LAKE ZURICH REVIEW

Five Students on Honor Roll at Ela for 6-Week Period

Ela Township School Notes Compiled Weekly by the Pupils

There are five students on the honor roll for the second six weeks of the second semester. They are: Freshmen, Frances Buesching and Dorothy Morse; Sophomores, Evelyn Stelling, Marjorie Soderberg and Pauline Fisher. Congratulations, girls. What's the matter with the boys?

The girls' club held their meeting last Thursday afternoon and during the meeting a list of books was given to the members. The books that were listed provide excellent entertainment for those who expect to do some reading this coming summer. Ellen Morrison, Myrtle Potts, and Caroline Schwermann gave a very interesting spotlight survey of some of the best new books. They are:

Lincoln's Autobiography—Steffens.

Square Root of Valentine—Berry Fleming.

Death Valley Men—Bourke Lee.

An Account of French Paintings—Olive Bell.

A Modern Hero—Louis Bromfield.

The Roll Top Desk Mystery—Carolyn Wells.

The United States in World Affairs—Walter Lippman.

Captain Archer's Daughter—Margaret Deland.

As I See Religion—Harry Fosdick.

Summer Night—Sylvia Thompson.

Lillian Tonne, a Freshman of Ela Township High School, went to Chicago last Saturday and saw the circus.

The cooking class made cakes last week, and they certainly were delicious! Ask those who sampled them!

The Freshman boys judged fat stock last Wednesday. Earl Kane got both rings of stock right.

Elizabeth Hoffmeyer has been absent for the last few days. We hope it will not be long before she will be back with us again.

Harry Branding, one of Ela's best baseball players, had his hand severely injured Friday by a saw in the work shop.

Miss Marie Riley of Chicago visited school last week. She has been visiting Margaret Holland during the past week.

The muscles seem to have left Ela High school. All the students who had them have returned.

My, but the Juniors are excited lately. In case you don't know, the Junior-Senior banquet takes place on May 6. The Juniors are kept busy with plans for the big event. Invitations have been sent out to Seniors and teachers, and most of them have been accepted. Everyone is looking forward to the banquet as well as to the dancing which is to follow.

The Juniors have been writing short stories in English. The Juniors show some real talent, which ought to be developed. Most of them are gifted with unusually good imaginations.

Everybody was interested in their grades on the report cards. Why is it that so many of us take a slump in the second six weeks' term?

The students at Ela who hope to go to college were greatly encouraged by hearing the result of a recent survey of scholastic achievement in one of our American universities. We are quoting from the Daily Northwestern:

"College students coming from small towns are the ones who carry off the highest honors at college, according to a survey made at Temple University in Philadelphia. City bred students seem to lag behind the others in scholastic ability. The investigation disclosed."

Prospects Look Good for Lake County Farm Bureau Baseball Team

Last Saturday a nice group turned out for the tryout for the Farm Bureau baseball team. From the material present it looks as though Lake county is going to have an outstanding ball team to compete for the state championship with 35 or more other counties.

More tryout games will be held Saturday, May 7, at Dietz's Diamond, Ivanhoe.

On Thursday evening, April 28, Wilbur Swayer, county baseball director and H. C. Gilkerson, farm advisor, attended a meeting of farm bureaus in this district at which time Boone, DeKalb, Kane, DuPage and Lake counties arranged the schedule for the season. Lake County News

Many Pay Installment on Taxes as Penalty Falls Due

Tax collections in Lake county received by Treasurer Jay B. Morse had reached $1,548,503.45 by last Friday, according to the treasurer. This is a small portion of the total collection, which will run close to $6,000,000.

This figure is below the amount taken in over the same period a year ago but the change in the law accounts for this to a large extent, according to the treasurer.

The emergency legislation makes the taxes collectable in two installments, which means that in many instances those who are paid up to date have disbursed but one installment.

