Entertainment Friday night.

Chris Christenson will work on John Wilson's farm the coming year.

Oscar Bentler, wife and baby, visited their parents in this place Sunday.

The Athletic club tendered the business men a smoker in their rooms last evening.

Don't forget that entertainment in the M. E. church Friday night. It's going to be good.

Mr. Ream, brother of Rev. T. E. Ream of Barrington, was in town on business Tuesday.

L. F. Elvidge and son, Ray, of Barrington, visited at the home of John Page Saturday.

Prof. Sears' recital given at the home of Mrs. E. Converse last evening will be noted next week.

August Thate and family of Diamond Lake were visiting with Mrs. Chas. Vele on Thursday.

Mrs. M. J. Conklin is entertaining her sister, Miss Kilson of Harvard, at her home in Plum Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lytle visited with Mrs. Lytle's sister at Libertyville Tuesday and Wednesday.

Candidates for town offices are beginning to bob up. We will soon be in the midst of the spring election.

We understand that Bernhard Meyer, the present collector, and John Allard are out for the collectorship.

Misses Martha Pahlman, Lillian Filbert, Addie Filbert and Mattie Hodgkins attended the Sears recital at Barrington Tuesday evening.

Mrs. J. W. Burkitt of Arlington Heights died at her home in that place Tuesday night. There were three other deaths in that place the same day.

Palatine Lodge 708, I. O. O. F., elected new officers Wednesday evening as follows: Alfred Hanns, Noble Grand; H. W. Arps, Secretary, and A. S. Olms, Treasurer.

The work on the Methodist church is about completed, and the frescoing has added greatly to the neat appearance of the audience rooms. The work was done by Crystal Lake parties and does credit to the designers.

Will Filbert has some fine views of a rotary snow plow at work in the big drifts in Dakota. Some of the drifts were twenty-two feet deep and the views show the plow working through them, giving some extra good ideas as to how these plows work.

The new St. Paul train, now run on this division, is one of the finest trains which leaves Chicago. It is composed of Wagner vestibule and sleeping cars, lighted throughout with electricity and all the known latest improvements in passenger service are used in its make-up. The Northwestern is forging to the front in regard to fine coaches and passenger service.

The Cook County Farmers' Institute, which will be held at Barrington on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, promises to be of great value to farmers in this section of the state not only educationally but socially. Three meetings will be held daily—forenoon, afternoon and evening, at which eminent speakers will be present. Don't fail to attend.

John Thies' horses created quite an excitement on our streets Thursday morning. The team became frightened while standing near Hartlett's hotel, and breaking loose ran through town until it came to Schoppe's store where they jumped into a bob sleigh loaded with milk cans, and then fell down. The team and sleigh came out of the affair all right, and the sleighs that were struck in passing were only slightly damaged.

The entertainment given by G. M. Ritchie in the Methodist church Tuesday evening was fairly well attended and most of those present enjoyed the program rendered. Mr. Ritchie gave several interesting readings in different roles, but excelled in his humorous sketches. His Delsartine explanations and exercises were also interesting. Miss Lillian Hopkins and Miss Clara Harrison assisted with solos, which were very good.

TAX NOTICE.—I will close my books for the collection of taxes on March 5. All wishing to pay their taxes at Palatine will please take notice.

Clinton Jones, the baggage man for the Northwestern Railway Co. at Arlington Heights, committed suicide at the home of J. J. Deitrich, the station agent, on Tuesday evening. He left a note stating the deed was done on account of a splitting headache. Mr. and Mrs. Deitrich found the note on returning from a short visit and found the young man in the back yard with a bullet hole in his temple. The young man had been working hard lately, and it is thought that he was temporarily insane. His parents in Wisconsin were notified.

FRIDAY'S CONCERT.—Prof. W. L. Smyser has arranged one of the best of entertainments for next Friday evening in the Methodist church. Mr. A. I. Roberts, an elocutionist and impersonator of some note, will give readings and impersonations. He will be assisted by the Athletic club quartet, composed of Bert L. Smith, Henry Pahlman, Will Williams and Ralph Bentler. The proceeds go toward paying for necessary articles needed in the public school, and the cause is worthy of the patronage of our people. It is hoped that all interested in the school will attend. Admission, 25c; children, 10c.

Farmers' Institute Attracting Much Interest.

Considerable interest is manifest among the farmers of Lake, Cook, McHenry and Kane counties in the Farmers' Institute to be held at Barrington next Tuesday and Wednesday, March 8 and 9. Three sessions will be held daily—9:30 a. m., 1:30 p. m. and 8 p. m.

Among the speakers, of which there have been secured a large number of the best and most successful farmers and stockmen of this and other states, S. Hill of Chicago, secretary of the Milk Shippers' Union, will speak on the "Prospect of the Milk Shippers' Union," on Wednesday evening, March 9.

An excellent and entertaining literary program has been also prepared to enliven the meetings, if such can be the case.

Every farmer should not fail to come and bring his family. Barrington extends a hearty welcome to all. No charge is to be made at any of the meetings. Come and enjoy the privileges of a good education and sociability. Get acquainted with your neighbors.

Speaking of illustrious ancestry, it may be recalled that the last two descendants of Christopher Columbus are said to be now inmates of a poorhouse in Cadiz, Spain. While they are about it those Americans who are eagerly tracing their descent from Alfred the Great or Charlemagne or Tom Knox's mother ought to hunt through the poorhouses and penitentiaries of this country to find out how many of their kin are incarcerated within the walls thereof.

The Fullness Thereof.

Avoid the discomforts of life and the fullness thereof, reaching to every family, there is that which can so easily mitigate or entirely cure, the wonder is why we endure and suffer so much. From big pains to little aches, which are the wear and tear of the physical structure of man, there are always remedies good, better and best. The choice should be always for best as the surest and the cheapest. In chronic or acute suffering with rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica or lumbago, or with the minor ailments of sprains and bruises, or of soreness and stiffness, the efficacy of St. Jacobs Oil and the fullness thereof in so many complete and perfect cures make it stand out as the best remedy for pain. Why, then, should we stand on the order of going for it, and not go at once? In numberless cases the aggravations of discomforts and pains are from delay. Why should we suffer?

A FRIEND'S ADVICE.

And what it led to.

It is not a common occurrence that a friendly word should be the means of giving nearly forty years of happiness and health to the person heeding the advice it enticed. This was the case with Mary Lingard. At twenty-five she was dragging out her days in misery. At sixty-one she finds herself so active and strong she can do work that would shame many a younger woman, and looks back on thirty-six happy, healthful years of industry. But let her tell her story.

"Thirty-six years ago I had great trouble with my liver. The doctors allowed that there were tumors growing on it, and they blistered my side in an effort to give me relief. I was at that time earning my living as a tailoress, but for five years, between the pain in my side and the blisters I was in constant misery, and work was a drag to me, with no prospect of relief. Fortunately for me, however, a friend advised me to take Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and finally persuaded me to take a regular course of it. When I first commenced taking the Sarsaparilla my side was so painful that I could not fasten my dress, and for a time I did not get any relief, but my friend advised me to persevere and relief was sure to come, and come it did. This happened, as I say, thirty-six years ago. My liver has never troubled me since, and during these years I have passed through the most critical period of a woman's life without any particular trouble, and to-day, at sixty-one years of age, I am active and strong, and able to do a day's work that would upset many a younger woman. Ever since my recovery I have taken a couple of bottles of Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla each spring, and am quite satisfied that I owe my good health to this treatment. I give this testimony purely in the hope that it may meet the eye of some poor sufferer."

