CONGRESSIONAL-Regular Session.

On the 19th the Hawaiian resolution was called up in the senate and Senator Daniel (dem., Va.) spoke in support of it. The nomination of Senator Edward D. White, of Loui siana, as associate justice of the supreme court was received from the president and was confirmed ... In the house the effort to secure a Querum to order the previous question on Mr. Bland's motion to close debate on the silver seigniorage bill was unsuccessful.

THE session of the senate on the 2)th was devoid of special interest. Senator Daniel (Va.) concluded his speech on the Hawafian question, and while supporting the course that | team. has been followed by the administration, he declared that now there was nothing to do but recognize the new government and wish it god speed ... In the house the deadlock on the Bland seigniorage bill was not troken.

On the 21st the Hawaiian resolution was further discussed in the senate after a lively detate between several members on the tank question. ... In the house Mr. Bland again failed to secure a quorum on his motion, for a yote on the seigniorage bill, and after four hours of fruitless roll-calls the house ad

KENNEDY'S

DONALD KENNEDY, of ROXBURY, MASS., Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect dure is warranted when the right quantity is taken. When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or

Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first. No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it.

Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

IS ESSENTIAL TO HEALTH. You cannot hope to be well if your BLOOD IS IMPURE. BOILS, PIMPLES, ULCERS or SORES your bleed is bad. A few bottles of S. S. will thoroughly cleanse the system, remove all impurities and build you up. All manner of blemishes are CLEARED AWAY by its use. It is the best blood remedy on earth. Thousands who have used it say so. "My blood was badly poisoned last year, which got my whole system out of order—diseased, and a constant source of suffering—no appetite, no enjoyment of life. Two bottles brought me right out. There is no better remedy for blood diseases. JOHN GAVIN, Dayton, Ohio."

ONCE IN AWHILE.

Once in awhile the end shines out.

And the arching skies are a perfect blue;
Once in awhile had clouds of doubt

Faith's fairest stars come peeping through. Our paths lead down by the meadows fair Where the sweetest tilossoms nod and smile; And we lay aside our cross of care Once in awaile

Once un awhile within our own We feel the hand of a steadfast friend; Once in awhile we hear a tone Of love with the heart's lown voice to bland. And the dearest of all our dreams one rrac, And on life's way is a cold in larlet Each thirsting flower is kissed will done Once in awhile

Once in awhile in the desert sand We find a spot of the fairest green once in awhile from where we stand The hills of Paradise and seen And a perfect joy in our hearts we hold, A joy that the world cannot defile;

We trade earth's dross for the purest gold, Once in awhile. -Nixon Waterman, in Youth's Companion.

ONLY MAGGIE.

But She Was the Gem of the Household.

The two words, "only Maggie," were a sort of by-word in the Clements family, where the young lady rejoicing in the baptismal appellation of Margaret was considered somewhat inferior in all respects to the three elder sisters.

Miss Nora Clements was artistic. Miss Georgina Clements was musical, and her hours were spent executing intricacies upon the piano. Miss Cordelia Clements was a beauty.

Maggie, the youngest, was simply a cheerful, good-tempered, industrious girt, who aimed at no special display of either beauty or talent, but jwas quite content to be handmaiden for the others.

Howard, the only brother, and the eldest of the family, was a physician and the head of the household, the father and mother being dead. There was wealth enough to make a pleasant home when the separate incomes were combined, and Howard would have been most unwilling to see his sisters band of their own.

"We can all live comfortably together," he would say, "but you have not enough to live upon without work if you leave the house we own among

At first the two older girls were quite anxious to figure as a great artist and musician, but finally they allowed their ime brother to have his own way,

The young doctor, was very proud of his sisters and their various attractions, and when his warfu friend and fellowstudent, Paul Goddard, appeared to make him a short visit, he lead him from the office into the house adjoining it, delighted at the prospect of showing off the girls to a city gentleman.

A tour of inspection in the drawingroom preceded the actual introduction. Thus:

This scene upon the Catskill mountains was painted by my eldest sister, Paul. We spent the summer there for the express purpose of alfowing Nora to make sketches.