There was a considerable pickup in collections during the end of the week as taxpayers were trying to avoid the one per cent penalty which became effective Monday.

In numbers, Morse pointed out, many have paid this year as in the past, but it is the small taxpayer, and not the big one, who is taking up the bill.

Little Things Tending to Make Life Brighter

There are many things that we ought to learn in this world, things that we all can learn. For example, we ought to learn to laugh. The sages say that laughing is better than medicine. It will not chase away a gloom, but it will chase away a good deal of it.
Then we ought to learn to tell a story well. A good story is like a sunbeam in a dark place. Then we might learn to keep our own troubles to ourselves. As a matter of fact, the world does not care for our ills and our sorrows. "Burn your own smoke!" it says. Then we ought to learn to do something day by day for others. It may not be much, but a few words of cheer or some little bit of helpfulness

Cohan Returns to Chicago Footlights in His Own Comedy

George M. Cohan, after an absence of almost two years, returns to the Grand Opera House, Chicago, Sunday night, May 8, in a comedy of his own writing which he has titled "Confidential Service," a timely story of certain phases of modern life as only Cohan can tell it. This production is to mark the first of several offerings Mr. Cohan has in preparation for his New York season next August.
The Chicago engagement is a limited one and is prior to its New York presentation.

"Confidential Service" is a modern story, in which novelty settings and the story telling are paramount. Not since the celebrated "On Trial" has Mr. Cohan made use of quick "blackout" in a straight play. In his new vehicle he successfully introduces an "old treatment" of sudden scenic changes with new devices.

"Surrounding and supporting him are a notable array of former Cohan favorites, including Selena Royle, Elsie Lawson, Charles Trowbridge, Arthur Hohl, Helen Wallace, Mark Sullivan, Hans Robert and Howard Gibson. Sam Forrest did the directing.
With the exception of Mr. Hohl and Mr. Trowbridge the remainder of the cast have appeared in former Cohan productions. Miss Royle was seen in "Yellow," Miss Lawson in "Whispering Friends," Mark Sullivan in the recent "Gambling" and Mr. Robert in
"On Trial." Incidentally Charles Trowbridge will be remembered for his capital performance of the halfassed husband opposite Crystal Herne in "Craig's Wife."

Mr. Cohan has been out of the picture, so to speak, all season, but he has been actively engaged in writing.
Shortly after Christmas he returned from Europe, and in recent weeks he has been outlining an active campaign for the spring and summer.
"Next season is to see an adjustment of all stage ills," he commented, "and I want an early start."
Popular Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

Barrington Woman's Club

"Only Yesterday," a contemporary history by Frederick Lewis Allen, was the book reviewed at the Study class on Thursday, April 28, by Mrs. Gordon Cameron.

The fact that Mrs. Cameron appeared in a costume of the pre-war era, added greatly to the interest of the program which was presented in a most pleasing manner.

This book presents the story of the aftermath of the greatest war the world has ever known, the World War. It is a story full of adventure and romance, exciting and interesting. This is a time which represents a distinct era in American history—a period which ended only yesterday.

One of the pleasures peculiar to the reading of this history is the fact that no one old enough to read it can fail to remember the entire period over which it passes.

The author touches on the important events of the last decade, some of which were the fall of Woodrow Wilson, the first radio broadcast on Nov. 2, 1920, over station KDKA, the rise of the "flapper" and the "bachelor" philosophy, King Tut and the "Yes We Have No Bananas."

Then came the revolution of manners and morals, a distinct letting down of the moral code among the younger generation which later spread to the older ones.

There was also a growing independence among women at this time with the coming of Woman's suffrage, more canned foods, delicatessens, commercial laundries and smaller houses. Bobbed hair among women came in before 1922.

We had during this time the Harding Scandal, followed by Coolidge Prosperity. The author's comments on the various presidents and the effects of their administrations are alone well worth the reading of the book.