MARY LINGARD, Woodstock, Ont.

Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its way to every corner of the world by the praise of its friends—those who have tried it and who know they were cured by the use of the remedy. There is nothing so strong as this personal testimony. It throws all theories and fancies to the winds and stands solidly upon the rock of experience challenging every skeptic with a positive "I know." Ayer's Sarsaparilla with its purifying and vitalizing action on the blood is a radical remedy for every form of disease that begins in tainted or impure blood. Hence tumors, sores, ulcers, boils, eruptions and similar diseases yield promptly to this medicine. Some cases are more stubborn than others, but persistence with Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla usually results in a complete cure. Mary Lingard began with a bottle, and went on to a course of Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla. When she was cured she realized that the medicine that could cure disease could also prevent it. So she took a couple of bottles each spring and kept in perfect health. There are thousands of similar cases on record. Some of these are gathered into Dr. Ayer's Curebook, a little book of 100 pages which is sent free by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Write for it.

CHAPTER XVII.

WEEK after this little incident Arley Ransome called to see his daughter; he wished to congratulate her on her success in society, to tell her all that he had heard in her praise, and how his most sanguine dreams were being realized. As the father of Lady Caraven, people thought it worth their while to conciliate him. He was invited to houses which before this marriage he had never hoped to enter; he had been made welcome in the drawing rooms of Belgrave and Mayfair. What was even better, his practice was increasing. Arley Ransome was a happy man.

He was shown into the library, where the young countess sat alone, royally beautiful, in a close fitting dress of black velvet—velvet that fell in rich folds and swept the ground around her. The charming head and face were set off by the dark drapery; she held a book in her hands, but she had not read one word it contained. She looked up when her father entered, and he was struck by the despondency of her young face, the weariness of the dark eyes, the drooping attitude. He went up to her, and, as usual, complimented her. She was looking so well, so beautiful, he must say, and what a success she had achieved.

No smile answered—the weariness and the despondency deepened. He took a seat by her side, and told her all that he thought would interest her most. Was she listening? He did not know, for she made no reply. Suddenly, and the shock of it quite startled him—she raised her eyes to his face.

"Father," she said, "do you know what manner of man this is to whom you have sold me?"

"My dear Hildred, hush! Pray be more guarded in your speech."

"I repeat, do you know what manner of man my husband is?"

"Oh, now you put the question in better form, I can answer it. You really should not use the word 'sold,' as though you were a slave; we do not sell people in England."

She laughed—surely the most dreary, the saddest laugh that ever fell from such young lips.

"We will not dispute about a word, papa. Answer my question—do you know what manner of man my husband is?"

"I know the earl is considered a very handsome, fascinating man by all who are acquainted with him," he replied.

"Handsomeness," she repeated, sorrowfully. "What has that to do with it? Do you know that he is utterly incorrigible—that he spends his days and nights in playing and betting—that he comes home at sunrise—that he neglects every duty?"

"Little foibles, my dear," he replied quickly; "you must not think too much of them."

She folded her hands and they lay listlessly on her dress.

"Little foibles, papa? If men call those things little foibles I should like to know what you consider great sins?"

"We will waive that, my dear—it is not a matter for discussion," said the lawyer, almost wishing that he had not called on that particular morning.

But she was not to be silenced. "Did you know what he was when you allowed me to marry him?" she continued.

"I knew that he was Lord Caraven—and surely that was enough—a peer of the realm, a man of ancient descent."

"Did you know that he liked gambling and betting better than anything else in the world?" she asked.

"Mere foibles. All men have their weaknesses—those are his. You must have patience, my dear."

"Did you know," she continued, "that he does not even like me, and never did?"

"Nonsense, Hildred! You have all that you require," he said, hastily.

"And a dead heart," she murmured—"a dead heart! Papa, did you remember that I was young, and that youth lives on love?"

"Nonsense!" he replied. "You have grown sentimental through having nothing to do, Hildred."

"It was a cruel thing, this marriage. I was so young—I might have been spared. It was a cruel deed."

"My dear Hildred," said Arley Ransome, growing alarmed, "I did not deceive you. I never told you that Lord Caraven loved you. He asked you to be his wife; there was nothing said about love."

"You told me that I could live without it," she said, in a low voice. "I did," he assented.

She struck her hands together with passionate fervor.

"I can not," she cried. "Heaven help me, I can not. My heart is empty, my heart is dead, my life is vain. You deceived me when you told me that. You, my father, who should have saved me—who should have taught me better—you deceived me, and I wish that I were dead."

"You are very unreasonable, Hildred," he said, slowly.

"What have I to live for?" she cried. "I have no one to love me. My husband is a stranger to me; he values me less than his horse or his dog; he would not miss me if I died tomorrow; he has my money, he does not want me. There is no one in all this wide world so forlorn, so desolate as I am."

"You forget that I love you, Hildred."

"No, you never loved me, papa," she declared, "I am quite sure."

"I am sure," interrupted Arley Ransome, "that Lord Caraven always seems kind to you."

"Kind!" she repeated. "He does not beat me! he is just as kind to his favorite dog as he is to me. Kind! That is not the relationship that should be between husband and wife; he does not love me, and he never will. Think of that—remember how young I am, how lonely. How am I to live through the stretch of years? My husband, papa, rarely speaks to me; he never takes the least interest in me. I do not believe that if I fell dead at his feet he would attempt to raise me from the ground."

"You exaggerate, my dear; it will all come right in time," he said, soothingly.

"It will never come right for me, papa—and you know it."

With a passionate gesture she rose from her seat. She went over to him and laid her hands on his shoulders. She raised her sad, beautiful face to his.

"Father," she said, "I am frightened at myself. I cannot tell—I dare not think—how it will end. I was indifferent at first; but now," she continued, in a low tone, "I begin to dislike him."

"THANK YOU, PAPA,"

"Oh, my dear, that is very wrong—very wrong, indeed! A woman should never dislike her husband."

"Should a husband ever dislike his wife?" she asked. "Because my husband does dislike me. I am frightened at myself, for if I were to be here much longer I should hate him; hate him for his indolence, his self-indulgence, his weakness of character—hate him, because through him my whole life is spoiled."

"Hush, Hildred! I will not listen to you. You are unreasonable. You have everything that a woman's heart can wish for; you have position; you are surrounded with luxury; you have boundless wealth. What more can you want?"

"I have all that, and I am an unloved wife. I have all that, yet I would change places with the poorest peasant woman whose husband loves her."

"That sounds very well, my dear, but were you to try it, you would soon change your opinion. Be content with what you have; do not long for what you have not. I wonder at your want of reason—your want of sense. You are like a child crying for the moon. How many girls in England would have been glad of the chance to be Countess of Caraven?"

"I hate the title," she said, with a stamp of her foot.

"You are in a passion, Hildred. You are not yourself today. I am sorry that I called."

With an imploring gesture she held out her hand to him.

"Can you do nothing to help me, papa—nothing?"

He looked embarrassed and perplexed.

"What can I do, my dear? I can speak to Lord Caraven, but I have grave doubts as to whether that will improve matters. It is never a wise thing to interfere between husband and wife. I could ask him to take just a little more interest in you, if you like."

"No!" she cried, vehemently. "You do not understand. I mean, help me that I may not hate him—help me that I may be more patient. If I hated him I should be compelled to leave him—and I am drawing near it fast."

"You must not, Hildred. I am sure he is very lovable."

"But, then, you see, papa," she objected, "he does not love me."

