stood in the center of the lobby. Arranged around the base of the tree were the attractively wrapped gifts for the Little Wanderer's day nursery.

These presents were in charge of the Philanthropic committee, of which

Mrs. A. L. Tilden is chairman. There were also gifts of Christmas cards and letters which were brought by thoughtful members of the organization at the Elgin hospital.

The meeting, held in the form of a Christmas party, concluded an early note of red Christmas cheer. After a short business session, Mrs. J. C.

Cavender led the audience in singing some of the best loved Christmas carols. Mrs. Lawrence T. York gave a sketch of the origin and development of the Christmas carol from the earliest times down to the present day.

One of the carols of which the songster was the "Hymn to Apollo," which about 250 B. C. Mrs. York characteristically sang some of the carols which she considered as typical
