family except a little granddaughter, and Phyllis Lineo, a young lady of indecision, ably assisted by Charles Drussel. Other especially commendable characters were June Kettel and Jack Daum as Mr. and Mrs. Grossmeier. The combined casts included 24 people, who were well chosen and were a credit to their dramatic club.

Last Monday morning C. L. Stevens, employment manager of the Jewel Tea Co., spoke to the senior shorthand class. He explained the duties of a secretary and gave a very good idea of what is expected from her. He said accuracy in typewriting came first, then arrangement of material, and finally speed. He also stated that a good secretary should know correct spelling on current topics and be a good conversationalist. She must have a pleasing personality and be careful, because a business man depends a great deal on his secretary. "Perfection" is the goal one should always keep in mind, he stressed.

He said that if he were starting in a large commercial company, he would like to be, first, a typist for a year; second, an ediphone operator for a year; third, a stenographer; and then, as soon as possible, a secretary.

BIRTHS
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sawtell of Oshkosh, Wis., announce the birth of a daughter on February 6. Mrs. Sawtell was formerly Miss Emma Mae Garbisch.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rohman of Crystal Lake are the parents of a baby boy, Paul John, Jr., born February 8 at the Barrington General hospital.

Old Writers Got Bounties
At the close of the Seventeenth and the beginning of the Eighteenth century, writers, even of the rank of Addison, could scarcely live by a mere sale of their writings. But a vast system of bounties and premiums made up for this—the patronage of the wealthy and the aid of the state made the rewards of literary merit great.

State News

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlson has ruled that interest on delinquent taxes of cities, school districts and other municipalities, should be paid into the county fund and used for county purposes. Attorney General Carlson also ruled that cities operating under the aldermanic form of government must hold primary elections on Tuesday, March 8, and not on Tuesday, March 1.

President Harry Woodburn Chase, of the University of Illinois, has issued a warning against unscrupulous magazine salesmen who represent themselves as being connected with the university or "getting graduation credit" for the work. "No credit, no commissions, and no other consideration are in force or even recognized by any such persons," declared Dr. Chase. "Any fraudulent representations such as these should be reported immediately to your local authorities."

According to the Springfield Automobile club, car owners should preserve carefully the registration card that comes with 1932 licensed plates. The card is an absolute necessity for purposes of identification when the owner of the car desires to drive into Canada, Mexico, or other foreign countries. It also serves for general identification purposes even though the owner takes no trips out of the United States.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlson has ruled that counties have no authority to build in cities hard roads wider than through traffic requires, or wide enough to permit curb parking. The opinion declared that any extra width of streets in cities must be provided for by the cities.

Thomas R. Cain, prominent among grain dealers of the state for many years, has been named president of the National Farmers Grain Dealers association. He is manager and secretary of the Arnold Farmers Elevator company, east of Jacksonville.

The first reports on health for the new year indicate a much more favorable beginning in 1932 than prevailed at the outset of 1931, according to Dr.

Andy Hall, state health director. Substantial declines were recorded for typhoid fever, measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria, influenza, meningitis, infantile paralysis, pneumonia, and chicken pox.

In an address at a Boy Scout meeting in Danville, Governor Louis L. Emmerson declared that every dollar spent in conserving boys through such movements as Boy Scouting will be repaid by the savings made in penitentiaries, and that Scout membership makes a boy a square-shooting, upstanding, hard-hitting, clean-living leader.

It has been announced by Stuart E. Pierson, director of the state department of agriculture, that only one per cent of all the cattle tested for tuberculosis in the entire state of Illinois during the last half of 1931 were found diseased. The condition of the dairy herds of Illinois at the year end was the best on record in relation to this disease.

Congressional re-apportionment enacted by the last general assembly has been ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. This ruling throws the April primaries back to the old order and perpetuates the districts as they have been for the last 30 years.

The annual convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks which will be held in Aurora will commence on August 11 and continue through August 13.