The Prosperity Band Wagon rolled along, cars became more popular, there was a wave of installment buying, high pressure salesmanship and advertising. The roaring era came in with greater interest in football, baseball and golf.

Then came the Lindbergh flight and his adoration by the American people. The big Bull Market was growing stronger and stronger when Durant, Rascoe and Cutter behind it.

The author says that President Hoover's greatest mistake was in getting himself elected for the 1928 to 1932 term and that Al Smith must feel like the man who just missed the train that ran off the bridge.

Then came the crash and the dramatic scene of those hectic days at the stock exchange is described by Mr. Allen.

The post war era comes to a close—a decade is ended. We find a measure of formality returning. The revolution of manners and morals had reached an armistice but there was no return to the Victorian code.

The Lake Zurich Woman's club has invited Mrs. Frank C. Pundt and Mrs. Ellen Gieske of the Barrington Woman's club to be its guests at the annual Spring Luncheon to be given at the Kildee Country club.

The state convention of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will be held from May 17 to May 19 inclusive and a most interesting program has been arranged. A copy of this program will appear at a later date.

PUTTING OUR DOLLARS TO WORK

A few years ago the secretary of a commercial organization, in Columbus, Mississippi, began to wonder how many times a dollar changed hands in his community in a single year; so he took a number of dollars, pasted a slip of paper on the back of each, and started them out through the regular channels of trade. On these slips appeared instructions to pass the dollar along in the usual way, and check it when it went on to the next party.

At the end of the year each of these dollars was returned to the secretary by the local bank, and it was found that on an average each dollar had passed through 220 different hands during the course of twelve months.

If one could have interviewed one of these dollars he would have received about such a travelogue as this: "After I left you I went directly to the grocer's till. My visit there was brief, however, for a farmer entered the store with a crate of eggs, and the grocer turned me over in exchange. I thought I was going to get a little trip into the country, but I never left the town, for my farmer friend took me down the street a short distance and turned me over to the shoe dealer.

"Well, I couldn't take the time to tell you about all of the fine people I visited during the year, but I remember that one was the minister, another a workman helping to build a new pavement through the city, another a school teacher, who received me in exchange for instruction given to your children. I also visited a doctor, lawyer, and a man working on the new community house. I spent some time in the bank and earned a little money while there for some of my friends.

"I feel that I have brought a considerable amount of happiness to the people of this community during the year, and I am ready to go out now and put in another strenuous year helping to build up worth while things here."

B. G. L.'S OPPORTUNITY

The month of May, 1932, will be the critical period in the life of the Better Government League which has just recently elected two and probably three trustees to the village board on the promise of settling the Hay matter once and for all and on the additional promise of reducing village expenses.

If Mr. Carroll and Mr. Thorp, and Mr. Kuhlman fulfill their promises to the voters who elected them, they will not run into much opposition when they seek re-election. On the other hand if they neglect to follow a plan for reducing expenses and use their elective offices to place political friends in appointive offices, they will hurt the cause of their organization.

The Review will not discuss appointive offices at the present time other than to point out that it costs the taxpayers money when unnecessary changes are made. New men must familiarize themselves with the offices they get and do it on taxpayers' time. With some very important legal matters hanging fire, this is particularly true to the office of village attorney.

Personally, we have high regard for the men elected and believe they were not merely using the Hay matter as a curtain behind which were hidden intentions to practice the Jacksonian principal.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

By National Editorial Association
(Special to The Review)

SENATOR ROYAL COPELAND of New York is a frank person. He explained his votes on economy measures to his colleagues by the simple declaration, "I held my nose when I did it." His opinion could be echoed by other senators if they were as frank in revealing their feelings on current voting. The coalition movement has been gaining ground in the senate and house as sections ordinarily at odds without regard to party lines. This bi-partisan activity applies in particular to tariff and tax items which vitally affect the industries and farm classes in certain commonwealths. They are now planning filibusters unless their pet projects are approved by committee. Senator McKellar of Tennessee, leader of the economic drive, claims that the "country will not get to the demitition howl because of thrift" and the senate is taking his word for it.

