TWO WEDDINGS IN ONE DAY.

TWO OF BARRINGTON'S FAIREST MAIDS CHANGE NAMES.

Bauman-Gieske.

One of the most prominent social events of the season was the marriage of Miss Bernadina Bauman to Samuel Gieske, at 2 o'clock Wednesday, Aug. 14, 1895, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. L. Bauman, near Barrington. Rev. Theo. Suhr, of the Salem Evangelical church, officiating. Miss Ida Gieske, the handsome sister of the groom, acting as bridesmaid, with Edward Bauman, brother of the bride, as best man. The charming bride was arrayed in an elegant pale blue costume; the bridesmaid appeared in a beautiful gown of cream, while the groom and best man were attired in conventional black. After the knot was tied the customary congratulations were showered upon the happy couple by their relatives and friends to the number of nearly 200.

Congratulations over, the guests were invited to the tastefully arranged banquet tables, which fairly groaned under their loads of substantial and dainty edibles to which ample justice was done. Frank Gieske, a brother of the groom, acted as toastmaster.

After their epicurian tastes had been satisfied the guests arose from their seats and repaired to the spacious lawns, where the elder members related experiences of the past and discussed the future of the newly-wedded pair, while the younger ones filled the balmy summer air with their happy laughter as they engaged in croquet and the many other out-door games, which even the most cynical among us must admit helped to drive our cares away, when we, too, were young.

After indulging in conversations and pastimes to their heart's content, the now hungry guests were once more summoned to the festive board where, as before, they enjoyed the good things so hospitably provided for them.

In the evening each Romeo, accompanied by his smiling Juliet, strolled through the brilliantly lighted orchards, or hid himself far away from the "madding crowd," to wander in some lovers' lane, lighted up only by Luna's pale rays and the star-decked canopy above, where sweet strains of melodies were wafted to their listening ears upon the balmy summer air.

The guests were favored with the choicest selections in the repertoire of the Barrington Military Band, while the choir of the Salem church added much to the festive occasion. In the wee sma' hours the last fond farewells were spoken and the guests retired, wishing the happy couple future joy and prosperity—thus ended one of the most enjoyable events of the season.

Among the many beautiful and costly presents were the following:

GONE TO THEIR REST.

Fred Thies, Jr.

On Wednesday, Aug. 7th, Fred Thies, Jr., after a long and painful illness, breathed his last at the home of his father at Plum Grove.

Fred was born just a little over twenty-six years ago, on a farm at Plum Grove, his age at the time of his death being 26 years 3 months and 7 days. He was a universal favorite among his large acquaintance.

On last February he was taken sick with dropsy, from the effects of which he never recovered. He bore his affliction with a resignation that marks heroes.

He leaves a father, brother and four sisters and a large circle of friends to mourn the loss of a dutiful son, kind brother and a true and faithful friend. His funeral was held at the Plum Grove church last Saturday, and was attended by a large number of sorrowing relatives and sympathetic friends.

Rev. Mr. Suhr, of the Salem church of this place, conducted the funeral services, and the singing was by the choir of Rev. Suhr's church.

Among the Barrington friends who attended the funeral were:

Rev. Meier, J. C. Plagge, L. Taske, Sam Landwer, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Schroeder, Amanda Schroeder, Dennis Schroeder, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. B. H. Landwer, F. H. Frye, Misses Mary and Laura Frye, Mrs. Louisa Plagge, Mrs. Stenger, Mr. and Mrs. Hachmeister, Mr. and Mrs. Tegtmeier, A. W. Landwer, Miss Emma Kampert, F. H. Landwer and family.

Infant Daughter of Prof. J. I. Sears Dead.

The infant daughter of Prof. J. I. Sears, Bernice Mae Sears, of Cary, Ill., was buried last Wednesday by the side of its lately deceased mother. Mrs. J. I. Sears passed away leaving her newborn babe in the hands of loving friends and kind relatives, but this world was not the place for so tender a flower, and after five weeks of life here the darling child "passed through the portals to join its angel mother.

Rev. T. E. Ream was called to take charge of the funeral services.

Mrs. Emma Hardman Dead.

The burial services of Mrs. Emma Hardman (known also in Barrington as Emma Powers), took place Sunday afternoon in our village cemetery at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Hardman was brought to a hospital in Chicago from the West, but received no relief. She has some distant relatives here. Rev. Ream officiated at the grave.

MILK NOT LIKELY TO BE DEARER.

Dealers Say With an Ample Supply There Is No Danger.

There is little or no likelihood that the milk dealers of Chicago will follow the example of their brethren of New York and Cincinnati and raise the price of the nutritious product of the cow. The daily supply does not warrant an advance in cost to the consumer, and no close-knit organization exists, nor is likely to be formed among the dealers.

"There are in the neighborhood of 500 retailers of milk," said a representative of one of the largest dairies in the city yesterday, "and each is working strictly for himself, getting his supply as best he can and selling it at as good a price as he can get. The prices are regulated by competition and natural profits. There is no scarcity of the product. A month or six weeks ago we were a little pinched to supply our customers, but even then there was no talk of advancing the price. Now, when every dealer can get all he wants there is no warrant for a raise, or even talk of a raise.

"The scale just now is 6 1/2 cents a quart for milk and 25 cents a quart for cream in bulk. The three big dairies which deliver their milk in bottles get 7 cents a quart for it.

"The conditions which seem to have warranted the advance in price in New York and Cincinnati do not obtain here."—Times.

DAIRY AND POULTRY.

INTERESTING CHAPTERS FOR OUR RURAL READERS.

How Successful Farmers Operate The Department of the Farm—A Few Hints as to the Care of Live Stock and Poultry.

ety of waterfowl kept. The same is true to a more limited extent in some parts of Southern Ireland. When in conversation with farmers and farmers' wives, more especially in Cumberland, I learnt that they pin their faith strongly to the Indian Runner, declaring this to be the most profitable duck known. This is due to the fact that the production of eggs is their chief object, table qualities being a secondary consideration. A few particulars with regard to this variety will be of interest.

Up to the present time information with regard to the origin of the Indian Runner has been very scant, and even now we cannot point to any definite particulars respecting them, nor whether they are bred in any foreign country. In a small brochure issued by Mr. J. Donald of Wigton, Cumberland, it is stated that about fifty years ago a drake and three ducks were brought from India to Whitehaven by a sea captain, but as the term India, even today, and to a greater extent fifty years ago, may mean any place east of the Cape of Good Hope, this does not help us as to the definite port of shipment or purchase. I am not without hope that this article may lead some readers in Asia to make inquiries on the subject. Mr. Donald states that the same captain brought over a further consignment a few years later, but that "they were not known to their introducer by any special or distinctive name, having simply attracted his attention when ashore by their active habits and peculiar penguin carriage."

The first specimens brought over, and, we believe, the second also, were presented to some friends in West Cumberland, in whose hands they remained absolutely for many years. But, with that desire for sharing in a good thing which is characteristic of the Cumbrians, a large demand rapidly sprung up for stock, and thus they have disseminated themselves through that and the adjoining county. The name given to them is, first, because they are supposed to have come from India, and second, that they have a "running" gait; hence we have reached the combination "Indian Runners."

A breeder of this variety says that he considers Indian Runners the best paying variety of duck to keep, except when reared absolutely and entirely for the table. For that purpose they are undoubtedly small, 3 to 4 lbs. each when fully grown. Whilst they do not readily fatten, they are very nice eating, and the flesh more resembles the flavor of wild duck, but is much softer and more easily eaten. At ten or twelve weeks old the Indian Runner is as tender as a young chicken. The flesh is creamy-colored, the neck and shoulders are white, and the rest of the body much darker, the dividing line being very clear and distinct.

As already mentioned, it is as a laying duck that the Indian Runner excels, and is said to average 120 to 130 eggs per annum, without any special feeding, but simply when given hard corn morning and night. When worms are easily found they require very little food other than this. The eggs are of fair size, white in shell, of good flavor, and not nearly so strong as is usually the case with duck eggs. Mr. Gillett informs me that he has ten Runner ducks which have laid 746 eggs from January 1st to May 30th of the present year, which, considering the severe frosts which prevailed during the first three months, is a remarkable result. The highest average was sixty-one eggs from ten ducks in one week. As a rule, if properly grown, these ducks commence laying when about five months old, and if they are hatched in May and June will begin to lay before the severe weather arrives, and continue egg production right throughout the winter. Early-hatched ducks are liable to moult in the autumn, and this means fewer eggs in the colder months. Ducks hatched the first week in March have been known to commence the first week in August, and it is more desirable to bring them out so that they will begin in November. Five ducks can be run with one drake, and the eggs are remarkably fertile. Indian Runners are non-sitters, but, as in most other breeds in which the maternal instinct is suspended, exceptions are found to this rule, but cannot be relied on for sitting purposes.

In appearance the Runner is lengthy and slightly built, with close, compact plumage. The fore part of body is elevated, and the head carried high. This type is found to be the best layers.

