

LAKE ZURICH REVIEW

Ela High School Library Arranged to Dewey System

Ela Township School Notes Compiled Weekly by the Pupils

Everybody had a good time at the freshmen class party last Friday evening at the home of Lillian Tynne, one of the class members.

Mr. Wesner has assigned a two thousand word theme on "Lighting Our Buildings and Streets," to be written by every member of the general science class. Many of the pupils gave a loud groan because they thought it was too much to write.

The freshmen English class has finished reading and dramatizing the play called "Julius Caesar," and they are now studying the "Art of Letter Writing." Willy Buesching said he didn't like to study about letters, but Miss Hinchliff suggested that perhaps he had never written or received interesting letters. Willy is always finding something to say to stir up the interest of the English class.

Since the weather-man appears to have gotten his seasons mixed somewhat and has given us all this snow in the beginning of spring, the ancient history class regrets that they will be unable to go to the Oriental institute as they had planned to do Thursday. But if the weather permits, probably they will go the following Monday.

The members of the sewing class are now starting their sport outfits. They are also making books containing samples of different cotton materials.

The seniors enjoyed the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Wesner at their home last Friday night. They played cards during the evening. Later they enjoyed a delicious lunch which was served by Mrs. Wesner.

We are glad to have a new addition to our enrollment, Margaret Heidland, a junior from Fenger high school in Chicago, has transferred to Ela.

Measles seem to be in fashion right now, especially in the junior class. Violet and Vivian Understock and John Lemm are some of those suffering from the illness.

Because of the heavy snow storm the bus was unable to go to school Tuesday. But from what we hear those who were there didn't mind it for they all expressed themselves by the words "we had lots of fun."

Many of the pupils have been enjoying the fine skiing weather. There haven't been many chances for participating in this splendid sport this winter.

The teachers couldn't imagine what Chester Schermerman was blushing about all day Thursday. At last their curiosity got the best of them; and they inquired and found that it was just a bad case of sunburn.

The other day Glenwood asked Miss Hinchliff whether the picture in the English room was a picture of Julius Caesar. Miss Hinchliff said, "No, it is a picture of Shakespeare." That's all right, Glenwood. You're not far wrong—only about 17 centuries.

The senior class has chosen their class motto, "Rowing, Not Drifting." We are all sorry to hear about Edward Petersen, who was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis. We hope he will get well quickly and be back with us again as soon as possible.

Miss Muriel Reed, Margaret Reed's cousin from Evanston, was a visitor at Ela on Thursday.

Katherine Jayne and William Buesching were absent Thursday and were all afraid they have the measles.

Paul Pohlmann, Paul Krueger, and Elmer Wright were absent Monday.

Marie Grever was absent Wednesday and Gladys Krupp was absent Thursday.

Several awards were received in typing this week. Helen Hans, Irene Koffen and Edna Sturm received their 50 word pin from the Woodstock company and Caroline Schermerman received her 25 word pin.

C. Wayland Brooks Candidate for State Treasurer
Has Notable Record of Service

C. Wayland Brooks, candidate for State Treasurer, atfectionately known by his many friends in Park Ridge and throughout the state as "Curly" Brooks, is a true son of Illinois.
He was born 33 years ago in Bureau County. His mother, Ida N. Bickford, was born on a farm near Kewanee, Illinois. His father, Rev. James G. Brooks, at the time of Wayland's birth was the pastor of a small community church at West Bureau, Illinois.

An assistant state's attorney since 1920, Mr. Brooks has several times spoken in Park Ridge on programs of the American Legion, of which he is a prominent and active member.

