

BARRINGTON REVIEW.

Vol. 12. No. 7.

BARRINGTON, ILL., SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1897.

$1.25 A YEAR.

SPECIAL

Head Camp Convention, M. W. A.,
Dubuque, Ia., June 4.—
The By-Laws of the M. W. A. were so amended that all persons living five miles outside of Chicago city limits are eligible to membership in this Order.

The head officers of the M. W. A. were unanimously re-nominated Tuesday at the convention at Dubuque, Ia. The officers now are:
Head Consul—Northcott;
Head Clerk—Hawes;
Directors—For Illinois—General Reese, Springfield; Prof. Quackenbush, Dundee; J. W. White, Rock Falls. The other two directors are: Ben D. Smith, Mankato; A. J. Talbot, Lincoln. The Fulton question was ended by the failure to find a delegate who would present the charges against some of the officers to the convention. Elgin is making a strong fight for the head camp, and stands a good show of securing it.

HONOR THE DEAD.

A Glowing Tribute Paid the Brave Heroes.

Never before in the history of Barrington was there such a brilliant and imposing procession in line as on last Monday.

The brilliant uniforms of the Barrington Military Band were in perfect harmony with the blue suits of the old veterans, while the Woodmen in their insignia, followed by the 225 school children, each carrying the "stars and stripes", was a sight of imposing grandeur. After the graves of the dead soldiers had been decorated in Evergreen cemetery, the procession wended its way to the German Lutheran cemetery and performed the same service.

After dinner the procession again formed in line and marched to Grove Avenue, where a large platform had been erected under the beautiful trees.

An unusually fine program had been arranged, among which the Flag Day March, singing and recitations by the school children deserve special mention. It was simply grand.

Rev. T. E. Roam made a short address which was justly deserving of the hearty applause.

The speaker of the day, Rev. Van Horn of Rockford, delivered a masterly address. It abounded with patriotism, and was frequently encored. The gentleman is a fluent and entertaining talker.

Altogether the exercises last Monday were the most impressive, instructive and pleasing of any held in previous years.

To turn out on Memorial Day and honor the brave heroes is a duty that every patriotic citizen owes his country.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Lageschulte and family and Miss Esther Elfrink visited in Elgin Saturday.

A vote put in next Monday for Eben F. Runyan, candidate for Circuit Court judge, will count toward electing a good man, one who is qualified in every respect for this honorable position. He is well and favorably known to a great many of our citizens. Politics ought to cut no figure in a judicial election.

Fred and John Berlin from near Lake Zurich came to Barrington Monday and after partaking too freely of "give me courage" concoctions attempted to whip the whole town. They had hardly started, however, before Marshall Sandman's eagle eye espied them, and he has a particular liking for just such characters. Fred and John did not like "Hank's" company, so they started to "break away". As the officer started to take Fred by the collar that gentleman made a lunge at him with a large rock, which scraped the officer's head and struck his shoulder. He then started to run, but was overtaken in Grom's saloon by the marshal and taken to the place where he had use for all the "courage" he had imbibed. In the meantime Alderman John Hatje had pursued John and cornered him in Lageschulte Bros.' warehouse and told him he was under arrest, and although John had a big corn knife in his hand the alderman, assisted by Ray Kimberly, took him over to keep his brother company. In the evening, after they had somewhat gotten over their fighting mood, they were given a hearing by Police Magistrate M. C. McIntosh, and were fined. The day's fun cost Messrs. Berlin just $15 in cash, besides there is a $10 fine still suspended and if they are arrested at some future time in this village this amount will also have to be paid. Barrington is a poor place to look for trouble, as our village possesses a police force that can't be intimidated. Both, our marshal and nightwatch, are officers who are efficient in every way. They never take a bluff.

Fine Literary Entertainment.

As good an entertainment as was ever given outside of large cities was that given in Kelsey's School Tuesday evening. The school house was filled to overflowing, a large number of people being unable to gain admittance. The literary efforts of the pupils were especially good, and reflect great credit on themselves as well as their popular teacher, Miss Obee. Following was the program:

Opening song, "Battle Cry of Freedom"—School.
Recitation, "Acorn Boy"—Clara Langenheim.
"Memorial Day"—School.
Dialogue, "Lost Pencil"—Annie Welch and Lizzie Langenheim.
Song, "The Sparrow"—Emma Miller, Annie Welch, Annie Winkler and Nellie Riley.
Recitation, "Little Goldenhair"—L. Langenheim.
Dialogue, "Noblest Revenge"—K. Langenheim and Willie Schultz.
"Pine Tree's Party"—Annie Welch, Emma Winkler, Annie Winkler, Mildred Kelsey and Nellie Riley.
Recitation, "Arey Scheffer"—E. Langenheim.
Dialogue, "Little Belle"—L. Langenheim, C. Langenheim, Willie Schultz and Lizzie Riley.
Recitation, "Katie's Cake"—L. Langenheim.
Song, "The Dance"—School.
Recitation, "My Country"—Mildred Kelsey.
Dialogue, "Marital Sweets"—F. Miller and L. Langenheim.
Recitation, "How Jennie Saved World's Fair Train"—L. Langenheim.
Motion song, "Berry Pickers"—L. Riley, C. Langenheim, F. Miller and L. Langenheim.
Dialogue, "Picnic Party"—F. Miller, L. Riley, L. Langenheim, C. Langenheim and K. Langenheim.
Recitation, "Pat's Criticism"—L. Langenheim.
Dialogue, "Chinamen"—L. Riley, C. Langenheim and L. Langenheim.
Recitation, "Decoration Day"—K. Langenheim.