The following is a description of the characteristics of the Indian Runner: Beak: Bright orange in color, with a triangular tip of jet black, but as age advances the orange color becomes spotted with olive green, and finally assumes a dark olive green color, especially in ducks, the drake retaining the orange much longer.

Head: Of the drake, above the eye, a very dark brown, with a slight patch below the eye on each side, these markings being neatly rounded off behind.

Neck: Pure white down to near the shoulders, which, with the breast, is of a beautiful grayish-brown. Under parts black, and wings pure white. Tail: Brown, with curled feathers white, and for about two inches above the tail the feathers are a very rich dark brown.

Legs: Orange color. The duck has similar markings to the drake, except that the colored parts are a sober brown, like a very light Rouen duck.

In summer the drake, as is the case with Rouens, assumes a color like that of the duck on back, shoulders and chest, but is not quite so light in color. The head also becomes of a more dowdy color, without that brilliant luster which characterizes the winter plumage. He also loses the curled feathers in his tail, which are not replaced until after the autumn moult.—Edward Brown, in London Live Stock Journal.

How Butter Becomes Rancid.

Butter stored in a warm room or exposed to sunlight may become rancid from noxious bacteria without becoming sour from either bacteria or from direct chemical change, according to V. Kleckl, of Leipsic, Germany. The acidity of butter increases regularly with its age, and by the action of sunlight and heat this goes on more slowly than under the usual conditions. Heat diminishes the activity of the acid microbes, and they may be killed by direct sunlight, hence the degree of rancidity of butter cannot be estimated directly from its acidity. Oxidation plays an inferior part in rendering butter acid, the sourness being principally due to the action of bacteria, which are chiefly anaerobic, getting their oxygen by chemically decomposing the butter and hence they can live without air or light. Temperatures of freezing and of body heat retard the production of acid. The addition of four per cent of poisonous fluoride of potassium to test tubes of butter entirely prevents the action of acid-forming bacteria, and the butter retains its aroma taste and consistency, but the fluorides cannot be used as preservatives because of their poisonous properties. The bacteria die after they have produced a certain quantity of acids in the butter. Hence, the acid number eventually reaches a maximum beyond which it does not increase. This maximum corresponds to a rancidity of about 18 degrees. No acid is produced in butter by light with the exclusion of air, nor by pure air with the exclusion of light, but bacteria may produce acid in this butter, hence the great importance of antiseptics in keeping butter, as has long been known in practice, and followed through the use of common salt, which hinders the action of the bacteria. A freezing temperature and partial darkness have about the same effect in diminishing the production of acid as has salt on butter exposed to light. The proportion of casein in the butter has little effect on the acidity, and indirect sunlight does but little harm. Under ordinary conditions the acidity of butter is chiefly due to bacteria and not to direct oxidation of butter fat. Nevertheless, butter should be kept away from direct sunlight and warm temperatures, though these factors may retard the acidity of the butter, but because they also induce putrefactive changes which bring about rancidity.

Skill in Dairying.

In producing a pound of butter there are sixty-six times more room for skill than in the production of one pound of potatoes. Dairying offers a man the best chance for putting his skill into money. The object of the butter-maker is to get the fat out of the milk with as little of the other constituents in the milk as possible. In every 100 pounds of butter there should be about 13 pounds of water, 82 pounds of butter fat, 3 pounds of salt and 2 pounds of the other constituents in the milk. A cow is not a machine, but a living organism, and therefore will not give a different product because she takes different food. The feed does not affect the blood of a cow, from which milk is largely formed. Feed will affect the quality of the milk sometimes by changing the composition of the fat itself. If the quantity of fat is not affected the volatile fats from the feed will become part of the fat in milk, and give its peculiar flavor to the milk. These volatile flavors can be expelled by heating milk or cream to 150 degrees. The ease with which cream may be separated from the milk sometimes depends upon the kind of food a cow takes. Cows for making butter should be handled under such conditions as will give them perfect repose. Cleanliness should be strictly observed. Impure air of the stable will affect the milk, and ensilage will not injure the milk when fed to cows. When cows have been milking a long period or have been over-heated, or without salt, the milk will become sticky, and prevent a complete separation of the cream. By having some fresh-calved cows' milk to mix with the milk of cows that have been milking a long time, a better quality of butter can be made. Keep the cream sweet and cold, and use a suitable fermentation starter, and you will get a quality of butter in January as good as the quality of June butter. If cream is properly tempered, a temperature of from 54 to 58 will be suitable for churning and 45 minutes will be long enough to get butter.—Professor Robertson, Ontario.

Whence the Quality?

Quality of milk is unquestionably bred into a cow, and not fed in. My own convictions in regard to these points which you raise are as follows: 1. The percentage of fat in a cow's milk is not materially influenced by the selection of foods, provided she is fed a generous and well-balanced ration. 2. In a large amount of feeding of milk cows which this station has done during the last five years, we have observed that changes in food have produced changes in the amount of milk rather than in its character. Generally speaking, an increase of the total amount of fat produced has been accompanied by a corresponding increase in the other solids, as well as in the volume of milk. A milking cow belonging to certain breeds that produce thin milk cannot have Jersey quality fed into her milk any more than one can feed brains into a Digger Indian. That quality must come into an animal of those breeds—if it comes at all—through a process of selection and persistent good feeding, and will be attained only after several generations, perhaps not then.—Maine Expt. Sta.

Thayer Berry Balletta.

For August.

A berry plant in yielding its fruit, maturing its seed and producing new growth, is much exhausted. In fact, the life of each bud, stem and cane, is given in this effort.

The maturity of fruit buds on new canes comes after this exhausting work, and unless good care is continued to develop and perfect the same, the succeeding crop is greatly impaired.

The natural moisture, too, is much less at this season, and must be retained in the soil by frequent shallow cultivation.

The strong canes must be stimulated by removal of the weak ones, and all surplus growth cut away.

Remember, the care given fruit plants this season practically determines the product next, both in quality and quantity.

Never allow your interest in the fruit garden to lessen because the fruit is gone.

Never neglect that spot from which you should receive more, for the labor performed, than any other portion of the farm.

A fruit plant is as sensitive to good care as stock on the farm or members of the household, and should be treated as well.

Strawberry beds for the family should be made as early as new plants from new beds can be obtained. Prepare for them now.

Extra care is necessary for August setting.

The good nurseryman will take extra care in digging and shipping plants, packing so they will not heat or roots become dry.

When received, dip roots in a thick compost of dirt and manure water—not too strong—and set at once.

Be particular to have moist dirt firmly pressed about the roots.

Rake or hoe around plants often. As buds appear on new runners, cover them lightly with moist dirt—thus producing new plants.

Continue this process until row is well filled, and you may expect a nice lot of strawberries next season.

August setting is not recommended for large acreage or careless growers.

Coal Oil for Gapes.

Gapes are caused by a collection of small threadlike worms in the windpipe of the chicken. To kill these worms and not hurt the chicken is the thing to do. Coal oil of the cheaper grades, says Dr. M. G. Ellzey in the Baltimore Sun, is a more effectual insecticide than the refined. Take a small glass tube with a small rubber bulb, which apothecaries sell for a "medicine dropper," half fill it with coal oil, and inserting the tip into the windpipe discharge the oil. The gapes are cured. A small oil can used for sewing machines will do in place of the medicine dropper. Operate as follows: Place the chicken, back down, between your knees, and hold him gently; open his bill and draw the tongue out. Seize the lower mandible and tongue thus drawn out between the forefinger and thumb of the left hand. This will bring into view the opening into the windpipe at the base of the tongue, into which gently insert the tube and discharge the oil. Close the bill and hold the head still for a few seconds. Then let the chicken go, and he will cough, spattering some of the oil out, but enough remains to destroy the worms, and they will be coughed up and swallowed. The gapes continue for a short time after the treatment, but the remedy will be effectual in every case if properly applied, and it may readily be repeated, if thought worth while, as often as necessary. After a little practice it is very easily applied, and always succeeds.

Budding.—We have tried both budding and collar grafting our standard northern varieties of plum on both the native plum and the sand cherry. We find budding much the most satisfactory and think we shall prefer the sand cherry to the native plum. The bud takes as readily, starts as easily, makes a stronger growth, and is much less likely to split from the stock. The use of the Mariana, Myrobalan or other foreign stocks for northern planting should be stopped immediately, as it is injuring the reputation of our grand varieties. Our nurseries will serve their customers and their own reputation far better by selling no plums at all, than by sending out such a worthless and disappointing article.—Clarence Wedge.

Carrots as Feed.—Carrots are highly relished by horses. A few carrots, fed raw, after being sliced, will prove a delicacy to cows, and fed once a day they will promote the appetite and keep the animals in good condition when other foods may not be acceptable. Carrots are used by some dairymen as regular food for cows, in order to give a deeper color to the butter, and are highly esteemed by them for that purpose. Cooked and thickened with bran they make an excellent mess when fed warm on a cold day.

A good dip when properly used is the best recourse of a shepherd whose flocks are infested with ticks.

