Town Board of Cuba Reports on Road and Bridge Expenditures

The town board of auditors of Cuba town prepared the following report of a special meeting held last Saturday:

"A meeting was called by H. D. Kelsey of the town auditors of Cuba township on Saturday, Nov. 19, for the purpose of investigating an order of $220.00 drawn for road overhauling, after investigating an order was drawn for $190.00 which was the balance due of the September audit meeting.

"The purpose of the meeting was also to find out how much of the 75 per cent of the next year's taxes had been spent for road work. It was found that 57 per cent of it had been paid for old bills and new. It was resolved by the board to keep the bills as low as possible."

$10,000 Will Be Paid Out Through Christmas Savings

250 Holiday Club Members Will Be Paid December 1 by First National

Approximately $10,000 deposited in 250 Christmas club accounts will be distributed to residents of the community by the First National bank of Barrington on December 1, C. A. Elmer, cashier, said this week. This sum represents savings and interest accumulated since the club was organized in December last year and is a substantial amount of money to be paid out to Barrington folks in time for their annual Christmas shopping.

The First National bank last week received its first large deposit from the United States postal savings bank. It was one of the institutions which qualified by its strong position as a depository for postal savings. The announcement that it had qualified was made a year ago by the board of directors of the postal savings bank in Washington.

Additional postal deposits will be made from time to time direct from Washington. The local post office savings accounts will be cleared through the bank, it was learned.

Expect Several Barrington Students at University Home for Thanksgiving

Several of the Barrington students who are attending the University of Illinois this semester are home for the Thanksgiving recess. Eight students from Barrington are attending the university. Cook county, according to the University Registrar, has 3585 students enrolled in the state's highest educational institution.

This year every county in the state has students enrolled. Cook county, as usual, leads all others in total enrollment in the Urbana-Champaign departments with 2712 students, and an additional 878 attend the university's college of medicine, dentistry, and pharmacy in Chicago.

The next largest group enrolled in that of Champaign county. There are 1252 sons and daughters from the home county. This is due to the university's location within the county, and because so many families move to the twin cities during the time their children are in the university.

Altogether 11 counties have more than 100 representatives in the university. Following Cook and Champaign are: Vermillion, 212; Peoria, 170; Sangamon, 140; Kane, 145; St. Clair, 127; Macon, 126; Winnebago, 118; Madison, 111 and DuPage, 100.

The students from Barrington are: Allen E. Bennett, 201 W. Lake street; Richard E. Dwyer, 129 Cottage avenue; Margaret J. Day, 115 Dundee avenue; Percy O. Harnden, 145 W. Station street; Charles P. Hawley, 553 S. Cook street; Ruth O. Park, 133 W. Lincoln avenue; Ethel M. Popple, 115 Dundee avenue; and Laura Witt, Barrington township.

Captain James C. Russell Hero Medal Will Be Awarded Andrew Gallagher at Boy Scout Court of Honor Dec. 12

The Captain James C. Russell hero medal, awarded by the Boy Scout Council of Cook county, will be presented to Scout Andrew Gallagher, troop 21, of Barrington at a scout court of honor for troops 10 and 21 at the high school gymnasium December 12.

This award medal is in recognition of Scout Gallagher's heroic attempt to save the life of Charles C. Fitzgerald, from drowning. The two boys went in swimming at the end of the pier. Gallagher saw to him, seized the youth and attempted to propel him back to the pier. The heavier boy sank, however, twice pulling Gallagher under the water. After Fitzgerald had sunk to the lake bottom under about 10 feet of water, Gallagher dove towards him in a further attempt at rescue.

The award will be made as a feature of the court of honor for awards and merit promotions of scouts in both troops. The board of review at which the scouts will take examinations for promotions will be held December 5.

Production of "Adam and Eva" by Junior Class Appreciated by Audience

Members of the junior class of the Barrington High school made a creditable showing to a large audience in the presentation of their annual class play last Thursday and Friday in the school auditorium. The play "Adam and Eva" was directed by Miss Ethel Schwab.

"Adam and Eva," a comedy in three acts by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, is a modern story of the much discussed modern family where life is just one round of pleasure for everyone except father.

William Short, as the well-to-do James King, gave a pleasing representation of the wealthy business man who is successful everywhere except in his home. Nora Meyer, as the elder daughter, Julia, depicted very ably the pretty yet interesting maid in a gown, and her interesting maid, Clinton DeWitt, whose Mearl brought to life as the idle young man with one redeeming feature—a real affection for his wife. Ellen Donahue as Eva, the young daughter, did excellent work in portraying the charming young heiress who on all sides by suitors—among them Dr. Jack Delamater, the fashionable young physician, well interpreted by Henry Brandt; Lord Andrew Gordon, played by Harold Calkins, who deserves special mention for his fine characterization of a Scotchman; and Adam Smith, the practical, yet romantic business man.

Donald Bennett as Adam and Ellen Donahue, who played opposite him, contributed much toward the success of the play. Both were at ease on the stage, their voices were pleasing, and they gave excellent interpretation of their parts.

Robert Ulrich is another character who deserves special recognition for his ability to portray the rather difficult part of aged Uncle Horace, an imaginary invalid and high pressure salesman.

Ruth Holke as Aunt Abby was the typical club woman and executive, while Corintha, the maid who becomes a part of the family, was excellently portrayed by Vivian Reid.

The attractiveness of the stage and the excellent way in which the characters fitted their parts made "Adam and Eva" a pleasing production.

The director has stated that not only did she find it a pleasure to work with the cast but also the production staff, who were unusually capable and responsive and deserve much credit.

