THE RACE IS ON

Food and other commodities are going up. Wages are going up. The upward race is on. Oh, yes, there is a third person in this race for a goal that has not yet been designated, but it is to end at a station called Prosperity. This third racer, and he has proved himself to be a mighty slow starter, is Employment. All were supposed to start together and to remain abreast. But Commodities got the jump and he's showing a clear pair of heels. Wages took in after him, but had an army of unemployed swarming over the track and impeding his progress. These unemployed believe that they would make good in this race and want to take his place.

Employed, this laggard third, may pick up speed later on. He will if the old fan, Buying Power, comes up to cheer him on. Buying Power is a breezy sort of rooster. He carries everything with him, having that kind of captivating personality that lifts the stage and holds it, unless he should become ill, as he did four years ago. Usually, we hope to see one or another win in a race but this is a different kind. The success of the event depends largely on the racers running very nearly abreast. Something must be done to speed up the laggard or to hold back the leader.

This Olympic event is being sponsored directly by President Roosevelt and we may rest assured that he is deeply interested in the outcome. It is just possible that he will tie the racers and operate them much in the fashion as puppets are operated in an inanimate show. The rest of us are spectators to this race, but more than spectators. Our interest is one that involves the structure of industry and business, and society. Should the racers get out of control, something is likely to happen but no one knows just what and all of us shudder a bit in contemplation.—News, Ponca City, Okla.

SUPPLY VERSUS DEMAND

The farmer and the grain dealer found one recent government report of great interest. It was the latest crop forecast. Highlight was that the wheat crop would not be as short as had been expected, and prices dropped accordingly. Most remarkable revelation, however, was that all grain crops will be extremely short. Total will be smallest in decades.

The farm relievers are faced with one very perplexing question—heavy hogs. The nation now has 1,000,000 expectant mother hogs, and if the birth rate is up to normal there will be a great oversupply. Probable solution will be to encourage the marketing of small pigs by paying a higher price per cwt. and by placing a stiff processing tax against heavy hogs. To bring supply in line with demand, it will be necessary to remove 500,000,000 pounds of pork and pork products from the markets during the remainder of this year, and 2,000,000,000 pounds next year.

A 16,561,000-bale cotton crop was forecast for the South. It is estimated that this will be reduced to 12,314,000 bales by the destruction of 10,500,000 acres of cotton plants under contract with the adjustment administration.

WHO IS EDUCATED?

Amidst the confusion among various schools of thought regarding present-day education, it is really difficult to find a satisfactory yardstick with which to measure that elusive individual, the educated man. Many hold the view that no one is truly educated unless he is familiar with the classics, proficient in several languages living and dead, versed in higher mathematics, and so on. Another school, while recognizing the desirability of a classical education when circumstances permit, denies that the classicists have license to lord it over their more practical brethren, or to lay exclusive claim to real education.

In this connection a thought expressed by the Boston philanthropist, Edward A. Filene, is pertinent. He declares that "the educated mind today is the mind which best learns how to use the knowledge in existence, particularly those truths which apply to the thing which he is doing."

And that seems to be a very good definition.—Leader, Westington, Texas.

ENFORCING THE NRA

The first NRA "chiselers" are appearing. These are firms which sign the agreement, then violate it by not bringing wages to the specified minimum, keeping workers on the job for longer hours than are allowable, etc. Cases have been found where employees have protested, only to be told that if they reported violations to NRA directors, they would be discharged. General Hugh Johnson and subordinates are going after concerns falling in this classification. The law may step in. Signed NRA pledges are sent through the mails. Postmaster General Farley is considering the possibility of prosecuting employers who sign and then violate, under the postal fraud statute.

General Johnson has inaugurated a buy now campaign, with the buying restricted to NRA members. An executive order, permitting cancellation of government contracts with manufacturers who have not come into the fold, had been issued. No new government contracts will go to non-NRA firms.

Wandering From This to That

Art En Masse

One of the most outstanding attractions at A Century of Progress, "Hankows de la Guerre," the largest historical painting in the world, is making a strong bid for the highest attendance records of a single exhibit. Before the gigantic picture was brought to the fair from Paris, it had been viewed by more than 8,000,000 persons in the French capital.

The massive canvas measures 402 feet in length and is 50 feet high. It depicts what occurred during the battlefields of France and Belgium during the World War. It is the work of 128 noted artists who labored under shell fire, in a Paris studio, from the outbreak of hostilities in 1914 to the signing of the armistice in 1918 to complete the masterpiece.

In the foreground of this great painting is a dazzling assemblage of 6000 wounded individuals, painted mainly from life, embracing the entire cast of the allies, nation by nation, and international—the heroes, both men and women, who rendered an inseparable service during the war.

At the bottom of the picture are discoverable among the 6000 faces that center line, the names of the four-year struggle—President Wilson of the United States, King George V of England, King George V of England, King Albert and Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, King Emmanuel of Romania, King Ferdinand of Rumania, King George V of England, King Albert and Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, King Emmanuel of Romania, King Ferdinand of Rumania, King George V of England, King Albert and Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, King Emmanuel of Romania, King Ferdinand of Rumania.

It is notable that in the American group are five figures who have occupied the presidential chair—Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Woodrow Wilson. The latter was President Wilson during the war.

Fine Print in Fair

One of the outstanding prints in the Century of Progress Exhibition of Prints is "The Naked Man" by Antonio Polonio, hanging in gallery 18. It is a reproduction of a drawing by the artist, who is a native of Italy.

Committing Outrage

Mostrous may commit "outrage" just as easily as a nation. The Chicago Motor Club, which is a national organization, has been found guilty of committing an outrage in the city of Chicago.

Labour Day at Fair

A labor day celebration was held at the Century of Progress, the Chicago world's fair, was announced by the labor day committee on Monday last.

Whod's Cooking Cost Up

The thing which Illinois farmers will have to reckon with this year is the cost of living. It is estimated that the cost of living will be higher than it was in 1932.

ODD THINGS AND NEW—By Lame Bode

More this fall than was the case last year, he pointed out. The cost of feeding an acre of winter wheat last year went to the lowest point that has been seen since the college started.

More Officers
Forty-four additional reserve officers were appointed by the War Department in the month of August.

Siamese Twins
The Siamese twins of Ottumwa, Iowa, who were born with their heads joined together, were shown at the fair.

A Bird Bower