WAUCONDA.

Commencement exercises next week.
Harry Fuller visited at McHenry Sunday.

The farmers held another factory meeting Monday evening.

Perle Pratt of Chicago spent the first of the week with his parents.

Chas. Derry of Waukegan was a pleasant caller in our village Tuesday.

L. E. Golding and Miss Ruth Neville visited at Grays Lake Sunday.

F. J. Grover of Prairie View spent Saturday and Sunday with his mother.

Miss Lulu Oaks of Chicago spent a few days the first of the week with her cousin, Miss Grace Hill.

Acel Stevens of Chicago spent a few days with friends in our village the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Reynoldson of Chicago were pleasant callers in our village Saturday.

A. L. Mullen took a load of household goods to the city the first of the week for Mr. Moore.

M. J. Rauh and John Ulrich of Barrington were pleasant callers in our village Sunday.

The lecture at the Oakland Friday evening of last week by Rev. J. M.

Green was largely attended and was very much appreciated by all. Mr. Green is a very able speaker as was clearly shown in the way he handled his subject "Gettysburg, the Sixteenth Decisive Battle of the World" and expressing ourselves briefly we would say that the lecture was simply grand.

An elegant entertainment was given in the Oakland last Saturday evening for the benefit of the M. W. A. The Amet Magniscope was the machine that furnished the amusement and we must say that it is one of the greatest inventions of the age. It was no magic lantern show but a reproduction of regular life-like views. Everything was fine excepting the crowd might have been larger, although as it was, all turned out well.

Messrs. Louis and Clarence Hill of Chicago came out from the city on their wheels Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Oaks of Chicago spent Saturday with relatives and friends in our village.

The dance at the bowery last Saturday evening was very well attended there being about fifty couples present and all spent an enjoyable evening.

Mr. Parks has rented V. D. Kimball's market and tools and has started into business. We wish him success.

Geo. Ponsot accompanied by three other Elgin friends were pleasant visitors in our village Saturday and Sunday.

Jas. Gainer has erected a new building which he will use for a carriage barn. This will be a great improvement in the appearance of his yard.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES.

The Commencement exercises will be held here next Wednesday evening, June 9th, at the Oakland Hall. The exercises will be fine and must be seen and heard to be appreciated. A special invitation is extended to all. Following is the program:

OBITUARY.

MRS. CHARLES GRANGER.

Mrs. Charles Granger died May 31st, 1897. She was born in Dutchess County, New York, June 24th, 1824. Mrs. Granger, whose maiden name was Horton, married Charles Granger on Christmas Day, 1846. Three years later they came West by way of the Great Lakes and landed at Little Fort, now Waukegan. She leaves a husband, a son and three daughters to mourn the loss of a kind and loving wife and mother, besides numerous other relatives and friends, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy. Interment took place in Waukegan cemetery.

Perhaps the sultan will be so infuriated by his victory over the Greeks that he will refuse to accept the terms offered him by the powers, but will blindly rush upon European bayonets. In that case the end of the Turk will come sooner than if Greece had been victorious.

Which would Broker Elverton R. Chapman rather do, go to jail or appear before the United States senate and publicly apologize for not telling what he knew about sugaring the senate? Under the circumstances most people would prefer to take to the woods.

There are 100,000 pauper children in the United States, supported by the various forms of charity, public and private. One-fourth of the number are either criminals, cripples or imbeciles.

HISTORY OF A WEEK.

THE NEWS OF SEVEN DAYS UP TO DATE.

Political, Religious, Social and Criminal Doings of the Whole World Carefully Condensed for Our Readers—The Accident Record.

F. D. Frey, a farmer, died on the bank of Mill Creek, near Primghar, Iowa, from cold and exposure.

Too many green gooseberries caused the death of Claude Lay, eleven years old, at Franklin, Ind. Death was due to acute appendicitis.

James Francis, from Reading, Pa., was found dying by the roadside at South Bend, Ind., from eating wild parsnips, grass, etc., to appease hunger.

George Repshire and his son Herbert, aged forty-three and fifteen respectively, were drowned at Shady Bend, Kan., in the Saline River.