When the United States entered the war, he was one of the first to leave the University of Illinois, where he was enrolled as a freshman, and, with his older brother, Russell, he enlisted in the United States Marines. After months of hard training he was with the 88th Company, 6th Regiment Marine as a corporal. When they attacked in early June, 1918, in the "never-to-be-forgotten" Belleau Woods near Chateau Thierry, (these woods now bear the name of "The Woods of American Marines" in honor to the hundreds of marines who lost their lives in that battle) it was during this battle that C. Wayland Brooks distinguished himself by being personally decorated for bravery beyond the call of duty by General John J. Pershing with the Distinguished Service Cross, and was commissioned in the line a second lieutenant. During the next few days of that battle he was further awarded the "American Navy Medal" and the "Croix de guerre" of France and promoted to a First Lieutenant.

Decorated During War

As one of the officers in command of the 57th Company, 6th Regiment of Marines, during the attack at Soissons on July 19, 1918, he was severely wounded seven times, receiving three high explosive shell wounds, three shrapnel wounds and a machine gun bullet. He was carried from the field to a dressing station by a Moroccan-French soldier and the next several months were spent in the hospitals in France.

While confined to his bed in the hospital in Limoges, France, he was surprised by a visit from his father who was then serving in France with the Y. M. C. A. The visit was saddened by the news from his father that his brother, Russell, with whom he had enlisted, was dead and his only other brother, Lawrence, had also enlisted and was then serving in the United States Marines, making his family one hundred per cent in service.

As soon as his condition permitted he was returned to the United States, and continued in the hospital at Great Lakes, Illinois. Upon his recovery he was again called into service to aid in the Liberty and Victory loan drives.

Is Able Orator

Because of his ability as an orator and his record and experience as a soldier, he was immediately in demand as a lecturer upon the chautauque platform and while engaged in this work he lectured and traveled with such illustrious men as the late William Howard Taft, and others. He later returned to the University of Illinois where he took up the study of law, finishing his education and graduating from the Northwestern university law school, where he is today engaged as a lecturer on evidence in Illinois law.

He was appointed an assistant state's attorney of Cook county in 1923 where he has since served with a most distinguished and enviable record. When the present state's attorney was elected Brooks was retained upon the urgent requests of both the Illinois and American Bankers' associations.
These requests on the part of the banking associations were made because of his honesty, integrity and outstanding ability.

Handled Ling Case

Among the most notable cases successfully handled by Mr.
Brooks have been the cases against bank embezzlers, "The Bombing Trust," kidnapers, forgers, extortionists and murderers, including the famous Ling case, all of which have been affirmed by the Supreme court of Illinois.

Besides his public duties he is also one of two trustees managing a two million dollar real estate trust in Chicago and his accomplishments have commanded the commendation of banking and civic organizations and law enforcing agencies.

In addition to the above activities he has been promi-nently identified with the American Legion and "40 and 8" for the past ten years throughout the state, having also served for three years as Commander of Marine post 273 in Chicago.

He is a member of the Phi Delta Theta legal fraternity, the Chicago Bar association, the A. P. and A. M., the National Chicago Assurance society and Comstock Mutual Life association.
Mr. Brooks has been married for the past twelve years.
He resides at 1641 Fargo avenue, Chicago. He has a son, Russell, named in honor of his brother who died in the service.

☒ JOE P. WELCH

The office of Highway Commissioner is a highly important one and your vote should not be cast lightly. Your Highway Commissioner is the overseer of all township roads. He is responsible for keeping all roads in good condition, winter and summer, as economically as possible. This I pledge to the voters to do with care and exactitude. And I further pledge to public a clear and definite report of all work done pertaining to the Highway Commissioner's office.

I was born and reared in Cuba Township and received my education in the district school and the high school of Barrington. I am in my early thirties—a taxpayer, a husband and father. I served the people of Cuba Township as Constable for four years. My ambition is to serve you, the voters of Cuba Township, to the best of my ability.

Yours very truly, JOE P. WELCH

Barrington College Student Sees Cyclone From Inside and Lives to Tell About It could find any knowledge about. The various gas stations and refreshment stands were blown broadside over the fields.