Towns Unanimous in Opposition To Chicago Grab Plan

"The west park district of Chicago is financially insolvent, the south park district is in dire need of funds and the Lincoln park district while not bankrupt is in no position to assume the burden of the other two districts," the Chicago park districts have extended their opposition to the plan and have no further sources of income in sight except the adjoining territory outside of the city of Chicago.

"A movement is underway to get a bill through the state legislature permitting consolidation of park districts throughout Cook county into one unit so as to extend the bonding power of the Chicago districts and open up a new source of revenue in the county for the support of the Chicago parks."

"Consolidation of the park districts of Cook county would be a forerunner of first step in a general Chicago annexation plan to extend the boundaries of the metropolis to the boundaries of Cook county."

The above statements were made at the meeting of representatives of all suburban communities in Cook county held at the Morrison hotel last Thursday evening. The meeting was attended by Hugh Calkins, A. H. Bass and M. H. Schreiber of Barrington. A second meeting was held at Oak Park Tuesday night of this week.

The net result of these two meetings is a unanimous protest from the representatives of all the communities against any plan for park district consolidation and against any extension of taxing power into the rural communities by the city of Chicago. Chicago's grab plan, which has been

Miss Laura Witt, Grad of Barrington High, Is Champion Co-ed Milker

Postmaster Talk in Nearby Towns But Not in Barrington

While the political minded residents of many villages in the Barrington district are speculating about the probability of changes in their local postmaster positions, this village is comparatively quiet on the subject. This may be due to the fact that E. J. Langendorf, the present postmaster, is a civil service appointee who was promoted to the position when Joseph Robertson resigned the examination and came at a time when political parties were not paying off election obligations and as a result can scarcely be classified as either a republican or a democratic postmaster.

In Libertyville, in Waukegan, in Lake Forest, and in many of the other neighboring communities lists of democratic party workers from whom postmasters may be picked have been passed out orally and in print. John O'Keefe of Highland Park is chairman of the Lake county central committee and is lining up the patronage list for his county.

Mute Man Found in Cuba Town Is Waukegan Lawyer

Stranger Found at Reardon Home Suffering From Melancholia

The well dressed mute, stranger who wandered to the door of the Harry Reardon home in the north part of Cuba township Tuesday last week was identified Friday as Attorney Herbert A. Shea, 602 Grand avenue, Waukegan, a man in poor health for several years who was reported to be suffering from melancholia.

The man was taken in charge by Milo Kelsey and the Barrington police who brought him to the village for examination before taking him to the county jail in Waukegan. The man's face was covered with a several days' growth of beard. He was emaciated and far overweight with the result that he was not at first recognized by the officials at Waukegan.

The man stared dully into space, declining to or unable to answer questions asked of him. He was removed from the receiving station to the county hospital for care. Later a sanitary commission passed on him and sent him to the state hospital at Elgin.

Feared Capone

Shea is 51 years of age and has been in poor health for several years. About five years ago the man asked county police officials to keep him in jail to protect him from henchmen of Al Capone whose wrath he said he had incurred, according to the report from Waukegan.

Recently Shea has gone on long walks through the country. It is believed that it was one of these trips which brought him to Cuba township on Tuesday last week.

Shea was a practicing attorney of moderate means. He lived in Newport township prior to moving to Waukegan 15 or 20 years ago. He was a candidate for city commissioner of Waukegan in 1923 but was defeated at election. He was divorced from his first wife in 1923.

Reports published in two daily newspapers stated that the man had been found Saturday in a pasture near Barrington in a semi-conscious condition. The reports further stated that he was thinly clad, one foot was bare and he weighed 75 pounds and was emaciated. The man was found in the pasture of a home in Cuba township Tuesday night and was wearing two overcoats. He weighed considerably more than 75 pounds and his foot was not frozen.

Home Cast Is Ready to Present Mystery Play December 1-2

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 22, for Mrs. J. B. Freeman, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Skinner, 220 W. Lake street, early Saturday morning at the age of 70 years. The services were conducted at the home by Rev. Milton S. Freeman and burial was in Evergreen cemetery.

Lucy Jane Hubbard, daughter of Daniel Whitford and Sarah Hubbard, was born in Kane county, five miles west of Barrington, Dec. 10, 1866. She was married to Joseph R. Freeman, Dec. 10, 1880. Of this union was born one daughter, Grace.

Mrs. Freeman in early childhood was a member of the Congregational church in Algonquin, and after moving to Barrington she attended the Methodist church of this village, in whose fellowship she and her husband were honored members. Her husband preceded her in death July 17, 1929.

Mrs. Freeman leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. Grace Skinner; her son-in-law, William Skinner; three grandchildren, Mildred, Gordon and Myron, all of Barrington; one brother, Rev. H. O. Hubbard of Peoria; and a host of other relatives and friends.

Lake County Tax Sale Is Held at Waukegan Tues.

Three-Fourths of All Tax Bills Paid; $1,537,251 in Property on Block

After several delays which were designed to help property owners by giving them additional time in which to meet their 1931 tax bills, the 1932 Lake county tax sale was opened to the public Tuesday morning of this week before County Judge P. L. Persons. The total value of property listed is $1,637,251.74, according to Jay B. Morse, county treasurer.

The total figure includes not only the unpaid 1931 taxes but the back taxes of previous years.

The sale was set for Monday morning, but Mr. Morse appeared before the county court on Monday morning and asked that the sale be postponed until Tuesday morning. As there were few buyers present, the judge agreed to the postponement. The buyers present were mostly persons representing firms or individuals to protect property bought in on taxes in past years.