If sheep are kept in good flesh they are not as liable to become infested with ticks as those allowed to run down.

PHILADELPHIA FIRE.

Box Factory and Dwellings Burned with Heavy Loss of Property.

Philadelphia, Aug. 13.—A fire, which did damage amounting to between $350,000 and $400,000 started yesterday in the five-story building occupied by Brown & Bailey as a paper-box manufactory and before the flames had been got under control the big gas-fixture establishment of Buck & Co., adjoining and a dozen dwellings were laid in ashes.

The fire originated on the first floor of the building occupied by Brown & Bailey, at 412 Franklin street, at 8:30 o'clock, but it was nearly 9 o'clock before an engine had responded to the alarm. The delay proved disastrous, as the inflammable matter in the box factory was a mass of flames before the firemen arrived. They turned their attention to saving the adjoining buildings, but the supply of water was inadequate and it looked for a time as if the whole block bounded by Franklin, Eighth, Willow, and Callowhill streets would be swept away. The firemen worked heroically until 11:45, when the fire was got under control.

The principal losers are Brown & Bailey and Buck & Co. The former's loss will reach $150,000, with an insurance of $100,000; Buck & Co.'s loss is between $100,000 and $125,000, with an insurance of between $75,000 and $80,000. Yeager & Bro., coal dealers, place their loss at about $20,000, while the loss on the burned dwellings will reach in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Several firemen were injured, but none fatally.

SENATOR HOAR ON THE A. P. A.

Thinks the Movement Calculated to Sift and Antagonize Catholics.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 13.—Senator Hoar has written an open letter upon the A. P. A. to Thomas C. Evans of Boston in response to a letter from the latter expressing surprise at statements made by the senator in a speech that it (the A. P. A. movement) is an attempt to recall, on one side, the cruelties of the Catholic church and to frighten old women of both sexes; and on the other side, to band the men of the Catholic church together for political action. Senator Hoar writes in part as follows:

"The difference between you and me is a difference of method. I want to get 700,000 Catholics in Massachusetts on our side. I want them to send their children to the public schools, to pay their share of the cost, and when their young men and young women are suitable, are intelligent, liberal persons, attached to the school system, I want some of them to be employed as teachers. I don't wish to exclude them from my political support, when they are republicans and agree with me in other matters, because of their religious faith. I think your method would overthrow the common school system, would overthrow the republican party, and would end by massing together all the Catholic voters, as proscription always does mass men together, to increase and strengthen that political power which you profess so much to dread."

SILVER MEN TO MEET.

The Washington Conference Will Be of National Importance.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Senator Harris of Tennessee, who, with Senator Turpie of Indiana and Senator Jones of Arkansas, was appointed a committee at the Memphis free-silver convention in charge of the conference which will be held here on the 14th and 15th inst., is in the city making preparations for the gathering of the free-silverites. Senator Harris predicts that thirty states will be represented. The gathering is not intended to be important by reason of the large number of delegates, but Senator Harris claims that its results will be far-reaching and will have a strong influence upon legislation and future political conventions. He is reluctant to discuss important features of the conference of the meeting, which he expects to adopt resolutions in favor of the free and unrestricted coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 and appoint committees to advance in every legitimate way the interest of the white metal.

NOT TO HANG BEFORE SPRING.

Taylor Allowed an Appeal—A Convict Declares Them Innocent.

Carrollton, Mo., Aug. 13.—Sheriff Stanley has received a letter from Albert B. Wilson, a convict, in which he declares that the Taylor brothers, just convicted of butchering the Meeks family, are not the murderers, but that the real murderers forced him to give them clothes to replace their bloody ones and then disappeared. His story is not believed. The convicted men, who were once among the wealthiest in the county, have presented affidavits that they are without the means to pay for the copying of their appeal, and it will be done at the expense of the state. Judge Rucker has granted a stay of execution pending the appeal, and the Taylors cannot now be hanged before next spring.

THE GOLD RESERVE.

$1,650,000 Is Withdrawn Monday for Shipment to Europe.

Washington, Aug. 13.—The treasury yesterday lost $1,650,000 in gold export to Europe, leaving the reserve only about $1,300,000 above the $100,000,000 point. The telegram which announced the withdrawal reached the department just as it was closing at 4 o'clock, and gave no further information as to the name of the exporter, or of the exact destination of the shipment. Mr. Curtis, the acting secretary, said he had nothing to say in regard to the matter. He had no specific information, and could not say whether the syndicate would allow the $100,000,000 to be encroached upon or not. None of the other officials would talk in the absence of Secretary Carlisle.

A Coon's Memory.

A coon may not be a very communicative animal, but his receptive and retaining faculties are excellent. At one of the Grand Island, Niagara River, resorts, a young representative of the species occupies a limb of a tree before the hotel. One day early in the spring, while the ice was going down the river in cakes an acre wide, a youth untied the coon and threw him into the cold water. The coon swam to the shore, but since that time his tormentor has not approached him without a fight. The coon snarls and bites and grits his teeth, and in other characteristic ways gives vent to the feeling that is within him. Occasionally, when very hungry, he will eat from a dish held near to his perch by his enemy, but when his hunger has been appeased one of his long hands is sure to start at lightning pace for the fingers of the man holding the bowl of bread and milk.

WINTER WHEAT, 80 BUSHELS PER ACRE!

Did you ever hear of that? Well there are thousands of farmers who think they will reach this yield with Salzer's new hardy Red Cross Wheat. Rye 60 bushels per acre! Crimson Clover at $3.60 per bushel. Lots and lots of grass and clover for fall seeding. Cut this out and send to John A. Salzer Seed co., La Crosse, Wis., for fall catalogue and sample of above wheat free. (W.N.U.)

Sound and Distance.

The roar of the lion can be heard farther than the sound of any other living creature. Next comes the cry of the hyena and then the hoot of the owl. After these the panther and the jackal. The donkey can be heard fifty times farther than the horse, and the cat ten times as far as the dog. Strange as it may seem, the cry of the hare can be heard farther than that of either the dog or cat.

Choice of Routes.

The Grand Canyon

Of the Yellowstone is 1,200 feet deep. It has been excavated out of hard volcanic rock. You can imagine how many million years it has taken to do this. It is a wonderful combination in form and color. You ought to see it—probably you intend to go sometime. Better go this year. Rates are low. Send six cents to Chas. S. Fee, General Passenger Agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad, St. Paul, Minn., for a tourist book of the park.

The Indian manufactures were confined to the making of canoes, the building of lodges, the weaving of baskets and coarse fabrics, and the making of rude weapons and images.

THE KINDLY LIGHT.

RELIGION AND REFORM THE WORLD OVER.

The Night of Life Has Blessings True—
Return to the Puritan Sabbath—Sermons from Bible Texts—Notes from the Ram's Horn.

HE evening heavens drooped on high;
My heart was drooping too;
I saw no stars; saw but the sky
Deep-dyed an ebon hue.
My heart revived;
again aloft
I turned my glance, and there
A thousand stars shone clear and bright
And this message to me bore:

The night of life has blessings true
Whose beauties ne'er are seen,
While men note not the stars, but view
The darkness in between.

The Puritan Sabbath.

The Rev. W. C. Prince in a book entitled "Among the Northern Hills" rightly urges a return to the strict puritan methods of Sabbath keeping. He says:

"They greatly mistake who imagine that in the minds and memories of all children who were brought up in the old-fashioned puritan ways of 'keeping' Sunday there is any pain or dislike to the day, produced by the rigidity with which we were made to keep it. But its memories are more deeply and more tenderly cherished by those children, now grown to be old men and women, than any memories of the other days. One day in seven the boy lived more or less in company not of this world. He thought it hard sometimes—often.

"But today, after fifty years in the work of the world, I challenge him, whoever he be, to answer you what part of his young life and young reading is most precious to him—what, if he must forget, would he desire now to retain longest? He will tell you that his memories of old Sundays at home, of Sunday mornings and Sunday evenings, of the church and its people, of family scenes, and books read with brothers and friends on Sundays are his most constant, most enduring, and most beloved subjects of memory.

"I do not take any stock in the common saying of this day that the puritan Sunday was injurious to the character of the children, because they so gladly escaped from its bonds into freedom that they went to the other extreme. I believe if you could poll the honest vote today of the sons of old Presbyterian, Episcopalian, Congregational and other families, in which they kept Sunday in the most rigid puritan style, and who are now keeping it in the free-and-easy style of our time, they would be well nigh unanimous in saying that they would prefer to have their children taught to keep Sunday as they used to keep it, rather than brought up as now, practically without any severance between the life of the first day and the life of the other six."

Give Us Our Daily Bread.
(Give us this day our daily bread.—Matt. 6:11.)

