

Dr. Kirk Smith Tells Experiences in China, Japan

Also Recounts Adventures
While on Duty in Philippines

Telling of his experiences in the Philippines, China and Japan, Dr. Kirk Smith of Waukegan spoke before an audience that filled the Methodist church Sunday evening. More than 200 persons were present to hear the highly interesting talk.

Dr. Smith had been stationed at Manila, at Shanghai and Chungking and had visited Japan while doing naval duty on the Pacific for two years.

Interesting accounts of his talks with natives, their viewpoints and eccentricities and deep sympathy for the poverty of the Chinese marked Dr. Smith's talk. He admired the Japanese, he said, for the beauty of their harbor cities—like miniature gardens—and for their politeness and desire to please.

He recounted the intuitive ability of Chinese coolies drawing rickshaws to take a passenger's destination before the individual had a chance to name it.

Vivid pictures of life at a leper colony, at Chinese hospitals and medical supplies were meager and patients, by preference, were given boards rather than mattresses for sleeping.

Later Dr. and Mrs. Smith showed articles collected during their journeys—ancient Chinese swords, replicas of Japanese and Chinese abodes, the god of long life, statues, embroidered aprons and headgear worn by accidental males, jewelry, etc.

A social hour followed the lecture and ladies of the church served refreshments. The hall was beautifully decorated with candles and fall flowers.

Local physicians will give the shots to all those children whose parents signify the desire that they receive the immunization treatment.

Results of the 86 Schick tests given two weeks ago revealed 15 children showed positive and 71 negative. The Schick test was given those pupils who last year received immunization shots for diphtheria. The tests were to determine if immunization had been established.

The girls arrived in time for a buffet supper at the McClure home Friday evening and after a party at the Catlow theatre, enjoyed a breakfast at the castle home, a morning hike to Otis lake and a picnic picnic. They returned to their respective homes. The cabin leader, Miss Laura Walker of Highland Park, was among the out-of-town guests. Nancy Bradley was a local girl who participated in the reunion.

Many Pears Sold for Canning; One Farmer Moves 100 Bushels

The home grown pear market is active at this season of the year, with many housewives buying by the bushel for canning. William Leonard, route 22, sold more than 100 bushels of pears last week-end and is waiting for a want ad in the Barrington Review. He still has pears for sale and is repeating the ad this week. The grocery stores also have bighest quality pears to offer.

Another, reasonable home commodity that is selling through The Review is that of a replacement of a fireplace wood. Frank Streets sold nearly all of his dry oak wood as the result of an ad in the September 23 issue. Mrs. August Hawk sold three tons of maple, poplar and hickory wood and had sold more as the result of a three line Review ad in the September 23 issue.

The Barrington Countrywide association is an organization of residents of the country area surrounding Barrington who have joined together to bring about the orderly physical development of the land within the Barrington region. Village to Assist Club in Planting 100 Parkway Trees

132 Trees Are Marked for
WPA Removal Project, in Village

The village of Barrington will assist the Village Garden club with the planting of 100 elm trees this fall, according to the decision of a committee named by Village President Earl Hatje Monday night. Members of the committee are Village Trustees Rudolph Berg, John J. Carroll and John H. Blanke.

The decision to assist in the planting of trees in parkways was the result of a discussion that took place during the council meeting, and at which time Mrs. H. R. Brintlinger, president of the club, was present to learn the board's plans.

The club will furnish the trees while the village will have charge of the actual planting. The location of the trees is to be determined at a meeting of the club Monday night. Mrs. Brintlinger said. When the village assisted with the planting in parkways on Hillside avenue this spring, the work was done at little expense to the village. Labor was furnished from the WPA staff.

Trustee Hatje presented a report to the village trustees Monday night covering the tree removal survey made the week previous by Paul Farrell, superintendent of streets, and P. Geary, local tree surgeon. One hundred and thirty-two trees for parkways were marked for removal, he said.

It is proposed that the village draft a WPA project to remove the trees that were marked for a number of stated reasons—either dead, diseased, unsightly or generally unsuitable. Where a removal would be made, a new tree would be put in its place, it was pointed out. The 100 trees to go in this fall are to be independent of any future profit plans.

A number of complaints had been received by the board, Mr. Hatje said, from residents who objected to having their trees marked for removal. It was pointed out that Mr. Geary would meet with those persons and explain the reasons trees were so marked.

Gieske Circulates Nine Petitions in Supervisor's Race

To Use Signatures in Effort to Gain Appointment to Cuba Vadhney

Nine petitions were put into circulation during the last week by Elden Gieske and his supporters in a move to strengthen his campaign to fill the oncoming vacancy in the office of supervisor in the town of Cuba.

A count of the petitions Wednesday night revealed that 451 persons in the township had signed their names. Mr. Gieske said he would present the papers to the Cuba town board for its use in considering the appointment of a successor to Supervisor H. D. Kelsey, who resigned his office effective November 30.

Town Clerk Andrew F. Grom said Justice of the Peace J. Claude and Edwin Gross comprise the town board and will have to make the selection of the new supervisor.

In addition to Mr. Gieske there are a number of other residents of the township who have stated their desire to be appointed. Outside of some "stump" campaigns on the part of interested persons, however, Mr. Gieske's action this last week is the first outward move on the part of any individual to gain the office.

Just how much weight the number of signatures will have with the board is hard to determine.

Request for Liquor License Is Tabled

A request that the village of Barrington issue him a retail liquor license was presented to the board of trustees Monday night by Mr. Scherf of Barrington, but the matter was tabled following a motion by Trustee John Daeschler and seconded by Trustee F. J. Kocher.

Considerable discussion preceded the board's action and revolved around a future program in regard to issuing licenses. The village ordinance now limits the number to five. Trustee John Carroll was of the opinion that some expression should be made by the board in reference to Mr. Scherf's request or any other requests. The majority of the board was of the opinion that a sufficient number of taverns are in operation and an increase would not be advisable.

Mr. Scherf stated the license would be used for the installation and operation of a business in the building owned on South Northwest highway.

A variety of treatment and subject matter characterizes this year's exhibit. There is a small sanctuary, including velvet drapes, exquisite candelabra, two paws, a cross and Holy Bible, arranged by the church.

Scouts and Campfire girls have booths depicting the work of their organizations. The Brandt Dairy donated the booth to the Girl Scouts. The Federated Dairy donated a booth for the Campfire display. Boy Scouts occupy the Danielson and Willminger booth.

Barrington public schools are represented by a series of clear pictures with cellophane ribbons connecting pupils with printed names.