William Carr, aged twenty-three, and Frank Curtis, aged thirty-one, miners in the Norman tunnel at Cripple Creek, Col., were instantly killed by a premature explosion of dynamite.

Mrs. Robert Tuttle, of Palo, Iowa, was thrown from a wagon by a runaway team, and the wheels passed over her head, causing injuries which resulted in her death.

The residence on the Casteo farm, thirteen miles southwest of Fairbury, Ill., occupied by C. Wordy, burned to the ground, and Mrs. Wordy was seriously burned before rescued.

W. E. Lewis, forty-two years of age, a native of Virginia, and for the last twelve years city attorney and editor of the Prairie City, Ill., Herald, is dead. He died of consumption.

George Storm, a veteran of the civil war, and an old resident of Mascoutah, Ill., participated in memorial services, and later his lifeless body was found hanging in the woodshed.

Mrs. J. P. Cooper was drowned at Lake Ellen, twenty miles from Sheboygan, Wis., by the capsizing of a small boat. Mr. Cooper was rescued with difficulty, after becoming nearly exhausted in his struggles to save his wife's life.

Dr. Jeremiah B. Selby, one of the oldest physicians of Milwaukee, was fatally injured by falling down an elevator shaft in the Plankinton packing-house. He died in the Emergency hospital half an hour after the accident.

Ex-Banker T. C. Shove has commenced to serve his four months' sentence in the county jail, Oshkosh, Wis., in lieu of paying his fine and costs of $4,000. Mr. Shove has been installed in the parlor bedroom at the jail, and will be given his liberty within the city limits.

Martin Hurley was severely, though not dangerously, injured by a vicious stallion at Columbus, Wis. The horse seized him with his teeth by the back of the neck and threw him into the air. When Hurley fell he caught him again and tore nearly all the clothing from his body.

Ernest Raddatz, of Oshkosh, Wis., the inventor of the submarine boat, has sold it to the E. P. Allis Company, Milwaukee, delivery to be made June 16. Several successful trips have recently been made.

Judge Munger of the United States District court at Omaha made an order that the divorce decreed by Justice Brewer of the Western Union and Union Pacific Telegraph companies must be complete by Sept. 1.

A trolley wire crossed a wire of the Home Telephone Company at Fort Wayne and disabled 1,500 telephones, most of them being burned out. A big loss was entailed and a score of men have been at work repairing the damage.

A dispatch to the London Times from Rome says that the carte blanche which the cabinet has obtained from the chamber means the ultimate abandonment of Erythrea.

A dispatch to the London Times from Buenos Ayres says that the sugar industry is threatened with a severe crisis, owing to overproduction. The excess of available export for the current year is more than 100,000 tons.

The reichstag has passed the bill introduced on May 13 by the radicals, socialists, anti-Semites and Poles, providing that: "German associations of any kind may combine with each other, and all laws to the contrary are repealed."

Insurance Commissioner Merrill has instituted proceedings at Boston to put the Franklin Mutual Fire Insurance Company into the hands of a receiver. It has $1,351,354 insurance in force. The company was organized in 1829.

The Michigan peppermint crop has been seriously damaged by severe frost. Growers estimate the injury to the old mint in some localities to be over one-half.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Judge Hefrom appointed I. M. Richle of Indianapolis receiver for the waterworks plant at Washington, Ind., which is owned by New York capitalists. Frank S. Foster, trustee, sues to foreclose a mortgage of $16,000 on the plant.

Schutt Brothers, dealers in crockery and notions, at Ashland, Wis., made an assignment to D. T. Wiggins. Liabilities, $6,000; assets, $8,000.

The boards of control for nine Indiana benevolent and reformatory institutions met the governor by invitation, and at his suggestion decided to reduce the cost of administration. It is estimated that the total reductions will amount to about $40,000 a year.

A semi-official denial is given of the published statement that President McKinley has made overtures to Spain on the subject of Cuba, and it is reiterated that it is impossible for the Spanish government to accept mediation in a question "which concerns Spain alone."

R. B. Kirkpatrick, a prominent citizen, dropped dead on Main street, Eldora, Iowa. Heart trouble was the cause.

Mayor Chambers, of Arcola, Ill., has issued a proclamation enforcing the curfew law. All children under 16 are prohibited from appearing on the street after 9 o'clock.

Although almost constant search has been in progress since last Saturday, the 5-year-old son of John Sjoberg, of West Superior, Wis., who wandered from home into the woods on that day, has not been recovered.

An application has been made to Judge Clearwater, at Kingston, N. Y., to commit James Myer to an insane asylum. Myer's delusion is that he is the homeliest man in the world and he threatens suicide in consequence.

Fred Beeson, an employe of the ranch of Harry Morse, at Sunel, Cal., used arsenic instead of baking powder in making a batch of bread. Beeson is dead, another man is dying, and several others are dangerously ill.

