Collections Total $84,000 in State Bank Liquidation

Income Ahead of Expenses in Liquidation of Closed Institution

Expenses to date in the process of liquidating the First State Bank, according to a statement shown by William Busch, liquidator, are $13,440.44. The statement shows receipts of $84,000.15 to date, leaving a balance of $70,559.71. The income from the liquidation of the bank, which was closed on January 1, 1932, is $13,440.44. The income from the liquidation of the bank, which was closed on January 1, 1932, is $13,440.44.

No One Here Forgets New Postage Rates

There are no forgetful people in Barrington. At least that conclusion may be drawn from the fact that there were three cents in postage on every letter mailed in Barrington on Wednesday and Thursday, July 6 and 7, the first two days that the new three-cent postage rate was in effect. The sale of the new purple three-cent stamps was comparatively light, according to Joseph D. Robertson, assistant postmaster, but the sale of one-cent stamps increased considerably. This indicates that many people had a supply of two-cent stamps which they had to use.

Letters bearing two-cent stamps, that should have three cents in postage will be returned to the sender, if there is a return address on the envelope. If there is no return address the letters will be marked "one-cent postage due" and forwarded to their destinations. This will apply only for a few days, after that the letters will be held for one cent extra postage, but it will cost the recipient an additional three cents to send the one-cent extra postage.

Personal Observations of Feathered Friends Are Exchanged at Meeting of Members of Barrington Bird Club

A bluebird's attack on a marauding squirrel, an oriole's nest built by the female whose mate brought her material, and the wrens that were taught to fly when their parents held attractive worms several feet from the bird house, were a few of the many peculiar incidents discovered in bird observations as related by Mrs. William J. Pretzel in her talk Tuesday evening to the members of the Barrington Bird Club at Hanover Hills, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Triser. Mrs. Pretzel in discussing the subject "Birds from My Own Observation" spoke to a group of 40 members of the local club at a regular monthly meeting.

Following Mrs. Pretzel's talk each member responded with some personal experience he has had in studying birds. One story related the discovery of a bird's nest at night and the identification of the bird the following day. The bird was found in a marsh wren. The nest contained two eggs, one of which was not located, but nine imitation nests were discovered. Marsh wrens have the singular habit of constructing several extra nests, either to mislead enemies or because of sheer energy. One member told of a contest between a pair of European starlings and a pair of bluebirds for the same nest site. The bluebirds were losing the battle until the club member intervened. Five starlings were shot before the bluebirds were able to settle down to raising their young. A popular opinion at the meeting was that this year birds are more numerous than in previous years.

Music was furnished by William A. Enkin. Mr. Enkin, accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence T. York at the piano, sang "Young Tom O'Devon" by Kennedy Russell and "La donna e mobile" from the opera, Rigoletto by Giuseppe Verdi. The meeting closed after refreshments had been served by the host and hostess.

Plan Reduction in Village Expenses Next Fiscal Year

"Lights Out" Ends Board Session With Appropriation Half Finished

An appropriation ordinance comprising figures reduced from the actual village expenditures of the last fiscal year was being woven together Wednesday evening by the board of trustees and village attorney when a break in the electric light service left the village hall in darkness and ended the board's special meeting. Many appropriation figures were tentatively set, although the board did not have time for final adoption of the completed ordinance.

The salary of the president was reduced from $557 to $320 a year and the combined salaries of the trustees reduced from $2125 to $1450. The clerk's duties have been increased to include those of collector and the salary increased accordingly. The tentative figures for clerk and collector were set at $1,800 each. The total figure for municipal officers including president, clerk, treasurer, and board members was $5390. However, the above figures remain as tentative because the storm and consequent interruption in light service broke up the meeting before the ordinance could be completed or adopted.

Itemized Expenses
A memorandum to be used as a basis for the appropriation ordinance had been drawn up by David B. Maloney, village attorney. It included an itemized account of the actual village expenditures during the last fiscal year taken from the report of the accountants who audited the books for the fiscal year.

An appropriation to contemplate payment of $5100 for the police force was tentatively decided on. $1000 was the appropriation figure for equipment, care, maintenance and repair of the equipment, jail, etc., and to cover any necessary miscellaneous expenses which might come up in this respect, making a total of $6100 available for the police department.

The actual expenditures for engineering and surveying services during the last year were $434, and a maximum budget of $500 was allowed for this work for the coming year. The legal expenses for the last year were $1002.01. The appropriation for the coming year was decided at $6000 in order to have a fund from which to pay Attorney Langworthy a back salary of $5000. Mr. Langworthy was the attorney who represented Barrington in the famous sewer squabble. His work was completed in the spring of 1931 but no allowance for paying him was made in the annual appropriation for the last fiscal year.

Is Maximum Budget
Engineering fees, attorney's fees, telephone service, election expense, office rent, collection of delinquent taxes, printing and publication, insurance and indemnity, auditing, general supplies, are among the items included under the heading of accounts and finance. The board was working on this part of the budget when the meeting was forced to break up.

The appropriation ordinance, when completed, will represent the maximum expenditures which may be made for salaries, purchases, repairing, upkeep, etc., but the exact amounts, less than the appropriations, will be determined before the tax levy is made.