Approximately 70 per cent of all collectible taxes including the 1932 spread and the back unpaid taxes of previous years has been collected. The general tax collected amounted to $4,092,405.17 out of a total of $6,519,716.91. No estimates were made on the total amounts due on special assessments or the total amounts paid on the assessments.

The collection of more than three-fourths of all general taxes due is not an unfavorable condition when the economic condition of the last two years is taken into consideration. Mr. Morse declared that the last two months have been favorable in the way of collections.

Police Ordered to Arrest Drivers Without Vehicle Tags on Their Automobiles

The village board has ordered the arrest of all automobile owners residing in Barrington who have not purchased their 1932 vehicle tags.

The order was given the police at a special meeting held Monday night. A discussion of the situation in Barrington was held and the decision was reached when it was learned that about 85 per cent of the automobile owners had purchased the tags while many of the remainder were still driving their automobiles minus the license discs. The economic condition was taken into account, but the unfairness of a situation whereby part of the people pay a tax and the remainder who are subject to the same tax do not pay, was considered of more importance. The police were ordered to start making arrests immediately.

A lower cost of vehicle tags is probable for next year. The board indicated that at the next regular meeting a lower scale will be decided on for 1933.

Clarify City Books

The auditors, Spahr and Grundert, who installed a new bookkeeping system for the village of Barrington will be asked to do some more work on that system and divide the balances according to appropriations made for tax levy. The firm completed installation of the books last June after auditing the records from April 30, 1931 to April 30, 1932.

Thank Offering Program Given

The annual public thank-offering program given at the Salem church Sunday was very successful. A pageant was given and special music by the Knuckuck Trio and Ladies' Quartet was enjoyed. Over $93.00 was given for missionary work in the thank-offering boxes.

Proceeds Will Be Added to Funds of Relief Committee

Report Large Sale of Tickets for "House of a Thousand Thrills"

The sale of tickets for "The House of a Thousand Thrills" mystery play to be produced December 1 and 2 by the Barrington Lions club for the benefit of the Barrington relief fund, has been reported by R. E. Willmering, chairman, well underway and indicative of a well filled theater on both nights of the performance.

Tickets are being placed on sale at most of the stores in Barrington. Several of the church aid societies are also undertaking the sale of tickets, and a committee consisting of members of the Lions club is pushing the sale.

Purchasers of adult tickets will exchange them for reserved seat slips at Pohlman's Pharmacy at any time after 8 a. m. Saturday morning and prior to the days the show will be produced. The children's tickets will not be for reserved seats.

Starts at 8 p. m.

The show is to start at 8 o'clock each evening although the ticket committee announced the time as 8:15 p. m. and had this time printed on the tickets. The attention of the public has been called to this discrepancy in time. The reason for the earlier curtain hour is that more than two hours are necessary for production of the show.

"The House of a Thousand Thrills" is said to be the first home talent mystery play ever offered the public in Barrington. It is recommended as the best mystery play available for local talent use and was selected by the directors as a good play to produce in Barrington.

A cast of 11 men and women have been studying and rehearsing diligently for the opening performance next Thursday night. Two rehearsals were held during the early time and the rehearsals weekly during the last two weeks are getting results in the way of developing a finished cast of players who know their lines. Directors T. E. Davis and R. E. Willmering, who showed a little of the way natural to coaches during the organization period, are expressing satisfaction at the way the cast is developing. The first rehearsal with the props will be held Sunday in the theater and at that time the 11 men and women will be expected to go through their parts and give their lines without a hitch.

All for Charity

The underlying reason for so much enthusiasm on the part of cast, directors, ticket sellers and Lions is that the entire proceeds outside of the small sums necessary for bare expenses will go direct into the treasury of the Barrington Relief committee for use in the home community, in helping needy families this winter.

Shop Early and Mail Early Says Local Postmaster

Shop early and mail early for Christmas is more important this year than ordinary, E. J. Langendorf, postmaster, said in an appeal to the public sent through the newspapers. Christmas will fall on Sunday with Monday designated as a holiday. This means that there will be no mail distribution over a period of two days, he said.

"The present time is none too early to start shopping and mailing," the postmaster said, "and it will not seem too early to patrons who realize the vast volume of Christmas mail and the resulting congestion and jamming if all of it were received at one time or within two or three days before Christmas."

The postmaster general of the United States has announced that all regular city delivery, rural delivery and window service will be suspended on Christmas day and the following Monday, December 25-26. This makes it important that mailing be done sufficiently in advance of Christmas to insure delivery of all Christmas mail before the holiday.

Only special delivery mail, including parcels, will be delivered on Christmas day and the day following. Other than special delivery parcels should be mailed between Thanksgiving day and December 20; according to the distance the parcels must be sent. Foreign parcels, letters and money orders should be mailed now for delivery before Christmas.

Parent-Teacher Association Meets

A group of sixty interested people met in the high school assembly hall Monday evening to hear the November program of the Parent-Teacher association. The president, Mrs. Wirt Lawrence, presided. The program opened with two pleasing vocal selections by Miss Olive Dobson with Mrs. William Ditterer at the piano. This number was followed by an interesting talk by Mrs. Violet Burridge, local librarian on the work of the library.

A large number of new books were exhibited and examined by the members of the association at the close of the program.

The questions from a question box that had been passed earlier in the evening were then taken up and discussed. This proved to be an interesting and beneficial part of the program. Before closing it was voted to hold the regular meeting each month on the fourth Monday.