Another new bridge is to span Niagara's gorge. It will take the place of the upper suspension bridge, and is to be finished April 1, 1898. The bridge, designed to replace the upper suspension bridge, will be built on the parabolic principle, and it will undoubtedly be one of the greatest engineering feats of the year.

Colonel Charles Gordon, a brave and dashing American who cast his lot with the Cuban patriots, has met his death in the field.

The Hambleton Milling Company assigned at Keokuk, Iowa. Liabilities, $30,000; assets, $20,000.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe observed her seventy-eighth birthday Thursday.

Letters received by Milwaukee grain dealers from several counties bring the report that farmers have seen the army worm crawling along fences about grain fields. Last year this most destructive pest was not seen in Wisconsin until oats were about ripe.

A slight earthquake shock was felt throughout Vermont Thursday. Buildings trembled perceptibly. At Bellows Falls and Burlington the shock was felt twice. No damage was done.

Gov. Scofield of Wisconsin has appointed as the forestry commission H. O. Putnam of Eau Claire, George B. Burrows of Madison and Ernest Bruncken of Milwaukee. The commission was created by an act of the last legislature.

Chicago capitalists have lost about $80,000 in the Mexico, Mo., Fire Brick works. It is one of the largest fire brick factories in the west.

The arrangements for taking care of the Knights of Pythias Supreme Lodge and the encampment of the Uniformed Rank, which are to be held in Indianapolis in 1898, are progressing. An effort will be made to raise $50,000 for expenses. This will cover the prize drills, which will require $10,000.

Andrews Brothers & Co. at their mills in Hazleton, Pa., posted notices that, taking effect May 30, wages of all employes not governed by the amalgamated schedule would be reduced 10 per cent.

FINISHED ITS WORK.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY ADJOURNS.

Matters of Vital Importance to the Interests of the Church Acted On—Next Session Also to Be Held at Winona, Ind.

By a large majority the invitations of Minneapolis and Philadelphia for the next session of the Presbyterian General Assembly were declined, and that of Winona accepted.

Dr. Withrow presented the report of the committee on bills and overtures. Four presbyteries overruled the assembly to initiate action looking toward the union of the Presbyterian churches north and south. Answer was made that the church stands ready to advance union whenever the way shall seem to be opened.

Gov. James A. Mount of Indiana, chairman of the committee on the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the adoption of the catechism and Westminster standards, reported a recommendation that the second Thursday of the next year general assembly be chosen for the day of celebration.

The committee on aid for colleges, reported the total receipts for the year 1896-1897 were $77,960, and the expenditures $71,126, the balance on hand April 1 being $24,624.

The report of the board of church erection showed a largely diminished income, but notwithstanding the shrinkage the board was able to make 126 appropriations to 122 churches to the aggregate amount of $60,323.

At Saturday's session the Presbyterian general assembly declined to take any action on the famous Princeton banquet to the sesquicentennial of last fall, at which wines were served and much sensation raised thereby.

A memorial was adopted asking that a committee of congress be appointed to make full investigation of the liquor problem, to report all facts and conditions to congress and the president.

A recommendation that every church try to raise 5 per cent more than the average of the last six years, for the work of the benevolent board next year was adopted.

There is a strong movement toward centering control of the theological seminaries in the assembly, and they were directed by resolution to make proper changes in their charter looking toward this result as soon as it seems wise and practical.

A resolution was adopted that hereafter candidates for license must be examined on the English Bible.

The assembly voted a rule that in the election of pastors all contributors to the congregation of full age, as well as communicants, be permitted to vote. The election of elders and deacons is to be by communicants only.

The Sunday schools show a total membership of 1,045,678—an increase in the year of 39,289. The additions to church membership by confession of faith have been 56,804, and by certificate 37,745, making the total membership now 960,795. The list of ministers who have died within the year included 123 names.

The assembly then adjourned.

Train Kills Four Children.

At 3 o'clock Sunday night a spring wagon containing eight children ranging in age from 3 to 9 years, was struck by a special train on the Denver & Rio Grande railroad at Denver. Four of the children are dead and the others are terribly injured, two so badly that they will die.

Norwegian Town Fire Swept.

The town of Namose, province of North Trondhjem, near the mouth of the Namsen river, on the west coast of Norway, has been entirely destroyed by fire. The flames spread so rapidly that the 1,800 inhabitants were unable to save even their furniture.

Slain by His Daughter.

Frederick Holt, a farmer in Warren township nine miles from Mount Clemens, Mich., was shot and killed Sunday afternoon by his daughter, Minnie, 22 years old. Holt was drunk and abusive, and the killing was in self-defense.