PUBLICATION of one roll call will probably make more members of the house walk the plank this election year than all other issues combined. The only correct way to get out their payroll while slashing pay of federal employees. Every effort was made to avoid a record vote. It is freely predicted that no matter what adjustment is eventually made in the economy program the roll call of votes will rise to plague them. The failure to follow the golden rule in this matter gave an illuminating sidelight on the over-weening estimate legislators attach to their worth as public servants. The balloting was the greatest demoralizing force brought to bear in the present session. Reports are coming to the fore that henchmen of the incumbents would like to peddle charms to ward off the bad signs at the hustings this summer and fall.

DEMANDS FOR TICKETS to the republican nominating convention at Chicago is not overwhelming at this time because of the belief that it will be similar to the "Cleveland raffle" meeting of 1924. Even the struggle for delegates' badges is perfunctory as Hoover has the nomination secured up. The only contest will revolve for vicarious vicarious president. The schisms and sharp battles within the democratic ranks make it the spotlight attraction. Even republican leaders are seeking tickets and have their ear to the ground. The two-thirds rule which make it difficult for a candidate to win over early balloting makes the democratic convention a spectacle worthy of any politician's attention. Flushed with the conquest of the house last fall the democrats are hopeful of victory on a national ticket.

THE SENATE INVESTIGATION into the operations of the New York stock exchange is providing political leaders with troubled dreams. The inquiry originally threatened by the administration as a means of stabilizing conditions has escaped the control of this group. Instead, the insurgent republicans and some of the democrats are taking over the reins and building up political capital. The quiz producers are working with the stock brokers have worked within the law as far as casual inquiry discloses. Outside of satisfying the millions who "played the market" and lost, it is not expected that any great legislative reforms will be enacted. It is largely a matter for the traders to put their own houses in order under the pressure of an aroused public opinion.

GOVERNORS of 27 states were welcomed to Washington over the weekend but social matters were not to the fore. Instead, the congressional delegations were particularly inquisitive as to the condition of political fences of their parties in the home states represented by the visitors. As every governor is considered potential senatorial timber the governors were keen to size up the situation within the ranks of the state congressional delegations. A goodly number of the present senate was recruited from executive missions at state capitals. The theme song of the visitors stressed the need for rearmament in state and municipal costs. It was a timely visit and an appropriate subject as congress is wrestling with reduced federal expenditures with day and night sessions of the house.

Public Start Forest Fires
Forest fires in North Carolina vary during periods of highest hazard according to the degree to which the public seeks recreation in the woods. It is disclosed in a chart of fire occurrences by days in 1931, prepared by Assistant State Forester Charles H. Flory.

Thanksgiving Day, Mr. Flory said, showed the largest number of fires in eastern North Carolina during the entire year of 1931. With the forests of the state in a highly inflammable condition on that date because of extremely dry weather, an influx of recreationists, including hunters, fishermen, campers and picnickers, added materially to the number of fires, he declared. On that day 92 fires were reported in eastern North Carolina. The next highest number was 40 reported on Nov. 6.

More than nine-tenths of the forest fires occurring in the state are man-caused and are therefore preventable. Mr. Flory stated. With public opinion aroused to the perils of forest fires, he believes that a major part of the average loss of more than $1,000,000 annually can be averted.

Wandering From This to That

Hollywood at World's Fair
A 750 by 400 foot slice of Hollywood—with its studios, its celebrities and its night life—will be built on the shore of Lake Michigan for Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress. Announcement was made at a luncheon to Conrad Nagel, cinema star and vice president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, in the administration building of the exposition. Mr. Nagel had come to Chicago to offer in behalf of the academy its complete cooperation in making Chicago Hollywood a success.

