Maryland Woman Happy Now—LOSES 55 LBS.

Edith J. Marriott of Baltimore, Md., writes: "Last winter I weighed 200 lbs., and was very much ashamed. I bought a bottle of Kruschen Salts which gave such wonderful results I bought more. After 4 bottles I weigh 145 lbs., and all my friends say, 'How slender you've gotten—how did you do it?' I say only 4 words—thanks to Kruschen Salts."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts that last 4 weeks costs but 35 cents at Fredlund Drug Co. or any drug store in America. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—eat out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoed butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat.

Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily doses that does it—if not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

BOY SCOUT TROOP 21
ACTIVE DURING MAY

Swimming tests, an overnight hike, a baseball game, and regular troop meetings were held by troop 21, boy scouts, during the month of May. Many boys are reported to be advancing in their scout work. Following is a review of the activities for the past month:

Eleven scouts took advantage of a chance to go swimming out of season on May 2 through permission granted by the Elgin Y. M. C. A. to use their pool. Several boys passed their first class swimming tests and all enjoyed playing water tag.

Plans for an overnight hike were made at a regular meeting of patrol leaders on May 5 at the home of Scoutmaster Schabinger. Several troop problems were also discussed.

Twelve boys left the high school at 6 p. m., May 8, for their first overnight hike of the season. They pitched camp at the forest preserve and cooked supper. The assistant scoutmaster was in charge. After supper one of the boys was taken on a "snipe hunt" but it seems that no snipes were to be found. Some of the boys who insisted on sleeping in the open air reported quite a change in temperature by morning.

Early in the morning they were joined by eight more scouts under the leadership of Scoutmaster Schabinger. The scoutmaster took the boys on a nature study hike and many interesting birds, flowers, and plants were found. The assistant scoutmaster laid a trail for six of the scouts to pass their tracking test.

Later the boys were invited over to Camp Evans-Bo-Sco to play a baseball game with an Evanston troop.

Troop 21 was defeated by a small score. Hunter's stew was the dinner menu after which games were played. Camp broke up about 4 p. m.

Captain E. W. Hart of Company F, 131st Infantry, National Guard, visited the troop on May 25, giving the boys a talk on the importance of drill and one hour's instruction in military drill.

Despite the disagreeable weather on Memorial day, a number of boys turned out in full dress uniform. On Sunday a number of the scouts attended the Salem Evangelical church in a body.

Troop 21 extends a cordial welcome to any one interested in scout work to attend any of their meetings.

Significance in Name
Clemens Made Immortal

Probably the best known name of plume adopted by an American writer is that of Samuel Clemens "Mark Twain." Usually it is regarded as just a proper name chosen by the humorist from a book or some family record, as most such names are chosen. But the fact is that it wasn't a proper name at all until Clemens made it such, says the Golden Book Magazine, which tells the story:

"From the carefree days of his life on the Mississippi, Clemens passed to setting type on his brother's newspaper, to piloting a steamboat, and to wandering in the West. Shortly after, he began writing articles for a Nevada paper—clever iron-poking skits. It was in 1863 that he first adopted the name of Mark Twain. 'I want to sign them Mark Twain,' he wrote. 'It is an old river term, a leadman's call, signifying two fathoms or 12 feet. It has a richness about it; it was always pleasant for a pilot to hear on a dark night; it meant safe water.'

Representative Michael Igoe's bill, H. B. 490, for a Chicago Regional Port Commission to investigate the feasibility of the establishment of a permanent interstate Port Authority between Waukegan, Ill., and Michigan City, Ind., has passed the house and is now being considered in the senate.

House Bill 812 providing that one trustee shall be elected by the voters of each district in a village instead of all trustees being elected by an entire village has been read in the house for the second time. Representative Edward M. Overland, of Chicago, is sponsoring the bill.

A state emergency council will be created in Illinois if the bill of Representative Wm. M. Carroll, of Woodstock, continues to meet with the favor it did in the house, where it passed. This council is to cooperate with officials of the state in case of flood, tornado, fire, earthquake, pestilence or similar condition.

