Barrington Woman's Club

On Tuesday, March 14, at the library rooms, Mrs. Harvey Jeffries reviewed "Our Town," a play by Thornton Wilder. It was the last meeting of the year in the series of book reviews offered by the literature committee of the club.

Mrs. Jeffries sketched briefly the education and background of the author; and then spoke of the play itself—its subject matter and staging. It is one of several plays which appeared on Broadway last year dealing with the metaphysical.

Its action takes place on a bare stage with the assistance of a stage manager who furnishes the necessary props and narrates part of the story in the manner of a Greek chorus.

The audience watches the people of Grover's Corners, "their growing up, their marrying, their dooling, their living, their dying," and by so doing views a cross section of life in a small New England town at the beginning of the twentieth century.

In her presentation, Mrs. Jeffries actually made her listeners see the play. She read with sympathy and restraint and provided those who came to hear her with a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon's entertainment.

The Mt. Prospect Woman's club extends an invitation to our members to attend its reciprocity day luncheon, March 21, at 2 p. m. at the South church, corner of Emerson avenue and Sha-Bonee trail.

Announcement is made of the postponement of the annual literary tea of the Portage Park Woman's club until Tuesday, March 21, at 1:30 p. m.

The annual concert given by the Woman's club chorus of the seventh district will be held Tuesday evening, March 28, at 8:15 at the Alvernia high school, Ridgeway and Byron streets. Margery Mayer of the Civic Opera company will be the soloist.

Democracy Excels Other Social Plans, Club Speaker Says

"Modern Philosophy of Life" Discussed at Meeting Here Wednesday

"Democracy is the greatest of the social theories of all time," according to Curtis W. Reese, speaker at the Barrington Woman's club meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church.

Mr. Reese thinks this is true because democracy is in itself a good philosophy of life—the philosophy which holds that men collectively and cooperatively can conquer and control his world for a full and satisfying life.

Mr. Reese, who is dean of Abraham Lincoln center in Chicago and president of the Chicago federation of settlements, came to the club to discuss "A Modern Philosophy of Life." He defined philosophy as the orderly arrangement of beliefs or values by which we live; and then went on to tell something of the major philosophies which have been held by man down through the ages as his mental development. He spoke of materialism and spiritualism as the two schools of philosophical thought which held the minds of men well up to modern times but which are now pretty much discarded. He named humanism as being the one more recently emerged by thinking people and the one most suited to new changing times. This school of thought makes "man the measure of all things," centers attention on the human and believes in moral reality in to be altered, controlled and directed for human purposes. Humanism is tentative in its conclusions. Mr. Reese stressed, and is one with the whole scientific movement.

The confusion of the world today said Mr. Reese, is due to our lack of clear philosophical ideas. The old philosophies are broken down and dispelled, the new ones are not clearly worked out or generally accepted. We need a consciously held framework of beliefs and values that will support us in our personal and social behavior. And we grope for such a framework now. We are far advanced in our knowledge, we know enough to build a happy world but we have yet to exercise the will and coordination to do it.

There was a brief question period and then members of the club and their guests had tea. Mrs. J. H. Sheesley was chairman of the social arrangements for the afternoon. Mrs. Charles Holton, president of the seventh district, Mrs. E. H. Wuertenberg, music chairman, and Mrs. John Eipper, program chairman were guests of Barrington club for this meeting.

Will Take Rest

Mrs O. D. Etters, 402 N. Cook street, will leave Sunday for several weeks' rest at a Wisconsin sanitarium.