"For Your Healths Sake" Use Nature's Hydor Mineral Water—

NATURE'S Hydor Mineral Water is now available for the people of Barrington and vicinity. This water is taken from a deep rock well and is naturally pure. It is not distilled or filtered. Nothing is added to it and nothing is taken out of it. Federal analysis have proven it to be one of the best mineral waters on the market. Being rich in certain mineral salts it is very beneficial to the human system. We have in our files signed testimonials from many people who have been given relief from rheumatism, headaches, stomach disorders, etc., by using this wonder water. Some of these testimonials are from people living in Barrington. We urge you to try a bottle of "Nature's Hydor" for your "health's sake."

I HAD ONLY FIVE MINUTES...

"It was one of my busy days. I was due at the bridge club at two o'clock and had a thousand-and-one things to do first. The cleaning took longer than usual. The phone kept ringing. There was a cake to make for the bake-sale. Lunch for the children. My dress to press... But the real climax came at one-thirty. I had exactly five minutes for a bath—and discovered there wasn't any hot water. I'd used up every drop... Then and there I decided we were going to have automatic hot water service just as soon as the plumber could put it in."

An automatic gas water heater is something every home needs. Then there is no danger of running out of hot water when you need it most. There is always a tankful ready, day or night. Plenty for cleaning, for doing dishes, for bathing, for shaving, for anything.

Furthermore, automatic hot water is a luxury almost any home can afford. It is not expensive—just a few cents a day per member of the family—probably less each month than you're now spending for movie tickets. Your LOCAL PLUMBER or your PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY STORE will be glad to give you all the facts.

MAKING FIRE HAZARDS OF THEATERS

Fully realizing the inherent hazard of the practice, Fire Chief Steinkeller of Milwaukee is sponsoring an ordinance prohibiting smoking in the local theaters.Highly commending and strongly endorsing the efforts of Chief Steinkeller in this respect, a recent issue of the Milwaukee Journal, in a leading editorial, captured the attention of the city and the state. The editorial pointed out that the citizens should get behind the movement "to check, stop and prevent—absolutely—the growing practice of allowing smoking in Milwaukee theaters."Following the dread disaster in the Iroquois theater at Chicago, in 1903, when almost 600 persons lost their lives as a result of fire and the ensuing panic (the very large majority of the victims being women and children) a nation-wide movement was inaugurated to safeguard theater audiences. Asbestos curtains, plainly marked exits, and care in planning every detail of the building resulted, so that people have felt well safeguarded not only in attending a theater themselves, but in sending their children unaccompanied by an adult.As a possible drawing card, a number of theaters in various cities and towns have recently been featuring the fact that smoking by patrons was permitted in certain locations, generally the balcony. Commenting on this situation, the editorial referred to says, among other things:"Some may be opposed to this growing practice of smoking, from what they choose to call the moral angle.
From our point of view, it is not a moral question at all; it is a question of safety, both to the audience in general and the individuals adjacent to the smokers." It is pointed out that a lighted cigarette may start a fire, causing a panic and loss of life. It is further pointed out that a smoker may, as many have been observed to do, light a match, touch it to a cigarette, give it a shake or two and carelessly throw it on the floor close to the dress of some woman nearby. Should the dress become ignited, a personal tragedy might result, and, in addition, a stampede endangering the life and limbs of scores of persons in the theater."Conscientious theater men, who are in the vast majority, of course, do not sanction smoking by their patrons, recognizing the danger. Some of them have been forced to let down the bars in this respect, it is felt, through the action of a few less cautious men who saw a commercial value to themselves in allowing their patrons to sit and puff a cigar or cigarette while they watched a picture."

SPENDING—SAVING!