"Very fine," murmured Paul, trying his best to admire the mountains. "And the music is Georgina's. Georgina is Sig. Skwallinni's best pupil." "A great talent," Paul mur nured again. "And this," continued Howard, opening the photograph album, "is Cordelia." He added no more, and truly the face was sufficiently beautiful to need no comment. Paul spoke cordially:

What a beautiful face! Who is this opposite your sister, Howard?"

"That is Maggie. She is my youngest sister."

"And does she paint or sing?" no beauty. She is a good little thing.

But come to your room. Dinner will be ready at six." Paul, as he looked around the tasteful color can never give; there was an at-

Paul made the necessary speech of gratification, wondering if it was the brown of the Catskill mountains that was daubed so extensively upon the skint of Miss Nora's blue dress, and it it pany of the others had never occurred was artistic meditation that had made to Howard. her pin her collar crooked, and forget her cuffs altogether. Her dress, fitted her graceful little figure perfectly; her collar and cuffs were white and smooth; her pair was dressed love me." chrefulty and becomingly; she was exquisitely neat.

Not fearing for her voice, she chatted gayly and pleasantly; not being anxious about her dress, she moved gracefully and freels and having no specialty of talent, she could talk sensibly about the various topics her brother and his friend started.

Dinner 1 f pleasantly. Paul cohenlded? if Maggie was housekeeper her dinner certainly did her credit.

A week passed away, and Paul found himself growning in spirit over the Misses Clements. He had wandered in search of the picturesque with Nora, had sacrificed gloves and boots in the pursuit of wonderful boughs and inaccessible flowers. He had listened to Georgina 'till his ears fairly ached, and he was divided in his own mind as to whether the performer or the listener deserved the most pity. He had admired Cordelia in every variety of costume, in every effective attitude; had seen her eyes raised, and the long lashes of the drooping lids; and marveled at the whiteness of her hands, at the profusion of her curling hair; had considered Her a beauty, a weariness, and a burden of spirit

But he could find but little time to speak to Maggie. He saw the evidences of her industry and taste in every detail of housekeeping; knew whose skill directed the servants, whose fingers filled the flower vases, whose eyes were everywhere. But the very perfection of all these arrangements kept the little woman too busy for many idle moments, and in the evenings the older sisters were all-engrossing.

Two months had passed and instead of June roses early fall fruits and flowleave him for any but a home and hus- ers were abundant at Mossvale when Paul Goddard passed again through the village and called at Dr. Glements' office.

'I am so sorry," said Howard, as he ordially shook his friend by the hand. All the girls are away. Uncle James invited them to pass a month at the White mountains, and they deserted

Then you are alone?" Oh, not entirely. Maggie stays to keep house for me, "Oh, Miss Maggie is here? Shall I'mtrude if I stay a day on two Howard?"

"Intrude, Paul! Far from it. I am not busy, and Maggie was telling me to-day that time actually hangs heavy upon her hands. You know she was always running for the others. So now the little damsel has time to enjoy herself, and we have had some lovely rides, and drives. Maggie does ride beautifully and her horse is very fond of her." It was true that Maggie was finding many leisure hours while her sisters were away, and Paul found that the retiring, modest girl was one of the pleasantest companions it had ever been his good fortune to meet.

It was an amusement the young physician enjoyed to draw out the accomplishments that had been overshadowed by her sisters' loudly proclaimed talents and attractions. He found that Maggie could sing with a sweet bird-like voice, though she never attempted the difficult songs in which Georgina was supposed to exect. She could play simple pieces with feeling and expression, and her fingers would fairly dance over the keys in livelier music, that required, no wonderful talent or elaborate execution.

And it was wonderful how pretty the child-like face became in Paul Goddard's eyes. There was a charm in the constant cheerfulness that kept the rosy mouth ever smiling and sweet; there was a beauty of expression in "So Maggie is housekeeper," thought the browns eves that mere form and "Tell me. That's a darling." "He said, then that I was sure to be an old maid, and after the others were all married I was to stay here and help him keep up a bachelor's hall. I really don't see," she added, earnestly, "how Howard will get along."

REFORM IN DREAM GULCH.

