

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Bedford, Neb.—"Just after my marriage my left side began to pain and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I have been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and have two little girls."—Mrs. B. C. Smith, Bedford, Neb.

The Other Case.
Cary, Maine—"I feel it a duty to owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself in a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached. I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be up three mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but my husband thought I had better write to you and I did so, stating my symptoms. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. HAYWARD SORWEN, Cary, Maine.

NOTABLE VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE

Uprising of Western Classification 51 Means Much.

RAILROADS LOSE BIG CASE

Chairman Thorne of Iowa Commission Tells How the Shippers and Consumers of the West Benefit by the Decision.

Des Moines, Ia., March 12.—The people of the United States have had to thank for a number of excellent things, and to the list must now be added an achievement that means a great deal to the shippers of the entire west from the Mississippi to the Pacific. Especially are those shippers under obligation to the Iowa state board of railroad commissioners and its chairman, Clifford Thorne.

This achievement is the suspension and revision of the interstate commerce commission, of an entire freight classification, known as Western classification No. 51, and on March 31 the several hundred changes made to conform to the commission's order will go into effect. Shippers and consumers alike will benefit by the revision.

Iowa Leads the Fight.
Iowa's commission was by no means alone in the good work, but it took the initiative in the case and assumed the chief part of the burden of preparing and trying it. Sixteen western state railroad commissions united in the fight, and Mr. Thorne was the chairman of the committee representing them. He gives much credit to Benjamin L. Jacobson, who had general charge of gathering the evidence and preparing the specific cases for trial, and to A. D. Reak, Iowa's rate expert.

Mr. Thorne today had this to say of the big case and its outcome:
"One day during the summer of 1911 I was seated in a hotel parlor in Milwaukee in one of the rooms there were sixteen men in their shirtsleeves, talking and listening occasionally to a person standing in the center of the room; two or three minutes were allowed to the gentlemen talking; he took his seat and another person told a short story, and so on, during the course of the whole day.

Powerful Group of Men.
This small group of men exercised more power than any other group of men perhaps in the United States. Some nine hundred railroads, large and small, interested in traffic between the Mississippi river and the Pacific coast, have organized what they call a western classification committee. These states men have selected sub-committees of sixteen men. This sub-committee, which is dominated by one or two individuals, determines the freight rates on over 7,000 articles, on which 35,000,000 people have to pay traffic between about 20,000 towns, located between the Mississippi river and the Pacific coast. This is one of the three important classification committees in America, the other two being the official, covering the northeastern portion of the United States and the Southern.

For the first time in the history of American railroads an entire classification of one of the three great freight classification committees has been suspended by the federal government. And the committee I have described has been making a revision of its former work in accordance with the decision which was rendered by the interstate commerce commission recently known as the decision in the case of Western classification No. 51. The railroads have just submitted to the commission a list of several hundred changes in this classification to conform to the commission's order, and these will go into effect March 31. The opinion in this case, next to the one rendered in the express case, is perhaps the longest ever written by the interstate commerce commission. The case is of national importance. Many of its features are unique, and of profound concern to the consumers of the country.

Sixteen States United.
"Many shippers and shippers' organizations were parties to this case. But perhaps the most interesting feature was the fact that on behalf of the consumers the railroad commission of sixteen great states appeared. These states were Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Colorado, Nevada, Washington and Oregon. On the one hand we had the representatives of some nine hundred railroads, and opposed to them the representatives of sixteen state governments, with the interstate commerce commission as the deciding tribunal. The hearing in the case lasted about a year.

Books Speak.
Books carry with them a charm of their own. They speak of cozy evenings about the evening lamp. Few things add so much of warmth and liveliness to a room as shelves of "good" books.

Saving Time.
"Remembered Named for 1916." But why stop there? Why not for 1920, 1924 and 1927? It would save both time and the cost of holding conversations.—New York Evening Post.

volves more changes than any other tariff publication ever issued by American railroads. The work done in preparation for this issue is said to have cost the railroads approximately $500,000.

Most Important Phase.
"Of the many phases of the decision the first in importance are the rules and regulations. The carriers proposed many changes. These are applicable to every city, town and hamlet west of the Mississippi river. The state commissions made objections to fourteen of these rules, and changes were made or ordered in twelve of them.

A concrete illustration of these concerns the damage allowance. Prior to the issuance of No. 51, the carriers permitted the shippers to use lumber and boards to prop up machinery in a car, the railroads hauling 500 pounds of such lumber free of charge. No. 51 abolished the damage privilege, and the commission ordered it to fourteen of these rules, and changes were made or ordered in twelve of them.

Another change of importance to the western half of the United States concerns green hides. The carriers put in a rule permitting them to re-warehouse green hides for shipment. We pointed out that they could store or handle in live stock cars, and not contaminate other commodities, and claimed that the carriers should be compelled to accept the same for transportation. Our position was sustained by the commission.