The police department reported that 137 automobile owners in Barrington have not yet purchased vehicle license tags. The board instructed the police to use their own judgment in making arrests.

Following a discussion of the milk ordinance, Attorney Maloney declared the ordinance vests the police with power to refuse any dairy or other milk distributing agency the right to sell milk in Barrington if the dairies and farms where the milk is produced do not pass inspection by the local health officer. The board declared that milk can only be sold in Barrington in individual containers.

Willbur Harnden Injured
in Fall at Sub Station
Willbur C. Harnden, chief of the Public Service sub station on N. Hough street, received a severe bruise on the right side of his head when he stumbled and fell from a small platform in the sub station Wednesday night. Mr. Harnden's face was badly swollen as a result of the contusion.

The accident occurred during the storm after the lights had been extinguished. Because of the storm Mr. Harnden had been compelled occasionally to inspect the equipment outside of the main building. The accident happened when he was hurrying into the building in the dark.

Cuba Assessment Roll Published in Review

How much is your property worth? More important to citizens in Cuba town, how much valuation did the assessor place on your property?

The complete assessment roll of personal property and changes in assessment on real estate are published on pages 2 and 6 of this issue of The Review. County Treasurer Jay B. Morse has requested that property owners check the valuations of their property as listed because these are the values on which taxes for 1932 will be based unless changed by the board of review. The board is in session in Waukegan at the present time. Any person wishing to appear before the board to object to assessed values should plan to make the trip to Waukegan as soon as possible. Assessed values average slightly lower than they were a year ago, although in most instances there was no decrease.

3 Inches of Rain as Storm Sweeps Thru Barrington

Streets and Basements Flooded; Hail Causes Considerable Corn Damage

A torrent of rain, intermingled with hail and wind, swept through the Barrington, Fox River Grove and Lake Zurich district Wednesday night causing considerable damage to corn crops, stocks, of goods stored in basements, power line equipment and other property and at the same time proving of some benefit to pastures, gardens, and crops planted on high ground.

Approximately 3 inches of rain, based on an average of several rain gauges, fell between 6 p. m. Wednesday and 6 a. m. Thursday. Much of this amount was concentrated in a deluge which started shortly after 10 p. m. and lasted for nearly three-quarters of an hour.

In the village of Barrington many of several streets were flooded including Station, Lake, and Russell streets and Lincoln avenue. The flood waters rose to the greatest depth on Station street west of Hough almost directly in front of the village pumping station. The water at this place ran approximately two and one-half feet deep. The deep water was a threat to the pumping station in which the motors and electric pumps are located. The pumps are mounted on a floor five feet below the surface of the street. A concrete threshold six inches high at the door of the station house was barely high enough to prevent the water, which was on the sidewalk, from flowing into the room. According to Sam Peters, village superintendent, the highest water level during the night was approximately one inch below the top of the threshold. Had the pumping station been flooded, electric motors would have been damaged, water pressure in the mains limited and danger to life of fish, greatly increased.

Corn Damage Heavy
Village street lights in both the residential and business parts of town and lights in the houses were out of working order for nearly an hour while the storm raged.

The damage to crops was caused principally by hail that beat down on hundreds of acres of corn fields between Barrington and Algonquin. The leaves of the corn were stripped, and the stems of the corn were broken down by the onslaught of hail. The path of the gale followed the county line road, cutting a wide swath at least a mile on either side of the highway. The most devastating path of the hail storm extended from Algonquin almost to Barrington. Farmers living in the wide strip over which the storm swept expressed the opinion that much serious and permanent damage had been done to their crops.

Residents of about 40 years stated that they had never before seen Spring Lake on the county line road as high as it was following the recent storm. Spring Lake, which at this time of the year is normally a narrow stream, had swollen its banks for many miles to a width of more than 50 feet. Many pastures and farming lands were entirely under water.

Trees were uprooted completely, mutilated by their branches by the strong wind. Twenty-five large and beautiful trees were practically destroyed by wind and hail in a single grove four miles west of Barrington. Many roads northwest of Barrington were completely covered with water. In some cases traffic had been nearly shut off, although many roads were plowing through. The roads between Barrington and Fox River Grove received the greatest amount of damage, although no complete water out occurred.

An automobile collision occurred on the Northwest highway near the entrance to the North Side swimming pool due to congestion there, was caused by stalled cars. No one was seriously injured, but one of the cars turned over the embankment on the side of the road.

Barrington Musician
Conducts Annual Band
Concert at McHenry

W. N. Sears conducted his first band concert of the season at McHenry last evening. Mr. Sears, who is well known in this community, has been in charge of the annual band concerts in McHenry park for several years. The band has spent several weeks preparing under his direction for an active season.

The band is composed of 26 players. Most of the musicians are from McHenry, but they are assisted by competent players from neighboring cities including four from Barrington. The local musicians are: Willard Glass, A. L. Widenbeck, S. L. Landow, and William Stambler. The concert was made possible through the passage of a municipal band tax, will be given in McHenry every Thursday evening during July. During August the concert will be conducted in West McHenry on Friday nights.

Four People Escape Serious Injury in Highway Collision

A Barrington girl and three Chicago people narrowly escaped serious injury when the cars in which they were riding collided at the intersection of Northwest highway and the gravel road one mile northwest of Barrington early Friday evening.