A Chapter from the Earlier History of Lively Camp.

"There were a good many curious people in Dream Gulch in its earlier days," said an old " 49er" to a New York Sun reporter, "but perhaps none of them was more curious than William Blint, the hearse-driver. As a matter of fact, there was no hearse, but there was a wagon which was used for a hearse, and William Blint drove it, Blint's peculiarity lay in his whistling". And he wasn't a remarkably good whistler, either; but he whistled all the time on duty and off. I've seen him walking into a cabin with a coffin on his shoulder, whistling. And I've seen him whistling while he was driving a hearse. And he wasn't a hardhearted man, you understand; on the contrary, he was very gentle-hearted.

"There was an accident in one of the mines in the gulch and a lot of men were killed. The whole camp turned out at the funeral; in fact, the whole camp was greatly touched and even the gambling houses were closed. Among the miners at the funeral there was one named Melanethon , Ingby, a newcomer. It so happened that when the procession started of this man ligby was right alongside the head hearse, which Bill drove a When the procession moved Bill began to whistle as usual. This man lingby listened to him for about a minute and then he surprised everybody else but himself by shooting William off the box, and when Bill fell off into the road this man Ingby got up and took his place. "There was an inquest over Bill, but Ingby was yindicated by the coroner's jury, and public sentiment vindicated him, too. The fact is Bill's peculiarity had come over the gulchers so gradually that they had never realized the true nature of it, but Ingby's pistolshot waked em up and it led to a gen+ eral demand on the authorities that the new hearse-driver should be a man that didn't whistle."

TOLSTOI WAS KICKED OUT.

He Was Dressed as a Peasant, Which Accounts for His Misfortune.

Old Count Tolstoi was treated to a genuine surprise in Tula a short time ago. The Nobility club, the swellest organization of its kind in that city, was to give the count's new piece entifled, "The Fruits of Enlightenment." He was to be the guest of honor and was asked to kindly attend the dress in the territory. rehearsal to give the performers point; ers in their parts. The count soon bleman having the role of a lackey was ealled upon in one scene to throw some peasants out of his master's drawing room. The actor did it so gently and carefully that Count Tolstoi exclaimed: 'That won't do at a the that is not throwing anybody out. You must do it naturally, with life and energy, the way it was done to the this evening!" On being asked to explain Count Tolstoi laughingly told them what happened him on his arrival at the club. The doorkeeper had been instructed not to permit anybody to enter the building except the members and Count Tolstoi. Suddenly a tall, long-bearded peasant, dressed in a sheepskin coat and fur cap, comes tramping up the steps. The doorkeeper calls on him to stop, but the peasant does not mind but is about to enter. Such brazen boldness was more than the aristocratic flunkey could endure. He seized the astonished peasant by the neck and coat tails and flung him downstairs and into a snowdrift in the most approved fashion. Only after the supposed peasant announced himself as the expected guest of honor. Count Leo Tolstoi, did the amazed and rightened doorkeeper permit him to enter the club. "That was nature, and in that way must you throw out the peasants," added the count to the young nobleman who was cast for the role of the lackey. - Chicago Posta

DEATH OF STEELE MACKAYE. The Famous Dramatist Passes Away tu

Colorado. Timpas, Col., Feb. 27.-Steele Mackaye died here Sunday morning at 7:45 o'clock from complete exhaustion. His wife, known on the stage as Helen Marr, Dr. H. N. Parker, of Chicago, and a professional nurse were with him. He died in a private car on the Sante Fe road, in which he was being conveyed to Los Angeles, Cal., where it was believed his health, could he have lived to reach there, would have been benefited. Owing to his weak, wasted condition however, the exertions and excitement of the trip were more than he was able to stand. The body was taken from here to La Junta, where it was embalmed and prepared for burial. Dr. Parker and the widow have started east with it and arrive in Chicago Wednesday morning. Dr. Parker and Dr. Finney, the Santa Fe surgeon at La Junta, held an autopsy and found the cause of death to be a cancer in the stomach.