Minimum Rate Ruling.
"Several hundred advances were proposed by the railroads in minimum weights. They announced their policy to be the establishment of minimums upon the physical capacity of the cars, refusing to take into consideration the commercial conditions surrounding the transportation.

One of the most important parts of this case concerns carload mixtures. The carriers proposed the elimination of carload mixtures in 24 articles, and proposed changes restricting carload mixtures on more than three hundred other articles. One of the most important changes affecting carload mixtures, which serves as an illustration of the effect of such changes, concerns binding twine. Prior to the issuance of No. 51, the carriers permitted binding twine to be shipped mixed with agricultural implements, all of which took carload rates. In No. 51, they proposed to apply less than carload rates on all shipments of binding twine made in this manner. This would have caused an advance about one hundred per cent in the freight rates on binding twine, more than ninety per cent of all binding twine shipments, we were told by the largest shippers in the country, would be affected by this hundred per cent advance.

As indicating the policy of the carriers, thirty-two articles had carload mixtures stated to them, while over five hundred articles were totally eliminated from carload mixtures, or the mixtures were changed or restricted. The interstate commerce commission has ordered the carriers to pursue diametrically the opposite course, instead of restricting mixtures, they are instructed to make them more liberal.

In addition to these changes in rules, the commission made specific and disapproving advances on a long list of articles. The decision in this case is the most epoch-making on classification matters ever rendered by the interstate commerce commission.

MUST LOVE THE LITTLE FOLK

Otherwise the Girl Who Adopts Profession of Children's Nurse Will Not Succeed.

The great attraction for any girl adopting the profession of children's nurse is that she must have a great love for the wee folk to be able to enter into their feelings, in sympathy with their sorrows and joys. A child's nurse must not be a cynic. She must know the importance of little things to children, must know that the molehills of grown-ups are the mountains of boys and girls. Nowadays the children's nurse must be a comrade and companion as well as a mentor to her young charges, but the latter role must never be over-emphasized.

It is well, too, for any girl desiring to become a nurse of this kind to go somewhere and obtain the proper training for the position. It is a big advantage when seeking employment. Briefly, the nurse of children must be able to superintend the children's health, their good, their clothes and their lessons—not at all onerous duties to the girl who is fond of children.—Exchange.

JOLTS LATIN STATES

WILSON NOTIFIES SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS U. S. WILL TOLERATE NO DISORDER.

OFFERS HAND OF FRIENDSHIP

President Issues Strong Formal Statement Announcing Views on Trouble in Latin Section of American Hemisphere.

Washington, March 12.—The keynote of a statement issued by President Wilson here Tuesday night, outlining his policy toward the Central and Southern American republics, is that there must be peace in the Latin-American republics and that this peace must be maintained without any steps toward personal aggrandizement.

"We can have no sympathy with those who seek to seize the power of government to advance their own personal interests," is probably the most significant sentence of the statement, for every proper administration should be the present administration should not countenance another Kruza uprising or another incipient revolt, such as that of the murder of President Araya of San Salvador, if he has to use force to prevent them.

The president's statement follows: "One of the chief objects of my administration will be to cultivate the friendship and deserve the confidence of our sister republics of Central and South America, and to promote in every proper and honorable way the interests which are common to the peoples of the two continents. I earnestly desire the most cordial understanding and co-operation between the peoples and leaders of America, and, therefore, deem it my duty to make this brief statement.

"Co-operation is possible only when supported at every turn by the orderly procession of just government based upon law, not upon arbitrary or irregular force. I am sure all the thoughtful leaders of republics everywhere hold that just government rests always upon the consent of the governed, and that there can be no freedom without respect for law and upon the public conscience and approval. We shall look to make these principles the basis of mutual intercourse, respect and helpfulness between our sister republics and ourselves. We shall lend our influence of every kind to the realization of these principles in fact and practice, knowing that disorder, personal intrigue and defiance of constitutional rights weaken and discredit government and injure none so much as the people who are unfortunate enough to have their common life and their common affairs so tainted and disturbed.

"We can have no sympathy with those who seek to seize the power of government to advance their own personal interests or ambition. We are the friends of the democracy, but there can be no lasting or stable peace in such circumstances. As friends, therefore, we shall prefer those who seek to establish a government of mutual respect seems to us the foundation of friendships between states, as between individuals.

"The United States has nothing to seek in Central and South America except the lasting interests of the peoples of the two continents, the security of governments intended for the people and no special group of interest, and the development of personal and trade relationships between the two continents which should redound to the profit and advantage of both and interfere with the rights and liberties of neither.

"From these principles may be read so much of the future policy of this government as it is necessary now to forecast; and in the spirit of these principles I may, I hope, be permitted with as much confidence as earnestness to extend to the governments of all the republics of America the hand of genuine disinterested friendship and to pledge my own honor and the honor of my colleagues to every enterprise of peace and amity that a fortunate future may disclose."

Sydney Swept by Gale.