Motor Accidents Decline for 1st 9 Months of Year

There were one-fifth fewer fatal automobile accidents in September 1932 than in that month of 1931, according to the state department of public health. This year, 184 were killed in September motor crashes. The figure for September, 1931, was 233. The ratio per 100,000 licensed motor vehicles declined from 16 to 12. For the first nine months of 1932, there were 1487 deaths attributed to motor accidents, against 1633 for the corresponding period in 1931, a decrease of 206, or 12 per cent. The health department's figures show that motor accidents are at their peak in November, December and January. This is attributed to the fact that the evening traffic is in darkness and on icy pavements.

Counties May Now Divert Part of Gas Tax for Relief

Gasoline tax funds for county highway construction for county emergency relief total $2,540,130.32 for the month of July, August and September. Garrett Del. Kinney, director of the state department of finance, states. The amendments of the state three-cent motor fuel tax law, made by the general assembly in special session, Director Kinney explains, give the counties authority to divert their one-cent allotment of the emergency relief. The law now calls for a monthly distribution of the funds, in place of semi-annual allotment.

SMALL TOWN IS NECESSARY

Two things have come out of the depression that are worth noting. The large centers of population have discovered that they cannot get along without the country. The small communities have discovered that they can make their own life without much worrying concerning large cities. For long it was a habit of big cities to display airs of superiority to the so-called "rural communities." They pretended to believe that the small town was passing into eclipse, and that people would flock to big cities and make them more and more important and influential. A lot of "country" people, lured by the glamor of the cities did leave the countryside. They have discovered, many of them too late, that life in the small communities has a thousand advantages not possessed by large centers, and that the mushroom development of big cities has been a bad thing. Today the small city is taking on a new dignity and individuality. We see everywhere the proof that the small community is realizing its possibilities, forgetting to ape the manners of the more artificial "centers of population," and attending enthusiastically to the duty of building a destiny for itself. As the small community becomes strengthened, and as the farm community becomes more independent, the large city will prosper too. What we need in America is vitality of individual effort, and this is what the small city will give in the next generation as it did in the past. The disillusioned folk who thought that bright lights were what made life worth while, will be drifting back to the country, eager to capture once again the peace, the sincerity, the integrity, the gladness that abides where neighborly comradeship is possible.—Herald, Slayton, Minn.

NO REFERENDUM REQUIRED

Some of our best citizens are quite indifferent over the threat of the "Metropolitan Area" movement because they say it could never be carried in a referendum.

Of course it could not but the proposed law does not require a referendum. That is the dangerous part.

These suburbs could not be annexed to Chicago without their consent. The foxy politicians in Chicago realize that so they devised a bill which would leave the suburbs as individual entities but control of traffic, sanitation and other affairs would be taken from them.

This law does not require a referendum for it does not disturb the boundaries of a suburb. Barrington would still be Barrington and Palatine would still be Palatine, but Chicago politicians would have the whip hand over matters that vitally affect the taxes.

That is the infamous House Bill No. 275. No referendum is required. By a clever scheme, our right to run our own local affairs would be legislated away.

The fall and winter months are the most dangerous of the year for automobile driving. Rain, snow, sleet, hail and ice; early darkness, haste to reach home and escape the cold, tightly closed cars and low visibility, all contribute to the hazards. Skidding is a chief danger of cold weather driving. The motorist must confront not only a visible wet or ice surface, but one hidden under a bed of fallen leaves. Last year 1740 persons were killed and 51,720 injured in 44,510 accidents due to skidding cars.

LETTERBy National Editorial Association
(Special to The Review)

DEBTOR NATIONS are more concerned than the average American over the outcome of the historic meeting here this week between the president and the president-elect. The citizen is moved emotionally at the unprecedented conferences of the incoming and outgoing chief executives. The high officials of European countries realize the portent of the formal chats. They realize that eventually the meeting will be equivalent to a landfall calling for overdue rent. Ministries and parliaments may fall solely on the debt to America. Yet this item did not figure prominently in the national campaign just closed. Payments are due December 15 and on the same night President Hoover will give his first reception of the season—to the diplomatic corps.

PRESIDENTS and their successors have seldom if ever met prior to the formal gathering at the white house an hour before the inauguration on the capital steps. Mr. Roosevelt came to Washington at Mr. Hoover's invitation to get acquainted with the foreign debt problem. The responsibility is still with the president and the president-elect. The feeling, prevailing that settlement will be demanded of the debtors. Exporters are worried that this policy will harm America's foreign trade. With tariffs now effective making a virtual boycott in some countries, the ordinary citizen, facing higher taxes, is inclined to support "pay now" plan. Reduction would damage the credit of the debtor nations beyond measure. Mussolini may yet prove a trump card by paying Italy's obligations and for that reason the credit foundation in event of future wars. And Italy and France, our chief debtors, are at loggerheads.

SECTIONALISM may rise to plague the democrats in their hour of victory. The fight brewing over the speakership is predicated on this single point more than on personalities. With southerners already in control of important house committees, Henry Rainey's bid for the job may gain in strength. He hails from Illinois and is now the majority floor leader, ranking next to Speaker Garner. There were 42 states listed in the Roosevelt column. The democratic patronage board will have many geographical questions to settle. Out-ranked socially by the vice president, speakers have considered themselves next to the president in power, especially if they party had a sizable working majority by which the minority could be ignored. Garner will soon vote the difference when he presides over the senate's self-governing body jealous of its prerogatives.