"He will do so in time. Every one likes Lord Caraven. He is called 'the handsome earl.' I assure you, Hildred, that there is not a woman in London who would have refused him—not one."

"I wish that I had refused him," she said, dreamily. "Papa, I am so frightened at myself. Do you know that I do not want him to love me now? I am beginning to dislike him—the sound of his voice is positively unpleasant to me. I would far rather be broken-hearted, longing for his love, than be what I am now. I should be a better woman if I wept for his love, instead of feeling as I do now, that it is not worth having. My better self is dead."

"My dear Hildred, all this is most absurd. You do not know what you want. You tell me that your husband does not love you—you make that the groundwork of your complaint—and then you tell me you can not regret his want of love. The fact is, my dear, you are not yourself—you are over-tired. After your quiet life at St. Roche, all this excitement is too much for you. I should advise you to keep quiet for a few days, and then you will be all right." The tragedy of sorrow seemed to pass from her face.

"Thank you, papa," she replied. Her hands fell listlessly. "You speak as you think. It is not your fault that you do not understand me. We will say no more about it."

"That is right," said Arley Ransome, looking greatly relieved. "Now you speak like a reasonable woman. Philosophers say that women have impulse, but no reason—I shall begin to think that they are wrong."

He talked with his usual brisk cheerfulness about many different subjects, and then took his leave. But, although he had silenced his daughter, he was not disposed to allow this kind of thing to continue, if he could help it. It would end badly—his own knowledge of the world told him that. So he called at the earl's club, and there he found him as usual.

"I have just been to Halby House," he said, "and have been spending half an hour with Hildred."

The earl raised his eyebrows, which was the only mark of interest he thought it worth his while to bestow. "I did not think that she looked very well, and, what was worse, she did not appear happy."

"Women never do unless they have new diamonds every day," declared the earl.

"I do not think that Hildred requires new diamonds, but I think perhaps that if you—"

"I," interrupted the earl—"I have nothing to do with it. I have a nervous dread of people who do not look happy. Pray do not appeal to me. Hildred is all right—I see nothing to complain of."

"I should not like to see anything that called for complaint," said Arley Ransome, sternly.

"Speak frankly," cried Lord Caraven, "I understand plain English. Has your daughter been complaining about me?"

"She has not," was the reply. "So much the better for her," said the earl, "and so much the better for me."

Arley Ransome owned to himself that the events of the day had not been altogether pleasant.

Owned by Colored People.

Baltimore Sun: The only cotton mill in the country, it is claimed, owned exclusively by colored people, is now approaching completion at Concord, N. C., and the last brick will be laid before the close of the present year. The mill is to have from 7,000 to 10,000 spindles and from 150 to 250 looms. The building is a handsome three-story brick structure, 120 feet long and 80 feet wide. Besides the main building there are also engine and boiler houses and a tower for water purposes. It is expected the mill will be put in operation by the 1st of April. The colored people of Wilmington alone have put $4,000 in the mill, which promises to be a monument to the enterprise and thrift of the colored people of the old north state.

AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.
We are asserting in the courts our right to the exclusive use of the word "CASTORIA" and "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," as our Trade Mark. I, Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Massachusetts, was the originator of "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," the name that has borne and does now bear the fac-simile signature of CHAS. H. FLETCHER on every wrapper. This is the original "PITCHER'S CASTORIA" which has been used in the homes of the mothers of America for over thirty years. Look carefully at the wrapper and see that it is "the kind you have always bought," and has the signature of HAS. H. FLETCHER on the wrapper. No one has authority from me to use my name except The Centaur Company of which Chas. H. Fletcher is President.

Pretty Pen Wiper.
A pretty little pen wiper is made of old-blue kid or fine leather, seven and a half inches long by three and one-half inches wide, pinked out all around the edge. Underneath this should be placed two pieces of chamolite, seven by three inches; these should also be pinked out about the edges. These should be fastened together by means of a pretty bit of Dresden ribbon, half an inch wide, by tying across the center so that it looks like a butterfly.

Rev. Mary A. Hill is the noted Evangelist writes: "I gladly give my testimony to the healing properties of Dr. Day's Lung Balm. My son had a terrible cough every winter for five years and he took dozens of bottles of the leading cough medicines but nothing seemed to help him or quiet his cough. But two 25 cent boxes of Dr. Kay's Lung Balm has cured him, and it has also been a great relief to other members of my family when afflicted with colds." We are positive that Dr. Kay's Lung Balm and also Dr. Kay's Renovator have no equals. If you have any disease write us and give your symptoms and our physician will send free advice and a valuable 58 page book with 56 recipes and giving symptoms and various methods of treating nearly all diseases. DAUDET DETESTED ANIMALS.
Fled from Any House Where He Saw a Lap Dog.

Daudet had a lurking kindness for sinners. He pitied them, for he could not see how in the long run they could succeed in anything, says London Truth. But the self-righteous were more offensive to him. I think he was right in saying that men and women who passed for having never sinned are unpleasant companions, and, from the day of judgment standard, perhaps the worst sinners of all. The sensibility shown in "Jack" and other works did not extend to animals. Daudet, though a Cigaller, was deaf to the chirp of the grasshopper and cricket. Birds have no place in his rural sketches. He could not understand the touching beauty of the "last friend" at the poor man's funeral. Animals were simply brutes to Daudet. At best they were warnings to human beings not to live merely to eat, sleep and leave posterity behind them. They sometimes were vice incarnate. Such were the fox, the serpent, the scorpion. What a selfish, heartless thing the ant was. It had a head if you will, but it was the sort of head that organizes labor in sooty factory towns. The dog was the beastliest beast of any. Daudet fled from every drawing room where he saw a lap dog.

The Apple Dumping.
Apple-dumpling day was a red one in my boy's calendar. When I had such a dainty bit in my bag it seldom stayed there many minutes. Although I had dispatched a hearty breakfast before starting, out would come the dumpling. "Just to have a look at it and see if it is as big as mother generally makes them," I would say to myself. Then I would turn it about and admire its size. From handling the dainty to tasting it was a sure process. "I'll have one little bite, only a nibble," I would say. When I had got my tooth into that dumpling Adam with his apple wasn't in it; it was a case of once bitten soon gone. Then I would hurry up to make up for my dawdling, with only the hunch of barley bread in my wallet, the joys of the dumpling behind me, and before me the day's drudgery, with perhaps a thrashing thrown in.—Joseph Arch; the Story of His Life.

A Total Disability Claim of $1,650 Paid to a Man Who Was Afterward Cured.

The Monitor, a newspaper published at Meaford, Ont., Canada, first discovered this case two years ago, and published it at length, which now seems, owing to the cure of it, to be a miracle. The facts were so remarkable that many people doubted the truth of them. They said: "It is too remarkable; it cannot possibly be true; the paper is mistaken, and the man, although he may think himself cured, will soon relapse into his former condition," etc., etc. The accuracy of its report called in question, the Monitor determined to find out definitely whether the facts were as stated and whether the man would really stay cured. They accordingly kept a close watch on the case for two years after the opening his mouth sufficiently wide to take solid food. The doctors called the disease spinal sclerosis, and said he could not live. For three years he lingered in this condition. Then by some friends he was advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He took them and there was a slight change. The first thing noted was a tendency to sweat freely. This showed there was some life left in his helpless body. Next came a little feeling in his limbs. This extended, followed by pricking sensations, until at last the blood began to course freely, naturally and vigorously through his body, and the helplessness gave way to returning strength, the ability to walk returned, and he was restored to his old time health.