This, then, is the problem—the challenge of the depression. How can man save in his youth for happiness in old age? The answer leads from material to spiritual values. This depression may be a blessing if it teaches us that ideas and memories of beauty and the worth while things of life are secure where moths and rust do not corrupt and bonds do not depreciate. No mortgagor can foreclose on a big idea.When we get a little money next time we shall go lightly with stocks and bonds and heavily on steamship tickets to strange historical lands. Let's start off by train for New York or San Francisco and embark on a mind resting and glorious trip. A bag full of souvenirs from South America and enough travel yarns to entertain the neighbors for a year are worth more than a lot of defaulted bonds.

WASHINGTON
LETTERBy National Editorial Association (Special to The Review)POLITICAL PATENT medicines for the relief of depression victims are concocted with a free hand on capitol hill. Bitter partisan warfare has broken out in the senate and house over this issue. Concern is felt in various quarters that in attempting to fabricate a solution congress may aggravate what is really a serious problem of relief administration. With the national legislative body in open disagreement as to relief forms, the fear is manifest that local agencies may be tempted to let up on their activities in anticipation of generous federal aid. It is of genuine importance that congressional meddling should not break down the lavish system of local community relief work that has been built up over a period of months.THE DRIVE for reduction of personnel in the army and navy has been given a severe setback as a consequence of the Sino-Japan war: The voices of peace organizations while raised in protest against increased appropriations do not fall on ears as receptive as was indicated last fall.
Congressional leaders have postponed consideration of appropriation bills affecting these two armed services. It may also be said that the aggressive military group is only marking time because they realize that congress would be averse to diplomatic reasonings of putting the country on a wartime basis merely in preparation for hostilities. War talk is officially discourage at the capitol and in department circles.THE RECENT CHANGE in reapportionment of congressional districts in several states has a salutary effect on legislators: In the states affected, it is interesting to observe that legislators who must be elected by the voters of the entire state instead of one district have been giving special attention to problems of the commonwealth. Formerly, it was difficult to have a member of congress concern himself with affairs outside his immediate bailiwick. Now they are absorbed in selling their services to the state. The relative security that some incumbents enjoyed when charged with maintaining political fences in a few counties has been wiped out by the reapportionment.NO RESCUE SQUAD ever received more advice from the side-lines on effective methods to resuscitate a drowning person than is handed the Reconstruction Finance corporation, with its two billion dollar pulmotor.
There is no shortage of suggested panaceas. The problem is to work out feasible plans which will assist in the restoration of business and above all revive public confidence in our economic stability. The president elected a select band of industrial and civic leaders to the White House last Saturday for the express purpose of starting something tangible. One of the first moves will be to check holding of currency because every dollar withdrawn from circulation reduces credit facilities and slows up business generally. The assurance that the enormous resources of the Reconstruction Finance corporation are available in all sections of the country is expected to allay fear and suspicion.PARLIAMENTARY TRICKS to insure reporting proposed legislative measures from hostile committees were again exposed this week. It seems that Senator Borah, republican of Idaho, crusading for salary reductions affecting congress and federal department officials and employees, utilized a stratagem which brought results. Senator Walsh, democrat of Montana, having a bill calling for a thorough investigation of underlying factors of the general depression and particularly the effect in juggling securities on the stock markets, pulled the same trick.SENATOR DALE, republican of Vermont, under pressure from organized government employees publicly declared his opposition to the Borah proposals. He found that the Idaho senator had neatly side-stepped the trapping of his measure by having it referred to the appropriations committee. Jealous of his civil service committee's prerogative, Dale asked to have the Borah was cutting back restored to his group. After the Idaho senator extracted a public promise that the measure would not meet the fate of most salary bills—burial in a pigeon-hole—the transfer was authorized. Senator Fess, republican of Ohio, had kept the Walsh resolution bottled up in a special committee for seven weeks until the Montana senator blasted it out to the senate floor.ONE CHOICE SPOT for economy is never considered by congress. The legislators refuse to save on words and delude the country with a mist of words like "hikes" around the moon, make the light less. The government departments should take responsibility in their propaganda. The annual report of the public printer this week shows that in the last ten years the total waste of publications amounted to $2,889,839 copies, which cost the government more than a million dollars. The sale of documents is negligible. A few years ago "the senate and house" folding rooms sold as waste paper approximately 2,000,000 publications that had never been removed from their wrappers. The public printer says there are undoubtedly "tons of other useless publications now stored in and about the capitol."Sumner S. Anderson, Charleston, candidacy for the republican nomination for attorney general.Wandering