Not bread for to-morrow, or next month, or next year, but bread for today. Our heavenly Father wants us to come to him every day, and get our bread from his hand fresh. He wants to have us talk to him daily about the things we need, as we like to have our children do with us. It is trying to get our bread too far in advance, without regard to God, that keeps the world full of sin and trouble. The man who robs a bank wouldn't do it, if he looked to God daily for his support. The saloon keeper and the gambler, the forger and the harlot, turn their faces toward the pit because they do not look to God for their daily bread. The man who asks God for his bread, will also ask his blessing upon the means by which he is to obtain it, and an honest prayer in the morning will be sure to end in an honest day's work. If we pray right we shall be sure to do right. Another thing: When we make a true prayer for our own bread, we ask God to feed the world, and that makes it impossible to take a loaf from another that does not belong to us. To pray this prayer with the heart will make us brotherly, diligent, prudent, economical and thoughtful. It will make us active in both hand and mind, compassionate toward the poor, and willing to make sacrifices for the good of others. No loafer or dishonest man can offer this petition.

Help Your Pastor.

"A minister who is worthy of the name can stand an empty purse better than an empty pew or an empty prayer meeting. It is a disgrace that failure to pay an honest salary should straiten a pastor's purse; but the spiritual emptiness afflicts his heart the most keenly. Perhaps your pastor is wondering what has become of you on the evenings of devotional meetings. The better man or woman you are the more you are missed; the worse you are the more need to go. It may be that your pastor is disheartened by the emptiness of your pew on the Sabbath. He has carefully prepared a discourse for your benefit; you have lost it; both he and you suffer from that absence. For one, I am ready to confess that I never made any converts to the truth in an empty pew, and never have delivered a sermon loud enough to awaken a parishioner who was dozing at home, or strolled off to some other church. If a good reason keeps you at home, try to send a substitute; invite some friend who seldom hears the gospel, to go and occupy your seat; your minister gets a hearer, and the hearer may get what will save his soul. Church members sometimes complain that their minister does not 'draw' a larger congregation; yet they do nothing to draw outsiders to the house of God by a cordial invitation to come. Help your pastor to fill the house."—Rev. Theo. L. Cuyler.

How to Read.

Mr. Hamilton W. Mable in a recent article in The Bookman on "Books and Culture," thinks the majority of people have not learned how to read. They read for information or for refreshment, when they should read for enrichment. He says: "What is essential to culture is a deeper knowledge obtained by appropriating the best thoughts of others so that they become a part of ourselves. This knowledge is not merely something added by the memory; it is something possessed by the soul. A pedant is formed by his memory; a man of culture is formed by the habit of meditation, and by the constant use of the imagination. A man of receptive mind and heart meditating on what he sees, and getting at its meaning by the divining rod of the imagination, discovers the law behind the phenomena, the truth behind the fact, the vital force which flows through all things and gives them their significance. The first man gains information; the second gains culture."

"To get at the heart of books, we must live with them and in them; we must make them our constant companions. . . . The reading of a real book ought to enlarge the vision, deepen the base of conviction, and add to the reader whatever knowledge, insight, beauty and power it contains. . . . Some readers see only a flat surface as they read; others find the book a door into a real world, and forget that they are dealing with a book. The real readers get beyond the book into the life which it describes."

We Must Be Born from Above.
(Be partakers of the divine nature.—2 Peter 1:4.)

But how does the fallen man receive the divine nature? What must he do to be born of God? How can he have such a change effected in his nature that he will keep the law because he loves the Lawmaker? It comes through giving up sin and receiving Jesus Christ. "As many as received him (not an admiration for his life, or character; or somebody else's opinion of him, but him—for all that the soul needs, and all that the Bible says he is—Prophet, Priest and King) to them gave he power (privilege, right) to become the sons of God, even to them that believe (present tense—not in a past age, but now) on his name." And this is the only process by which any one ever has, or ever will be born again. "For there is none other name under heaven (no other way) given among men whereby we must (can) be saved." "He that believeth not is condemned already (not because he has been committing sin all his life, but) because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God." Keep this thought always in mind, that the thing which makes people unfit for heaven, is to reject the Spirit of God which was brought into this world by Jesus Christ and this is done every hour that we reject his divine government. God blames no sinner for doing sinful things, but he condemns him for retaining a sinful nature when it is so easy to be delivered from it.

Echoes from Other Anvils.

Epworth Herald: The fashionable dancing school is as good a kindergarten as the devil cares about.

Reformed Church Messenger: A wise and holy rule for our neighbor's faults this: To speak of them to God and forget them before men.

Cumberland Presbyterian: The chief danger to the cause of Christianity is not the attacks of its enemies, but the unfaithfulness and inconsistencies of its friends.

The Voice: The railroads continue to prohibit employees from drinking, but congressmen and state legislators may freely imbibe. Is running a railroad train more important than running a state?

Religious Telescope: Paying only fifty cents a year to aid the cause of missions by a rich man does not go a great way in the direction of convincing his neighbors that he is sincere when he says, "Thy kingdom come."

Religious Herald: Enjoyment of God's word is proportional to our understanding of it. The Bible is not a book to be worshipped simply as an idol. It is not a charm or talisman. It is a message direct from our Heavenly Father, expressing his will concerning us and his love toward us, and we come to know and love him, apprehend all his thoughts toward us, only by giving a clear knowledge of this heaven-sent message. Then let us study it, delve into its apparent mysteries and we shall "grow thereby."

The Walk to Emmaus.

Jesus can sometimes tell us more in an hour of sadness than in one of joy. If we would know what God told Daniel we must not be afraid of lions.

When we tell Jesus what we know, he will tell us what we ought to know.

Christians get along faster when they travel in pairs.

To fill the church with joy today, it is only necessary to show what the Bible says of Christ.

Jesus walks with everyone who is sad on his account.

The man who is interested in Christ will not long find the Bible a sealed book.

When we open the Bible anywhere, we should pray that we may see the face of Christ.

He told them things they were glad to tell to others. The man who carries God's message has wings on his feet.

Jesus knew they were sad, but he also knew there was no reason for their being so.

Enoch walked with God three hundred years, and yet he walked into the next world without telling us a thing God said.

The disciples walked with Christ a few miles, and made us rich by what they have handed down.

Let two Christians walk together anywhere, and they will be sure to have the company of Christ.

What It Means to Live.

To a miser, it means to first get a barrel of money, and then have famine come.

To a society girl, it means dresses, parties and a round of selfish pleasure.

To the poet, to be in another world that touches this.

To the scholar, it means to feed forever upon facts.

To the criminal, to have his own way and yet keep out of prison.

To an artist, to give to others the beautiful forms that have been given to him.

To the worldling, everything that can be put into the present moment.

To the Christian, what he can know better than he knows aught else, and yet cannot tell with a tongue of flesh.

To Christ, it meant to suffer and die to save a lost world.

Reader, what does it mean to you? Write out your definition, and then sit down and look yourself in the face.

Charity of Speech.

Charity of speech is as divine a thing as charity of action. To judge no one harshly, to misconceive no man's motives, to believe things as they seem to be until they are proved otherwise, to temper judgment with mercy—surely, this is quite as good as to build up churches, establish asylums and found colleges. Unkind words do as much harm as unkind deeds. Many a heart has been wounded beyond cure, many a reputation has been stabbed to death by a few little words. There is a charity which consists in withholding words, in keeping back harsh judgments, in abstaining from speech, if to speak is to condemn. Such charity hears the tale of slander, but does not repeat it; listens in silence, but forbears comment; then locks the unpleasant secret up in the very depths of the heart. Silence can still rumor; it is speech that keeps a story alive, and lends it vigor.

Blessed to Be a Blessing.

"God blesses you that you may be a blessing to others. Then he blesses you a second time in being a blessing to others. It is the talent that is used that multiplies. Receiving, unless one gives in turn makes one full and proud and selfish. Give out the best of your life in the Master's name for the good of others. Lend a hand to every one who needs. Be ready to serve at any cost those who require your service. Seek to be a blessing to every one who comes for but a moment under your influence. This is to be angel-like. It is to be God-like. It is to be Christ-like. We are in this world to be useful. God wants to pass his gifts and blessings through us to others. When we fail as his messengers, we fail of our mission."—J. R. Miller, D. D.

The Future.

We can as little argue respecting the laws of the future state from those which gird us about here, as the Esquimaux could argue respecting tropical productions from the sterility of his own ice-bound, snow-covered coasts. That there is a future, that we shall live in it, and that God will be our God then as now, these are the great facts of transcendent importance; that there will be love and friendship and fellowship and mutual recognitions is indicated by many passages in scripture and is not contradicted by Christ's teaching.

The Limit Reached.

"The limit of extravagant ideals, of extreme freedom in discovering the secret things of life, and of daring in the construction of mortalities, has about been touched. Loyalty to ultimate truth, love to God and his revealed Son, our Savior, reverence for his right and his law, were never more needed than to-day. It is a dire thing to cut a soul loose from Heaven; think, if you can, what it is for an age like ours to break away from God!"—Rollin A. Sawyer, D. D.

Temperance in India.

The Maharajah of Baroda, India, recently manifested his interest in the progress of temperance work by issuing a mandate to the effect that no new liquor saloons should be opened in future without the sanction of the presiding official. He also provided that if five-sixths of the house owners and inhabitants should present a plea that all the liquor shops should be closed, the official might give the necessary order.