"I'm still trying to figure out just why and how the thing missed us. We were right in its path; it made a perfect mess out of the glorious magnolia tree in front of the house; uprooted the oak that was at the other end of the porch, a tree all of five feet thick; completely desolated the back-yard, catching all trees and even shrubs up by the roots and depositing them Heaven knows where; destroyed the Morgan home and the club-house, neither of which is fifty yards distant; and rocked this house until I thought I was getting a free ride on a plough horse. The absolute violence it left in its track convinced me it must have lifted as it reached the house. Nothing made by man could withstand the full shoudering sweep of that fury, and we were directly under it, so I suppose I'm right in my theory.

"Something Providential happened at any rate. And speaking of black terror! Let the writing gently dig deep in their ink-pots to find superlatives to express the whirling chaos that was Charlie Bell when he watched an awful good imitation of that Millennium descent. I didn't think I just stood up and acted as a reflective mirror. The booming roar of the wind aroused me, yet I have no recollection of sound than if I were dead. I can remember only a feeling of infinite suspension, an expectancy of tumbling walls and eternity.

"The charming Miss Galley's uncle picked himself out of the debris that once was a country club, and started hollering for an ambulance. When he got to the hospital they tossed him out.

"The night of the hospital, we drove by there tonight. Sam and a couple of the boys went in, but I could hear quite enough outside. They've had to commandeer the school gymnasium as an emergency hospital. Tusculum has two immense ones, so you can picture the number of people injured. "All this tale of carnage includes no report from Eutaw and one of two smaller towns in the cyclone's path, but if the storm struck there the death toll might well reach five hundred. After emerging from the wreck, age of so many cars, unharmed and now by some freak of chance surviving this catastrophe, I'm betting on myself good and heavy. The Old Dame isn't treating anyone with so much consideration unless she has plans for the blessed one she protects. Any Power that lifted that wind the wee distance necessary to shunt it over the roof has my backing from now on.

"Sam has just now come back from the hospital and says the total number of injured is 3001. They won't tell the number of fatalities. That's from Northport alone. Lord knows how many have been hurt down the line. I'm not cooling a bit; I stood on that back porch and looked the body oil reaper in the face. You can keep your elemental forces in a bag as far as I'm concerned from now on. There just naturally 'ain't a whole lot of people that have had a seat in the middle of a cyclone and been here to tell the tale later. I'm sitting here firmly convinced that two years from now I'll be among the course leaders. Outstanding layman of no

Bailey Chases Bandit Six Miles to Make Arrest

Quinlan lost control of his machine when making a turn near the Palatine fairgrounds.

Patrolman Bailey was about 300 feet behind the Oldsmobile when he saw it swerve off the highway, crash into a ditch, and overturn, coming to a stop on its top. Flames burst out under the hood. Bailey brought his car to a stop and ran to the flaming automobile just as Quinlan started climbing out. He covered him with his shotgun and then searched the man, but failed to find any weapon.

Bailey believes that Quinlan's companion crawled out of the car when it overturned and escaped in the darkness before he reached the automobile. A search of the neighborhood failed to reveal any trace of him.

Quinlan was returned to Barrington and Patrolman Elbert and the oil station attendant drove there to identify him. Elbert said that he was one of the two men. He said that he believed the men intended holding him up. He has been robbed several times recently in the early morning hours.

The Twelfth International Water Color Exhibition will open at The Art Institute of Chicago on Thursday, Mar. 31, and continue in the East Wing Galleries until May 30. There will be about five hundred and fifty water color, prints, drawings, and original monotypes in the exhibition. There are six prizes to be awarded, ranging from $100 to $500.