Safety Glass

Ford cars are now equipped with safety glass in all doors and windows at a small extra charge

$15 for the Coupe, De Luxe Coupe, Sport
Coupe or Convertible Cabriolet

$20 for the Tudor Sedan, Standard Sedan,
De Luxe Sedan, Town Sedan or Victoria

THE Triplex safety glass windshield has always been an outstanding feature of the Model A Ford. By reducing the dangers of flying glass, it has saved many lives and prevented countless injuries in automobile collisions.

Now comes a further assurance of safety to every Ford owner... polished plate safety glass in ALL DOORS AND WINDOWS at slight additional cost.

The charge for this extra protection is unusually low because of large production and the development of new methods of manufacture. Simply tell the dealer when you buy the Ford that you want "safety plate glass in all doors and windows" and the car will be factory equipped for you in that manner.

Today, as before, the safety glass windshield is furnished as standard equipment on all Ford cars without extra charge.

FORD OWNERS This announcement refers only to NEW CARS. Ford dealers are not in a position to install safety glass in the windows of your present Ford at the above prices.

Great Shopping Center Once Royal Grandstand

Six hundred years ago Cheapside was the scene of knightly tournaments, in which knights from all parts of England came to compete. The tournaments commenced on September 21 and lasted for three days. In the year 1331, however, according to a historian writing of the times, disaster marred the proceedings. A scaffold had been erected for the purpose of seating Queen Philippa, wife of Edward III, and her gay troupe of ladies, so that they might watch with comfort the knights show their skill in deeds of arms. The tournament had not long been in progress when the upper part of the scaffold on which the ladies were seated broke in sudden, whereby they were (with some share) forced to fall down, and many knights and others which stood beneath, much hurt.

The carpenters were saved from punishment by the intercession of the queen, but to prevent such incidents happening in the future the king ordered a building of stone to be erected for himself and the queen, so that they might see the spectacle in safety. This erection was used until the year 1410, when Henry IV granted it to certain mercers, who converted it into shops, warehouses, and other necessities of their trade.—Manchester (Eng.) Guardian.

Gave Life to Further Fight on Yellow Fever

In order to discover the yellow fever germ Dr. James Carroll sacrificed his own life by permitting an infected mosquito to bite him. He was a member of the board that was appointed by the United States government to investigate the acute infectious diseases then occurring on the island of Cuba. He submitted himself to inoculation with a consequent severe attack of the fever. He recovered, but died seven years later in Washington, September 1, 1907. His death was regarded as an estimate result of the disease. Doctor Carroll was born in England June 5, 1854, and was a physician and surgeon in the United States army at the time of his appointment to the Havana yellow fever commission.

The other members of the board were Maj. Walter Reed, also physician and surgeon of the United States army, Dr. Jesse Lazear and Dr. Aristedes Agramonte. Doctor Lazear accidentally contracted the disease during the experiments and died, and Major Reed died of appendicitis in Washington the year following the conclusion of the experiments, his death occurring on November 23, 1902.

Ancient Norwegian Town
Voss is situated about sixty miles from Bergen by rail and resembles very much the "Ostdandet," as the eastern part of Norway is called, being broader and having many pine woods. Voss is a very old village; how old is not quite certain. The inhabitants were christened in 1023, according to Snorre's Heimskringla, by Olav the Saint. The name occurs before that in the old sagas, and is once mentioned as a kingdom. There is a famous old stone church in the town proper and at Flune, a short distance from the railroad station, there stands the oldest wooden building in Norway, a so-called Flinne-loft. The town itself is usually spoken of as Vagen, and the surrounding uplands as Voss, although the latter name is generally used for either.

Three Was the Limit
"You must give your husband five teaspoonfuls of this mixture every night before he goes to bed," ordered the doctor. The patient's wife looked a little disconcerted.

"Five?" she said. "I can't, doctor, I'm afraid that's quite impossible."

The doctor frowned.

"Impossible?" he said. "Oh, nonsense! What on earth do you mean?" "Well, sir," explained the woman, "I don't think we've got more than three teaspoons in the house."