Miss Gladys Klingenberg was the Barrington girl who figured in the accident. She was crossing the Northwest highway from the north when an east bound car crashed into the side of her machine. Neither car was overturned, but both were considerably damaged.

The occupants of the Chicago car were R. A. Johnson, driver, 2945 Arthur avenue, Mrs. E. L. Miller, 2737 Arthur avenue, and A. A. Johnson, 7806 Merrill avenue.

Miss Klingenberg received minor injuries. Her car was badly damaged on the right side. The occupants of the other car were given first aid treatment in Barrington and were able to leave town the same day. The front portion of their machine was smashed and windows and wheels were broken by the impact.

Man Well Known Locally Caught in Lake Storm

Yacht Disabled by High Winds on Lake Michigan, Crew Saved

Harold F. Jorgensen, father of Harold F., Jr., and Donald Jorgensen, and son-in-law of Mrs. Rose Laney of 309 Grove avenue, narrowly escaped death Thursday night when the yacht on which he was crossing Lake Michigan became disabled in a storm.

Mr. Jorgensen was bound for Michigan City from Chicago on the pleasure yacht, Joan III, when the engine of the craft was crippled by a 65 mile an hour gale nine miles out of the harbor. A call sent to a coast guard station, was unanswered for an hour and a half. Before help came the crew fought desperately to save the boat from capsizing. One passenger was swept over board in the fight to keep the boat righted. The passenger was rescued with much difficulty. After a boat had come to the rescue of Joan III, considerable trouble was experienced in towing the disabled boat. The two boats were frequently forced far out into the lake, losing nearly as much distance as they had gained but the task of getting into the harbor was finally accomplished.

The yacht, formerly a German steel cruiser, is owned by Dr. Bourque, chief surgeon at the Lake Side hospital in Chicago. It is valued at $25,000 and was purchased by Dr. Bourque from a German prince.

First National Bank Shows $213,229.00 Gain in Deposits

A bank statement showing cash and marketable bonds equivalent to more than 77 per cent of the total deposits is an unusual statement during the present close money times, but such a statement appears on page 3 of this issue of The Review.

A condensed statement of the condition of the First National Bank of Barrington as of June 30, 1932, reveals total deposits of $892,877.72 (the highest deposits in the history of the institution.) The cash on hand is $200,288.81 and the marketable bonds items $336,821.43. Total resources of the bank amount to $837,725.72.

This figure compares with the total resources of a year ago which amounted to $604,105.68, showing that the increase in 12 months has amounted to $233,620.04. The total increase in deposits for the same period has been $213,320.

Semi-annual call statements of the First National bank of Barrington over the last year and one-half show the following trend in deposits and resources:

Date	Deposits	Resources
Dec. 31, '30	$409,542.73	$523,630.48
June 30, '31	$489,091.09	$604,105.68
Dec. 31, '31	$561,114.03	$684,153.78
June 30, '32	$892,877.72	$837,725.72

An officer of the bank pointed out that the ratio of liquid assets to deposits (not including rights to rediscount) is higher at the local bank than at any of the large Chicago banks. The bank is in an exceptionally sound condition.

Local Men to Take Part In Annual Mid-Year Boy Scout Council Meeting

The mid-year council meeting of the local boy scout organization will be held at Camp Oh-Ta-Ko-Ta next Wednesday. The camp is to be open to visitors all day. A dinner will be served in the camp dining hall at 7:15 p. m. to allow ample time for all to arrive. Following the dinner there will be a brief business meeting and then a short program by the campers.

The chief portion of the business meeting will be the giving of reports by the chairman of standing committees. H. H. Calkins of Barrington will report on camping, Milton Chelson on civic service, H. G. Warr on court of honor, F. H. Rehder on cubbing, Rev. O. F. Jordan on good rearing, E. E. Friganza on publicity, Charles F. Pope on seascouting, R. T. Sundelius on leadership training, and F. O. Hector on troop organization. George Fender, treasurer, will also report along with the chairman of the various districts: John L. Bell for Barrington, Louis Miller for Palatine, Herman Boeger for Arlington Heights, B. L. Kransen, Jr., for Des Plaines, W. H. Colman for Park Ridge and F. C. Bauman for Niles. Following Mr. Calkins, president of the council, will act as chairman.

An important item to be made of the ten-year program of growth and development adopted at the last meeting of the national council. This, in brief, calls for an increase of approximately 1 per cent in membership each year for the next 10 years with the objective of reaching one out of every four boys with the scout program and retaining their membership for at least four years. Records of the local council show that approximately one-fourth of all boys of scout age are already members. Plans will be made to meet the other phases of this great objective in the local area.

Chicago People Injured in Auto Accident Here

Stanley Buchholz, 6232 Patterson avenue, and Miss Jane Skora, 3550 North avenue, both of Chicago, were injured when their car, traveling east, was struck near the Grimm Service station on the Northwest highway at 1:30 p. m. Sunday.

The accident occurred when the pavement was wet. The car coming from the west attempted to make the curve, it was reported, and skidded, crashing into the one going east. Both cars were thrown from the road, machine were broken and skidded. The occupants were brought to the local hospital where it was found they had received only minor injuries. First aid treatment was administered, and they were able to leave for their homes the same day.