65 Scout Leaders Will Go to Rockford for Training Course

Sixty-five leaders from the North-west Suburban council will be among the thousand men attending the University of Scouting at Rockford, Saturday and Sunday. This course which will be under the personal direction of several members of the national staff starts at 2 p. m. Saturday and continues until 5:30 p. m. Sunday and the men completing will receive national training certificates. Gunnar Berg, national director of volunteer training, Dr. H. V. Hunt, national research director, O. H. Benson, national director of rural scouting and Walter M. Kiplinger, executive of region seven will be among the course leaders. Outstanding layman of national reputation will also appear on the program. One of the most interesting sessions will be the closing hour Sunday when leaders of Catholic, Protestant and Jewish churches will conduct brief discussions upon scouting.

The following Barrington scout leaders have registered for the course: John L. Bell, Hugh H. Colkins, Charles Kosack, F. Lipofsky, W. P. Crook, and Burtis Clark.

How to play Bridge
CONTRACT
 by Wynne Ferguson
 Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGES"

ARTICLE No. 21.

of the proper opening lead after a double. If a player doubles after his partner has made a bid, he expects his partner to lead the suit he has bid. If a player has made a bid of his own and later doubles, he expects his partner to lead that suit.

In this example hand, Z has bid four spades and his partner, Y, has doubled five hearts. Under these conditions, Z should have opened his ace of spades. This opening would have set the contract one trick. Y had a singleton spade and doubled with the expectation of a spade opening. Z, however, thought of one of these very good reasons for a spade opening. He opened the king of clubs and A B just made their bid and thus scored game and rubber. This hand is a fine example, so study it over carefully.

The following is another fine example:

Hand No. 2
 Hearts—5
 Clubs—9, 8, 6, 3
 Diamonds—7, 6, 2
 Spades—A, K, 8, 7, 6

Hand No. 3
 Hearts—K, Q, 10, 8, 4
 Clubs—A, 4
 Diamonds—K, Q, J, 4
 Spades—Q, 10, 4, 2

No score, first game. The point of the hand is applicable to either Auction or Contract.
 Z dealt and bid one heart, A and Y passed and B bid one spade. Z and A passed and Y bid two hearts. The final bid was four spades due to the fact that Y raised the heart bid twice more. He also doubled four spades. What should Z open?

This hand is similar to the first one in that Z has bid a suit and his partner, Y, has doubled. Under the rule set down in the analysis of that hand, Y certainly expected a heart lead by Z. Irrespective of that fact, however, Z should have led a heart in the endeavor to set up a trick in that suit before he lost his re-entry in clubs.

Instead of doing so, however, Z opened the ace of clubs and then led the four, hoping, as he said, for a ruff. This lead gave A B a game that they couldn't have scored if Z had opened the king of hearts.

Required to subscribe upon becoming citizens of the United States was advanced before a senate subcommittee, March 26, by Representative Johnson (Rep.), of Hoquiam, Wash., in expressing opposition to the Cutting bill which would permit aliens to become naturalized citizens without an oath to bear arms.
 Representative Johnson who remained the senate group that he had served 12 years as chairman of the house committee on immigration, maintained that the United States was "too generous" with the foreign-born who seek to obtain the privileges of American citizenship. He favored a probationary period for all seeking naturalization.

Plans for Museum Are Discussed at Meeting

Organization of the proposed Lake County Museum of Natural History reached a step nearer completion last Thursday night as members of the Isaac Walton league and a number of others interested in establishment of the museum met at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss definite plans for forming the association.

In order to closely unify all work in connection with organization of the body, a committee of seven was named last night to handle preliminary arrangements. This group is in charge of W. I. Lyon of Waukegan.

The proposed museum was given added impetus when Dr. Benjamin D. Lemery announced that he has a valuable collection of stuffed birds and animals in North Dakota that will be available for the organization here when it is definitely established.

In addition to these, the museum will have the Douglas collection, known as the finest and most valuable in this vicinity.

Quarters for the proposed museum are assured as the school board has offered the use of a room in the North school in Waukegan.

There are seven men in the field for Highway Commissioner of Cuba Township, all seeking the same office, only one can be elected. This makes a wide variety to choose from so pick your man.