A SMALL COTTAGE at Warm Springs, Ga. is now the political center of the nation with Governor Roosevelt in conference with democratic chieftains. The president-elect went south for a holiday rest but there is no vacation for a successful candidate. Out of power for 12 years, the party workers are hungry for place and influence under the new regime. When the new administration will not take office for three months, the talks of party leaders will do much toward shaping the trend of legislation at the short session which begins two weeks hence. The budgets drafted by the Hoover executives must pass a democratic house. Then, too, the money appropriated will be for expenditure by the democratic administration during the fiscal year beginning July 1. Uppermost in the minds of the new majority is the attitude they must take as a party on economy in government.

NOT THE LEAST of President Hoover's puzzles is finding places for the scores of "lame ducks" or republicans who fell at the hustings Noember 8. The democrats have passed the word that these appointments must be kept down to a reasonable minimum. Apparently they believe "to the victors belong political spoils." It seems that the senate which must confirm important presidential appointments will only accede to honoring their departing brethren. It is a custom for the senate to approve the names of former colleagues, Senators whose terms expire March 4 will be favored—a situation which Mr. Hoover must consider in making up his lists.

New Ostrich Exhibit

An exhibit of ostriches and related birds, typical of all branches of the ostrich group which includes approximately twenty species, has just been added to the zoological collection at the Field Museum of Natural History. It was announced that nine different species are shown in the museum exhibit, and these represent the principal types, as the others vary from these only in very minor characteristics.

Those included in the exhibit are Mantell's kiwi from the South Sea Islands which is becoming extraordinary; the elegant tinamou, rufous tinamou, and the gray-headed tinamou, all from South America; the North African and South African ostriches; the southern blue fronted emu; the Moluccan cassowary from the South Sea Islands; and the emu from Australia.

Captured German Trophies Although the world war ended fourteen years ago there is still a demand from patriotic organizations and municipalities for captured German war material to be used for decorative, memorial and museum purposes. The annual report of Major General Samuel Hof, chief of ordnance, released by the war department, shows. During the past year, General Hof reports, the ordnance department disposed of to applicants 130 German 155-mm howitzers and carriages and approximately 500 obsolete small arms and machine guns taken during the war.

General Hof's report is one of a series of annual reports now being issued by chiefs of branches of the army telling of training and other activities of United States soldiers during the year. Other reports issued are those of Major General John W. Guilek, Chief of Coast Artillery; Major General Guy V. Henry, Chief of Cavalry; and Major B. D. Foulis, Chief of the Air Corps.

The report of the ordnance department shows numerous experiments and trials of various weapons, mounts, vehicles, tanks, ammunition and other articles that the department has to deal with, in an effort to make improvements. Grips for pistols made out of bakelite that can be moulded rapidly so as to obtain large quantities of production is among the experiments noted. A 30 caliber semi-automatic rifle following the same general design as the caliber 270 Grand semi-automatic, was completed and given a successful ordnance test at the Aberdeen proving ground.

Great Horticultural Building

After long uncertainty, a complete program for horticulture and agriculture in the coming world's fair has been adopted by the Century of Progress management, and work on a horticultural building which, with its adjoining gardens, will occupy five acres, is now underway.

A J shaped building erected on the Northernly island, between the enchanted island and the Hollywood exhibit, will provide 91,000 square feet for permanent and current exhibitions. The wings of the building will surround on three sides an outdoor area 400 feet square in which will be constructed by outstanding horticultural establishments of the country, rock gardens, water gardens, formal gardens, and other examples of the landscape art, to be maintained throughout the period of the fair.

In a ground breaking ceremony, at which Rufus C. Dawes, president of the Century of Progress, was guest of honor and made the introductory talk, Mrs. Samuel A. Ettelson turned the first spadeful of earth on the building site and her husband, leading architect and enthusiastic amateur gardener, made a speech of dedication. Mr. Ettelson is general counsel for Horticultural Exhibitions, Inc., which has been formed to finance the building and cooperate with the hundreds of individual exhibitors.

Auto Wreck Costs "Automobile wrecks today are costing more than the investment in new cars," says a statement issued by G. J. Lyon, manager of the Chicago Motor Club in Lake County. "The economic loss from motor vehicle accidents is four times the fire loss of the country and almost as great as the cost of public education, according to reports."

The statement concludes with the observation that a catastrophe that would cost the nation two billion dollars a year would arouse every force in the land, whereas the country has yet to be aroused to the terrible loss in property and life that occurs annually in automobile accidents. The answer to the problem, in the opinion of the club safety workers, lies in a general education of the public and in building safety into the highways.

A parade 72 miles long, eight persons wide, which would require 74 hours to pass a given spot, would be held in the city of Chicago, according to a statement issued by the Chicago Motor Club. The parade would be held in the city of Chicago, according to a statement issued by the Chicago Motor Club. The parade would be held in the city of Chicago, according to a statement issued by the Chicago Motor Club.

Exceeding its own past standards in size and significance, the continent's foremost congress of American agriculture will soon be under way when the International Live Stock exposition opens its doors at the Chicago stock yards November 28 to December 3. For the past 32 years, this famous show, held since its inception the week following Thanksgiving holiday, has marked the year's progress in American livestock farming and each year has set a new pace and higher goals for livestockmen. In consequence, according to B. H. Heide, veteran manager of the exposition, it has grown in magnitude and importance with each passing year as it has marked the close and climax of the American livestock show season.

The three breeds of cattle, the Shorthorn, the Aberdeen-Angus, and the Hereford, that furnish the bulk of the world's choicest beef, will be revealed to visitors to the show this year in greater numbers than ever before. It being the half century jubilee celebration of the organization of these three breed associations in America.