No one was hurt in the other machine. It was owned and driven by E. W. Bauman of Cedar Rapids, Ia. Bauman was accompanied by Frank Holchek, also of Cedar Rapids. The front of Bauman's car was badly damaged.

Ten Days Remain Before End of Garden Contest

Only 10 days remain before the end of the Barrington Yard and Garden contest and final inspection by the judges. With nearly half a hundred homes entered in the contest, and a fine list of prizes offered for the best appearing homes, enough incentive for improvement has existed in Barrington to encourage an unusually neat and attractive community. A tip let loose from the judges is that contenders for prizes will do well to make a final clean-up and improvement about next week-end.

State News

Appropriation of $1,000,000 for federal participation in the Chicago World's fair of 1933 has been assured with the adoption by the house of representatives at Washington of part of a conference report on the agricultural supply bill carrying this sum. It previously had been approved by the senate.

Manned with a qualified bacteriologist and a milk sanitarian and equipped with test tubes, incubators, microscopes and numerous other scientific gadgets, a complete laboratory on wheels, the property of the State Department of Public Health, is scheduled to leave Springfield soon on a milk inspection tour of the state. The mobile laboratory will move from city to city, stopping in each community long enough to make a thorough investigation of the milk pasteurization plants in each.

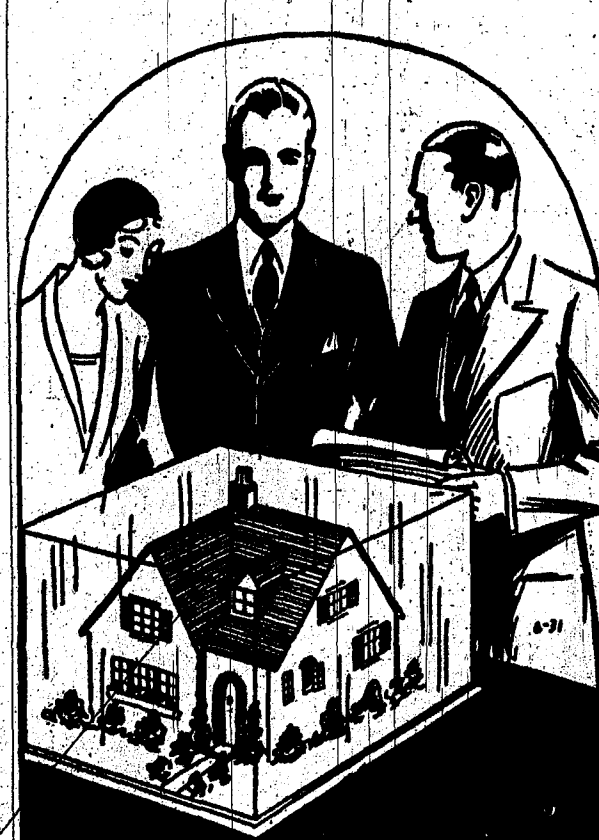

Under the heading, "The Affairs of the World," four books are suggested in the recent book list "For Thinking America," published by the American Library association and copies of which may be borrowed from the Illinois State Library Extension division at Springfield. The suggested volumes are, "Economic Stabilization in an Unbalanced World," by A. H. Hansen; "The United States in World Affairs," by Walter Lippman; "The Unseen Assassins," by Sir, Norman Angell; "Can Europe Keep Pace?" by F. H. Simonds.

Petitions by various railroads to discontinue certain passenger train service and citations against several motor bus lines claimed the attention of the Illinois Commerce commission at its recent sessions.

Checks issued by public officials and drawn on public funds, are not subject to the two-cent federal tax provided in the revenue bill of 1932. G. Addelman, collector of internal revenue has explained. The regulation relieving the various governmental bodies of the check tax burden, is based on the theory that one government cannot tax another.

The Illinois statute which permits discharged soldiers and sailors to vend goods without a license has been declared invalid in an opinion, handed down by the state supreme court. The decision, far reaching in effect, sustained the superior court of Cook county which refused to prevent Chicago and its park boards from interfering with vending by unlicensed veterans. It is probable that a rehearing will be asked in the case.

Normalcy
President Harding didn't invent the word "normalcy." It had its place in the language long before he was born, but it was obsolete and not often met with. He gave it currency through his use of it in his inaugural address—"we must strive for normalcy to reach stability"—just as Roosevelt gave popularity to several words, notably "strenuous."

Indian Women First to

Make Marvelous Laces

Feminine tourists to South American cities find keen delight in the beautiful laces which are used in profusion by women of Spanish blood throughout the entire world.

Strange as it may seem, however, many of the laces found in South America are not of Spanish origin, but were made by the Indian women long before the coming of the conquistadores.

A particular lace which might well be mistaken for a cobweb, so fine is its texture and design, has been made by the Indian women of Paraguay for so long that its origin is lost in the obscurity of legend.

It takes much time and infinite patience to make this lace, known as a mandul, and only those who have known the art from mother to daughter really know how to do it.

Insane Once Believed to Be Devil-Possessed

Since we know so little of the inner workings of the human mind, insane asylums are really only places where the mentally ill are kept. And yet when one compares these institutions and the care given to the insane to methods used formerly, the least one can say is that the insane are now handled reasonably.