When Death Comes.

"When death comes we walk down the valley of shadows, knowing that we shall find there the shining footprints of the Savior, and confident that in due time the morning light of the resurrection will break upon the spirit and we shall be with God forever."—T. R. Thayer.

Deeds, Not Words.

"Just do a thing and don't talk about it. This is the great secret of success in all enterprises. Talk means discussion; discussion means irritation; irritation means opposition, and opposition means hindrance always, whether you are right or wrong."—Sarah Grand.

Patience.

"To be patient under a heavy cross is no small praise; to be contented is more; but to be cheerful is the highest pitch of Christian fortitude."—Bishop Hall.

Prayers that come from the heart go to the heart of God.

DEADLY RIVALRY.

Cats from the Auditorium and Annex Can Not Agree with Each Other.

A short time ago a couple from Texas came to the Auditorium hotel annex in Chicago and brought a cat with them. They were called away suddenly and forgot to take the cat along. The clerks and bellboys have grown fond of tabby, and as he came from Texas and was left behind they called him "Lone Star." "Lone Star" has been visiting the Auditorium proper a number of times and has been trying to become acquainted with the cat there, which is known as "Mike." "Mike," however, is a thoroughbred Yankee. He is unwilling to associate with the southerner, and he has been very discourteous to "Lone Star." Whenever the latter enters the doors of the hostelry "Mike" immediately chases him out. If "Lone Star" departs by way of the tunnel "Mike" chases him until he has gone half way through.

"Mike" has a decided antipathy to dogs. Whenever a dog comes into the hotel he darts after him, and if the dog does not run fast enough "Mike" will jump on his back and scratch him. Even bulldogs run away from "Mike."

Tobacco's Triumph.

Every day we meet men who have apparently lost all interest in life, but they chew and smoke all the time and wonder why the sunshine is not bright and the sweet bird's song sounds discordant. Tobacco takes away the pleasures of life and leaves irritated nerve centers in return. No-To-Bac is the easy way out. Guaranteed to cure and make you well and strong, by Druggists everywhere.

Free Ocean Travel.

Many an impecunious foreigner on our shores, who wishes to visit his native land, and cannot afford even a steerage passage, has worked his way across the ocean as helper on the cattle ships. The only fee required is $1 for an agent's commission. The applicant signs a written agreement to work his passage to England without compensation or claim for a return ticket. This method of obtaining free transportation is infinitely more agreeable than "stoking it" on a regular ocean liner.

Lake Zurich in Need of Better Roads.
The Town of Ela road commissioners should take a little more interest in the improvement of the road between Lake Zurich and Barrington than they have in the past.
That part of the road located in the Town of Ela has had but little work put on it in several years; consequently it is a hard road for travel.
The citizens of Lake Zurich should interest themselves in the matter and have the commissioners of their town spend a few hundred dollars on the road—in the lowering of its hills and the turnpiking of the entire road in their township.
The Town of Cuba has graded its portion of the road, and it is a fine piece of work. We think it would do the Ela road commissioners good to come down and look the road over. A road graded up this way will keep in good condition for several years with but little expense.

Lake Zurich has much to gain and everything to lose in not having good roads leading to that place, and they should see to it that this road is given immediate attention.

REAL ESTATE FIGURES.

The figures for 1895 are a little larger than those of 1894, but so little larger as to suggest that they were intentionally so and designed to be humorous. The total of lands and improvements was $12,837,395 in 1894, against $12,580,907 in 1895, which is a slight falling off. The total assessment of lots and blocks and improvements in 1894 was $165,045,208, against $169,252,421 in 1895. The total real estate assessment in 1894 were $177,882,663, against $181,833,397 in 1895. The total assessments of personal property in 1894 was $28,783,994, against $29,436,421 in 1895.

FIGURES IN DETAIL.

A glance at the analysis of the personal property assessment shows that it contains all the side-splitting jokes of other years. The report says there are no watches or clocks in Barrington, Bremen, Hyde Park, Jefferson, Lake, Lake View, Lemont, New Trier, Norwood Park, North Chicago, or South Chicago, though there is a goodly number in other towns. The figures for franchises are Cicero, $5,000; Thornton, $400; and North Chicago, $1,600. The only annuities or royalties in the county are $1,000 worth in West Chicago. The only patent rights in the county are $220 worth in South Chicago.

Gold and silver plate were found as follows: Cicero, $282; Evanston, $306; Maine, $3; Northfield, $28; Proviso, $30; Riverside, $510; Thornton, $80; North Chicago, $6,095; and West Chicago, $9,035. There is not a piece of it in South Chicago or Hyde Park.

Diamonds and jewelry are indulged in as follows: Cicero, $1,309; North Chicago, $7,050, and West Chicago, $3,695. There is not a piece of jewelry in any other town. South Chicago, it seems, has not a dollar's worth of money or credits of banks, bankers, brokers or stock-jobbers. Of bonds and stocks Lake has $6,000 worth, Proviso $100, North Chicago $7,700, South Chicago $6,269,400, and poor West Chicago only $240 worth. The only pawnbrokers' property found was in South Chicago, $200, and in West Chicago $775 worth. Poor South Chicago has not a cent's worth of investment in real estate or improvements, nor in grain of any kind, nor in shares of State or National bank stocks.

To make a success of any paper it requires the hearty support of the community in which it is published. Everyone should lend as much aid as possible, in the way of local news to make its columns interesting and to encourage your neighbors, if they do not already take the paper, to subscribe for it. Build up your home paper and you will build up the town. Without the former the latter would amount to but little.

LAKE ZURICH ABLAZE.

HELP CALLED FOR FROM THE NEIGHBORING TOWNS.

THE FLAMES BROUGHT TO A HALT AFTER DOING $5,000 WORTH OF DAMAGE.

At 8:30 p.m. last evening the citizens of Lake Zurich were startled by cries of "fire!"

The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp in the furniture department of the two story frame building occupied by H. L. Prehm as a furniture and hardware store and residence. The building was razed to the ground, and but a small amount of the furniture was saved.

The fire next spread to the residence of Henry Branding, which was likewise completely destroyed. The furniture was nearly all saved, but was badly damaged in handling.

The Wauconda and Barrington fire departments were called for and answered promptly, our boys, although called twenty minutes later than Wauconda, arrived twenty minutes ahead of them. Especial credit is due Hansen & Peters, the liverymen, for the prompt arrival of our boys.

The residence of Fred Kukuk, although only about 30 feet distant from the nearest burning building, was saved. All the furniture had been moved out.

Much credit is due both the Barrington and Wauconda fire boys, although the fire was practically under control by the time they were ready for action. The local bucket brigade did most excellent service. Among those who distinguished themselves by hard and effective work, Wm. Spunner, H. Seip, Ray Kimberly, H. Branding and H. Prehm deserve especial mention.

The flames could be seen very plainly from here, and the livery stables and telephone exchange were doing a land office business. Many of our citizens went up to offer their assistance.

THE LOSS.
H. L. Prehm, loss $3,200, insurance $2,300.

Henry Branding, loss $1,600, insurance $1,000.

Thirty minutes after the illumination was seen in Barrington The Review had two reporters on the scene.

A yellow dog may not be unlucky but it will take more than the arguments that you can bring forth to convince Andrew Grom to the contrary. Yesterday afternoon Christ. Miller, who is a tenant of H. Wilmarth, came to town, followed by his "yaller" dog. Now, Grom has a black pet who dislikes dogs of that color, and when he espied Miller's dog yesterday he thought he would give him a "go" just for luck. This the owner of the yellow dog objected to and he commenced to take a hand in the fun by throwing rocks at Grom's dog. At this stage of the game Grom took a hand by throwing rocks at the other dog. A truce was patched up and the pro and cons were discussed. All at once Miller saw stars and blood, and he retaliated by swearing out a warrant for Grom's arrest on a charge of assault and battery. Justice Castle, after hearing both sides thought Grom had $13.95 worth of fun and taxed him $10 and costs, which amounted to $13.95, which was promptly paid.

FOR SALE—House with one lot, situated within two blocks of the depot. Everything in the best of condition. Call or address Mrs. M. GRADY, Barrington, Ill.

Clever Trick on the Girls.

The famous Farmington School for Girls closes at a later date than that set for most commencements. It has been found practically impossible to keep the students until the last day's exercises. Those not immediately interested will each year slip away to their homes before the appointed time for departure. At length the faculty have hit upon a brilliant scheme. The Yale Glee Club pays its annual visit to Farmington late in the spring. It has been decided to ask the members if they could not conveniently set a date for their arrival nearer to that fixed for the school's closing. As was naively argued, "The girls won't go home till the Glee Club has been here, so it behooves us to have the Glee Club here as late as possible."

The Serpent's Trick.