Washington Portrait

One of the rare and unusual portraits of George Washington, which departs somewhat in facial expression from the usual type of Washington portraits, is the three-quarter length figure of the first president, painted by Edward Savage, an American painter and engraver who was born in Princeton, Mass., in 1761. This portrait is small, being only about 22x28 inches in size. The eyes are small, the nose longer than in the Stuart portraits, the lips are thinner and the upper lip is missing the fullness which is seen in his later portraits. This fullness is attributed to the fact that Washington had a set of false teeth in the upper jaw which fitted badly and caused the upper lip to have an unnatural fullness. The portrait, therefore, may be said to have been painted before the unfortunate set of teeth was wished on the suffering president. This portrait was kept by the artist until his death, when it passed on to members of his family. A descendant, Miss Katherine Colvin, of Chicago, presented it to the Art Institute of Chicago in 1921.

Opening Bicentennial

President Hoover will officially open the nine-month, nation-wide George Washington bicentennial celebration at noon (Eastern standard time) February 22, when he will deliver his George Washington address before a joint meeting of congress, assembled in the house of representatives in the capitol. The judges of the supreme court, members of the cabinet, foreign diplomats and many other distinguished visitors also will be present, and the address will be carried to every corner of America over a nation-wide hook-up. Following his address, President Hoover will be escorted to the east steps of the capitol and will give the signal for the singing of "America" by a chorus of ten thousand voices. It is expected that millions of people will join in this "sing" as it comes over the air.
The great chorus gathered at the capitol will be conducted by Walter Dam-rosch and will be accompanied by the United States army, navy and marine bands which will play as a unit under the direction of John Philip Sousa. An "inaugural" crowd is expected to be on hand for these ceremonies.

Earthquake Belt

The earthquake shock, which destroyed part of Santiago de Cuba on February 3, with some loss of life and considerable destruction of property, furnished confirmatory evidence of what is now believed by scientists to be the path of the earthquake belt in the Caribbean. It may also be the forerunner of renewed activity after a prolonged period of unusual quiet in big shocks.Of course, as yet we know very little about earthquakes. But we are learning. By a process of elimination and study of experience, we are beginning to know something about the conditions which underlie earthquake activity and a little more about the path around the world of the so-called earthquake belt, which traverses the Pacific, including Japan. It then meets another sweep which passes down along the Dutch East Indies and South Central Asia and out through the Mediterranean. The belt touches our west coast and goes on past the Caribbean Sea. It seems to pass by Panama then to measure itself along the northern coast of South America.

Beware of Hitch Hikers!

Pointing out that many motorists have been robbed and some have been killed by those they benefitted, the Chicago Motor club warns car owners against giving rides to strangers or "hitch-hikers." "It is unwise to "pick-up" a stranger at any time, anywhere," the club declared in a statement. "While some who solicit rides doubtless are worthy of assistance, there is no way in which the motorist can judge those who beg rides. Records of police departments practically everywhere corroborate the statement that it is dangerous to take a stranger into the car. "In addition to the possibility of robbery or worse, the laws of some states provide that a "guest" or "hitch-hiker," injured when the car becomes involved in an accident as a result of the driver's negligence, can sue for and recover damages from his host. The Chicago Motor club cannot too strongly advise against "picking up" strangers."