I am in even better health than when I gave you the first interview."
"Do you still attribute your cure to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?" asked the Monitor.
"Unquestionably I do," was the reply. "Doctors had failed, as had also the numerous remedies recommended by my friends. Nothing I took had the slightest effect upon me until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To this wonderful medicine I owe my release from the living death. I have since recommended these pills to many of my friends, and the verdict is always in their favor. I shall always bless the day I was induced to take them."
Such is the history of one of the most remarkable cases of modern times. Can any first article appeared, and have just now published another article about it in which the original reports are completely verified, the cure is permanent, and they publish a fac simile of the check given by the Canadian Mutual Life Association for $1650.00 amount of total disability claim paid by them to Mr. Petch. The first account stated that the patient (see address below) had been a paralytic for five years, that there was such a total lack of feeling in his limbs and body, that a pin run full length could not be felt; that he could not walk or help himself at all; for two years he was not dressed; furthermore that he was bloated was for that reason almost unrecognizable, and could not get his clothes on. The paralysis was so complete as to affect the face and prevented him from

The above is the substance of the first article published by the Monitor. Now follow some clippings, taken from the same paper two years afterward, and there is not the slightest shadow of doubt, in view of this testimony, that Mr. Petch's cure is permanent. Here follows the account:
On being again questioned, Mr. Petch said: "You see those hands—the skin is now natural and elastic. Once they were hard and without sensation. You could pierce them with a pin and I would not feel it, and what is true of my hands is true of the rest of my body. Perhaps you have observed that I have now even ceased to use a cane, and can get about my business perfectly well. You may say there is absolutely no doubt as to my cure being permanent. Indeed one say, in the face of such testimony, that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not entitled to the careful consideration of any suffering man, woman or child? Is not the case in truth a miracle of modern medicine?

To make the evidence complete we publish above a fac simile cut of the check received by Mr. Petch from the Canadian Mutual Life Association, being the amount due him for total disability. It is unnecessary to add that this life insurance association did not pay this large amount of money to Mr. Petch, except after the most careful examination of his condition by their medical experts. They must have regarded him as forever incurable.
Mr. Petch's address is as follows, Reuben Petch, Griersville, Ont., Canada.

The Barrington Review

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

M. T. LAMEY, Ed. and Pub.

Entered at the postoffice at Barrington, Ill., as second-class matter.

SATURDAY, MARCH 6, 1898.

It is unfortunate that at critical times in a nation's history the facts most important and the facts they most want to know cannot be at once revealed to its people.

If the Maine was blown up by a set of private Spanish desperadoes or fanatics on their own account, that would not be cause for war with Spain. The most the United States could do would be to make Spain pay damages. If she refused, then war might justly be declared.

It is satisfactory to know that the public is not rending its garments over the wild lies in regard to Spain and the blowing up of the Maine that have been howled through this land by the hysterical journals.

The wise man is the one who in times of national excitement keeps his head on and suspends his judgment while he calmly waits for facts. While he keeps his head on he likewise keeps his mouth shut till the time comes when he can speak knowingly. Then he says something.

The fleet assembled at Key West consists of the battleships New York, Massachusetts, Indiana, Iowa and Texas, the cruisers Marblehead, Detroit, Nashville and Montgomery, the monitor Ericsson and the torpedo boats Cushing, Porter and Dupont. The cruiser Brooklyn is also in gulf waters within easy hailing distance.

Not one of the frothy newspaper editors now trying their best on paper to bring about war with Spain fought in the last war. What is more, if war should be really declared with Spain, not one of these heroes would shoulder his musket and join the ranks. From his safe retreat behind his office boy he would hurl anathemas at the enemy and patriotic appeals to other people to go.

At first blush it is not apparent what is to be gained from an investigation by a committee of congressmen in regard to the Maine disaster. As one thinks about it, however, the reason for such investigation becomes plain. The naval committee in the two houses of congress want to learn something about naval affairs. They therefore have resolutions passed enabling them to investigate the Maine. It is an object lesson for themselves that our congressmen seek in the matter. 'Tis well. Let the congressional investigation go on.

The St. Paul land ownership case decided by the United States supreme court is an important one. Elizabeth Wetzel and other heirs sued to recover a tract of 160 acres in the heart of St. Paul. It is now worth $1,000,000. The suit was fought through all the lower courts up to the highest. The property probably originally belonged rightfully to the heirs suing for it. But they had allowed 40 years to elapse without laying any claim to it. Consequently the supreme court ruled that their claim was outlawed by lapse of time.

The government allows second class mail matter, such as newspapers, to be mailed at 1 cent a pound. The railroads charge the government 8 cents a pound for carrying this same matter. The consequence is an annual deficit in the post-office department of $11,000,000 a year. The railroads charge the express companies only 1 cent a pound for carrying second class mail matter, the government they charge eight times as much, and the United States government is donkey enough to put up with it.

When Zola was arrested on the charge of insulting the "honor" of the French army by charging that an unjust verdict had been knowingly rendered in the Esterhazy case, the general sympathy was all against him. It was thought that he merely wished an advertisement to sell his next book. As his trial progressed, however, his fortitude and evident consciousness of the justice of his own case turned over to his side those who had been inclined to ridicule him. It is now evident that he is the scapegoat to bear the weakness and cowardice of the government of France, which dares not allow justice to be done lest its own existence be imperiled. But let it not forget these last words of Zola: "My condemnation, instead of bringing back peace, which all desire, will only prove new seed of passion and disorder. The measure is full. I warn you, do not make it overflow."

HERE AND THERE.

McHenry is agitating the question of organizing a fire company.

M. F. Walsh of the Harvard Herald has been appointed postmaster at Harvard.

A northern Illinois base ball league is being talked of. Marengo, Harvard and Algonquin have been proposed as members of the league.

Representatives of the different newspapers of McHenry county met at Richmond recently and formed a county press association and elected officers.

Recently a farmer near Rockefeller shot a huge eagle in the woods. The bird is about two and one half feet long and its wings when outspread will measure from six to seven feet.

The price set by the Milk Shippers' Union for ensuing three months is as follows: For February, 90 cents per can; for March, 85 cents; for April, 80 cents, being an average of 85 cents.

T. H. Paddock of Cary has sold twenty acres of land on the west side of Fox river, in the town of Cuba, to Chicago parties. Lumber is now on the ground, and it is said that a manufacturing plant will be erected there.

The McHenry Journal says: "A late report from Joliet is to the effect that Mrs. Hannah Wollert, who was given a life sentence in the penitentiary for the murder of her stepdaughter in Algonquin, is declining. She is said to have consumption."

Marengo citizens do not propose to be left in the dark, hence they have asked the council to arrange that when the city's electric plant is short of currents a supply can be had from the Collins & Burgie Co. The company will furnish light at the rate of $6 per night when running and $7.50 per night when the plant is closed, at any time.

Monday C. T. Heydecker returned from his southern trip, lecturing in the interest of the Modern Woodmen. He brought with him a choice lot of complimentary badges to add to his already large collection, among them being one inscribed "1898, Banner Camp No. 5257, of Huntington. Hon. C. T. Heydecker, our guest."—Waukegan Gazette.

The Byron Express says: "Every time a live merchant drops out of a newspaper the general public immediately thinks the 'bargains' at that place are all gone, and they look for something else. The people look in the newspapers for bargains and they are right, and the merchant who is up-to-date ought not to stop even for one week, inviting the people to trade with him."