"Hollywood" will occupy a site 750 by 400 feet on Northern Island, south of Electrical Group and north of the Tower of Water and Light, which is a rise from the lagoon at Twenty-third street," said Mr. Lewis. "We intend to make it the gayest, most fascinating spot in the world."

New National Forests
Nearly 250,000 acres of rugged mountain land in the Washakie national forest in Wyoming will be preserved in its natural state, with no summer homes, motor roads or similar markings to be permitted, as a result of the forest service's approval and designation of two "primitive areas," embracing these lands, the service announced April 28.

The areas, to be known as the Glacier and the Stratified primitive areas, are said by the service to embrace a number of lakes, some of the largest live glaciers in the country, plateau regions, canyons and high mountain peaks. Inhabited areas by mountain sheep, the areas contain mountain land that "can scarcely be surpassed for scenic grandeur and beauty."

World Condition Better

Economic developments of a more hopeful character have appeared in Australia, Norway, Finland, Canada, the Shanghai district of China, and in several Latin American countries, including Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Jamaica, according to a department of commerce statement April 26 based on cable and radio advices from its foreign offices. Both favorable and unfavorable conditions are apparent in Siam, the Philippines and Switzerland, while in parts of Latin America, Japan, Hawaii, Sweden, and Hungary no improvement has developed. Swedish economic conditions, it was stated, "which previously showed great resistance to depressing influences, are now notably affected by the reactions to the Krugger debacle."

Species of Extinct Pigeons

A comparatively few years ago passenger pigeons visited the Chicago area by the millions. Today, due to ruthless hunting, the species is completely extinct. The birds are preserved in a habitat group at Field Museum of Natural History as a record and a lesson for the present generation and for posterity. An article in the current issue of Field Museum News, the bulletin published monthly for the museum's several thousand members, sketches the history of the passenger pigeon.

Want Better Price Level

Efforts to meet the present emergency in agriculture must, to be effective, include raising of prices toward levels which prevailed when present debts were contracted or else adjustment of debts in line with existing prices, James C. Stone, chairman of the federal farm board, told the senate committee on agriculture and forestry April 27. Mr. Stone testified at the committee's hearings on the general agricultural situation. He recommended continuation of the "vigorous" banking policy of credit expansion, and provision of credits to finance sales of wheat abroad.

How to Play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT

by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGES"

Copyright, 1931, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 25

It isn't often that a problem can arouse such interest as the following one. It has so many variations that it is almost impossible to cover them all, but the main ones have been selected and analyzed as they all contain good points of play that come up frequently enough to make the analysis well worth while. Try it out before reading the following solution:

Problem

Hearts—A, 10, 8, 2
Clubs—7, 4
Diamonds—none
Spades—Q

Hearts—K, 6, 5
Clubs—8
Diamonds—8, 4
Spades—8

Hearts—J, 3
Clubs—5, 2
Diamonds—5
Spades—J, 9

Hearts are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win four of the seven tricks against the best defense? The only correct way is for Z to lead the deuce of clubs, forcing A to win the trick with the eight of clubs. A can now make any one of three leads. (1) He may lead the eight of diamonds or (2) the eight of spades or (3) the five of hearts. The eight of diamonds is A's best lead. Y should trump with the ten of hearts and B should overtrump with the Queen. B may now lead (a) the nine of hearts or (b) the five of spades or (c) the seven of hearts. If the nine of hearts, Z should cover with the jack, A with the king and Y with the ace. There are numerous variations but none present any difficulty for Y Z to make four tricks.