Improvements in Spring

Walter S. Gifford, director of the president's organization on unemployment relief, stated orally at the White House February 4 after a conference with Mr. Hoover, that he did not expect any change in the unemployment situation before spring. He said that the situation was about on an "even keel" at the present time. Mr. Gifford was asked if the estimate by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, of 8,300,000 unemployed was correct. "Mr. Green may be right," he replied, "but a census would be the only way to determine the number of unemployed persons."

Spend for the Home Plan

A campaign urging spending for the home in 1932 has been opened in the building trades and it is expected the movement will spread to all communities in the country. It was stated orally February 4 at the department of commerce.The campaign has been announced by the publication, "Domestic Engineering," and cooperating in the effort to serve the building and home industries is the committee on reconstruction, remodeling and modernizing, originally a part of the president's conference on home building and home ownership.

ARTICLE No. 15

Many times in these articles the writer has strongly urged the necessity of making original bids mean something.There are certain definite requirements of bidding that should be complied with at all times, if the player wants to become a sound bidder. These requirements are more or less arbitrary and vary with the position of the partner. For example, if you hold five hearts to the ace, king, it is a sound heart bid as dealer but if three players have passed, it is not a sound bid by fourth hand. In the same way a bid may not be sound on the first round of bidding but may be perfectly justified on the second round.The real reason for these so-called conventions of bidding is the fact that all sound bidding is part of an harmonious whole. Each bid, if it is sound, should consider not only the bid itself but also its effect upon and interpretation by one's partner. If it tells him the truth, it is a sound bid; but if it de-ceives him or may be misconstrued, it is not sound. Whenever you make a bid, think not only of your own cards but also of your partner and what he may do after he hears your bid. You look out, for trouble is sure to result.How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT
by Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"of action? If the bid you intend to make should be overbid by your opponents.
Have you started something that either you or your partner can carry to its logical conclusion? If so, it is a sound bid but not otherwise.When you are dealer, and bid one no trump or one club suit, you should convey the exact information to your partner: First, in case of a no trump bid, that you have at least two and one-half quick tricks, distributed in at least three suits; Second, in case of a suit bid, that you have a suit of at least four cards and two and one-half quick tricks in the hand, one of which is in the suit bid. Original bids should always give exact information as they are the first bids of the hand and have the chance to start partner off on the right foot by telling him what you have.This is the time you should tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. If you don't tell the truth, you are laying up trouble for yourself.Lay a firm foundation for the partnership and you will get good results; but, if you build your foundation on the sand of untruth or misinformation, you look out, for trouble is sure to result.

Cardinals Catch Up With Clarkmen in Fourth Quarter

Green Tornadoes Defeat Barrington Lightweights by One-Point Margin

The most exciting game of the season was played last night when the Cardinals of Barrington and the Clarkmen of Wauconda met in a battle for the championship of the league. The Cardinals, who had been leading the league since the first game, were defeated by the Clarkmen in a thrilling finish.

The game was a close one throughout, with the Cardinals leading 15-14 at the end of the third quarter. In the fourth quarter, the Clarkmen scored a touchdown and a field goal to tie the game at 15-15. The Cardinals then scored a field goal to win the game 18-15.

The Cardinals' victory was a hard-fought one, and they deserve the credit for their win. The Clarkmen played a very good game, but they were unable to hold on to their lead in the fourth quarter. The Cardinals' defense was excellent, and they were able to stop the Clarkmen's offense in the end.

The game was a very exciting one, and it was a pleasure to watch. The Cardinals and Clarkmen both played very well, and the game was a true test of their skills. The Cardinals' victory was a well-deserved one, and they can now look forward to a championship game.

Both Junior High Teams Win Games With Dundee; Prepare for Crystal Lake

Two more victories were chalked up for Junior High last Friday when both first and second teams were successful in their games with Dundee.

The first team had trouble in gaining a lead until the last quarter when they began shooting from all angles and finally eked out a 35 to 22 victory. Latta again led in points scored. He made 8 field goals and three free throws. Many fouls were called and Deissler and Miller were called with four personals during the last half. Workman and Lohman filled their places in an excellent manner.