The McHenry County Democrat, published at Woodstock, says: "The mayor and city attorney are after the railroad company for not complying with the ordinance in regard to running trains through this city at a greater rate than ten miles an hour. Some trains go through here at the rate of forty miles and it was time the city officials called a halt or some serious accident might result."

Farmers are being advised to place small "bacon" hogs on the market instead of large lard producers. Considerable satisfaction is being expressed by the farmers and stock men on account of this idea which the managers of the great stock yards of the west are trying to impress upon them. The demand for thin and lean bacon and small hams is increased by the growth of the export trade. Long bodied, slim hogs, weighing from 200 to 250 pounds, are termed "bacon hogs."

According to reports Richmond will enjoy a considerable building boom this spring. It is said that with the advent of spring carpenters and masons will be in demand in that village. A new Congregational church, one or two business blocks and several residences are a certainty, and, as the projectors are all anxious to get an early start and rush work, the employment of a large number of out of town workmen will be necessary. A new creamery can also be set down in the 1898 list of buildings, its erection being practically assured.

McHenry Pleased with Their Water Works.

The McHenry Journal, in speaking of the fire which broke out recently in the store of John Evanson & Co., who suffered a considerable loss, has this to say in regard to their waterworks system, which was but recently completed:

"A thrill of admiration ran through the assembled crowd as the water was thrown in large and steady streams upon the burning building. The fire soon died out under the irresistible attack. That the system of waterworks saved the business portion of the west side from complete destruction is conceded by all. The loss which would have resulted had the town been without fire protection would have been greater than the entire cost of the waterworks system. In other words, the system of waterworks has already paid for itself."

Lake County Fair Directors in Session.

The board of directors of the Lake County Fair Association held a meeting at Libertyville on Friday, February 18th. President Byron Colby was present, also Directors Muhike, Austin, DeWolf and Bonner. In the absence of Secretary Woodman, due to illness, Mr. Davis acted in that position. It was decided to enlarge the departments of the fair next fall and to divide the work among five committees. Judges from outside the county will be engaged to pass on the exhibits and in that way avoid the charge of favoritism. The amusement and speed parts of the fair are well provided for. In the latter the following will be offered: 2:25 and 2:40 trotting; 2:35 pacing; farmers, 2:35 trotting; "The Lake County Stake" ($5 entrance and $50 added by society); 2:40, 2:30 and 2:16 trotting. In numbers 1, 4, 5, 6, 9 and 10 the purses have been raised to $250 each.

Trial and Sentence of Zola.

The sentence of Zola to a year's imprisonment and a fine of $600 is undoubtedly the consummation of a political crime for which the French nation must suffer bitterly in time to come. The real facts in the case are impossible to obtain outside when they are deliberately suppressed at home, but the universal judgment is that Emile Zola is a martyr and a victim who will be honored in another time as much as he is execrated in the present one.

As nearly as it can be got at the truth appears to be as follows: Undoubtedly French officers were selling secrets to the German government. Probably both Esterhazy and Dreyfus were engaged in the treasonable transaction. If, however, either one was innocent, that one was Dreyfus and not Esterhazy. Zola maintains in the most intense and solemn manner that Dreyfus is innocent and that he could prove it if permitted. The French court that tried him, however, would not permit it. The trial was a caricature of justice from beginning to end. It is certainly known, however, that Dreyfus was convicted and sentenced on the strength of a secret document which the court that tried him did not dare to make known to the French people. The reason they did not dare to make it public was that the German emperor demanded it should be handed over to him or he would make war on France. The French government knew that France was not equal to a conflict with Germany, so the authorities surrendered the document in accordance with William's demand. They at the same time did not dare to let the French people know they surrendered it, or there would have been a revolution at home. The document was called a bordereau, in English a memorandum.

Dreyfus was therefore condemned from the evidence of the secret document, and it was humbly given to the German government. Zola obtained information of this and of other facts which he declares prove Esterhazy's guilt and Dreyfus' innocence. He made this information public in a letter to the French newspaper Anore. To cover up the explosion which was sure to follow the French government had Zola arrested for insulting the authorities. It likewise caused its especial newspapers to raise the cry of "Down with the Jews!" Dreyfus being a Jew.

Whether Dreyfus was guilty or not it is certain he was illegally condemned, because through fear of Germany the French government did not dare to make public the evidence against him. The trial was a secret inquisition. There is one point which remains dark. Evidence was certainly suppressed on the alleged trial of Esterhazy, the trial which resulted in his acquittal. Now, why should the French government insist on protecting Esterhazy when everything indicates him to be at least as much of a traitor as Dreyfus? What foreign power demanded the acquittal of Esterhazy?

At Norfolk navy yard there are three more United States battleships nearly completed. They are the Kentucky, Illinois and Kearsarge. The Kearsarge was made an exception to the ordinary rule of calling battleships for states because of the historic importance attaching to her grand old name.

OF INTEREST TO OUR READERS.—We have just received from The Page Seed Co. of Greene, Chenango Co., N. Y., their new illustrated catalogue of vegetable and flower seeds, plants, roses and bulbs. In looking through this neat little book we notice that they carry a full line of all the standard varieties and a great many novelties. We also notice that the prices quoted are very low, and, in some instances, as low as 2 and 3 cents per packet of the standard size. On one page we notice that The Page Seed Co. inform their customers in reference to the number of seeds that they put up in each packet; for instance, in a packet of lettuce they put up from 3,000 to 4,000 seeds; parsnips, from 1,500 to 2,000, and in a packet of tobacco seed which they sell for 5 cents there are over 25,000 seeds. They also make several combination offers which are exceptionally cheap. They guarantee their seeds to be the best to be obtained; none better at any price. If any of our readers wish a copy of their catalogue they will send it to you free of charge if you will send your name and address plainly written on a postal card.

A GOOD LETTER

From the Clerk of the Circuit Court.

FERNANDINA, Fla., Feb. 28, 1896.

MR. J. GEORGE SUHRER, Druggist, City.

Dear George:—Please send a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I would not feel easy if I knew there was none of this valuable Remedy in the house. I have given it a fair test and consider it one of the very best remedies for croup that I have ever found. One dose has always been sufficient, although I use it freely. Any cold my children contract yields very readily to this medicine. I can conscientiously recommend it for croup and colds in children.

Yours respectfully, GEO. E. WOLFF.

Sold by A. L. WALLER, Barrington, and A. S. OLMS, Palatine.

Samuels, county clerk of Hickman County, Clinton, Kentucky, testifies that he suffered for years with horrible pains in the back, kidneys and bladder—was treated by many physicians—they gave him no relief—he got so he could hardly stand alone—Utah Kidney Beans, he says, completely cured him. He gladly recommends them to all sufferers.

Tremendous Fighting Force Guaranteed to the President If Our Just Demands Are Refused—State of Illinois Holds Third Place on the List.

According to a report placed on the table of President McKinley there are now available for military duty in the United States 10,073,576 able-bodied men, and of these 112,082 are already in the militia, forming the nucleus of a tremendous fighting force. IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS OF LAST SIX DAYS.

Divinity Students Suspended from Lombard University—Rascally Conduct Fittingly Retributed—Surprise in the Hedley Trial—Brief Illinois Items.

Divinity Students Suspended.