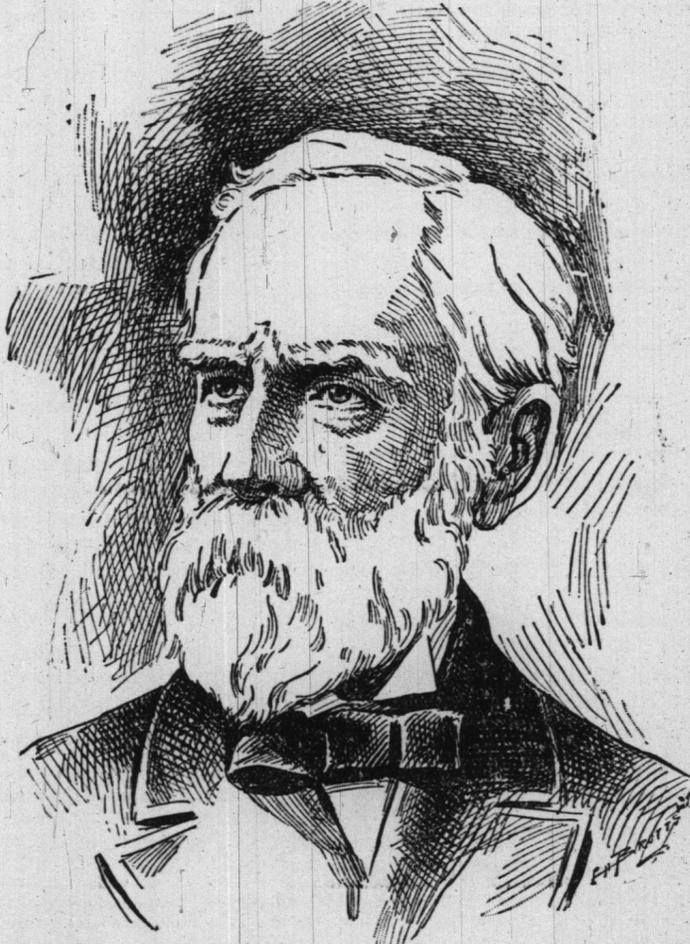

Theodore Durrant to Hang.

Theodore Durrant will hang June 11. Gov. Budd Sunday telephoned that much in effect to Warden Hale of San Quentin, at the same time ordering the death watch placed upon the prisoner.

Minors Cannot Hold Office.

The postoffice department announces that minors will be debarred from chief clerkships and deputy postmasterhips except in a few of the third-class offices where circumstances urge their peculiar fitness.

A MILLIONAIRE ARRESTED FOR SMUGGLING.

Richard M. Scruggs, the millionaire dry goods merchant who was arrested in New York the other day for smuggling jewelry and fine laces, is one of the most prominent and respected citizens of St. Louis. He has been a leader, during the past quarter of a century, in every movement that has gone forward for the improvement of the city. He is a very religious man and deeply interested in church work. To him, almost alone, is given the credit for the magnificent Cook Avenue Church, which he raised from a humble mission to be one of the wealthiest and foremost churches in Missouri. Sunday school work has been his hobby. Mr. Scruggs has been president and trustee of the Mercantile Library, trustee of the Missouri Blind Asylum, president of the Provident Association, and has filled other offices connected with charitable and philanthropic work, notably trustee of the celebrated Mullanphy emigrant fund, the value of whose estates is enormous. He is a native of Virginia, and came to St. Louis in 1850. The dry goods house of which he is president is one of the largest in the country. Mr. Scruggs' partners and friends were amazed when they heard of his arrest. The vice-president of the company said that Mr. Scruggs had paid millions of dollars to the United States in duties on his imports, and that the smuggling of a mere bagatelle was too contemptible a matter to even mention in connection with his name. The rich merchant is the president of the American Arithmometer Company, with a factory here, which manufactures a lightning calculator. E. G. Lankhorne, arrested with Mr. Scruggs, is the secretary of the concern.

ASKS EMPLOYES TO ACT.

Railway Age Introduces a New Method of Relief from Legislation.

That the employes of the railways suffer most and most directly by any diminution in railway revenues is a fact which the employes themselves in the mass have been very slow to understand, but it seems as if they were awakening to the fact at last in earnest. At intervals, during the last two years, the employes of certain states have banded together to make their political influence felt in opposition to anti-railway legislation. In Minnesota, in Iowa and in Kansas among the western states, employer's clubs have done themselves and the railways good service in the past. Now, after the bitter experience of the last few years, the employers all over the country are rising in protest against the renewed bitterness of the granger attacks. In several states the railway men of all classes are fighting vigorously the various legislative raids on railway revenues which are threatened. Best of all has been the conclusion reached at the union meeting of the different railway labor orders at Little Rock, Ark., when a resolution was adopted calling on members of all orders to oppose legislation which would further reduce railway earnings. In Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Ohio and other states employes are protesting with more or less unanimity against the passage of 2-cent-a-mile passenger rate laws and similar enactments, all of which is very good.