Mr. Mackaye was born in Buffalo, N. Y.; in 1836. His oratorical and literary inclinations were of early development. After a course at Yale university he was sent to Paris, with the assistance of friends, and for seven or eight years he studied under Deisarte Beturning to New York, he was taken in hand by Lester Wallack. "Larry' Jerome and other notables. He became the ligh of the clubs and the pet of bohem a. Several lectures on gratory and the drama which he delivered in New York and Beston attracted great at antion and much favorable comment. Then he went to London, where, in a series of successful plays. It was during this time that "Won at Last" was brought out by Mr. Mackaye.

After several years he returned to New York and wrote "Hazel Kirke," which made his name famous. Other plays, such as "A Noble Rogue," "Col. Tom" and "Paul Kauyar" followed, in each of which startling stage contrivances were introduced by the author. Subjoined is a list of the plays, in addition to those already mentioned, written by Mr. Mackage alone or in collaboration, giving the date of the production of each: 'Marriage,' 1872: 'Rose Michel.' 1875: 'Queen and Woman,' 1876; 'Through the Dark,' 1877; ''A Fool's Errand,' 1881; 'Dakolar,' 1881; ''In Spite of All.' 1885: 'The Drama of Civilization,' 1886: 'Kinzi,' reconstructed and rewritten for Lawrence Barrett in 1886; "Anarchy, 2 1887, produced again in the same year under the title of "Paul Kausar," "An Arrant Knave," 1889, "Money Mad, 1889

The building was constructed of logs, with a large fireplace built at each end. While the family were asleep fire flew upon the floor and in that manner the dry timbers and other inflammable material soon became ignited. When discovered next day the entire building was reduced to ashes and only the charred bodies of the occupants remained.

> VINELAND, N. J., Feb. 27 .- Two lives were lost and a score placed in imminent peril by a fire which consumed a portion of the state home for feebleminded children at this place Sunday. The victims were J. H. Sage, the engineer of the institution, and his wife, who acted as laundress. The fire was discovered in the basement of the handsome three-story brick structure khown as "the Robinson memorial college."

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. - A fire attended with loss of life occurred early Sunday morning in the three-story frame house at 1952 Amsterdam avenue. On the first floor of the tenement lived Michael Wundt and his wife, who was sick in bed with her infant child, and Annie K. Land, a servant. It took Wundt a long time to make his family realize that the house was on fire, and by the time they understood the situation it was impossible to reach the street by way of the stairs, so they started for the roof. Mr. Wundt had to carry his sick wife. Wundt jumped to the roof of the next house, which is only two stories high Their 9-days-old baby was tossed to him by the servant, after which she made the 12-foot jump. | Mrs. Wundt was left on the roof of the burning building and was rescued by Policeman Donovan and Barber Schloeder. Angie K. Lanb was so excited that although she was practically safe she jumped to the ground. BEDLAM IN THE HOUSE.

How Washington's Birthday Was Observed by Statesmen.

The Session the Most Disorderly of the Present Congress-Protests Against Arrest Cause Much Confusion and Sensation.

A HIGH OLD TIME.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.-The Washington's birthday session of the house Thursday was marked by the most turbulent and disorderly scenes. After the reading of the journal Mr. Pence (Col.), rising to a question of personal privilege, corrected newspaper statements to the effect that members of the populist minority attended the democratic caucus on the 9th.

Mr. Cummings (dem., N. Y.) arose and in a most vigorous manner denounced an attempt made to arrest him. He said:

"This morning at 11 o'clock while on the floor of this house, I was approached by an assistant sergeant-at-arms and informed that I was under arrest. I refused to acknowledge the service, and told him and his bosses to try to arrest me at their peril. I have been on the floor of this house and day after day in my committee rooms three hours before the sergeant at arms has been in this capitol and have been here for hours after he has left. I denounce this attempted arrest on Washington's birthday as unbridled tyranny. In the name of the American people I protest against holding a farcical session on this national holiday, and, in honor of the memory of George Washington, I now move that this house

Mr. Springer insisted that Mr. Sickles should take his seat.

During all this time Mr. Dockery had been counting the house and at this point he announced that the demand for the previous question had been carried-97 to 0.