If, however, B leads the five of spades, Y wins the trick with the queen of spades and leads the deuce of hearts, allowing B to win the trick with the seven of hearts. B should now lead the ten of spades. Z plays the jack and A is forced either to discard or trump. If the former, Y also discards; if the latter, Y overtrumps, leads his trumps and wins the balance of the tricks. At trick three, B's best lead is the seven of hearts. Z and A should play low and Y wins the trick with the eight of hearts. Y should now lead the queen of spades and all follow. He should now lead the ace of trumps and follow with the seven of clubs, which A is forced to trump with the king of hearts. Y now wins the last trick with the deuce of hearts. The foregoing situation is as follows:

Hearts—A, 10, 8, 2
Clubs—none
Diamonds—none
Spades—none

Hearts—K, 6, 5
Clubs—none
Diamonds—none
Spades—4

Hearts—J, 3
Clubs—5, 2
Diamonds—5
Spades—9

It should be evident that A.B. must now win two heart tricks no matter how Y Z play. By doing so, Y Z only score three tricks so the lead of a diamond at trick one by Z is clearly incorrect. Another suggested solution that should be noted is that to the lead of the five of diamonds by Z at trick one, A play the eight and Y trump with the ten of hearts. The defense to this play is for B to overtrump with the queen and then lead the nine of hearts. An analysis of this defense will show also that Y Z can win only three tricks, thus proving that the diamond lead at trick one is incorrect whether Y discards the queen of spades or trumps with the ten of hearts.

Another solution was for Z to lead the nine of spades at trick one, forcing Y to win the trick. A lead by Y at trick two of either a trump or a club will do him no good and, with this opening, Y Z can make only three tricks if A make the proper defense. The conclusion is obvious, therefore, that the only correct opening lead by Z will enable him and his partner to win four tricks is the deuce of clubs.

This problem has been analyzed at such great length because every variation given is tricky and interesting. The writer would suggest that each of the variations be played out and tested at least once, so that it is impossible to find a better problem than this one as a test of sound, careful play.

Emmerson Pardons White

Governor Louis L. Emmerson, upon the advice of the state board of pardons and paroles, has released from the Chester state prison, Sam White, alias Will Evans, of Cairo, a victim of mistaken identity. White was sentenced in 1912, for 99 years in prison upon conviction on an assault charge. Testimony recently produced in behalf of the prisoner revealed that, at the time of the alleged assault, he and his brother James were robbing a freight car and White testified that the prisoner's record at Chester had been perfect, and that, for the past 12 years, he had been the assistant for the prison physician.

Bring Prosperity Back to Barrington

By Buying From and Supporting Your Home Merchants

Don't Bargain Away Your Social Standing

Today—"price" is important to all of us. But "price" alone may prove a boomerang. It is what you obtain at the price that counts!

You can always live for less—if you consider merely "price". But, in living for less you may bargain away your prestige—lower your standards—lose the inestimable value of recognition—distinction.

Many would have gone without food this winter if they had not established credit with the Home Merchants. The next four weeks have been established as a period in which over 1,000 Independent Merchants of the Chicago district will show that we are putting out better goods for less money than the Chain Stores; and each one has pledged himself to give some one out of work some employment and try and help everyone to help someone else. Spend your money the next four weeks with Independent Home Merchants and be convinced that it pays.

Our contribution to help bring back prosperity is as follows:

Bought a new delivery truck.
Employed a man to letter it.
Employed a man 17 hours on yard.
Employed man 8 1/2 days on delivery.
Employed a man 6 hours cleaning house.
Added 1 extra helper on Saturdays.
Contracted for painting house and store front.
We believe this is a real start—What we do later depends on YOUR support to Prosperity May

Vernon Schroeder Will Not Ask

Recount of Herman Kuhlman will be the village board without a recount expressed through a motion picture.

Y. H. Schroeder, who was for trustee by three votes, a petition for a recount of a election was handed to the clerk by Mr. Schroeder. He was taken up for a vote. Mr. Schroeder withdrew it.

"I wanted a recount because vote was so close that I felt it," Mr. Schroeder said. "However, I became convinced Kuhlman's conduct at the election that he will make a trustee, so I decided to withdraw the picture and not dispute to office."

Mr. Kuhlman had expressed himself as favoring a recount on the basis of fairness if Mr. Schroeder asked for it.
