B. H. S. Bronchos Play Scoreless Grid Tie Here Saturday

Locals Miss Chance to Score in Final Period; Meet Maine Next

The Barrington high school football team had its first test Saturday at the Northside park against the Elgin reserves, and fought two hours to a 0-0 tie. In a very evenly played game, both teams had chances to score, but each time they were stopped by the opponent's defense or their own mistakes.

The big play of the game was when, with a minute left in the last quarter, Myers, starting on his own 16-yard line, ran 60 yards down the left side of the field to the Elgin 24-yard stripe. With excellent blocking, he was free for a touchdown had he not looked behind to see who was following. As he did he tripped and fell without being tackled.

The Bronchos failed to gain on the next play, but on a pass from Long to right end B. Fullerton got to the eight yard line and a first down. But, at this point the gun barked, ending the game and Barrington had to be satisfied with a tie.

Again had the edge on the Bronchos offensively but they failed to make any headway when they got near the Broncho goal line. Considering the inexperience of the players, the team showed up well. T. Fullerton, Stewart, and Langdale played good games, and Farwell and Long tackled well in the backfield. The Bronchos made three first downs to Elgin's four, and completed one out of four passes, while the visitors connected once out of five attempts. There wasn't much kicking during the game, Barrington punting six times to Elgin's five.

This week will be spent in an attempt to improve the running of the backs. They are still running too high to have the power needed for consistent gains. Defensively, the line from end to end looks well for an early game. Offensively, they were not opening the holes. Offensive blocking will occupy them this week.

Friday the Bronchos go to Maine township high school to play their "B" team and this is their last chance to get in shape before their first conference game with Grant the following week.

Line-ups for the Elgin game was as follows:

Barrington		Elgin
Langdale	LE	Arnett
Watson	LT	Green
T. Fullerton	LG	Hernandez
Grueling	C	Diemine
Cox	RG	Johnson
Veath	RT	Tolvstead
B. Fullerton	RE	Cooper
Kagan	QB	Hotle
Long	LH	Burnidge
Meyers	RH	Harney

Barrington substitutions: Zimmerman, Meiners, Hodgdon, Stewart, Barber; Nettelrode, Hager, Jorgensen, Maxon.

Fred Schaable to Go Into Chicago Sales Meeting on New Cars

Fred Schaable, president of the Schaable Chevrolet Sales, today received word that the new 1940 Chevrolet cars will be introduced locally and nationally, Saturday, October 14.

A great deal of interest surrounds the introduction of the new Chevrolet cars. It has been indicated that the new cars will have many new features.

Mr. Schaable, who stated he was not in a position to confirm any advance information on the Chevrolet cars, expects to attend a factory conducted meeting at the Stevens hotel in Chicago in the near future at which the new cars will be shown to dealers in this district.

Cook County Rural Teachers Will Have Institute October 6

The annual Cook County Teachers' Institute for one, two and three room rural schools will be held in the Cameo room of the Morrison hotel, Friday, Oct. 6. The program will open at 9:30 a. m.

The welcoming address will be given by Noble J. Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools. A demonstration program in radio utilization will be given by Mrs. Harriet Hester, educational director of radio station WLS, and a selected group of children from Komarek school, Broadview, Ill.

Eric Hillingworth Grimwade, journalist and commentator on international affairs, will speak on the "trouble spots" of Europe. He studied in Munich at the climax of Hitler's struggle for power, being present at the Nyon conference and the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva. He is a staunch defender of the democratic individualistic way of life and his defense of this philosophy is particularly pertinent at this moment when its tenets are being assailed and its faith tested all over the world, Mr. Puffer stated.

Other speakers on the program will be Mrs. Mildred T. Faris, director of Junior American Red Cross, and William McKinley Robinson, department of rural education, Western State Teachers college, Kalamazoo, Mich.

"In our institute this year," said Mr. Puffer, "we are trying to bring to the rural teachers a variety of aids which may prove helpful to them in their year's work. We have selected outstanding authorities in their respective fields for our speakers. Our responsibility in rural education," continued Mr. Puffer, "is to help provide the best trained teachers and to give them assistance in doing a good job. In this respect we believe our institute will be of great help to them this year."

Cubbing Conference to Give Handicraft Course Instruction

The first session of the cubbing training conference of the Northwest Suburban council will start off with the Tinker Shop, at the Des Plaines junior high school Friday evening, Sept. 29, at 7:30 p. m.

Because of its vital importance in cubbing, handicraft work of all sorts will be the big attraction of the forthcoming training conference. On Friday evening, the entire time will be devoted to the instruction and training of cub leaders and parents in various kinds of handicraft. The leadership and training committee reported this week that it will give every adult who attends an opportunity to learn about one of the most important functions of cubbing.

The list of subjects and the instructors are as follows:

Leathercraft, Richard Vandy of Des Plaines; crystal radio, Stanley Martin of Niles Center; masks and leaf mold, A. A. Hanson of Des Plaines; beadwork and horn craft, W. Ashley of Des Plaines; basketry and flower bird decoy, T. E. Tilley of Park Ridge; soap carving, A. Gibas of Arlington Heights; crepe paper crafts, Miss M. Liedberg of Des Plaines; brass taping, W. S. Comstock of Niles Center; Indian headdress, Howard Graves of Elgin; cigar box and orange crate crafts and plastics, E. W. Larson of Des Plaines.

Predicts War Will Raise Farm Income

Advancing prices in foodstuffs as a result of the war will doubtlessly avert a difficult economic predicament for farmers of the country, according to J. Frank Grimes, president of the Independent Grocers' Alliance of America, who expressed his views on market possibilities at the recent conference called by the voluntary group in New York to complete plans for its nationwide sale of canned foods drive.

"The disproportion of income as between agricultural and industrial regions has become widened by apparent surpluses," Grimes said. "Now we face a situation in which the advancing prices which may come with the war will probably save the federal government $1,200,000,000 by ending the necessity of farm subsidies. It is a stigma on our vaunted civilization that it took a war to correct the economic disproportion between the farm and industry."

He asserted that the prices to farmers had been going down in recent months, while processed goods had been going up in price. "We believe, however," he explained, "that farm prices and the prices paid for other commodities should be on a parity before governmental regulation begins."

In spite of the advances in primary and speculative markets so far, Grimes said he did not see any sharp increase in retail prices generally, as likely, although a continued rise would be inevitable should the European war continue.

Kane Brothers Make Hybrid Corn Tests

With interest in hybrid corn steadily mounting throughout the corn belt, farmers in the county are expected to pay particular attention during the harvest season to the yield performance of locally popular hybrid varieties in hopes of learning which will be best for them to plant in 1940.

Henry and LeRoy Kane of Mundelein have gone one step farther and adopted scientific experiment station methods to prove to themselves and other local corn growers just what the various highly publicized hybrid varieties will do on the Lake county farms.

Last spring they planted more than a dozen different varieties in a 5-acre proving field near here and now farmers have an opportunity to really see the difference in the varieties as they grow side by side under the same conditions of soil and weather.