Order seemed to be out of the question and in the midst of the din Mr. Bland moved to adjourn. As Mr. Bland, the recognized leader of the fight, had made it, his supporters voted with him. It was carried-132 to 101. and at 3:05 the house closed one of the most disorderly sessions of this congress by adjournment

HISSED MR. BLAND.

Members of the House Dislike the Missourian's Bitter Words.

WASHINGTON, Feb 26.—The members of the house under arrest were finally discharged from custody Friday by dispensing with further proceedings under the call. It required four hours to accomplish this and although the scenes of disorderly turbulence which characterized Thursday's proceedings were not repeated Friday the proceedings were fully as interesting.

After the arrested members had been discharged Mr. Bland returned to the silver bill, but his motion failed again the speaker pro tem, declared the pending question to be the motion to discharge Mr. Adams from the custody of the sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Reed called attention to the fact that the question had not been properly stated. It was to discharge Mr.

Adams because the warrant under which he was arrested was unauthorized. Mr. Springer attempted to interpose an amendment, which had for its : purpose the discharge of all members under arrest, as the most expeditions way out of the tangle, but Mr. Reed demanded the previous question and he was cut off. The previous question was voted down-05 to 159. Mr. Bland then offered as a substitute for Mr. Reed's motion a motion to discharge all members arrested by authority of the resolution Mr. Reed made the point of order that voted for adjournment, but it was lost. Mr. Bland's amendment was not germane, and the point was argued at some length. Mr. Bland decided to withdraw his substitute and confine it to the disunder arrest. "We ought to have the charge from custody, of Mr. Adams, regular daily jail delivery," he added on this modification of his motion he demanded to be heard. The Date Set for the Execution of Prendergast.

Judge Brentano Sentences Carter Harrison's Murderer to Be Hanged on March 23-The Doomed Man's Rambling Speech.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. Unless the supreme court or the governor of the state interfere Patrick Eugene Prendergast will on March 28, in the courtfor lack of a quorum. He lacked only yard of the county jail, pay the penalty two votes, however, and this is the high. of his life for the murder of Carter H. Harrison. Sentence was passed upon After some preliminary skirmishing him Saturday by Judge Brentano after his honor had overruled the motion for a new trial, entered by de fendant's attorneys.

As Judge Brentano went upon the bench Prendergast stepped forward and took a seat in the front row of chairs in the jury box. From the expression on his face it was evident that 37.5 per cent for the month thus far.

Prendergast arose in response to the court's order, and the crowd surged forward. No attention was paid to the orders of the bailiffs, and the anxious spectators could not be quieted. When asked by the court if he knew of any passed upon him, I rendergast arose.

Then Judge Brentano said:

Patrick Eugene Prendergast, it is my painful duty to sentence you to death. The sentence of the court is that on March 23, between the hours of 10-and 12 a. m., in the county jail, you be hanged by the neck till you are dead.

As the last words left the judge's lips Prendergast reeled as if he had been struck a heavy blow. TRADE REVIEW.

Condition of Business as Shown by Dunn and Bradstreet. NEW YORK, Feb. 26. R. G. Dun &

Co.'s weekly review of trade says: "A waiting condition of business is one in which weekly fluctuations mean nothing. Business of all kinds is hesitating until more can be determined about the future, and meanwhile orders which will keep hands at work for a time are given and accepted, this week increasing as 12 some others decreasing, without affording reasonable indications of the future. Prices are again greatly depressed, as low or lower than ever having been made in wheat, silver and some manufactured products, and neither cotton, wool nor raw iron have advanced. The glutted money markets continue to show that the volume of business is still inadequate to employ the circulation available, and the withdrawal of about $60,000,000 from the New York market by the sale of government bonds does not cause the expected strengthening of rates. With gradually decreasing shipments of merchandise to other countries foreign exchange rises, and some exports of gold are expected.