The power of continuing motionless with the uplifted head projecting forward for an indefinite time is one of the most wonderful of the serpent's muscular feats, and is one of the highest importance to the animal, both when fascinating its victim and when mimicking some inanimate object, as, for instance, the stem and bud of an aquatic plant; here it is only referred to on account of the effect it produces on the human mind, as enhancing the serpent's strangeness. In this attitude, with the round, unwinking eyes fixed on the beholder's face, the effect may be very curious and uncanny.

A Mystery.

Caged lions and tigers, pumas and jaguars take no notice of men and women passing in front of them, but let a dog be brought anywhere near the cage and they show their savage nature at once, and spring up, glaring out savagely.

Can Preserve Bodies for All Time.

Thomas Holmes, of Brooklyn, an expert on embalming fluids, claims to have perfected a process by which the human body can be petrified. He says that within two weeks he will make tests at Bellevue Hospital. Dr. Holmes has in his office a petrified arm, which looks like a piece of marble. He claims that antiseptic gas can now be manufactured as cheaply as any fluid in use for embalming. After the gas has been injected, the doctor says, the body will gradually solidify and turn white as marble, even to the nails and hair, but the latter only close to the skull. Dr. Holmes is now 78 years old. He said: "I believe I have discovered a process of embalming superior to the old Egyptian."

Highest Temperature.

The highest temperature ever known in London was recorded July 15, 1881, 95.5 degrees; at Paris, 104, on August 26, 1765; at Adelaide, Australia, January, 1941, 114; at Mouruk, India, July 10, 1872, 132.

In Memory of Martyrs.

Amid the ruins of the amphitheater of Carthage, the scene of the martyrdom of many early Christians, a chapel has been erected in accordance with the wishes of the late Cardinal Lavigerle.

Struck Same Place.

That lightning does sometimes strike twice in the same place is proved in the case of a windmill in Bates county, Missouri, which was last week struck by a bolt in exactly the same spot where it was similarly struck three years ago.

Carnegie Retains His Americanism.

Long residence in Cluny Castle has not tempered the intense Americanism of Mr. Andrew Carnegie in some matters. He has written to the editor of the Engineering Review of London, giving in a few sentences his opinion of British railroads; and this is what he says on one point: "It would pay Great Britain to make a bonfire of her equipment, both freight and passenger, and charge its replacement, on the American model, to the national debt." This is an extreme expression of an opinion which is held in milder form by most of the intelligent observers of railroads both at home and abroad. Our railroads lead the world in locomotives, cars, and watered stocks.

The Bookworm.

The little boring wood beetle attacks books and will even bore through several volumes. An instance is mentioned of twenty-seven folio volumes being perforated by one and the same insect in such a manner that by passing a cord through the perfect round hole made by it the twenty-seven volumes could be raised at once. It also destroys prints and drawings, whether framed or kept in a portfolio. These poor insects have no conception of the value of the things they may destroy. Any common trash of closely packed paper would suit them just as well, but in their ignorance they are destroyers of that which is of value to the world. They have their imitators among humanity.

Timothy and clover seed can always be found at J. D. Lamey & Co.'s.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

Horrible Death of Handsome May Wallace in Elgin.

Mamie Wallace was fatally burned at 9:30 o'clock Saturday by the explosion of a gasoline stove at the home of Henry Gould, No. 420 Fulton street, Elgin, Ill.

Miss Wallace was alone in the house, engaged in baking, and having discovered that the gasoline was getting low, went out into the yard and filled a pitcher with the fluid. Returning, she started to fill the tank on the stove after, as she supposed, having turned off the burners. A terrific explosion followed, throwing the burning gasoline about the kitchen and igniting her clothing. She ran into the yard screaming for help. Neighbors came quickly to her assistance, and the flames were extinguished by beating her with door mats and quilts, and the unfortunate girl was carried into the house.

Her clothing, with the exception of a dress belt, was entirely consumed. The burns she received were very severe, extending over the entire surface of her body, arms and limbs, from the chin down, and the flesh hung in shreds about her limbs. Medical aid was at once summoned. She suffered intensely, but was conscious a part of the time and talked of the accident. She became unconscious at 1 o'clock, and death finally ended her sufferings at 3 o'clock. Her parents were at her bedside.

Miss Wallace was a daughter of Frank Wallace, a former employe of the watch factory. About a year ago he took charge of the Hawley farm, about a mile from Dundee. Mamie lived with her parents until they removed to Dundee, where she was for a time employed in the shoe factory. Later she returned to Elgin and made her home with the Gould family.

Mamie was born at Jamesville, Wis., and was about 19 years of age when she met with her sad and untimely death.

Her funeral was held at St. Mary's church, Elgin.

STOLE HIS OWN CHILD.

Perry Tuttle Gets Possession of Little Amber by Using Force—An Outrage.

On the night of July 16th the quiet of this village was disturbed by the loud cries of a child and firing of revolvers. The occasion was the kidnapping of pretty little Amber Tuttle by her father and two unknown men from the home of her aged grand-father, G. W. Johnson, an old Union soldier.

While Mr. Johnson went out to close the gate in front of his home three men, one of whom was Mr. Tuttle, forced their way into the premises and up to the room occupied by the child. Amber was just preparing to retire (being clad only in a gauze under garment) when the men broke into the room. One of them, seizing her, rushed down the stairs where he was met by Mr. Johnson, who attempted to prevent the man from leaving, but was unable to resist the terrific blows showered upon his head and face. The men escaped in a carriage under a volley of shots from their pistols, taking the child with them. Notwithstanding the torrents of rain that were falling neighbors a mile distant heard the screams of the child as the carriage was madly driven along the highway in the dark night. Mrs. Tuttle is nearly prostrated with grief at the loss of her daughter.

REASON FOR THE ABDUCTION.

About the year 1883 Perry Tuttle, son of J. S. Tuttle, a prominent citizen of Niles, Mich., proprietor of the J. S. Tuttle tuft factory, met and won the affections of Miss Eva French, the charming step-daughter of G. W. Johnson, of this place.

They made Niles, Mich., their home up to three years ago, when they separated by mutual consent, the mother being given the custody of the child.

While in Michigan Tuttle compelled his wife to live in the dingy and unkempt apartments in the third story of his father's tuft factory.

Attorney Redmond, who has been employed by Mrs. Tuttle, has secured affidavits corroborating the statements of the lady to the effect that the stench arising from the hides and pelts were unbearable, also that Tuttle was in the habit of camping out in the summer time Indian-like, taking his daughter with him, failing to provide his child with proper food and dress.

After the separation Mrs. Tuttle sought the shelter of the welcome parental roof, where she and Amber enjoyed the beauties and comforts of a rural home. Once Tuttle visited his wife at Barrington and induced her to allow him to take Amber to Niles with the understanding that she be placed in the care of a lady friend. After she had been there for some time Mrs. Tuttle visited Niles, bringing Amber back with her on returning. Then followed the abduction.

Perry Tuttle is now supposed to have the child in hiding in Indiana. He has applied for a divorce on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Tuttle has filed a cross-bill charging him with non-support and adultery. Her original reason for leaving him was that he did not support her and that he desired her to live above the tannery. Friends are raising a subscription to enable Mrs. Tuttle to prosecute her husband.

Although the Statutes of Michigan distinctly provide that a child under the age of 12 years is to go to the custody of the mother, the Circuit Court, unfortunately, does not sit until September, and no order for possession of the child can be entered until then, and Tuttle being out of the state can not, under the present state of affairs, be reached by means of a habeas corpus writ.

China gets even with Japan by sending cholera with the troops as they return to their homes.

Female bandits are terrorizing Oklahoma. The new woman really must learn to restrain herself!

An English paper estimates the population of hell at 200,000,000. The editor could find a good job as a census statistician in Chicago.

The immense corn crops of the United States and the increased foreign demand are among the encouraging signs of the times.

Several Chicago liverymen are quietly working off their stock of horses and substituting bicycles. They have more calls for bikes than they do for nags.

A colored man in Champaign, Ill., has sued a colored barber of that town because he refused to shave him on account of his coal-black skin. Next!

When the Mora claim is paid it is reported that the lawyers will get the big end of the pile. It is easier to believe this than reports of Spanish victories in Cuba.

A Wichita man drowned himself because his wife scolded him. It may be necessary for the new woman to reprove her husband, but she should do it gently and kindly.

Clarkson Palmer, aged 12, of Plainfield, N. J., tried to open a dynamite cartridge with a hairpin. It is hardly worth while to add that Clarkson will never attempt it again.

The white people of Jackson's Hole were not massacred, but several Indians were. If the authorities do not make diligent efforts to arrest the murderers they will do scant justice.

Senator Blackburn has just declared that "he never did apologize for having been in the Confederate army, and he never will." Is there any one who cares whether he does or not?

Mrs. Clara McGill was married to Mr. Edward McGill in New York a few months ago in fine style. After a short season of housekeeping she concluded that Edward was not the man for her after all. So she skipped out to Perry, Okla., got a divorce, and is now on her way back with it. She says Perry is the place where they come real easy.