TWO NEW Fords

Model A Convertible Sedan

With its slanting windshield, is extremely attractive in appearance and combines all of the advantages of the open car with closed car comfort. The top, which may be quickly lowered, folds flat, emphasizing the straight lines of the car. Both door windows and quarter windows are provided with regulators, so they may be easily lowered or raised.

The upper structure is a new development in Convertible Construction. A rigid top rail extends from the front pillar over doors and quarter windows, and down to the molding. This eliminates entirely all rattles and similar noises that have caused dissatisfaction with other Convertible designs. The top is a rubberized material, exceptionally durable and of fast colors. Bows are of wood, covered with bow drill cloth, similar to the top material. Garnish moldings, finish strips and front panel finish strip are in walnut grain.

Two wide doors, one on each side, permit easy entrance to the interior. The front passenger seat is of the folding type and the adjustable feature of the driver's seat is a ratchet arrangement, which permits the seat being moved forward or backward quickly and easily. A depression in the floor in the rear compartment adds to the comfort of the passengers, by giving ample leg room.

Improved Design Cabriolet

We are also showing the Model 68-C Improved design Cabriolet. This very popular model is attracting widespread attention the country over. It will have the slanting front similar to the present Model "A" Sedans. The trim will be optional, either in Brown Bedford Cord or Deep Brown Crush Grain Leather.

You'll call Pontiac the happy medium . . . quality you won't do without, at a cost you can easily pay *

It isn't difficult to learn what most people want in a motor car. We all want pretty much the same fine qualities—and we want them at a price which makes the purchase of the car a good investment.

You will find this combination in the Pontiac—with many definite instances of value. Thus, if it's a damp day when you first drive a Pontiac you will notice how snug and dry it is within the body. It's the same with heat, cold and traffic noise—because Pontiac's fine Fisher bodies are tightly insulated for your comfort and protection.

Appreciating the deep, form-fitting seats, you will note also the absence of road shocks and vibration. This is explained by four hydraulic shock absorbers and by rubber cushioning at 43 points in the chassis.

When you first step inside the car you will be impressed by something out of the ordinary—genuine, long wearing mohair or whipcord upholstery in the closed cars; fine leathers in open models.