"The volume of domestic trade does not seem to increase. In the clearing house payments the decrease is 44.6 per cent. for the week, against 37,8 for the previous week and about Industrial changes have been few, but a little better demand for some textile goods has started more mills than have stopped. There is a better feeling in tancy catons, though some goods are a shade low r. Woolen dress goods are steady with fair demand. and though orders for heavy woolen and worsteds are light, ther are a little better, some agents having made fair progress. Encouragement is felt by some in the calculation that clothiers have done about 60 per cent of the usual spring business, while manufacturers have done about 32 2 perfecent, so that clothiers' stocks must be reduced.

"Prices of commodities now everage about 14 her cent higher than a month ago, but 11.7 percent lower than a year ago, but excepting this year, have never been as low on the whole

Indictments Returned in the Michigan Election Fraud Cases.

True Bills Found Against the Secretary of State, the Attorney General, the Treasurer and Several Other Suspected Persons.

INDICTED FOR FRAUD.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 26. - Indictments were found by the grand jury Friday in the election frauds case against Attorney General Ellis, Secretary of State Jochim, Treasurer Hambitzer, Lånd Commissioner Berry, and Clerks Warren, ? Potter and Bussey. These indict ments had been prepared with great care during the last two weeks by ex-Justice Edward Cahill of the supreme court, ex-Justice M. V. Montgomery of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, Richard A. Montgomery and Russell C. P. Ostrander, of this city, counsel for the state, and are ironclad in every respect. They were made to cover all phases of the case, blanks being left for the insertion of the names of the persons indicted.

The indictments found are authoritatively reported to be as follows:

First-An indictment charging Attorney General Adolphus A Ellis with forgery in connection with the Gogebic county return. Second-An indictment against Secretary of State John W. Jochim, State Treasurer Joseph F. Hambitzer and Land Commissioner John G. Berry for making false public record of the vote cast for the constitutional amendment of Third-An indictment for the last-named offense against Clerks Frank A. Potter and George B. Warren, who did the clerical work on the canvass. Fourth-An indictment for conspiracy in connection with the frauds of 1893 against Ellis, Jochim, Hambitzer, Berry, Potter, Warren, ex-Clerk Marcus Peterson, of the board of state abditors: County Clerk William May, of Detroit: Sergeant-at-Arms George H. Bussey, and Bill Clerk James G. Clark, of the senate. Fifth—An information charging Lais and May with the destruction of Wayner county in this city.

The first witness examined Friday was Clerk Jackson, of the board of state auditors, who had been before the jury twice before He was detained but a moment and was followed by II. D. Wheaton, of the state department, IL Sumper, of the anditor general's office, and ex-Clerk Frank A Potter, who had charge of the canvass of 1893. The latter was in the room but a short time and made no confession. These witnesses completed their testimony before noon, and in the be upon Mr. Bland's demand for the previous observed by the previous ob afternoon/State Senator Joseph Weiss, Healey, of Ironwood, who explained how he was induced by Attorney General Exis to alter the Gogebic returns of 1891, and he acquitted himself so creditably that he escaped being indicted. As he several days ago conceded that he would be indicted he is the happiest man in Michigan. The examination of Healey was concluded at 2 o'clock, and the jury at once commenced its deliberations, which continued for two hours. at the end of which time the work of signing the indictments was com-

Henry Guy Fernald, Supposed to Have Robbed a 'Frisco Pawnbroker, Arrested.

SAN TRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Henry Guy Fernald, alias Wentworth, who claimed to be the son of a wealthy Boston banker when he came here from Chicago a few months ago, has finally come to grief He was arrested in Los Angeles Thursday night, in company with a woman known as Mrs. Garnier and her son Harry Earl. The police here expect to prove that Fernald and Earl robbed Simon Jacobson, the pawnbroker, last Saturday and made away with a trunk containing $1,000 in coin and pledged diamonds worth $11,000. The Jacobson family gave a party Friday night, and it appears that Fernald, who was known to the family, as. J. W. Spence, and Earl were among the guests. Fernald, Earl and the woman left the city the next day, all having plenty of money, whereas they had previously been unable to | pay their hotel bills. Diamond robberies have also occurred here in the St. Nicholas and Langham hotels, fashionable family houses, while Fernald and the woman were guests there. Fernald was once arrested for a big diamond robbery in Chicago.