Philippe Pinel, born in 1745, was not only an apostle of reasonableness as well as human goodness, but possessed the medical training needed to cast aside the ignorant superstitions regarding the insane. In those days in France, and in fact all over Europe, the insane were regarded as being possessed by evil spirits, and were chained and imprisoned with the sick and criminal.

As head of the Bicetre hospital in 1793 and as director of the Salpêtrière in 1795, Pinel cast aside the chains of the insane inmates, substituted warm baths for the cold water immersion and instituted many reforms that seem only natural to us. Claude Lillington also has offered to readers of Hygeia Magazine the biography of Philippe Pinel, another of the "Pioneers of Medicine."

Short Story of Paper

About the time of Alexander the Great, paper began to be manufactured from an Egyptian plant called papyrus, whence comes the name paper. It became so valuable that the export of paper from Egypt was prohibited. The Greeks and Romans did not have the secret and so they commenced to make use of skins prepared for the purpose. This sort of paper was called "pergamene" and that of calves was called "vellum." Finally these skins were made up into a continuous roll and called "volumen," which is the origin of the word "volume." Julius Caesar was responsible for making writing material in the form of pages which was more convenient than the great roll. In inscribing the papyrus the ancients made use of a piece of bamboo cut much in the shape of the pen as we know it.

Child's Work Table

One mother has taken a discarded card table and covered it with plain black oil cloth. She keeps this in the play room and when the children have when they want to play games, paint cut out paper dolls, etc. The oil cloth will wipe off easily and if scratched, it is not serious, as it may be replaced very cheaply.

REVENUE—AND MORE REVENUE

This much can be said for the new revenue bill—it will probably balance the budget and remove the present danger to American credit.

This can be said against it—it takes us another long step toward a tax condition similar to that of England, Australia, Germany and the other tax-distressed countries. The levies against gasoline, lubricating oil, tires, electricity, the check and bond taxes, the theater tax, etc., will work hardships on millions of our citizens. The income tax increases will doubtless cause a further flow of capital into tax-free government bonds, thus taking money out of the channels of trade, and away from industries sorely in need of funds. To this extent, it will hamper employment and delay a return to normal conditions.

There is one lesson we should have learned—that undervaluing watchfulness is the price of economical and efficient government. If we have to pay greatly increased taxes we have ourselves principally to blame. We gave ourselves all the rope they wanted, and they are slowly strangling us. The American has been indifferent to the operation of his government. He has been a poor stockholder. He is paying now.

The tax fight never ends. It is time we laid our plans for doing what we can, through the power of the ballot, to make tax reduction a reality in the future.

THE BOY SCOUT DRIVE

The adoption of a program to increase the enrollment of boy scouts so that one out of every four boys over twelve will be a member of the organization is one which will at once call attention to the accomplishments of the scout movement in the past and indicate that it purposes no standing still for the future. Already twenty-two American boys out of every hundred of scout age are boy scouts, and the national council aims to raise this already creditable average to twenty-five and at the same time to extend the average tenure of those who enroll to a period of four years, which is necessary for a complete course in scout training for leadership.

Even in hard times, when most organizations are content with retrenchments or, at best, to stand their ground, it is reassuring to note that the boy scouts give to adverse conditions an answer whose only implications are of progress and betterment. To aim at a mature total of scoutcraft is no small undertaking, but if past achievements may be taken as an index it is one which will be seen through the organized youth of America to a triumphant finish. Illinois residents may take additional pleasure in the circumstance that scout leaders expect the state to contribute its quota to this total in less time than the period allowed.

THE TWO ARMIES

Two armies are engaged in the war on fire. One consists of those who are working in the insurance business to prevent fire—the other of those employed in fire department and the manufacture of high-grade, standardized fire apparatus, to extinguish fire once started.

Both are very essential. The first army instructs us in the common fire hazards found in every home and building and how to eliminate them; in the need for carefulness, thought and the exercise of common sense. The second army puts the fire out after it has started and prevents potential conflagrations from occurring. In short, its work begins when someone has failed to take advantage of the knowledge and opportunity offered by the first army.

It is worth remarking that there are now a thousand times as many fire hazards as there were twenty years ago. Progress has been made, however, both in building against fire and in developing fire-fighting apparatus. For every large fire, there are thousands of small fires which might have been extremely disastrous had not fire-extinguishing construction been used or had the fire engines come late or had they failed. The two armies are doing a magnificent work.

"BACK TO EARTH"

"The great asset any nation can have is the spirit of its people," said George B. Cortelyou, president, Consolidated Gas Company of New York, and the greatest danger that can menace any nation is the breakdown of that spirit. That spirit is still with us. It will carry us through. However unfortunate—our present economic conditions, it is not as bad as it is painted by our professional pessimists. Not all the entries are on the debit side. We have learned—we seem always to have to learn these things again—some wholesome truths that should profit us in the future. We have learned the folly of living in a fool's paradise. We have seen the delusion of "something for nothing." We have turned our eyes from mirage to reality. We have come back to earth. These are no small gains.

The collapse of fictitious and absurd "values" will prove to be a good thing for the country. Everything that had genuine value in 1928 has genuine value now. We tried to run an economic machine on hot air, and the machine finally slowed down awaiting a supply of "solid" fuel.