The second team came from behind in the last half and won by a 15 to 9 score. Ubrich made this possible by dropping in five field goals in a row. Next week Junior High meets Wauconda at Barrington and the following week they will play the most important game of the conference, the game with Crystal Lake.

Crystal Lake has seven straight victories to their credit and no defeats. Junior High hopes to spring a big surprise on the Lakers in that game.

Cadwallader Team Holds Lions Loop Lead by 15 Pins

Hager's Team Forges Closer to Top; Beerman's Team 900 Pins Behind Hager's pin toppers failed by 15 pins to top first place from Cadwallader's team won two of three games Monday night. With such a close margin between first and second place, there should be a real race next week.

Hager's team was matched against Pomroy's team Monday night and won two of the three games but was outdone in total pins for the series, 2,270 to 2,260. Similarly, Cadwallader's team won two of three games from Beerman's team but was outdone for total pins, 2,234 to 2,223.

Beerman's team needs about 900 pins to get in the money scramble for first place, whereas Pomroy's team which fell down earlier in the season is almost 2,000 pins behind first place.

Greengard Grill Wins Two Games; Ties for Second With Clothiers

Lipofsky Clothiers dropped down to second place in the Barrington bowling league's standing last week when they failed to win more than one game from the Miller Bros. quint. Pohlman Drugs, holders of first place up until three weeks ago when the Clothiers stepped in, moved up to their former berth when they defeated Sheup's Confectionery two out of three games.

Greengard Grill tied for second place with the Clothiers when they won two out of three games from the Miller Bros. quint.

The Barrington Review quint was the most successful team during the week, winning three games from Cameron Real Estate and setting the highest score with a series of 844-597-802-4503.

Salem Trips Wauconda 39 to 17; to Play in Tourney at Naperville

Salem won a very fast game from Wauconda Wednesday night by a 39 to 17 score. Barrington's short passing game proved too much for Wauconda. The Wauconda team fought hard to stave off defeat while Barrington rolled up 39 points.

The score at the end of the first half was 21 to 7 in favor of Salem. Wauconda tightened up in the second half and began its scoring. Barrington checked Wauconda's attack in the fourth quarter and the game ended 39 to 17. Harder, Pavik, and Schroeder were high scorers for Barrington while Moffit and Thomas started for Wauconda.

Next Friday night the Salem eagles travel to North Central college at Naperville to play in the Fox Valley tournament in which such teams as Joliet, Elgin, and Downers Grove are entered. Ten teams have entered in the tournament. Salem drew a bye for the first round.

HOW ONE WOMAN LOST 20 POUNDS OF FAT

Lost Her Prominent Hips—Double Chin—Sluggishness

GAINED PHYSICAL VIGOR—A SHAPELY FIGURE

If you're fat—first remove the cause! Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning—in 3 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin is clearer—you feel younger in body—Kruschen will give any fat person a joyous surprise. But be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—and SAFETY first is the Kruschen promise.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts from Fredlund Drug Co. or any leading drugstore anywhere in America (lasts 4 weeks) and the cost is but little. If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, SAFEST and surest way to lose fat—your money gladly returned.

The Midnight Telephone Call

By CORONA REMINGTON

MIRIAM OSBORNE entered her little apartment, hung her hat on the rack in the tiny hallway, ran her hand through her soft bobbed hair and breezed into the kitchenette as fresh and happy as if she had just waked up in the morning.

"Well, mother, I gave the boss notice this afternoon. I'm leaving the fifteenth."

Mrs. Osborne stopped in the midst of taking a pan of potatoes off the miniature gas stove and stared at her daughter.

"What'll we do now? What happened?" she asked, dismayed.

"Nothing happened and we'll do very well. Don't you work about that. I've got another job promised at $15 a month more. Anyway, you know we could get along if I didn't work at all."