GIVEN TO THEIR STOCK Lilinois Farmers Are Feeding Wheat to Cattle and Hogs.

MASCOUTAH, Ill., Feb. 26.-The low price of wheat during the last few years has caused many farmers in this section of the state to hold their grain in the vain hope that prices would go higher in the course of time. Many farmers have thousands of bushels of wheat stored away in their granaries. With the prices lower than they have been in years and the prospects favorable for another good crop the ensuing. season farmers have generally given up hope of securing better prices for their wheat Some farmers are hauling wheat to the market for what it mined to feed it to stock.

ARRAIGNED.

Michigan's Indicted Officials Before the Bar-All Give Bail.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 27 .- The most remarkable scene ever witnessed in a Michigan courtroom was enacted in the little courthouse at Mason Saturday when three state officials were called upon to plead to indictments charging them with felonious crimes against the laws of the state. Most of the persons against whom indictments were voted were notified by their counsel Friday night, and five of them-State Treasurer Hambitzer, Land Commissioner Berry, Attorney General Ellis, Sergeant-at-Arms Bussey and Frank A. Potter-went to Mason Saturday morning, accompanied by friends, who were prepared to become sureties on their bonds.

After the usual formalities attendant upon the return of bills by a grand jury Attorney General Ellis was arraigned on three indictments for forgery, conspiracy and destroying the Wayne county records. He waived the reading of the indictments, as did all of the others save Potter, who pleaded not guilty. In each case where the accused refused to plead a plea of not guilty was entered by the court. State Treasurer Hambitzer and Land Commissioner Berry were arraigned on indictments for felony in making a false public record, conspiracy and willful neglect of duty. Ex-Clerks Potter and Warren answered to indictments charging the making of a false public record and corspiracy, and Seargeant-at-Arms Bussey to a charge of conspiracy.

Ellis, for forging, $5,000; Ellis and May, for destroying the Wayne county records, $1,000; Potter and Warren, for making a false public record, $2,000; each of the persons charged with conspiracy, $1,000. Jochim Hambitzer and Berry, for making a false public record $5,000; Jochim, Hambitzer and Berry, willful neglect,

Bail was fixed as follows:

Ellis' bonds were signed by George W. Webber, A. F. Kelsey, Frank A. Session and Josiah E. Just, of Ionia; S. W. Webber, of Lyons, and N. B. Hayes and Channey J. Rumsey as sureties. Treasurer Hambitzer's bonds were signed by Mayor A. O. Bement and James B. Judson, of Lansing. Commissioner Berry's sureties in the same sum are James D. Berry, his son, Alexander Cameron, Wyatt B. Brown and A. M. Dobbelaire, of Lansing, and Henry L. Henderson, of Mason. Potter gave two bonds, with Lester Hudsen and Alexander Blair, of Lansing, as sureties. Warren's sureties are his father, W. G. Warren, and Horace Wilcox, of Charlotte. James B. Judson and Washington G. Wiley, of Lansing, signed the bond required of Bussey.

All of the defendants announce their intention of making a vigorous defense and have counsel of more than ordinary ability retained.

Another life sized sensation has developed in connected with the official actions of Secretary of State Joachim, Treasurer Hambitzer and Land Conmissioner Berry. An examination of the books of the board of state auditors, of which they are the members, shows that they have been making illegal charges and allowing their own bills therefor ever since they were inducted into office.

NORMAN L. MUNRO DEAD.

The Well-Known New York Publisher Dies from the Effects of an Operation.

NEW YORK, Peb. 21.-Norman L. Munro, well known to the American public as a publisher and yachtsman, died at 6:20 o'clock Saturday evening in his apartments in the Hoffman house from the effects of an operation performed on him Friday for the removal of the veriform appendix.

[Mr. Muhro was born in 1844 at Mill Brook, Pictou county, N. S. His father was a farmer and he was brought up on the farm. He left the farm when he was 25 years old and came to this city, & He got work in a publishing house and set himself steadily at the business of mastering the details and of saying money to make a start with. The first number, of the New York Family Story Paper went to press on black Friday in September, 1873. He erected the Munro building in Vandewater street in 1883 and extended the number of his publications and printed 'Monro's Library' and Munro's Pocket Magazine About seven years ago he bought the Mary Anderson place on Cedar avenue, Long Branch, and about the same time he became interested in the production of fast/ steam yachts. Mr. Munro's fortune is estimated at from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. Within a year he refused an offer of $1,500,000 for his publications and publishing house | }

AN AUBURN MIRACLE.