There was a time when it was possible for the public and for the railway employes to be, or pretend to be, ignorant of the real condition of the railways. There was a time when it was possible to make the credulous believe that the books of railway companies were kept in such a way that their true condition was not known, and that all professions of poverty on their part were untrue and made for political effect only. That time has passed. The condition of the railway properties of the countries is, in its general outlines at least, known to anybody who cares to know it. And the condition, if not desperate, is at least seriously critical for the majority of the companies.

There ought to be today not less than a quarter of a million of men more in the employ of the railways than there are. They ought to be there not only for their own sakes, but simply for the safety of the traveling public. The railways of the country are operated today with forces which are far below the "danger line," and so long as the public and the legislatures maintain their present attitude, it is doubtful if any possible increase in business from a return of "good times" will enable the companies to employ the proper number of men and pay them decent wages.—Railway Age.

Punishment for Army Desertions.

Desertion in time of war is punishable in all armies by death, usually inflicted by shooting. In time of peace it is regarded by various governments with different degrees of severity, according as the military system is mild or severe. In France, Germany or Russia, desertion, even in time of peace, is very harshly punished, but in the United States it is punishable by a term of imprisonment at hard labor. As a matter of fact this penalty is rarely inflicted. The desertions in our army number from 1,000 to 1,200 annually and few of the runaways are ever caught.

TENNESSEE CENTENNIAL.

The Lowest Rates Ever Made to an Exposition in This Country.

The Exposition in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of the admission of Tennessee into the Union is not a local affair by any means. It far surpasses in extent of buildings, beauty of grounds, interesting exhibits and number of both foreign and home attractions any exhibition ever held in this country, with the possible exception of the Columbian of 1893. Located as it is on the main line of Louisville & Nashville Railroad it is the direct line of travel between the North and South, and can be visited en route with loss of but little time. The extremely low rates that have been established make it cheaper to go a little out of your way, even, to take in this great show, while its own attractions will well repay a special visit. Write Mr. C. P. Atmore, General Passenger Agent, Louisville, Ky., for matter concerning it.

State Dinners at the White House.

There is no opportunity for general conversation, and the chef and your neighbor at table have your fate in their hands. But there are many other dinners and luncheons to which the elect and the congruous come; and twenty such, seated about the round table in the private dining room, make a goodly and a heartsome company. These are the dinners that endure the supreme test—you think well of your host and of the company when you wake up.—Ex-President Harrison in Ladies' Home Journal.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE

REPORTED BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

May, 26.

The senate reconsidered its hostile vote on Senator Crawford's primary election bill, and passed it by a vote of 36 to 7. In making the motion to reconsider Mr. Crawford said he believed the republican members could do no better thing for their party than to pass a compulsory primary election law. Following is the gist of the first named bill: "The primary election machinery is placed under the control of the board of election commissioners. The board selects the judges and clerks from the regular election judges and clerks; it designates the election precincts, which are to be grouped together into primary districts; it locates the polling places, and provides compensation for the judges and clerks. Any city, town or county may, by popular vote, accept or reject the plan. By its provisions it will be voted for by Chicago in the fall election of 1898. Each of the leading political parties is given two primary elections each year—one in the spring and one in the fall. These primaries are held on different days. Each primary election is under the control of the judges and clerks of the party which holds the primary." By a vote of 34 to 8 the senate today passed the house bill to establish a branch appellate court in Cook county. Other bills of importance were passed as follows: House bill providing that the county clerk of Cook county shall receive 10 cents for noting on collectors' warrants tax sales subject to redemption, to be paid by either the person making redemption from tax sales, the person surrendering the certificates of sale for cancellation, or the person taking out the tax deed. House bill raising the age in which children may be maintained at the Soldiers' Orphan Home at Normal from 14 to 16 and in certain cases to 18. House bill providing that the heirs to estates shall be notified before the will is probated. Senator Kingsbury's bill to provide for the appointment of food and scale inspectors in cities, towns and villages failed to pass by a vote of 4 yeas to 35 nays. The house bill relating to fraternal beneficiary societies was advanced to third reading and made a special order for tomorrow. In the house Mr. Jcy's bill to authorize the trustees of state hospitals for the insane to require patients of sufficient ability to pay the just charges of their support was passed by a vote of 95 to 19. Mr. Sherman's bill increasing the salary of the warden of the Joliet penitentiary from $2,500 to $4,000 per annum was also passed—yeas, 95; nays, 39. Sullivan spoke in favor of the bill, while Sharrock opposed it. The senate bill providing for a state board of pardons was advanced to third reading, as was Mr. Boyd's police pension bill. The bill of Mr. Murray of Sangamon, increasing the minimum age of school teachers to 18 for women and 19 for men was killed by striking out the enacting clause. The senate bill authorizing the West Park commissioners to issue $300,000 of bonds was advanced to second reading and made a special order for tomorrow. The senate bill to revise the law in relation to the commitment and detention of lunatics was taken up on second reading, and after considerable debate the enacting clause was stricken out.

May 28.

The Allen street car bill was passed and sent to senate. It has been amended and will be returned to the house.

May, 31.