"But what made you quit, Miriam? I'd rather you kept a job you were certain of at $15 less than to risk not having a job at all. I believe you got fired. Was that it, honey? Seems like you could tell your mother. You know I wouldn't blame you."

"No, I fired myself, thank you. And the boss has promised me a wonderful letter of recommendation when I leave, so now you know I haven't done anything to make 'em mad. . . . When can we eat?" she asked, suddenly changing the subject. "I'm hungry as a bear."

Occasionally, when Miriam was busy with her plate, Mrs. Osborne would risk an exploring glance in her direction, but the girl's face failed to divulge her secret. She looked happy and decidedly interested in her supper—that was all.

The middle of July she left her position and went to the firm of Ellington and Ellington and three weeks after that Tom Ramond, the head bookkeeper, was bringing her home in his little car every afternoon. Twice he stayed for supper in the baby kitchenette.

"I understand everything now," Mrs. Osborne laughed one day.

"Understand everything about what, mother?" the girl asked puzzled.

"Why you changed positions."

"Why?"

"Because of Tom."

"Wrong, first guess. I never saw Tom until I'd been there two or three days. But he certainly does work fast, doesn't he? I think he's wonderful."

"Well, why did you quit then, Miriam?" persisted Mrs. Osborne, determined to get to the bottom of the thing at last and give her mind a rest.

"I quit because I decided it wasn't any fun to be in love all by myself. When you feel yourself beginning to slip and the man doesn't show any signs of slipping too, it's best to get away. I believe there's many a girl has missed the right one because she was so busy pining after some one she couldn't have. I was getting cuckoo about the boss's secretary and he couldn't see anything less than a bank president's daughter, so I said to myself, 'This is where you'd better take Miriam's man-loving little heart out o' danger.'"

Miriam looked her loveless when Tom called, but his manner disappointed her from the start. He seemed moody and preoccupied and she sighed a little as she remembered that while she was dressing she had imagined his exclamation of surprise when he saw her in her dainty frock. The exclamation had not been forthcoming. She had hoped that he would suggest a ride, but he did not and they sat idly in the stuffy little parlor, one more uncomfortable than the other.

When he had finally taken leave, she dropped limply into a chair by the reading lamp. If only she hadn't talked so much to her mother, or if only she didn't have to sleep in the same room with her. She would be sure to wake up and ask her whether Tom had proposed.

She sat there until nearly twelve when she was startled by the sudden jangling of the telephone. Irritably she took down the receiver.

"This is Tom. I was afraid you'd be in bed, dear, but I was so miserable I couldn't sleep."

"What's the matter?" she asked in alarm.

"I want ever there tonight determined to ask you to—ask you to marry me, and then when I saw you, you looked so pretty and far away, somehow, I was afraid you wouldn't even consider a bookkeeper. A girl like you could marry almost anyone."

"Afraid of me?" she laughed happily once more. "Now you know you're kidding, Tom. Buy you come over tomorrow night and . . ."

"Can't I come now?" he broke in eagerly.

"No, silly, it's nearly twelve. You go to bed. Good-night—dear."

She hung up the receiver and with a triumphant little hop and skip hurried into the bedroom to tell her mother the news.

Old American Fort

Fort Livingston reservation is situated on the west end of Grand Terre Island, in the parish of Jefferson, La. It was bought by the state from Etienne de Gruy, in 1834, and immediately after ceded to the United States for the purpose of fortification.

Relic of Old London
Glimpses of London's accumulated past are constantly turned up by the spade, according to the Times. At St. Mary Magdalene, the parish church of East Ham, the remains of an anchorite in a leaden coffin have been found, with a cross on his breast—either Saxon or Norman.

Bird Lured to Its Death
The gannet, or solar goose feeds on fish, which it captures by plunging into the water, with closed wings, often from a considerable height. Fishermen tow a board with a herring painted on it below the surface of the water. The gannet dives for the painted fish, strikes the board, and breaks its neck.