Many of the leading stables of saddle horses and ponies, hunters and jumpers, and fancy, high stepping harness horses and ponies will send their finest animals to compete in the International evening and matinee horse shows. The evening shows will continue every night from the opening to the first time, including for the first time this year, a Sunday evening horse show on November 27. Matinee shows will be given on Sunday, Wednesday, Friday, and the final Saturday. Stunt riding, polo games, parades of prize winning livestock, and performances by mammoth six horse hitched of ton weight draft horses will be added features on the horse show programs.

"The valiant efforts of the United States appear to be bearing fruit in the willingness of the nations of the world to further decrease armaments, and in the retreat of the forces that have threatened the peace and security of the world," Governor Louis L. Emerson states in his 1932 Thanksgiving day proclamation. The official document declares that the people of the state manifest a spirit of thankfulness by attending church and by displaying the national emblem from homes, business places and public buildings.

Season; Heavy Turnout of Hopefuls Is Help

Football has been stored away in the local high school and basketball is now king. About 70 hopefuls reported for practice and out of that army only about 25 can be retained on the team. Coach Clark, who has a job on his hands replacing Wolf, Thorne, Miller, Kuhnham, Rowe, etc. from the 1931 champions of the North-West conference.

Practice With Gurnee A practice scrimmage was held Monday with Gurnee and although floorwork was missing it looked as if several of the boys knew where the basket was located. The final score was something like 30 to 28 in Barrington's favor with all the players getting into action. The new 10-second rule was in action and it did not seem to make the game to any great extent. However there will not be any stalling in the back court this year at least.

The first regular scheduled game of the year will be played here on December 2 with the Elgin B team as the Bronchos' opponents. Coach Clark will open his conference competition with Libertyville on December 9. From then on there will be a battle royal with the conference tournament the last week in January and the state district meet some time in March as the closing event of the season.

Club Pin League

Church's team took the lead in the Lions club bowling league Monday night when they defeated Monday night in their third game and killed 1901 pins in three games of 173, 120 and 198. The Lions club pin league is second place with 3623 pins. Pohlman's team, which held first place last week, dropped down to third place this week when they were outdone by the Langdale group. Hager's quartet again failed to get in on the big pin spilling and did not even make as many pins as they made last week, thus keeping them well down in fourth place.

Highest individual scores were rolled by Langdale 190-173-158-530. Hager 161-172-190-623 and Greenberg 158-201-166-615. The scores follow:

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

By James W. Brooks

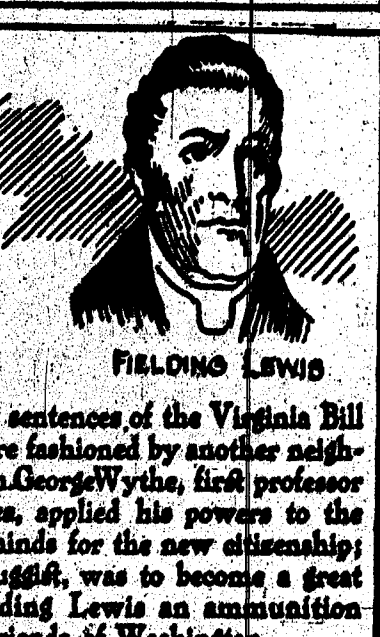

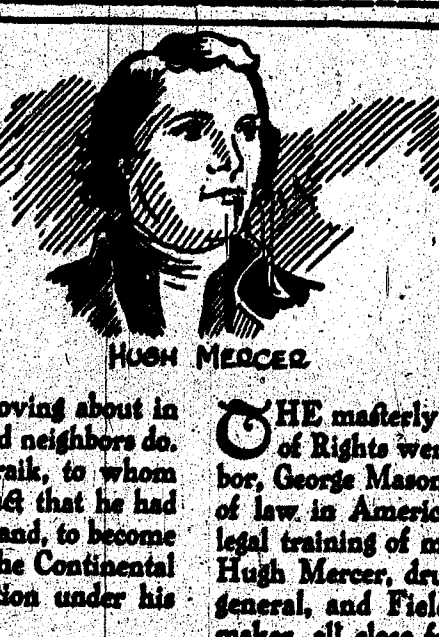

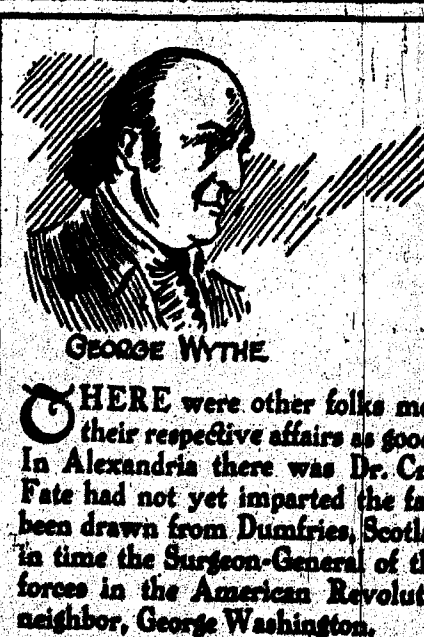

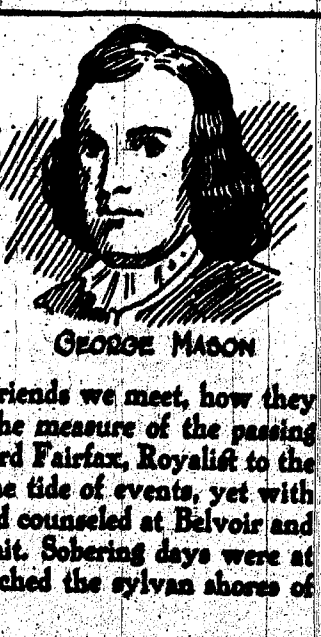

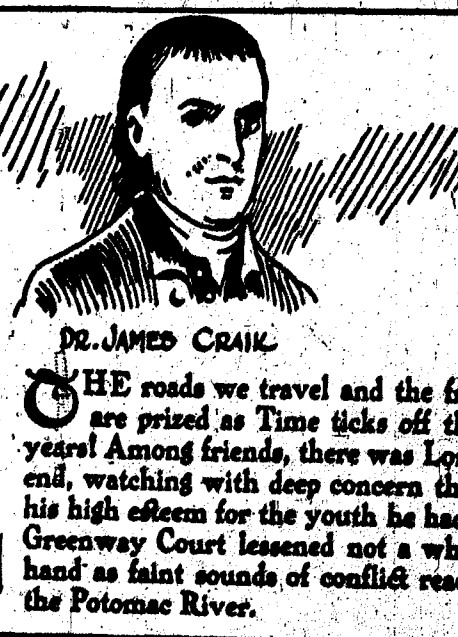

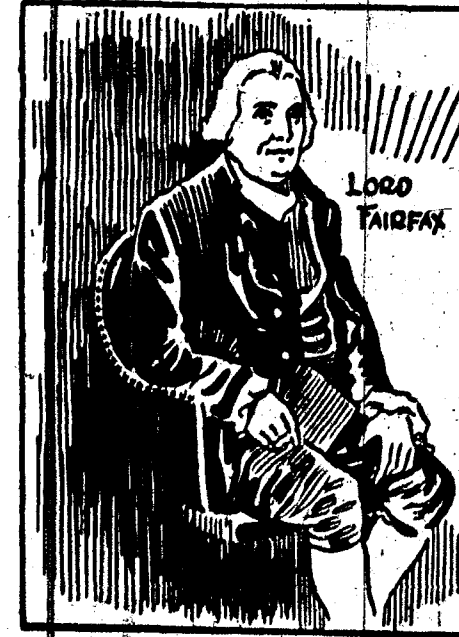

ADSBY'S Tavern in Alexandria was the scene of many formal and informal gatherings during Washington's happy hours at a farmer at Mount Vernon. Both he and his wife imparted rare dignity to these events. Visitors today will find the ball-room floor as highly polished as in the days of yore.

WHEN visiting Alexandria, Washington quartered his mount or coach in the Tavern courtyard. Here, later, occurred the first meeting of Lafayette, Baron de Kalb and John Paul Jones, when the latter offered his services as interpreter in a wordy war between the tavern keeper and Marquis Lafayette. The old courtyard has recently been repaved with brick from the historic streets of Alexandria.

Sobering days were at hand as faint sounds of conflict reached the sylvan shores of the Potomac River.

Plan to Revive Sales

Tax Bill in Assembly

Following a recess of four weeks, the special session of the Illinois general assembly reconvened on Tuesday morning, Nov. 21. The special session so far has devoted most of its time to considering measures for relief of the unemployed, with two bills for this purpose having been passed. There is a movement on foot to revive the general sales tax bill, which has once been defeated by a decisive vote of the house, and indications are that it would meet with general approval if again brought to a vote. Such a bill, sponsors declare, would give sufficient revenue to all counties of the state for unemployment relief.

The Missing Heiress

By ISABELLE WAITT

JUDY was furious at herself for blushing; furious at the man beside her for catching her looking up at him. Yet she could not help it. Ever since that first, "Pardon me, is this seat engaged?" she felt his hypnotic gaze upon her. He, too, she saw from his ticket, was going to New York city. His luggage was high grade. Gold initials—were they J. S.—adorned a black walrus case.

As the train stopped, Judy reached the aisle first. Two strangers accosted her at the foot of the steps. "Miss Herrick? We'd like a word with you." They took hold of her arms.

Startled, the girl jerked to free herself, but the men held on. "Who are you?" she demanded. "Let go my arms. You've got a nerve!" The two men held their ground. We've been detailed to take you home.

"Well, I never! I'm not this person you're looking for and I can prove it. Hey, George!" She had caught sight of the man who'd occupied the train seat with her. He was coming down the steps, carrying two large suitcases. "These men," she confronted him, "think I'm somebody named Angela Herrick. You can vouch for me. For goodness sake tell them I'm Judy Smith. There—my initials are on that overnight case he's carrying for me," she pointed out to the detectives. "You can see for yourself."

"You can see for yourselves," acquiesced "George" gallantly. "I can speak for this young lady." Puzzled, but reassured, the men breathed hasty apologies. This girl, they said, just fitted the description of an heiress, missing now several days, who had been reported en route from Boston to New York.

"Thank you—George," Judy smiled, when they were alone.

"You're welcome, Judy. Do you believe in wish fulfillment?" "That's something to do with dreams, isn't it?"

"Um-hm, so I've heard. Anyway, I was dreaming on the train I had met you and now I have."

"Well, you'd better wake up and help me get out of here before those private detectives come back. See them over by the gate? I'll wager they're still watching me."

He looked at her queerly. She was, then, the missing heiress. He'd read something about it in the paper. "Suppose I stick around a bit, Miss—Miss Smith. We seem to have lots of things in common—initials and glasses, for instance. How about a common lunch?"

"I think you're being horrid, but I'm starved and I would like to give these dumb sleuths the slip."