An Allegheny clergyman thinks he has found a scriptural arraignment of the bloomer costume in the text from Deuteronomy, which reads: "There shall not be the garment of a man upon a woman, and a man shall not wear the garment of a woman, for an abomination to Jehovah thy God is every one doing these things." There is nothing in this contention, for bloomers were never worn by men.

After all, would bull fights in Georgia be any worse than man fights in Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas?—Louisville Times. They would. When your Corbets and Fitzsimmons fight, they do it voluntarily. In a bull fight the brutes on one side are at the mercy of the brutes on the other side, by whom they are tortured and slaughtered. Atlanta cannot afford to discredit her exposition with such atrocities.

Platt B. Walker and W. H. Ellis, two Minneapolis gentlemen, while making a tour through northern Iowa on wheels, rode up to a big tavern at Spirit Lake, hitched their bicycles out in front and went in to dinner. At the dining-room door they were met by the proprietor, who politely informed the wheelmen that they would not be allowed in the room with bicycle suits on. Walker and Ellis thought at first that the hotel man was joking, but when they discovered that he wasn't they got dinner elsewhere and then started damage suits. We will soon know which kind the landlord likes best.

In all the rejoicing and general prosperity the poor coal miner is left out of the calculation. He is a thing apart. There is none of the good times for him. Wages have been advanced in the mills and factories, for the builders and finishers, but the coal miner is ground beneath the heavy millstone and the company store. The best that is offered to him is abolition of the store swindle in return for a further reduction in his wages, and he is rather glad to accept that. A few operators have abolished their company stores—all honor to them—and are dealing honestly with their workmen in the matter of weights and settlements. It is a good time for others to follow a good example.

A $50,000 MESSAGE.

THIS OPERATOR WAS LISTENING AT A TELEPHONE.

No Need to Tap the Wires—The Morse Alphabet Can Be Heard by Induction When Wires Are Near Together—He Hedged in Time.

IT IS almost incredible to believe that a system of telegraphy, such as the Morse, now used by the Western Union and various other telegraph companies throughout the United States, is so fallible that it is possible to steal its messages without doing what is generally termed "wire tapping." But such is the case. It is accomplished by what is telegraphically known as induction, or rather an echo, such as the reverberation of our voice, often heard when we make a loud outcry, says a writer in a New York paper. One evening I had occasion to remain at my office until late. It was election night; a governor was to be elected. Not being specially interested in politics, it mattered little to me who won, for I was personally acquainted with both candidates, and knew either would fill the position creditably.

It was near 12 o'clock when I heard a knock at my door, and in came Will Womble, a great sport. He often lost large amounts playing the races and elections. "I have staked something upon the state going republican, and as the reports from different voting precincts are slow in coming in it keeps me in a state of great anxiety, although the republican governor-elect is now far ahead, so I have come to chat with you awhile," said Will, pulling up a chair and taking a seat. This interested me, and I told him that I could possibly get my telephone wire in unison with the "electric circuit" and by induction echo possibly hear the news.

I placed the 'phone to my ear, took up a piece of paper and began writing out the messages as I heard them being clicked off:

"Hudsonville, 10,000 democratic majority."

"Pollocksville, 1,076 democratic majority."

"Harvey county, 1,800 democratic majority."

"Womble county, 956 democratic majority." I heard the door slam as if a thunderbolt had struck it. Putting up the 'phone, I looked around for my friend. He had gone.

Several days afterward I received a letter inclosing a check for a large amount. I closely scrutinized the signature. "Will G. Womble," and wondered why he sent it. Inclosed was the following note:

My Dear H.—Doubtless you remember I left your office abruptly and unceremoniously on election night. I had $50,000 staked on the republican candidate for governor, and up to 11 o'clock the returns showed him to be 3,000 ahead. I was then confident I had chosen the winner. When I looked over your shoulder while you were writing what you were hearing over the telephone, I saw the democratic candidate received 13,832 votes from the remaining precincts, which, of course, would elect him by 10,832 majority. Scarcely any one anticipated it. I hastily rushed out and before that intelligence had been bulletined by the telegraph company I had changed my bets. Every one seemed willing to accept my offers. I won $50,000. Here is your share (half). I know your scruples regarding such, but you are justly entitled to this, as I should have lost had I not secured the information over your shoulder, so please do not return it. Sincerely, WILL.

Duchess of York on a Wheel.
Divided skirts and bloomers have been dignified by the name of "rationalists" in England, where the bicycle craze seems to be raging now as fiercely as it does here. The question of costume has caused more commotion there than in this country, for it was even brought to the notice of parliament, where the commissioner of public works was interrogated as to the rules concerning bicycling in Hyde Park. No special rules were made, however, because the women who ride find a skirt rather than bloomers the most convenient. Among the most graceful of the cyclists is the Princess Maud of Wales. She is devoted to the exercise, and often is seen out early in the morning merrily taking a spin. The Duchess of Fife has taken up the fad, and it is whispered that the Duchess of York will be won over before long.

That Confusing Debate.
He had a morning paper and a hurried look as he entered the station. "Gimme a ticket to Horr." "What place?" "Horr—Horr—down here, south—burban town—" "Oh, you mean Harvey?" And he did.

JUSTICE JACKSON BURIED.

Remains Interred in a Private Cemetery at Belle Meade.

Nashville, Tenn., August 13.—The remains of Justice Howell E. Jackson were laid at rest in a private family cemetery at Belle Meade stock farm, six miles west of this city, this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Belle Meade is the home of Gen. W. H. Jackson, brother of the deceased justice. The funeral cortege moved from West Meade, the home of the deceased justice, shortly after 9 o'clock and was something less than an hour in reaching its destination. The officiating clergymen were the Revs. J. H. McNeely and R. Lin Cave, both of this city. The ceremonies at the grave were not elaborate but very impressive. Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Brewer were the only members of the supreme court present. A large number of prominent men from this and other states were among the attendants.

DECISION IN THE ELBE CASE.

Officers in Charge of Both the Crathie and Elbe Are Blamed.

Bremenhaven, Aug. 13.—The admiralty court has rendered a decision in the inquiry made into the sinking of the North German Lloyd Steamship company's steamer Elbe, in collision with the British steamship Crathie in January last. The court holds that the blame for the collision must be attributed to the mate of the Crathie, who deserted his post immediately before the occurrence and went into the galley of the Crathie. Continuing the findings say that the officer in charge of the Elbe can not, however, be freed from the reproach that he omitted to get out of the way of the Crathie by a timely manipulation of the helm and failed to attract the attention of the crew of the Crathie by signaling with the steam whistle.

FIRE ON OFFICERS.

ILL FEELING BETWEEN WHITES AND BLACKS.

Race Riot Averted at Winston, N. C. Only by the Determined Action of the Sheriff and Militia—Fourteen Rioters Arrested.

Winston, N. C., Aug. 13.—A serious riot between whites and blacks was narrowly averted here last night. It was given out in colored churches during the day that an attempt was going to be made to lynch Arthur Tuttle, a negro on trial here for the murder of Policeman Vickers last May. After church about one hundred and fifty negroes organized and marched to the jail, where they remained for several hours. They were armed with pistols and guns. Mayor Gray went to the jail and assured the negroes there was no danger of lynching and begged them to disperse. Sheriff McArthur and two of Winston's lawyers also addressed the negroes. Judge Brown, who is holding court, notified the negroes that they were violating the law, promised them that Tuttle should have a fair trial and that he would be responsible for the prisoner's protection.

The negroes said they would leave if the sheriff would put a guard of twenty men around the jail. This was done, but many of the mob refused to go away. Sheriff McArthur then ordered out the Forsyth riflemen, besides a number of deputies who were sworn in. Judge Brown also instructed the sheriff to arrest those who did not leave. The mob began firing on the officers, several of whom were struck with small bird-shot, but none seriously wounded. The riflemen fired several volleys into the crowd, causing the negroes to disperse in quick order. Fourteen of the rioters were arrested and put in jail. Everything is now quiet.

A PREHISTORIC TUNNEL.

Apparently Implements of Stone Were Employed in Its Construction.

A few weeks ago a number of well-known residents of Butte left here on a prospecting expedition to the Big Hole country, says the Inter Mountain. Among the number were W. D. Clark and Thomas J. Howard. They are men of unimpeachable veracity, who number their friends by the hundreds in this city. This latter statement is perhaps made necessary by what is to follow. The gentlemen returned to Butte last evening, and to-day filed for record a location notice of the Catalpa lode claim, which the notice says is located three miles south of Divide station on Fleece mountain, a portion of country that has not been prospected very thoroughly on account of the large amount of snow in that locality during the summer months. The remarkable part of the locating of this claim is the statement of the locators that they discovered a tunnel fully fifty feet long, which had been driven into the mountain apparently several years ago. In prospecting along the side of the mountain the men found several pieces of good-looking copper ore in a hollow which they first supposed had been a buffalo wallow in the days when those animals roamed the prairies of the Big Hole country. The prospectors, believing that there was a lead somewhere in the vicinity, began to dig in the mountain side. After an hour's hard labor they were considerably surprised to find the earth suddenly yielded to the blows of the pick and a big hole loomed up before them. They cleared away the earth and entered a tunnel about six feet high and four feet wide, walled in with blocks of stone. The top of the tunnel was protected by large flat stones, and for about twenty-five feet there was not a break in the primitive timbering. About twenty-five feet from the mouth of this tunnel the prospectors came to a spot where the earth had apparently broken down the stonework, and after clearing away the debris the men were enabled to go in about twenty-five or thirty feet further. Here they came to a ledge, which was carefully examined, but as to what was discovered there the men will say nothing, except that they found some implements made of stone which had apparently been used in driving the tunnel.