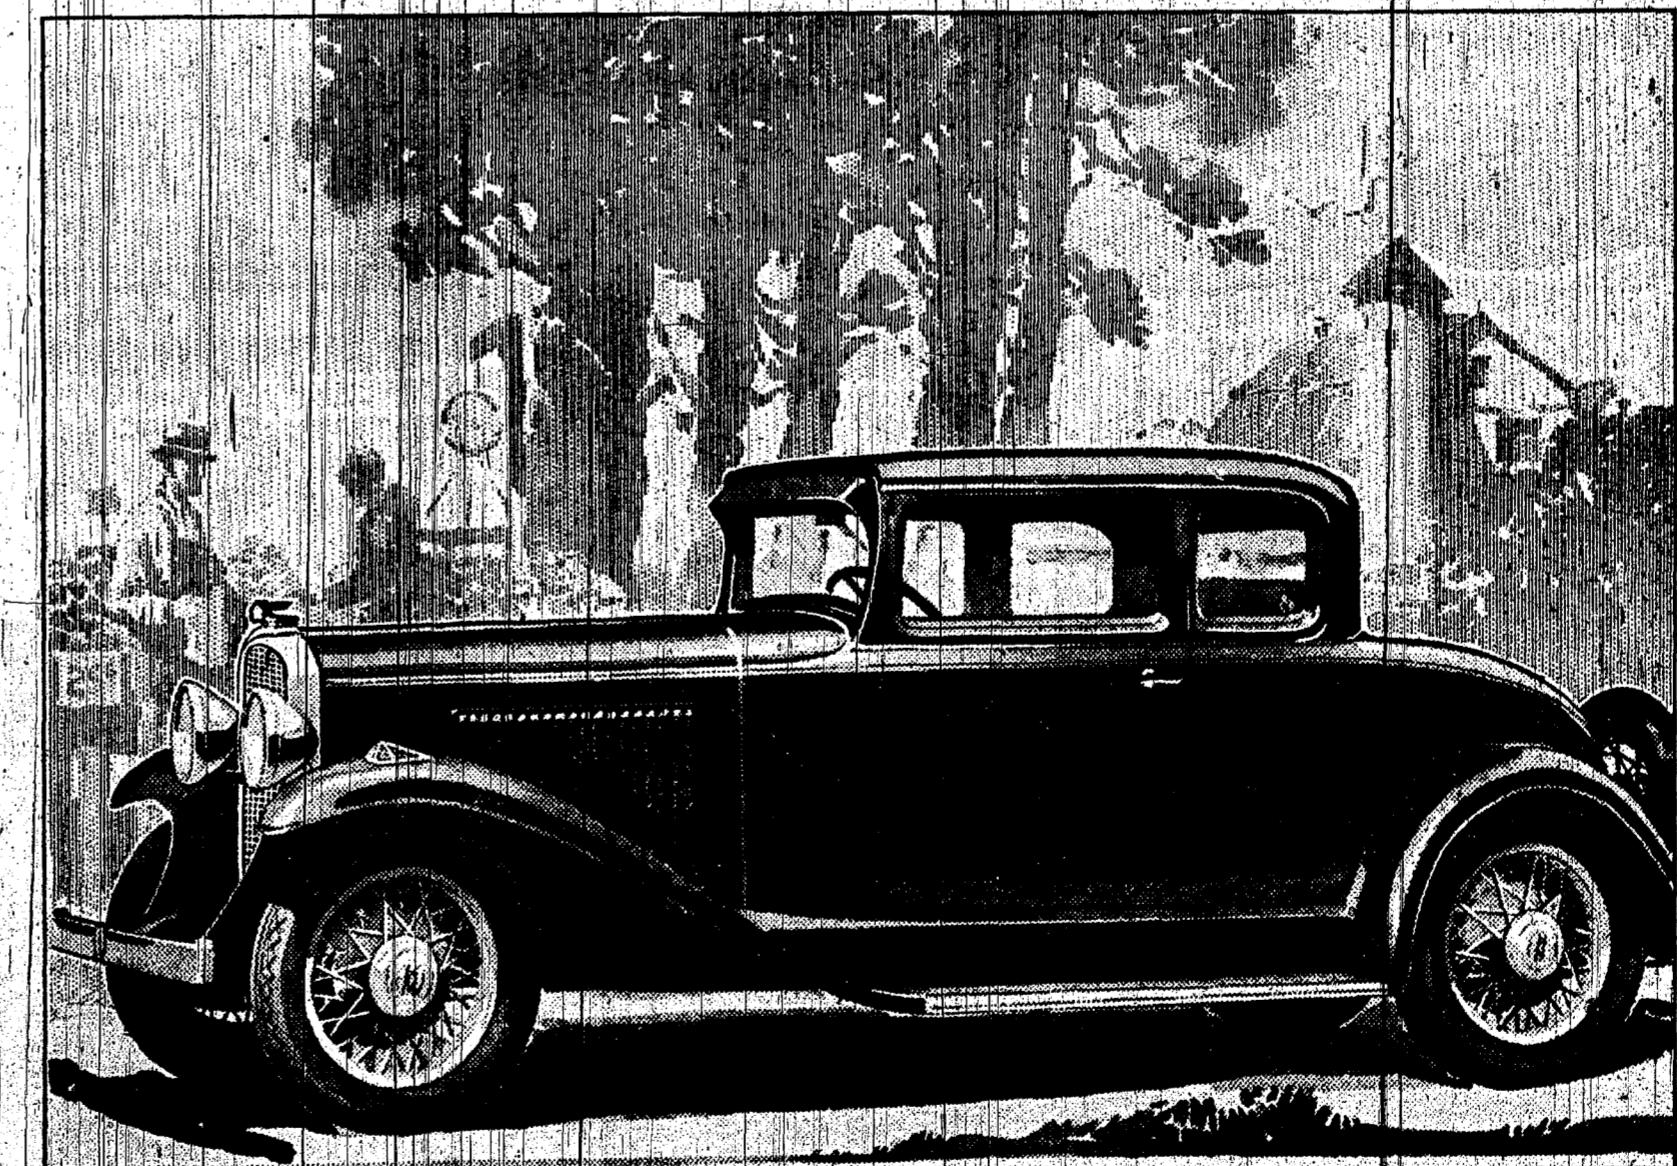

Even though you feel that most cars have satisfactory motors, you will be surprised at the extra smoothness with which Pontiac's engine does its work. We have not forgotten that a car's first job is to get you somewhere, pleasantly. As you drive you will admire the quick pick-up and power of the big, easy-working motor. Immediately it will be clear to you why we are so proud of that engine.

Whatever you do—braking, clutching, swinging around corners—you will find you really enjoy driving this Pontiac.

Good looks? Modern smartness? We can safely leave the proof to remarks you will hear and the approving glances you will see as you drive about town or take friends to ride.

Possibly we are a little prejudiced—but many Pontiac owners praise this car more than we would dare to. The values they have discovered will be clear to you once you have driven the Pontiac. Why not do that—soon! Any Oakland-Pontiac dealer will arrange a demonstration at your convenience.

HIT AND RUN DRIVERS ARE PLACED IN GREATER JEOPARDY AS THE RESULT OF A RULING ISSUED BY CHIEF WALTER L. MOODY OF THE STATE HIGHWAY POLICE.

Two patrolmen, Grady Sutton and Ivan Green, who travel beats near Harrisburg, were offered cash awards for capturing Harrison Walters, charged with that offense. Chief Moody authorized the officers to take the money, and expressed the police system's appreciation of the cooperation extended by the donors of such awards—the American Automobile Association.