The house met with Speaker Selby in the chair, "Gumboll Ed" being still in Kentucky looking into the cave. After a little business was transacted Chairman Allen of the Committee on Judiciary reported in the gas bills, known here as the consolidated gas and frontage bills. In the language of "the rowdy West," "every mule was in his stall." The consolidated gas bill was taken up, read a second time, several amendments to it were offered and voted down, and then the bill was made a special order for 9 o'clock and 20 minutes to-morrow morning. Then came the frontage bill, and it was treated the same way. Every time those who were opposed to the bills wanted a roll call they got it. The organization seemed perfect and the bills will be put on their passage to-morrow morning on schedule time. Mr. Allen from the Committee on Judiciary read the favorable report on the senate gas consolidation bill. He asked that it be read a second time at once. Objections were made and Mr. Allen then moved to suspend the rules. "A point of order," said Mr. Barnes. "This bill being in the possession of the house can be read a second time without a suspension of the rules." "The gentleman's point of order is well taken," said Acting Speaker Selby. The roll was then called on the motion to have the bill read. The motion prevailed—yeas 86, nays 36.

May 27.

When the house convened this morning, with Mr. Selby in the chair, the opponents of the Allen street railway bill resisted all attempts to dispense with the reading of the journal, and it was read in full. Mr. O'Donnell and Mr. Bryant complained they had been incorrectly recorded on the vote Tuesday making the Allen bill a special order for to-day, and after a brief controversy they were allowed to set themselves right. Morey's bill to fix a standard of analysis for milk was passed—yeas, 110; nays, 5. The tax levy bill, on motion of Mr. Thomas, was read a second time and made a special order on third reading for tomorrow. Mr. Perrotet's bill providing for the supervision of the warehouses at East St. Louis was advanced a third reading and made a special order for 11:30 to-morrow. The senate bill (McKinlay's) authorizing the appointment of a commission to ascertain and mark the positions occupied by Illinois troops in the battle of Shiloh was passed. After the contest over the Allen street railway bill the house adjourned to 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Senator Mahoney's bill to provide for the vaccination of school children was called up on its passage as a special order and caused a warm debate. The bill was finally recalled to second reading for the purpose of amendment. Mr. Fuller's anti-butterine bill was reported from the house and caused a lengthy discussion, Senator Landrigan moving that the rules be suspended, the bill read a first time and referred to the committee on farm drainage. The motion was beaten, lacking but one vote of the necessary two-thirds. The senate adjourned to 10 o'clock to-morrow.

Among the bills passed were the following: Senator Crawford's, providing for the construction of a driveway from Lake Park to Jackson Park and for the location of the Field museum on the lake front; vote, 28 yeas to 7 nays. Those voting in the negative were Senators Aspinwall, Baxter, Berry, Harding, Hull, McConnell and Payne. The house bill (Hammer's) authorizing the county board of supervisors to name the judges of election for each precinct at their July meeting; the supervisor to be one of the judges, and that no more than two of the remaining judges shall belong to one party. This bill prevents the collector and assessor from being ex-officio judges of election. The house bill (Avery's) relating to fraternal beneficiary societies (Modern Woodmen bill). Senator Crawford's, increasing the salary of the judges of the Supreme Court from $5,000 to $7,000 per annum. Senator Lundin's, to prevent the buying and selling of passes and fraudulent use of the same.

The legislation over the libel law took an unexpected turn. The house considered the senate bill, fathered by Mr. Lundin, and substituted for it a proposition offered by Mr. Alschuler, which repeals the law of 1895 and reenacts the old law on the subject of libel. The bill, as amended, was ordered to third reading. If it is passed in the turmoil incident to the close of the session it must go to the senate for concurrence in the amendment. The bill did not show as much strength as was anticipated. It had not to exceed 70 votes on the floor of the house this afternoon. Dave Shanahan fought it from beginning to end, and it is an even question now if the amended bill can get to the house. Alschuler made a strong speech against the bill as it came from the senate, and his effort had great weight with the house. He said he was opposed to the law of 1895, but he could not favor the measure that was pending in the house. When the judiciary committee reported the senate libel bill favorably Mr. Sherman asked that it be read a second time. There were objections, and Mr. Novak moved that the bill be read a second time. This motion, upon the roll call, was carried—yeas, 73; nays, 38.

Prof. Doellinger, one of the most erudite theologians of the Roman church, remarked in a lecture before the Munich Academy of Sciences, on the subject of "Founders of Religion," that religions did not drop ready made from heaven, nor could religious systems find a permanent resting place without a soil prepared to receive new ideas, on which they could germ and sprout. In fact, the ideas must have been in a state of germination, growing gradually to fruition, to spring into life at the touch of the founder's magic wand. It is the same with nations. They do not spring like Minerva out of Jupiter's head, full fledged. They are of slow growth, and when the proper leader and legislator steps upon the stage the material must be ready to be formed into a homogeneous whole.—The Minorah.