Galesburg: Scenes of unwonted violence in a class rush at Lombard University, Washington's birthday, had a sensational sequel in chapel next morning, when President Nash announced the indefinite suspension of two senior theological students and the suspensions until the end of the term of two other seniors and ten students in the preparatory class. Those under punishment are: Indefinite suspension, B. J. Slaughter, B. F. Stacy; suspended to end of term, M. W. Allen, Fred Bell, J. J. Bowman, B. N. Carpenter, Edward Corning, E. S. Crape, Charles Effner, Clyde Guirich, Charles Lemon, John Lemon, Ralph Miller, C. C. Piper. Of these latter, Bowman and Carpenter are seniors. The latter is pastor of the Avon Universalist church, but has just resigned his pulpit. Stacy and Slaughter have both occupied pulpits. Wednesday the seniors nailed their colors to the college flagstaff on the roof and nailed down the top door. Stacy, Slaughter and Bowman stood guard, the first two having revolvers. The "preps" broke through the roof of the tower with an ax, but when they were about to advance they were stopped by Stacy, who, with a revolver in his hand, said if they reached the colors it must be over his dead body. President Nash arrived at this juncture, stopped the scrimmage and seized the ax and revolver. The faculty met at once and ordered the offenders suspended.

Surprise in the Hedley Case.

Carlinville special: The state's attorney sprung a surprise in the Hedley-Richards homicide case in the introduction of the contract that Richards and Hedley had signed at the suggestion of a committee in relation to what they were each to do and more particularly as Hedley's conduct toward Miss Ella Brown, a second cousin of Richards and his typewriter. Richards was in love with this young woman and asked for her hand in marriage and accused Hedley of interfering in the matter. The defense objected to this document as testimony, and a hot tilt was had by the attorneys. The court admitted it, and now the motives, malice, and secrets in the case will be unveiled to the public. Miss Brown was in court and seemed much humiliated that her name was to be brought so unpleasantly before the public. The defense insisted that the document had nothing to do with the issue and that the names of innocent people should not be dragged into uncalled for publicity. The state contended that the motives and trouble leading up to the tragedy must be known to the jury.

Prospects Are Good.

Chicago: Wheat yet continues to demand a high price, the cash article commanding from $1.04 to $1.08. May wheat is hovering around $1.06, while the speculative price of July is 92½ cents. It may be considered as certain that wheat will soon sell at much higher prices. A leading Chicago wheat expert expresses the following opinion: "There is no change in the foreign situation, except that the facts in the case are being better understood abroad, if not here. It now seems to be regarded as pretty well ascertained that Argentine and India both together will not contribute more than 40,000,000 bushels or 50,000,000 bushels at the outside, to the wants of Europe, and prospective supplies from the Black sea are small, as a large part of Russia is stricken with a food famine, and the Danubian provinces hardly have enough to feed their own people."

Brief Illinois Items.

Quincy: Damage suits against Samuel Farlow, George C. Craig and Jacob Miller, prominent and wealthy citizens of the county, filed in the circuit clerk's office. The suits are for damages in the amounts of $10,000, $6,000 and $3,000 respectively. The suits are brought under the revenue law, the defendants being charged with misrepresenting their estates to the assessors with the intention of evading the payment of their share of the taxes.

Springfield: The state board of live stock commissioners reports the following cattle inspection held at the Union stock yards, Chicago, during the past week: Inspected, 114; passed the yards, 98; held for post-mortem examination, 46; passed post-mortem examination, 37; condemned as unfit for food and ordered tanked, 9. Three cases of tuberculosis were discovered during the week.

Bloomington: Mrs. Mahala Bentley of this city, who entered upon the second century of her life last Sunday, is probably the most active and spry centenarian in Illinois, and to all appearances bids fair to add a score of years to her earthly career. She was born in Bourbon county, Ky., on Feb. 20, 1795, and has lived in this city since 1854.

BLOCKADE OF CUBA.

How the War with Spain Would Be Successful in a Short Time.

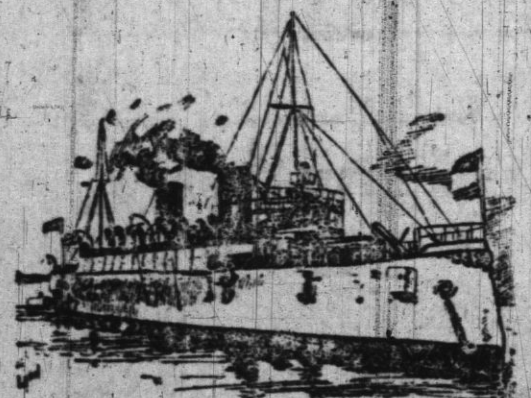

In case of war between the United States and Spain the island of Cuba would be freed from Spanish rule much more easily than is generally imagined. This country would not need to send a large army to the island to fight the Spaniards in the field. Neither would it need to bombard Havana nor attack it in any other way. Perhaps the war would end, as far as Cuba is concerned, without the Americans firing a single shot either by land or sea. Though these statements may at first appear astonishing, they are merely the logical conclusion to be derived from knowledge of the real state of affairs in the struggling island.

Extent of Spanish Control.

The Spaniards, with an army of 150,000 men, of which not 90,000 are regular troops, all that is left of the 200,000 soldiers sent from Spain since 1895 and decimated by battle and sickness, control only the seaports, and the strongly fortified towns in the interior. The country from east to west is in the hands of the insurgents. The eastern part of the island, including Santiago de Cuba and Puerto Principe, is held by the Cuban Generals Calixto Garcia, Jesus Rabi, and Lope Recio Loynaz. There the Cubans are stronger than in any other section of the island. They have in these two provinces 20,000 men at least, armed and with plenty of ammunition. There they hold the Spanish columns in constant check, and the recent defeats of General Pando in Santiago de Cuba, at the entrance of the Cauto river, and of General Jimenez Castellanos at La Esperanza, almost within sight of Puerto Principe city, show conclusively what the power of the Cubans is in the east. The central part of the island, that is to say, the province of Santa Clara, is controlled by General Maximo Gomez. The Cuban commander-in-chief has at least 10,000 men there under his orders, with Generals Carrillo, Montegudo, Alvarez and several others as subordinate commanders.

Strength of the Cubans.

There are about 5,000 insurgents in the provinces of Matanzas and Havana. This is where the Cubans are weakest, the Spanish fortified towns being nearer to one another and the Spanish army more numerous. But nevertheless they have strength enough to keep up a very lively guerrilla warfare, raiding almost daily the most important towns and making dashing attacks on the outskirts of Havana city itself. The recent death of their plucky leader, General Aranguren, has not abated their ardor. General Betancourt, General Alejandro Rodriguez, General Rafael de Cardenas, and Colonels Davalos, Collazo, and others are cutting out a great deal of work every day for the Spanish and the guerrillas in Havana and Matanzas provinces. Pinar del Rio province, the western extremity, is a Cuban stronghold. The Cubans there are as strong as in Santa Clara and hold the long and impregnable chain of mountains extending through the province. They do not allow the Spaniards to get out of their towns. Generals Delgado and Ducasi are the principal Cuban leaders in that province. The result of this situation is that the Spaniards cannot exist on the products of the country in any part of the island. The country near the towns was laid waste by General Weyler, and the gaunt specter of famine stalks all over Cuba. The extermination of the

CRUISER MINNEAPOLIS.

(Floated Thursday from the dry dock in League Island navy yard, near Philadelphia.) peaceable inhabitants by hunger is going on rapidly. All these facts are too notorious to be denied at this time. The reconcentrados, or non-combatants, starve and die by thousands only because the country, on which they exclusively depend, is not producing food. The insurgents keep zones of cultivation for their own, where they raise vegetables and store their cattle, but they do not divide their provisions with the non-combatants, nor do they allow vegetables to be raised or cattle kept by any but themselves, because it is their policy to prevent the Spanish army from obtaining any kind of resources in the country.