COOPERATION BETWEEN THE LAW-ABIDING PUBLIC AND THE STATE POLICE FORCES CAN BREAK UP THE PRESENT WAVE OF ORGANIZED BANDITRY AND CRIME.

WALTER L. MOODY, chief of the state police, made this assertion, addressing the Illinois Bankers' Association at their annual convention. As evidence of the extent to which gangland is organized, Moody said that, through the arrest of the group of suspects state police picked up recently at East St. Louis, it was learned that defense attorneys and bondsmen stood ready as far away as California to aid the gang that looted the Lincoln, Neb., bank of $2,800,000. Three of the gang captured in East St. Louis were identified by 16 people as participants in the Lincoln robbery.

Studebaker's Dictator Eight engine gets almost perfect score for "rounded" performance. Nothing in its price class equals The Dictator's even power flow.

"EYESIGHT EVIDENCE" OF REMARKABLE SMOOTHNESS NOW VERIFIES THE ENTHUSIASTIC CLAIMS OF THOUSANDS OF DICTATOR EIGHT OWNERS. THE UNERRING STYLUS OF THE TORSIOGRAPH REVEALS AN ABSENCE OF VIBRATION IN THE DICTATOR'S 81-HORSEPOWER ENGINE WHICH IS UNIQUE IN A CAR OF THE DICTATOR'S LOW PRICE.

HERE indeed is "rounded" performance. Rounded not only figuratively, as shown by the Torsiographic record, but rounded as well in every function that makes motoring a pleasure and an economy.