WANTED—LEADERSHIP

Complaints that the country lacks "leadership" in its present economic crisis, are being heard on all sides. According to an almost overwhelming chorus of appeals received in Washington, "The whole nation is crying for a leader, and no man answers the cry." Bruce Barton, well-known editorial commentator, observes however, that this complaint is not new, but has sprung up in every period of distress. "Seldom has the Almighty dropped a full-fledged leader out of the sky," says Mr. Barton. "Leaders are pushed up out of the pressure of conditions, and so it will be now."

UNCLE SAM A HARD COMPETITOR

Uncle Sam may print envelopes in competition with local printers, do dental work in competition with dentists, he can loan money, run banks, conduct commercial shipping, handle railroads, buy wheat, sell groceries, and operate mills, but there is one thing that he cannot do, he cannot make any money or pay any dividends in conducting all this business. The taxpayer, who is called upon to meet all the deficits, has found this out. Just as the government is going into business, thousands of people are going out. In the meantime, taxes have increased in the federal government by 700 per cent, and others who still have a "going business" find it hard to pay this increase in taxes, much less meet Uncle Sam's competition, according to officials of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

America's greatness is built, not upon political selfishness, but upon the industry and the thrift of the rank and file of the American people.

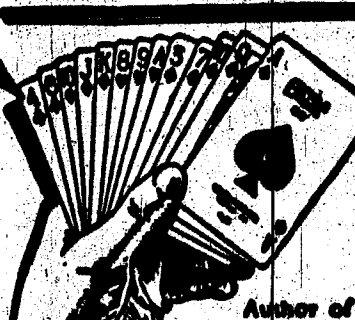

When the government eventually finds its way back to its proper sphere, when it quits competing with its own taxpayers, when it commences again to deal successfully with crime, with taxes, and other functions, and when the individual learns over again that individual responsibility represents opportunity, we will again enjoy the fruits of our labor and our inventive genius, and we will get back to our normally prosperous condition. —Journal Press, Buffalo, Minnesota.

WHOSE FAULT WAS THIS?

Some political writer with a statistical bent has been looking up the figures which illustrate the borrowing propensities developed by some of our states during the ten years following the war, and here are a few of his findings. New York increased her borrowing during those ten years 221 per cent; Illinois, 177 per cent; California, 1,009 per cent; Missouri, 1,842 per cent; New Jersey, 10,476 per cent, and Michigan, 808 per cent. A number of the principal cities were not far behind the states. New York City shows an increase of 104 per cent during this decade, Chicago 467 per cent, and Philadelphia, 377 per cent.

In the retrospect, it really looks now as if we were all mad during the ten years that preceded 1920, and how can we complain if now we must pay the penalty of that madness?

Perhaps there's nothing in a name, but A. G. Luck of Bridgeville, Eng., thinks there is. He insured his married daughter against the birth of more than one child, and when she bore twins he collected $5,000.

How to play Bridge AUCTION and CONTRACT

by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGES"

ARTICLE No. 33

In every locality where Auction or Contract is played there are one or more players who refuse to conform to the recognized conventions of bidding. They all have their reasons for not doing so, but none of more originality than the following. A player who had just bid one club without a club in his hand and was criticized for the bid by his partner, replied: "Your criticism is unreasonable. I have only one partner and two opponents so that if I fool you, I am also fooling them. The odds are just two to one in my favor."

Necessary to say, his argument was silly in that it is much more dangerous to fool your partner than your opponents. Fool your opponents when you have the opportunity of doing so without also fooling your partner; but tell your partner the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. In no other way can you obtain the best results. Camouflage bids are occasionally successful, but much more often they are boomerangs and the source of big losses. Let the other fellow take such chances and you will take the money in the long run.

The writer has referred many times in these articles to the tendency of Auction and Contract players in general to forbid no trump hands that contain four aces. They seem to be hypnotized by the four aces and forbid a sure game bid by their partners just so they can score the four aces. They seem to forget that the value of a game is much greater. This tendency was exemplified three times during the last week in games in which the writer was playing.

With the foregoing hand at Auction the dealer bid one no trump, second hand passed and the dealer's partner bid two no trump and the dealer gaily bid two no trump and all passed. His partner had a blank hand with the exception of six hearts to the queen and the dealer failed to make his contract by one trick. At auction they would have scored four odd. At Contract, the dealer should bid

B dealt and bid one spade, Z doubled. A bid two diamonds, Y passed, Z passed and B now had the choice of defending the hand with a certainty of saving game or of trying for a problematical and very doubtful game in no trump. He chose to bid two no trump, which Z doubled and set for 500 points. There was no excuse for B's bid as the bidding indicated that Z held a big hand. It is a good example of the wrong angle, too much to lose and too little to gain, and is applicable either to Auction or to Contract.