An Act of Heroism Is Followed by Dire Results.

Edward Donnelly Saves a Life Almost at the Cost of His Own-After Years of Suffering He Is Restored to Health -His Story as Told to a Reporter of the Auburn Bulletin.

[Auburn, N. Y., Bulletin.]

It is on record that upon a chilly April day, a few years ago, an eight-year-old boy fell into the East river at the foot of East. Eighth street, New York, and when all efforts to rescue him had failed, Edward Don nelly, at risk of his own life, plunged into the water and, when himself nearly ex-hausted, saved the boy from drowning. It was a humane and self-sacrificing deed, and received deserved commendation in all the newspapers.

There is a sequel to this accident, however, which thus far has not been published. It is to the effect that Donnelly was paralyzed as a result of the cold plunge and came near dying. Auburn people have known the family since his wife was Amanda Grantman and his sister Mrs. S. D. Corry, of 21 Moravia street. Donnelly himself describes the rescue and the result:

"I was general foreman of the F. A. Mul grew Saw Mills, foot of Eighth street, N. Y. on the East river. It was on the 20th o April 1889, that the boy fell into the rive and I rescued him from drowning. At tha time I was in the water so long that I wa taken with a deathly chill, and soon became so stiffened up and weak that I could neithe work nor walk. For some time I was un der treatment of Dr. George McDonald, wh said I had Locomotor Ataxia. He finally gave me up, and on the 1st of June, 1892, my wife and I came up to Abburn.

"When the disease first came upon me the numbness began in my heels, and sooi the whole of both my feet became affected There was a cold feeling across the small o my back and downwards, and a sense of soreness and a tight pressure on the thest The numbness gradually extended up both legs and into the lower part of my body. felt that death was creeping up to my vitals I was still taking the medicine (It was Iodide of Potassium, said his wife, and was being rubbed at having plasters purall over my body, but with no benefit.

"I sent to the Chas. H. Sagar Company

the popular Auburn druggists and chemists. at 100 and 111 Genesee street, and got three boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began taking them. In three weeks time I was so improved that from being helpless, I was able to help myself and to get up and go to work, and to walk every day from No. 74 Walnut street, where I then lived, to Os born's New Twine Factory, Seymour and Cottage streets—more than a mile—where I was been employed, but all the while I was taking Pins Pills.

"Then Dr. Patchen, of Wisconsin, uncle of my wife, and who was here on a visit, began to poo-heo at me, for taking Pink Pills, and finally persuaded me to stop taking their and let him treat me. When he re-turned to the West he left a prescription with Dr. Hyatt, of Auburn, who also treated me. But their treatment did me no good, and after a while the old trouble returned and I was getting bad again. Then I began to take Pink Pills; have taken them ever since, am taking them now; have taken in all $10.00 (my other treatment cost me a pile of money, and again I am well and able to work.

"If I was able, I would at my own expense, publish the virtues of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the whole world and especially in New York City, where I am much better known than I am here

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People without doubt mark the beginning of a more healthfullera. They were first compounded by an emment practitioner, and used as a prescription for many years in general practice with a most incredible success. They are now given to the public as an unfailing bleed builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves, two fruitful dauses of almost every ill that flesh is heir to. These pills are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, all forms of weakness, chronics constipation, bearing down pains, etc., and in the case of men will give speedy rehef and effect a permanent cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sentipost paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., or Brockville, Ontario.

At Her Loom. While the watercresses slumber. While the birds are few in number, Spring is busy at her loom, Weaving for the time of bloom: For the trees, a bright green awning, For the time of vernal dawning; With a warp of living green, With a weft of flowery sheen, Bright the wreaths to deck her pillow-Hanging from the oak and willow-Soon her robes of living green In their beauty will be seen.
