Hungarian Relief Tag Day Authorized for This Friday

As an emergency tag day for the Hungarian Red Cross, a campaign has been authorized for the benefit of the Hungarian refugees, whose numbers are estimated at 11,000,000. The campaign, which will be used to collect funds for the immediate relief of the refugees, is being conducted by the Relief Committee of the Hungarian Red Cross.

Participating in the drive will be the Hungarian American Council, the Hungarian American Institute, and the Hungarian American Clubs. The campaign will be conducted at various locations throughout the United States, including New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles.

The campaign is expected to raise $50,000 for the Hungarian refugees, who are facing severe hardship due to the war. The Hungarian Red Cross has already provided emergency relief to over 50,000 refugees, including food, clothing, and medical assistance.

The campaign will be conducted in cooperation with local Hungarian American organizations, who will be responsible for collecting donations and distributing them to the Hungarian Red Cross.

In addition to the campaign, the Hungarian American Council has established a Hungarian Relief Fund, which will be used to provide long-term assistance to the refugees.

Child Study Group To Hear Talks by Two Local Doctors

A Child Study Group will hold its next meeting on Friday, January 18, at the Grand Opera House. The meeting will feature talks by Dr. John Smith and Dr. Jane Doe, two local doctors who specialize in pediatrics.

Dr. Smith's talk will focus on the importance of early childhood development, while Dr. Doe's talk will cover the latest research in child psychology. Both doctors are well-known in the local medical community and have authored several books on their respective fields.

The meeting is open to all parents and caregivers interested in learning more about child development and psychology. Light refreshments will be served at the end of the meeting.

Music Club Chorus Small But Effective for Yule Concert

"A small group with a large heart," the Music Club Chorus is preparing for the Yule concert, which will take place on December 25th at the Mitchell Theater. The chorus, consisting of 12 members, is directed by Dr. John Doe, a well-known conductor and music teacher.

The Yule concert will feature classic Christmas carols and songs, performed with passion and skill by the Music Club Chorus. The audience is encouraged to participate by singing along and sharing in the festive spirit.

The Music Club Chorus is just one of the many groups preparing for the Yule season in Bannington. Other activities include holiday markets, tree lighting ceremonies, and community parties.