The play of the hand was interesting because it developed the double "squeeze," one of the rarest situations to arise in Auction. Z won with the queen of hearts, which B won with the king of hearts. B then led the jack of diamonds, allowing Y to win the trick with the queen of diamonds. Y now led the king of clubs and then the trey of hearts. B played a low heart and Z won the trick with the ten of hearts. He then returned the low heart on Y. A discarded a low diamond, Y a low club, and B won the trick with the ace of hearts. He now chose to lead the diamond and discard a low club, won the trick with the ace of diamonds and led back the ten of diamonds, Y winning the trick with the king of diamonds. On this trick, B discarded a low spade and Z the nine of spades. Y now led a spade, B played the queen and Z won the trick with the ace of spades. The cards now remaining in the various hands are as follows:

Hand No. 2
Hearts—A, K, J, 2
Clubs—A, Q, 10
Diamonds—A, Q, 2
Spades—A, Q, 10

The dealer at Auction bid one no trump, second hand passed and the dealer's partner bid two spades. Third hand passed and the dealer bid two no trump although practically certain that his partner could score game at spades. He managed to make two odd at no trump, but his partner could have made four odd at spades, of which he held six to the jack.

At Contract, the dealer should bid two hearts and, when his partner responds with the minimum bid of two no trump, the dealer should bid three no trump. His partner, holding six spades to the jack, should now bid four spades. The bidding at Contract is thus much more accurate with this hand.

Hand No. 3
Hearts—A, 9, 6, 2
Clubs—A, 9, 7
Diamonds—A, Q
Spades—A, 10, 9, 4

The dealer at Auction bid one no trump, second hand passed and the dealer's partner bid two spades. Third hand passed and the dealer bid two no trump. This is the worst bid of any, as he holds fewer supporting cards than in the preceding hands. This bid was defeated by two tricks while, at spades, they would have scored five odd. Don't let four aces lead you on to a bad bid. Always make game the objective and consider four aces only as an incident. A game is worth 125 points, or just 25 points more than 100 aces; so, from that point of view, the odds are five to four in favor of a sure game at a suit bid, rather than a doubtful game at no trump.

At Contract, the dealer should bid one no trump and, if his partner should bid two spades, he should bid four spades.

The following hand is another good example of overbidding when the angle did not justify it:

Problem
Hearts—3, 2
Clubs—A, K, 10, 6
Diamonds—K, Q, 8, 3

Barrington Hills Club Teems With Golfing Activities

First Dance of Season Held; Novel Contests Featured on July Fourth

Golf tournaments and parties were numerous over the week-end and holiday at the Barrington Hills Country club. The season's first dance was well attended on Saturday night. Music was furnished by Ray Berg's Virginians, an eight-piece band from Chicago. Plans have been made for a dance each Saturday night of the summer.

The Barrington derby (part-mutual play), flag tournament, and a ladies' approaching and putting contest were the chief events that took place on Independence day.

J. H. Bischof, 102-80-72, won low in the Barrington derby. S. B. White and J. E. MacMurray tied with a net score of 74. Mr. White had a gross score of 82 and a handicap of 8. Mr. MacMurray's gross score was 87 and his handicap was 13. G. G. Botts took third place with a score of 88-12-70.

Other scores in the Barrington derby were: R. Pettengill, 96-12-84; F. W. Callahan, 95-11-84; C. J. Whipple, 91-11-80; F. T. Michrist, 95-18-77; Jack Seale, 95-7-81; S. A. Goodman, 85-7-78; L. M. Hansen, 94-16-78; H. S. Hart, 90-13-83; D. M. Wood, 106-18-88; E. A. Seipp, 107-25-82; B. O. Dain, 103-20-83; P. W. Trier, 93-16-77; H. A. Clark, 100-20-80; B. S. Naven, 93-14-70; F. Whiting, 90-13-77; F. L. Foote, 95-14-81.

Salem Team Gains Lead in Softball League Standing

St. Paul and St. Anne's Teams Win Decisive Victories Friday Night

The Salem team took the lead in the Barrington Softball league as a result of the games that were played Friday night on the Russell street park diamonds. Prior to the games Friday night three teams were tied for first place. Second and third places are now held by St. Paul and St. Anne's churches.

The Baptists lost a double header to the Salem team with scores of 11 to 3 and 8 to 4. The success of the winning team was attributed partially to its home run king, Harder, who made his fourth home run for the season.

The St. Paul team made a decisive 6 to 1 victory over the Methodists. Both teams made one run in the first inning. The tie continued until the

to the Ancient Romans

The cute little symbols which American shorthand writers scribble on their pads are of ancient Roman and not American origin, archeological study has revealed.

As a matter of fact, Romans were widely using a uniform system of shorthand writing 2000 years before Christ. After the fall of the empire the use of abbreviated writing fell into decay until modern American business methods revived the need.

Such are the declarations in a scholarly investigation of Gino Masano, Italian savant. His studies have brought to light the full alphabet of ancient Roman shorthand writers, and, curiously enough, the symbols are much similar to those employed today. The basic idea is the same.

Seven centuries before Christ, when Rome was extending her provinces into every part of the world, the need for speed brought forth several forms of abbreviated writing by symbols, which were swiftly adopted by commercial enterprises. Ancient records show most of the accounts and letters of Roman firms were written in shorthand without transcribing, as the recipient was perfectly familiar with the code employed.

El Tovar Opens Saturday
Under New Management

The directors of the theater, Crystal Lake, which has been closed for several weeks, announced this week that they will re-open Saturday under the management of Fred W. Anderson. Mr. Anderson is the operator of the Morris Theatre at Morris, Ill., and has had a number of years experience as a motion picture exhibitor.