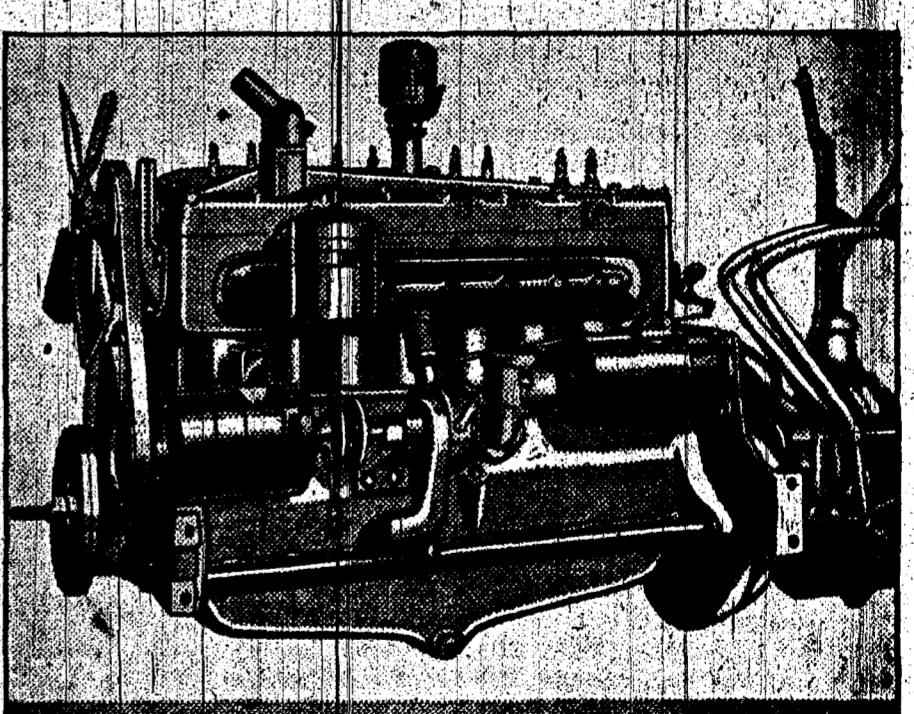

There is no mystery in the source of The Dictator's smoothness. A sturdy, nine-bearing crankshaft, balanced not only statically but dynamically, is at the heart of it. What little vibration may survive, is further minimized by a crank-shaft vibration damper of remarkable efficiency.

RAILWAY SAFETY

In contrast with the ever increasing number of automobile deaths, fatal accidents to passengers on railroads of the country have dwindled almost to the vanishing point, due to better equipment and the greater exercise of safety precautions.

Based on the experience of a leading transcontinental railroad, a passenger could travel around the world 2,100 times without an accident, and many times that far without being killed.

Safety measures have achieved even greater comparative results with respect to railroad employees. A reduction of 27 per cent in the number of casualties to railroad workers was attained in a single year. It is figured that on an average one of these would be able to work 120 years for each accident that would happen to him.

At present, it is pointed out by a recent writer, railroading is safer than banking for any other important calling. A passenger on a railroad train is safer than he would be sitting in his own home or attending the movies. Many large systems to a whole year without killing a passenger.

Nowadays, the dangers of travel are confined almost exclusively to the highway.

FAITH

Don't become too excited or troubled over the apparent chaotic condition as evidenced by our friends—the American people. We recall for the moment, President Lincoln's reply to some gentlemen from the West who called on him in protest of some shortsightedness of the government. Mr. Lincoln heard them patiently and then replied, "Gentlemen, suppose all the property you were worth was in gold, and you had put it in the hands of Blondin to carry across Niagara River on a rope; what would you shake the cable, or keep shouting to him—'Blondin, stand up a little straighter; go a little faster; lean a little more to the north; turn a little more to the south?' No, you will hold your breath as well as your tongue and keep your hands off until he was safely over."

The people of our wealthy country are now carrying an immense weight. They are all doing the very best they can. Let's you and I do, take a part and help relieve this oppressive load. Have faith—keep silent and we'll all get across safely.—Angles of Business, Chicago.

HURTS LABOR AND CAPITAL

When gasoline wars cause the retail price of gasoline to drop to ten cents a gallon, including state taxes, the motorist at first thinks he profits. He doesn't at first see the men who have lost jobs with oil companies, private stations that are closed off the reduced purchasing power of the oil industry and its employees.

When a milk war such as has been launched in New York State, offers milk to buyers at nine cents a quart, the consumer does not realize that this cuts a million dollars a month from the buying power of New York State's dairy farmers.

These are specific examples of abnormal price reductions which mean unemployment and lowered purchasing power of producers.

Legitimate price reductions are in order as the world drifts slowly back to normal but ruinous price competition causes unnecessary hardships to both labor and capital during the readjustment period.

THE ANTIQUE SWINDLE

An amusing incident is reported from the New York custom house, where a wealthy American sought to bring from Europe a shipment of "antique" furniture under the duty free provisions of the tariff law.