Unknown and Known.

Charles Sumner once had an experience which taught him that he was both known and unknown, even in Boston. He was on his way, riding in a street car, to attend a social meeting at the Church of the Disciples, to which he had been invited by the pastor, Dr. James Freeman Clarke, when two suggestive incidents happened. While in the car he asked a gentleman the exact locality of the church. The gentleman told him, and then said: "Are you a stranger, sir?" showing that there was a Bostonian who did not know Mr. Sumner by sight.

But a boy in the car jumped out when Mr. Sumner reached his destination and said: "Mr. Sumner, will you please write your name in my album?" They stopped under a street lamp and Mr. Sumner wrote his name.

METER CANNOT LIE.

A NICKEL-IN-THE SLOT AFFAIR NOW IN USE.

A Coin Turns on Your Gas and the Dial Tells You When Your Money's Worth Has All Been Consumed—Gives Satisfaction Wherever Used.

AS turned on by the nickel-in-the slot system is an innovation from England that has been adopted by the Consolidated Gas Company, of New York City, and the "prepayment meter," so-called, may in time succeed the present method of measuring gas as consumed in small households. In London a dozen rival machines are in vogue. The most popular ones are the "penny slots." A coin of this value is dropped into a small opening and gaslight is furnished for an hour or so. This class of meter is very popular among the poorer people, many of whom use gas only on state occasions. The penny gas machines are also very popular with single gentlemen of limited means, who live in lodgings, says New York World. The prepayment meters introduced in New York are not of the penny pattern. A silver quarter is the coin required to release the illuminating fluid. The mechanism is simple, yet delicate. The size of the coin, not its weight, is what releases the machinery. For twenty-five cents 200 feet of gas is secured, which is at the regular rate of $1.25 per 1,000. The gas need not be used continuously. A special indicator on the face of the dial, which is supposed to show how much gas goes through the meter, moves out to the 200-foot mark as soon as the coin is deposited. As the gas is used, this indicator returns to the zero point. Meters of this class are placed in the consumer's room or flat, so that the number of feet still to be burned may be seen at a glance at the dial. The machine is so arranged that two, three or four quarters may be placed in the slot, and thus 400, 600 or 1,000 feet of gas purchased. The meter will register and give credit for 200 feet of gas every time a coin of the proper dimension is placed in the receiver.

Treasurer Doane, of the gas company, believes that the prepayment meter will become as popular in the large cities of America as it is London, especially among the people with whom gaslight is a luxury. Take a family of hard working people in which there are young ladies who have company on Sunday. Candles or kerosene are all right during the week days, but gaslight on such an occasion is necessary to "give the house a tone." As 25 cents will light the parlor for several evenings it will readily be seen that meters will find their way into thousands of households which, under the prevailing system of making a deposit, and meeting a monthly bill, would never have use for them.

Many people believe that the everyday gas meter continues to register right along whether gas is being burned or not. This could not happen with the new quarter-in-the-slot meter, as the consumption is hourly under the consumer's eye.

Mr. Doane said to a World reporter that the matter of the value of the coin to be used in New York was seriously considered for several months before the quarter was adopted. The cost of collection, as the meters must be visited at stated intervals by employees of the company, is as great for nickels or dimes as for quarters, and this one fact determined the question. Should there appear in the future a demand for a smaller system of payment, there are a number of meters in the market to choose from.

Less than 300 of the slot meters are in use in the city at present, owing to the fact that no special effort has been made to push them. They have proved so satisfactory, however, both to consumer and producer that their general use by all small concerns, will be urged in the future, but not insisted upon. A quarter will illuminate an ordinary four-room and kitchen flat for one week.

THE DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT LOCKPORT, ILL.

THE BURNED DISTRICT. WHERE THE FIRE STARTED

could not make public the subject of their deliberations, they have admitted that they will have some astounding revelations to make soon.

Gen. Martinez Campos, while besieged in Bayamo, had such fear for his life that in order to disguise himself he had his long goatee shaved off, hence his objection to showing himself in public. Mayari is said to have fallen into the hands of the insurgent forces, and the provisional government of Cuban republic is reported to have been established there. Santo Espiritu and Trinidad, in Las Villas, are said to be in possession of the rebel forces. It is rumored that Gen Martinez Campos will leave for Spain soon, as he wants to give a personal account of the state of affairs in Cuba to the queen and court.

INSURGENTS INCREASING.

Situation Very Grave in the Province of Santiago de Cuba.

London, Aug. 13.—The Times publishes a dispatch from Havana, dated Aug. 7, which says that Gen. Moreno has assumed the chief command of the troops in the province of Santiago de Cuba. The insurgents are increasing in the province of Matanzas. The force of 1,300 officers and men of local volunteers from Havana, which has been drawn for active service, causes the impression that the situation is more grave. The suppression of the news encourages the wildest rumors adverse to Spain.

The recent Madrid appointments, giving all the posts in Cuba to Spaniards, is criticised as proof that Spain is determined not to allow Cubans any share in the administration. The appointment of Cabezas as director of finance is especially deprecated.

War News Favors Spain.

Havana, Aug. 13.—The insurgent band commanded by Rego recently besieged the town of Ingavillanito, in the province of Santa Clara, and sent a demand for the surrender of Spanish troops detailed to defend that place. The garrison, however, refused to surrender, and the insurgents burned a house in the immediate vicinity of the barracks. The soldiers made a gallant defense, and eventually compelled the insurgents to retire with a loss of five killed, among the latter being a captain, who was Rego's aid-de-camp, and leaving ten wounded behind them.

CROWDS AT LOCKPORT.

Go Out to View the Ruins of Saturday's Big Fire.

Lockport, Ill., Aug. 13.—Everybody in the village of Lockport was standing around yesterday looking at the ruins of the best business district in the place. They were joined by thousands from Joliet, Lemont, Romeo, Aurora, Naperville, Willow Springs and from Chicago. Lockport never held such crowds as those that poured in from all the surrounding territory yesterday to gaze over the blackened field. From the talk of regret the discussion soon drifted to what must be done. Before the sun began to go down Mayor McDonald had a list of half a dozen business men who said they were determined to rebuild at once and to erect better structures than those that had burned down. Insurance men and others generally agree that the first figures in regard to the losses and insurance were correct. They say the total loss will be about $225,000 and that the insurance will foot up about $100,000.

TRAMPS ATTACK A TRAIN.

Railroad Men Narrowly Escape Death at Their Hands.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 13.—Another attempt to take possession of a freight train was made at Edgemoor by tramps last evening. Thirty-two hobos, returning from the peach country, attacked the crew of a northbound P. W. & B. freight just as it was leaving the cut-off above this city. The railroad men gave battle but were repulsed and compelled to seek shelter in the cars. When the conflict was at its height, notification was sent to this city and aid requested of the police department. Before a squad of officers could be dispatched, however, the trainmen were reinforced and the tramps compelled to retreat.

Miners and Owners to Confer.

Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 13.—The striking miners of Ishpeming and Negaunee have finally decided to go to the mines to hear the propositions of the mine-owners and officials with reference to an increase in wages. It is generally thought that if the proposition of the companies is reasonable the men will accept them, as many of the strikers are tired of idleness, and besides they are now beginning to feel the need of money.

THE BAINBRIDGE WRECK.

the Paint creek bridge Sunday, killing all on board and leaving none to tell the story. Besides the four trainmen who were killed it is believed now that four tramps and three boys who are missing from Greenfield are under the wreck. As the debris is in over twenty feet of water little has been done in clearing it away. No more bodies have been recovered. The dam below the bridge has been cut open, and divers have been engaged. A Sunday excursion with over 400 people passed safely over the bridge ahead of the freight.

Mexicans Shoot Robbers.

Fronteeras, Sonora, Mex., Aug. 13.—Six weeks ago the private messenger of Col. John Weirs was killed by a gang of highwaymen and robbed of $5,000. Since then the Mexican authorities have kept up an unrelenting chase after the robbers and captured them last week. Seventeen of the number who were directly concerned in the affair have been convicted and shot.

Three Killed by an Explosion.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 13.—John Hines, his son Fred, and William Smith, a fireman, were killed in a boiler explosion at Clay Lick yesterday afternoon. A. J. Downs, a log man, was badly injured. Hines, who owned the mill, was blown into the air, and pieces of his body were found eighty yards away from the scene of the explosion.