The theater will be reopened on Saturday, July 9 with "The Crowd Roars" starring James Cagney and Joan Blondell in an exciting automobile racing picture. The doors of the theater will open at 7:30 p. m. D. S. T. and the first show will begin at 8:00 p. m. and the last at 10:00 p. m. Mr. Anderson said today that it would be the policy of the new management to show the latest and best product of Hollywood's motion picture studios at reasonable admission prices.

As an added attraction on Sunday Mr. Anderson is presenting in addition to the picture "Westward Passage" starring Ann Harding, a novel stage show featuring Pickard's Chinese Synopators, a flash vaudeville act with nine people coming direct from R. K. O. and Public time.

A complete announcement of the opening week attractions appears elsewhere in this issue.

Men and Monkeys Alike
in Baldness "Patterns"

Men grow bald and their hair turns gray because they have to follow certain fundamental "patterns" in the great primate family to which the human race belongs. This is the conclusion of Garret S. Miller, Jr., curator of the division of mammals of the Smithsonian Institution, after a study extending over several years. When the male of the human species begins to lose his hair, the study shows, the spread of baldness tends to follow certain definite patterns similar to patterns characteristic in bald chimpanzees, Cebus black apes, macaques, South American monkeys and other primates. The process of turning gray, the anthropologist says, affords even more striking likenesses running through the primate family. But the "patterns" of baldness and gray hair common to men and apes, he explains, do not mean the two groups are closely related. They show only that the "patterns" are not characteristic of man alone but of a large branch of the animal kingdom.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Fewer Fur Animals

Farmers and trappers are trapping fewer fur animals each year, says the bureau of biological survey. Some of the causes of this are: Overtrapping for many years in reduced breeding areas, low prices for raw furs in the last few years, and the drought of 1930, which reduced the number of fur animals. The floods of 1927 also destroyed many fur animals in the Mississippi basin and New England. The numbers of foxes, martens, minks, fishers, and beavers reaching the market are decreasing, says the bureau, but there are still many skunks, opossums, raccoons and muskrats. The muskrat, which breeds often and raises large families, is one of the biggest fur producers.

Tornado Destroys
Buildings and Oak
Trees Near Here

Two Farms Heavily Damaged
by Sunday Morning
Wind Storm

Hundreds of oak trees more than two feet in diameter were snapped off like tooth picks and scattered about by a violent tornado that swept over a farm near here Sunday morning.

The two farms that received most serious damage are those owned by Benjamin Klinge and Mrs. Harry Klinge. In the latter case the destruction was confined principally to a grove of oak trees, while a number of buildings were destroyed on the Klinge farm.

The tornado, which accompanied a powerful rainstorm, swept over the Klinge farm from the west. For a distance of fifty rods the twister advanced through a valuable grove of oak trees, 30 rods wide. So many of the trees were snapped off that the waste measured nearly a foot in diameter. The storm then passed over the Klinge farm, where it struck with great force.

Carries Building 100 Yards
A single powerful eddy of the storm caught a combination garage, a farm implement building and barn, and carried them over a distance of 100 yards to the south where it left the building in a heap. An adjacent barn and corn blower were left unharmed within the building's foundation. Large portions of a chicken house were carried for half a mile. The entire structure, measuring 25 feet by 25 feet, was practically moved from the farm, and a score of chickens were killed, although many were unharmed. Except for one corner of the porch the residence was untouched. A few acres of wheat had recently been stacked, was safe to the edge of the field and plaster tightly against the fence.

In describing the storm, Mr. Klinge said that the terrific wind lasted about a minute. During the few seconds that the destruction was wrought there was a deep rumble that could be heard above the noise of the storm. Mr. Klinge stated that it is a mystery to him just why the storm did not take his home and certain fruit and movable articles that are piled in its path.

Hits Mundelein

At the Kampert farm a score of apple trees were uprooted or broken off and a dozen large oak trees were broken off at the base. In one instance an oak was cracked off at its bottom while two similar trees growing only five feet away were left unharmed. One end of the Kampert barn was bulged out by the wind, and the families on both farms said that their homes had been shaken when the tornado passed through. It is thought that the wind storm that struck the territory north of Barrington was the same one that caused considerable damage in Mundelein an early hour Sunday. No serious damage was reported by the towns east of the Kampert farm.

Water Bills Out;
Clerk Explains
Plan of Billing

Water bills which have been mailed out by the village clerk within a few weeks have brought in a few complaints due to a new system of billing and time division for computing amounts due. A. C. Burandt has reported.

For the convenience of meter reading and billing, the village has been divided into three parts. The meter in one-third of the town will be read one month, those in another third the next month and the remaining part of town will be read the third month. Because of the change in system some of the bills sent out in July cover five months of service. As soon as the change is complete, the bill will be for quarterly service, Mr. Burandt explained.

All meters are read and then checked by the superintendent of the water department before the figures are turned over to the village clerk for computing. Some water bills which cover a high many cover an additional month or two of service, bringing the meter service right up to date, Mr. Burandt said. Barrington residents who do not understand their water bills are invited to call at the village clerk's office to have the matter explained. Mr. Burandt said.