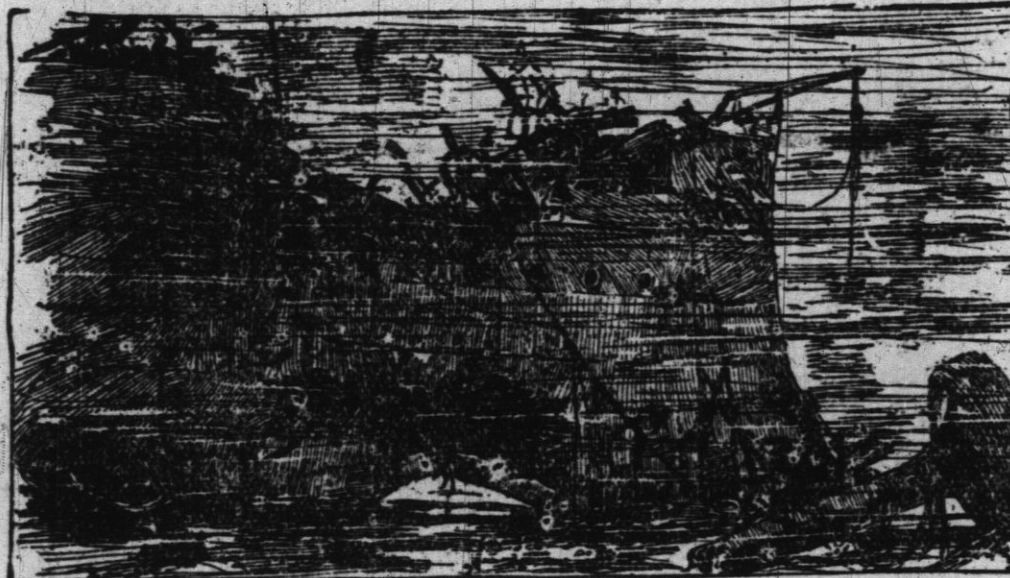

Spanish Depend Upon Imports.

The Spanish army, therefore, exclusively depends upon the provisions imported from abroad. Rice, beans, and flour they receive from Spain. Meat for the inhabitants of the seaports they obtain from Mexico and Florida. The 150,000 Spaniards under arms exclusively depend upon steamers loaded with provisions from abroad that enter the Cuban ports. Not a potato comes into the City of Havana from the country. The milk is almost all condensed and imported from the United States. Eggs and vegetables are from Florida. And what is still more important, on account of the great financial distress in Havana, the importing merchants do not keep a large stock of provisions. If the imports are stopped the entire supply of food in Havana will be exhausted by the 200,000 inhabitants of the city in less than a week. Suppose now that war is declared one of these days. The United States in that case has only to blockade the seaports of Cuba to starve out the whole Spanish army, and that without landing a single man on the island. The Spaniards will simply be compelled to surrender because of the lack of food.

Many Ports Defenseless.

To prevent the possibility that they might make a desperate effort inland to overpower the insurgents and get their vegetables and other provisions, something might be done easily, quickly, and at once. There are many seaports of some importance in Cuba are absolutely defenseless from the sea side. Cardenas, for instance, in the province of Matanzas, on the northern coast, is one of them. Cardenas was taken in 1849 by the insurgent Narciso Lopez with a handful of Americans on board a small merchant vessel. Since then no fort capable of resisting a cannon shot has been built there. The Americans can hold Cardenas and from there communicate with the insurgents in the country. In a short time the whole Cuban army may be well armed by them and secure some cannon to attack the inland towns. If without such munitions and with the immense risk and difficulties they incur in securing scanty supplies from the feeble filibustering expeditions they not only hold their own against Spain, but actually imprison the Spaniards in their forts and cities. It is obvious that possessing war appliances which will place them, in this respect, on the same footing as the Spaniards themselves, they will exterminate all the Spanish columns daring to leave their fortified places and eventually invest them in the principal cities.

KEEL OF THE MAINE SHOWING THAT IT WAS AN UPWARD EXPLOSION.—FROM A SKETCH.

With a single dynamite gun of small caliber, and with the 3,000 or 4,000 rifles received by him from several small expeditions sent from the United States, General Garcia has driven the Spaniards from the greater part of the province of Santiago de Cuba.

Cuba's Fighting Strength.

It is a fact, which even Spanish diplomacy will not dare to deny, that if, instead of hampering the Cubans the United States in their work of sending expeditions to the brethren; if, instead of prosecuting them in so drastic a manner as was done during the administration of Mr. Cleveland; if, instead of keeping, at enormous cost to this country, the American navy and the police watching the Cuban junta and its agents, the Cubans here had been unmolested, the possibility which now confronts us of an international war would not exist. The Cubans, with no more than 40,000 men in the field, and with all the odds against them, have proved in three years that they are more than a match for Spain. With a regular and ample supply of war materials they can free their island without any other help from abroad.

Cuban Army's Aid.

In a war between Spain and the United States it is beyond doubt that the whole Cuban army would be on the American side. There is no doubt, either, that we would give them all the rifles, cartridges and cannon they need. They would then take care of the land operations. We would only need to blockade the Spaniards by sea and let them starve. Of course, the Spaniards would make an attempt with their navy to break that blockade. The contest would then be only a naval one. But with their capital only eighty miles from Key West, and sixty from Dry Tortugas, which would probably be the center of our naval operations, is it reasonable to suppose that the Spaniards could relieve Havana either by stealth or by force? In a few days the proud Spanish stronghold, with its Cabana fortress and its Morro Castle, with its mined bay, and its famous torpedoes, would be at our mercy, and not very much blood would be shed.—New York Sun.

THIRD YEAR OF STRUGGLE.

Cuba Began Her Present Effort for Independence Feb. 24, 1895.

Feb. 24 was the third anniversary of Cuba's struggle for independence. It found the patriot cause, in spite not only of Spain's predictions but of her prodigious efforts, strong and buoyant with a well-founded confidence of speedy triumph. The question to be put today is not how long the Cuban republic will last, but how long Spain can continue her costly efforts to suppress it.

The first year of the struggle was the most critical. The appeal of the revolutionary party, headed by the lamented Jose Marti, was welcomed in several of the provinces, to which war material had been successfully carried, but the Spanish authorities got wind of the contemplated risings, and in Puerto Principe seized arms and ammunition. A few days after the famous Feb. 24 Captain General Calleja was no trifling one, while in July, when commanding in person, he was defeated by Maceo and Rabi at Bayamo. Meanwhile Gomez and Marti had set out for Puerto Principe, and their first severe conflict the heroic Marti was killed. Gomez pressed on, and in the province of Puerto Principe was joined by Salvador Cisneros Betancourt. Next Gomez, marching into the provinces of Santa Clara and Matanzas, carried out his policy of destroying the sugar crop, and thereby stopping the revenue which Spain derived from it. Other battles and skirmishes followed, and before the first year was over Spain recognized that she had to deal with a most formidable revolt. Martinez Campos was displaced by Weyler as captain general, and troops were poured into Cuba in enormous numbers. Rigorous, vindictive, and in some

(This warship, a companion vessel to the Kentucky, will be launched at the navy yard of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company, March 24; the wife of Lieut. Winslow, U. S. N., acting as sponsor.) cases barbarous edicts were issued. The royal troops vied with the rebels in ravaging the island, trade was restricted, plantations were stripped of their laborers, and a policy of concentrating the country people in and around the towns was carried out with unsparing severity, with suffering and starvation in consequence, that have been simply appalling. Fighting went on in many places. Maceo made a brilliant campaign in Pinar del Rio and gained victory after victory in a career of most extraordinary audacity, crowned by his death. Aranguren, also a martyr to the cause, with other dashing leaders, repeatedly raided into the environs of Havana. The west, the center, and the east of the island witnessed Cuban prowess against an enormous disparity of force, and while the east was the most quiet it was largely in patriot hands.