Downtown, in a restaurant noted for its excellent cuisine, Judy's eyes touched her companion's. This time he blushed. "I don't wish to seem impertinent, Miss Smith," he accented the name slightly. "It's your own affair if you want to be among the missing, but if I could be of service in any way—you can trust me," he blurted out.

"So you think I'm Angela, too?" "I've seen your picture in the rotogravure."

"I know. We do look alike. Well, I owe you some explanation, I suppose. I'm Miss Herrick's double. It's a terrible thing to be a millionaire. You're watched every minute. Poor Angela ran away to have a little peace. She's on her way home now. Gave me the wink when she walked past those detectives who detained me. You see, I stall off reporters and camera men, while she sails by incognito in a wig."

He was, she saw, looking at her with misgivings. "You're disappointed that you didn't rescue an heiress? I'm sorry."

"I'm tickled to death you aren't that Herrick girl. I was just wondering how many other travelers you call George."

"Why, George, I—"

"Because I won't have it! Do you hear? Suppose I hadn't been me, but some other fellow, why—here you'd been, having luncheon with some other George."

"It's George," George confessed. "George Jarvis Saunders. Only I dropped off my first name. Always hated it till I heard you say it. Say it again, will you?"

"All right, silly old—George. I never went out with a man before, really," she confided. "But I have to have a little life of my own."

"Sure you do, Judy," Saunders stared at her in open admiration. "Suppose I run along now and show my samples. I'm in jewelry—get a big discount on engagement rings, you know. Couldn't you meet me for dinner and begin that little life of your own—our own?"

"I'd love to," smiled Judy. "I don't have to double for Angela this evening, thank heaven!"

George paid the check. "I have a hunch," he said at parting, "that you won't be anybody's double very long because you'll be somebody's better half. Are you good at arithmetic? Well, figure that out for yourself." Then he left her, blushing furiously.

Expect Passage of Housing Bill by Emergency Vote

Sponsors of the housing bill, which was offered in both branches of the legislature in its recent session, have indicated that they will attempt to send it through with an emergency vote. The first bill under that section of the federal emergency relief bill authorizing federal loans to private corporations for low cost housing and slum eradication projects has just been made to the state of New York by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Such advances can be made only to housing commissions. New York is the only state having such a setup at the present time.

Says Barrington Will Be Greatest Community Center

Tower Lake Man Urges Trustees to Petition for 59 on Hager-Exmoor Route

Barrington is favored by natural scenery, location and good train service to become the finest suburban development around Chicago and not more than five years will pass before this will come true, Nazareth Barrington, manager of the Tower Lakes development, declared at a meeting of the village trustees Monday night at which time a hearing was held on the proposed extension of highway 59 along Hager avenue, under the Chicago & North Western tracks and north over Exmoor avenue toward Wauconda.

Mr. Barrington was one of 25 persons who appeared at the meeting to express their viewpoints on the subject of extending the highway over this proposed route. Sixteen persons who reside along Hager avenue were divided on the proposal. Those favoring the change, A. J. Barrington, Hager avenue residents, was taken and showed 10 favorable to the change and six opposed to it. Mr. Barrington declared that Barrington and Tower Lakes would both benefit from the extension as proposed, said that the people of Barrington owed it to themselves to accept this improvement which will speed up the development of Barrington as a community center.

Develop Barrington

"Tower Lakes is a fine home development in which $300,000 has been invested already," Mr. Barrington said. "The subdivision has 60 homes and ten all-year-around families residing there. We are looking to Barrington as our community center and our hope and we are all customers of your merchants. Our route to Barrington is now nine miles long, but would be shortened to four and one-half miles by the new route of 59. Your influence can bring highway 59 to the proposed route, you will be doing a great favor to Tower Lakes, Barrington and to your merchants as well as improving the property in your vicinity lying along this route. You have a wonderful opportunity to make Barrington a great center, and this slogan will help do it."

Henry Welles who owns a home bordering North Hager avenue, objected to the routing of the road, declaring that it would widen the pavement and sidewalk almost to his front door steps. Aside from cutting down his property by widening the route, the change would place a through highway in front of his home with an objectionable increase in motor traffic.

Will State Pay?

"We will be giving up part of our front yards and receiving nothing but a lot of extra traffic to watch out for," said A. Wagoner, another resident along Hager avenue. Other residents declared they would favor the change if the state would pay the paving assessments. Whether 59 is part of the 100 million dollar bond issue system with all pavement costs paid for by the state will be determined by the village attorney and Large Orchestra Feature Musical Program of P.-T.A.

The orchestra concert given by the combined orchestras of Melchior's school, Crystal Lake community, and Barrington community under the direction of W. N. Sears Tuesday evening was a success in its rendition of music as reflected by an appreciative audience of music lovers.

The combined orchestration consisted of about 70 members, ten of whom were unavoidably absent. They displayed thorough technique and harmony which could but please the most fastidious listeners.

The solos to have been given by Miss Helen Harrison, xylophone soloist, and Miss Blanche Frye, vocal soloist, were supplemented by two artists at the eleventh hour "filled in" by Harry Brooks, cornet soloist who has many years in the famous Frye's band and delighted his audience with several difficult and well executed selections as written by the cornetist Robert Clark.

Miss Mildred Rusch, a senior in the Crystal Lake high school, sang two songs, the rendition of which was pleasing. Miss Rusch displayed a really true quality, surprising in one so young.

The vocal numbers given by the quartet, Messrs. Raymond, Harold Wright, T. E. Davis, and Wesley Parker, had their usual touch to their evening of music.

The concert was sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association and the proceeds, minus a small expense account, will go to help the organization.
