CROSS-EXAMINATION OF MRS. EVELYN THAW IS BEGUN

Attorney Jerome Opens Way for Evidence Discrediting Her Story--Mr. Delmas Fights Stubbornly to Shield the Witness.

Herectoror it has been held that the rules of evidence protected young Mrs. Thaw and that, regardless of whether her story was true or false, the fact that he had told it to her husband was the had told it to her husband with the had told it to her husband with the had told it to her husband with the had told it to her husband of the had told or repeat the story so that the jury might judge as to its effect in unbalancing the mind of the man on trial for the murrer of Stanford White.

Jerome's Crucial Question.

Mr. Jerome, by a simple question, opened the way for the introduction of testimony tending to show the truth or faisity of Mrs. Thaw's story. He saked the witness:

The whole allowed to repeat the work of the man on trial for the murder of the man on trial for the murder of Stanford White.

A Mortifying Answer.
Richard, aged seven years, in company with his parents, was visiting a friend. At the dinner table he was asked to have some cake. He hesitated, "Bây, quickly, Richard! Will you have some cake?" said his mother.
Imagine her chagrin when Richard replied: "If it's the kind we have at home, I don't want any."

replied: "If it's the kind way."

The revelations regarding fraudulent paint materials which have been made been made and the properties of adulteration in food products did when the latter first began to appear. It has been shown that kegs marked "Pure White Lead" often contain other substances such as chalk, barytes, silica, etc., and that oil supposed to be linseed often contains petroleum adulterants, to say nothing of water in large proportions. Sometimes, so-called "White Leads" contain not an lota of genuine White Leads than he is, that the label interested than he is, that the label has repetly according to their contents. That would enable every paint-buyer to buy intelligently.