Advance of Insurgent Cause.

The second anniversary of the revolution found it even more hopeful than the first, because it had held its own against forces so enormous and so evidently representing the utmost that Spain could bring to bear. The situation in Cuba had its reflex influence on Spain at length in the coming of the Sagasta ministry, under which Weyler, whose successive campaigns had been palpable failures, was replaced by Blanco, while autonomy was offered to the patriots instead of independence.

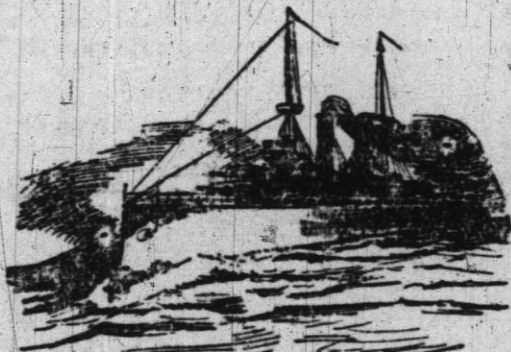

It is in the midst of Blanco's campaign that her third anniversary now dawns upon Cuba, with prospects brighter than ever. The failure of the autonomy plan is conceded, and certainly in the field Blanco has done not a whit better than his predecessors. Indeed, the leading feature of his operations, General Pando's expedition in southeastern Cuba, was an acknowledged defeat. Why, then, should not the third anniversary be full of hope for Cuba? We cannot say how many men Spain has had under arms in the island, but probably a quarter of a million would not be too high an estimate; and yet against this tremendous force the Cubans have made head. The burning question is not how long they can endure, but how long Spain will find it possible to stand the strain.

The Climax Near.

Cuba's third anniversary, too, found her nearer that recognition by our own country which has always been one of her aims. Events have of late become urgent in that direction. And we do not now refer to the recent calamity in Havana harbor, whose grave results cannot yet be forecast, but to those events which are steadily and swiftly bringing near the time when, as President McKinley has said, we must imperatively call on Spain to make peace.—New York Sun.

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

Condensed Report of the Doings in Senate and House.

FOR RIVERS AND HARBORS.

Bill Not Likely to Be Passed at This Session of Congress—Contested Election Case from Oregon Occupies the Attention of the Senate.

Thursday, Feb. 24.

The house disposed of thirty additional pages of the sundry civil appropriation bill. Chairman Cannon accepted an amendment to increase the appropriation to care for the unused machinery at the Springfield arsenal.

A feature of the senate's session was the speech of Mr. Spooner (Wisconsin) on the right of Henry W. Corbett to a seat in the senate from Oregon under appointment of the governor. The resolution offered by Mr. Allen (Nebraska) to appoint a committee of five senators to investigate the Cuban situation was withdrawn by its author when it was laid before the senate.

Friday, Feb. 23.

In the house a long debate over the question of river and harbor appropriations was precipitated during the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill. It was practically agreed by all those who participated that there would be no river and harbor bill at this session of congress. An unsuccessful effort was made to secure consideration of the bill passed by the senate for two additional regiments of artillery.

Henry W. Corbett's right to a seat in the senate from Oregon was under consideration for five hours. Early in the session an attempt was made to get up the Alaskan bill, but it failed.

Saturday, Feb. 26.

The house did not complete the consideration of the sundry civil bill. About twenty pages of the sundry civil bill were disposed of. During the greater part of the Senate's session the right of Henry W. Corbett to a seat from the state of Oregon was under discussion. The pension calendar was cleared by the passage of several private pension bills. A few of a general character were also passed.

Monday, Feb. 28.

The house passed the sundry civil appropriation bill after four days' debate. The appropriation for representation at the Paris exposition was eliminated on a point of order.

Henry W. Corbett was denied admission to the senate as a senator from Oregon on appointment by the governor by a vote of 50 to 19. The senate began consideration of the Alaska homestead and railway right of way bill, and had not concluded it when it adjourned.

IOWA LEGISLATURE.

House and Senate Transact Important Legislation.

The bill to repeal the anti-fusion feature of the ballot law was defeated in the house Feb. 24 by a vote of 40 yeas to 56 nays, while the senate passed the Titus resolution providing for the submission of an amendment to the constitution for biennial elections. The latter will take effect in 1902 if the amendment should be favored by the next legislature and adopted by the people.

The house committee on railways receded from its position on the Temple amendment, dropped the house bill by Mr. Cook, and reported favorably on the senate bill by Mr. Hobart.

The house Feb. 25 passed the Hobart bill, known as the Temple amendment. There was but one vote in the negative. The bill passed the senate some time ago.

In the senate a proposition was introduced to amend the state constitution so that juries consist of less than twelve men, and that a verdict may be returned by five-sixths of the number instead of by unanimous agreement.

A joint resolution was introduced in the house providing for an amendment to the constitution of Iowa for the Swiss method of initiative and referendum.

Clark, of Hamilton, introduced a bill in the house to establish probate courts in each county of the state. Blake's anti-treat bill, which provides that candidates for office shall not treat voters to drinks of spirituous and malt liquors, cider or wine, was defeated by a close vote of 50 to 47.

The senate indefinitely postponed Senator Cheshire's bills to place a tax of $1,000 on each vicious resort or gambling house. The senate also postponed bills to district the state for members of the board of health and the Wilson resolution to inquire into the printing and binding of school books in the penitentiaries.

The pupils of Honey Lake school regret very much to lose three of their most studious and amiable schoolmates, namely: the Misses Laura, Clara and Cora Niemeier. Their parents have rented a farm about a mile north of Barrington and moved to their new abode last Monday. The Niemeier family was well liked by all of their old neighbors. This is attested by the fact that although the great snow drifts made pedestrian traveling exceedingly difficult, yet for all that several of their neighbors walked to Mr. Niemeier's house Sunday evening to visit them once more in their old home. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wienecke, Mrs. Kaston, Mr. and Mrs. Meister, besides some young people. A pleasant time was spent by all present. Enjoyed a Musical Treat.

The public of Barrington, Nunda and Cary, as predicted in last week's issue of THE REVIEW, were treated to some unusually fine music during the past week. At no recital heretofore given have the pupils of this talented teacher of the pianoforte, organ, violin and harmony—Prof. J. I. Sears—shown such marked progress as at the recitals during the past week.

The execution of the difficult compositions of the great masters were simply magnificent. At Barrington the honors Monday evening were carried off by the junior orchestra, composed of Master Fred Boehmer, Miss Sadie Blocks, Master Herbert Plagge and Miss Lydia Sott. Considering their age they proved themselves apt pupils.

On Tuesday evening, the birthday anniversary of Chopin, one of the greatest of the masters, the senior class gave a Chopin program, which was highly enjoyed. A portrait of the great composer vested on an easel on the right side of the stage.

Revs. Suhr and Hageman at Barrington and Mr. L. E. Mentch at Cary made appropriate remarks to the class.

Prof. Sears may well feel proud of the progress made by his pupils—the public has shown that they appreciate the work done by both pupils and teacher.