As election draws near, the day of a great disappointment for many, I sincerely ask of all the voters of Cuba Township to go to the polls on Tuesday, April 5 sometime between the hours of 6 a. m. and 5 p. m. at Schauble Bros. & Collins Garage, Barrington, and vote for the man whom in your mind will make the most honest, capable and free-from-graft Highway Commissioner for the Township.

The Highway Commissioner job is not a white-collar job—neither is it a self-supporting job and can be made so only by grafting—which is something the taxpayers do not want at this time or any other time.

Standard Motor Co. to Display 1932 Plymouth Models

New Edition Embodies Latest Improvements in Motor Engineering

The new 1932 Plymouth cars embodying the modern trend in body design and the new floating power principle of engine mounting will go on display at the Standard Motor Co. garage Saturday, P. K. Dwyer, proprietor, announced today.

Included in the new edition is a seven-passenger sedan with a 12-inch wheelbase besides the regular body styles mounted on a 112-inch wheelbase. The engine has been increased to develop 66 horsepower. As a result of its increased wheelbase and the use of the new double-drop x-type frame, the new Plymouth is longer and lower and has a more distinctive appearance.

The new Plymouth has free wheeling, easy-shift silent second transmission; steering shock eliminator; internal expanding four-wheel hydraulic brakes with centrifugal brake drums; safety steel bodies, insulated against noise, heat and cold; 44-inch hood with no cowl band; counter-weight crankshaft and countless other distinctive features of appearance and mechanical construction.

Among the new Plymouth's features are also included: silverstone high compression head; acceleration pump on carburetor; automatic spark advance; vacuum controlled spark retard; automatic throttle opening on choke; intake silencer; balanced manifold; silchrome exhaust valves; light alloy pistons with four rings per piston; double-boned cylinder; full pressure lubrication; drilled oil passages; crankshaft ventilator; ventilator air cleaner; heat indicator on dash; shock absorbing clutch disc; seven ball and roller transmission bearings; hand-brake on transmission; hydraulic shock absorbers; one-piece double-braced fenders; two cowled ventilators; built-in radio antennae; bonderized fenders and other sheet metal parts and bandit-proof door locks.

An automatic clutch is furnished as optional equipment at slight extra cost.

Hatje Proposes $5839 Slash Yearly Exp

Would Reduce Trust
Officers' Salaries
Other Expenses

A tax saving plan which effect would cut village expenses 50 per cent has been proposed by Earl Hatje, president of the board of trustees. Mr. Hatje presented a brief outline of his cutting expenses at the meeting of the board.

In explaining the proposal, Hatje said:

Eighty per cent of tax levied for local purposes. School tax amounts to per cent of the total tax amounts to about 20 per cent of the total tax.

The remainder of the tax levied by the village is up by the park board.

Due to the Cook County Board of Supervisors, the village of Barrington has fallen behind in the payment of its bills. This bill of $5,000 long is one bill for attorney Benjamin F. Langworthy in connection of the sewer system. This bill was paid in excess of two years ago.

As a result of this bill, the village is now in arrears on its bills and salaries of police officers. These are now paid in arrears. The village should park and yard should be maintained. The first time in many years property owners of Barrington have financial difficulty. They have always paid, but now find their tax bills of their income cut off or at least curtailed. The tax assessor's body to point it out. Another tax assessor body say "let them get first should start at home. The proposed for village purposes:

Supt. of Streets, $150 month
Night Policeman, $125 month
Sewage Plant Attendant, $125 month
Clerk, $80 month, plus $20 month commissions Collector and Treasurer, month plus percentage collections
Rent, Treasurer's Office

Proposed Economy Plan
0 Trustees: 2 meetings, month: $5; per meeting: Mayor, $15 month
Combined Chief of Police, Supt. of Streets, at $1 month
Night Policeman, $135 month
Sewage Plant Attendant, $140 month, plus $40 water rent for collection