Government appraisers questioned the genuineness of the furniture and assessed the regular duty. The owner protested and had experts called in to give their opinions as to whether the furniture was more than 100 years old, as had been represented by European dealers. These experts agreed with the government officials that the furniture was less than 20 years old. Thus the "easy" purchaser found that he had been swindled and had to pay the duty besides.

This illustrates the gullibility of many Americans who ransack Europe for "antiques," often paying fabulous prices for stuff that has been manufactured expressly for this sucker trade.

LOCAL GOOD ROADS NECESSARY

It may be the opinion of the average city dweller that the United States is pretty well provided with good roads. But such is not the case. Most of the good highways lead from city to city and over trunk routes from state to state.

Five million farmers, according to an authoritative survey, are cut off from their markets during a large part of each year, by impassable roads.

One very definite way to secure a practical kind of farm relief would be to set apart a specific portion of all available road funds to be applied to the building of low-cost, waterproof-surfaced, farm-to-market highways connecting up with through roads and enabling residents on outlying farms to do their shopping and marketing easily and conveniently at all times of the year.

SHOULD DEMAND TAX REDUCTION

Nothing but a permanent increase of government expenditures and permanent increase of taxes can result unless there is a limit placed upon bureaucracies which the government is building up, emphatically declared Senator Borah of Idaho, in a statement issued recently.

It needs no argument, he said, to satisfy one that government expenditures are wastefully large and that the ever-growing burden of taxation is one of the great factors in bringing about our present depression. But there is no remedy for these things unless the people, the voters themselves, place this subject on their agents and call for an accounting in no uncertain terms.

Australian Ballot Now

Universal in America
Australian ballot is the name given to a system of secret voting. The name arose from the fact that the essential features of the system were first introduced in 1858 in South Australia, one of the states of the Australian commonwealth, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. A system of voting modeled after the Australian system was adopted in England in 1872. In the United States this method was first employed in local elections at Louisville, Ky., in 1888, and in the same year Massachusetts adopted secret voting for all state elections, beginning in 1889. The Australian ballot, in one form or another, finally was adopted by every state in the Union and it still is employed except where it has been supplanted by voting machines, which retain the essential features of the Australian system.

According to the original Australian system, the names of all candidates appeared on the same ballot, which was compiled, printed and placed at the polls under the direction of public officials and at public expense; in other words, the ballot itself was strictly official. The system had a threefold purpose—to prevent dishonesty in counting votes, to insure absolute secrecy and to protect the voter from outside influence while casting his vote. These were accomplished by giving each voter a separate ballot and compelling him to go alone into a booth where he indicated his choice by marking a mark opposite the name of the candidate whom he preferred. The ballot then was folded and dropped into a ballot box.

Diary Reveals Arctic Tragedy of Long Ago

Away back in 1833 seven Dutch sailors were left on St. Miquel island in the Arctic by a whaling expedition. When the whaling ship returned the next year all were dead. The bodies were placed in wooden coffins and a cairn of rocks built over them. For nearly 200 years the existence of this burial place has been known, but it was not found until a wireless operator named Olonkin from the Norwegian weather service discovered the cairn. Only fragments of the wooden coffin were found under the stones but most interesting of all was the diary of one of the seven unfortunate, Otergerd Jacobsen, which told of their sufferings. "We are all in bitter need and dying," an entry early in April, 1834, stated. "I crawl on hands and knees and help the others as far as I can." The last notation was made April 30. It read: "Wind as before. Sun shines. Who?" That was the end. The hand of the writer had failed him before he could put down another word—Capper's Weekly.

Derivation of "Tariff"

According to Edwards' "Words, Facts and Phrases," the word "tariff" comes from the Moorish name "Tariqa," a fortress that stands on Cape Tariqa, a Spanish promontory commanding the entrance to the Mediterranean. When the Moors had possession they levied duties at certain fixed rates upon all merchandise passing in or out of the straits. The Century dictionary and other authorities on etymology, however, give the word a different origin. It comes from an Italian word, "tarifia," meaning "casting of accounts," or "list of prices," which was itself derived from the Arabian "tarif," meaning "knowing."