OBJECTS TO ANGELL.

The Sultan of Turkey Makes a Formal Protest.

The Turkish government has made formal objection to receiving Dr. Frank B. Angell of Michigan as minister from the United States. As an intimation of this character is final Dr. Angell cannot go to Constantinople in his diplomatic capacity.

United Presbyterian Assembly

The united Presbyterian assembly of North America at Rock Island, Ill., on Friday held that a ruling elder must be a member of the congregation. The night session was devoted to memorial addresses to ministers who have died during the year.

THE TRADE REVIEW.

Dunn & Co. Report Good Improvement in Business.

R. G. Dunn & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "People are actually doing more business than they realize. They reckon by values, but these are much lower than in any previous year of prosperity and leave little margin for profits. In quantity there is almost as much business being done as the years of greatest prosperity, and though the increase in population would call for a material expansion, the comparison is not discouraging. The recovery is slow, hesitating and gradual, but much has been done." "Failures for the week have been 214 in the United States, the smallest in any week since September, 1895, against 239 last year, and 22 in Canada, against 20 last year."

Sattley's Pardon Causes Anger.

Gov. Stephens' pardon of Elmer C. Sattley has roused an intense indignation among the 8,200 depositors of the institution which Sattley helped to wreck. When the bank failed it owed $2,200,000, and only a 5 per cent dividend of that amount has been paid. Sattley may be again tried on other indictments found.

THE BOSTONESE OF IT.

His Wife Never Told Him to Build the Fire.

Half a dozen or more department clerks, who for the sake of exclusiveness and other advantages reside in one of the beautiful suburbs adjacent to the most beautiful capital on the globe, were seated around the piazza of the home of one of them last Sunday in the pleasant sunshine, conversing, says the Washington Star.

After a discussion of the Greco-Turkish wrestling match, the house-senate wrestle with the tariff bill and a few other stirring questions of that kind they got down to plain, everyday domestic doings.

"By George," said one, "I've been married seven years and I think my wife is the finest woman on earth. Anyhow, she is for me."

"That's what I think of mine," said another, "but I wish incidentally to add that I have a mental reservation as to her dear mother."

Several of the men smiled, but no one ventured any further.

"Well, my wife is a daisy," added a third; "but I must say that when she loses her temper occasionally I wish she would lose it permanently and never find it again."

"Aw," said a fourth, "they can't help that you know. A woman has got to have some snap or she ain't worth shucks. Now, my wife—"

"So's mine," interrupted a sympathizer; and everybody understood and laughed.

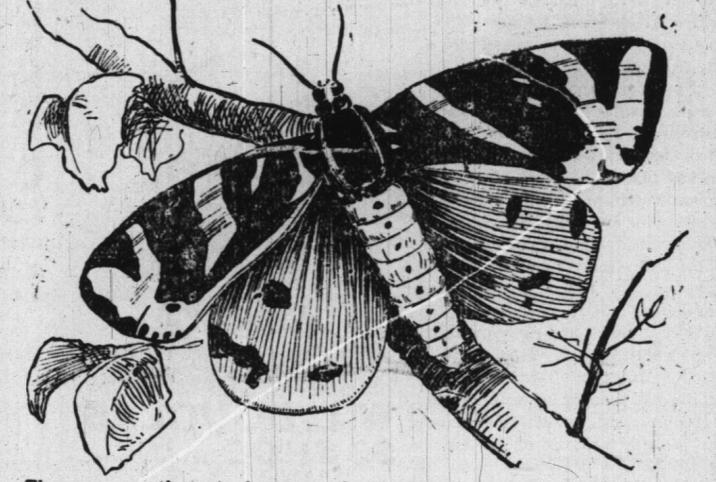

"The only objection I have to my wife," proceeded a man who looked strong and healthy, "is that she will insist on my making the fire every morning. I've tried to break her, but regularly every morning I'm awakened with the same old thing: 'John, John, get up and build the fire.'"

Every man looked at every other man, as if these words were the exact echo of what was throbbing in his own bosom. At least every one except one.

"Mine never says that to me," he said, with more or less pride, while the others gazed at him as if to say: "Would that heaven had made us such a wife." "You know, or if you don't, I'll tell you now, that my wife is a Boston woman, and she always says: 'Henry, Henry, arise and erect a conflagration!'"

However, this explanation did not prevent the resolution from passing unanimously.

THE GYPSY BUG HAS COST MASSACHUSETTS $700,000.

The gypsy moth is to be stamped out of the state of Massachusetts. This dangerous and destructive pest now covers an area of 200,000 square miles, but its ravages are not nearly so extensive and costly as they were a few years ago. The United States never had a complaint against the gypsy bug until a meddling French entomologist, one Leopold Trouvelot, brought some specimens to this country for experiment. The "experiment" was a glorious success, for Massachusetts became covered with the bugs, which multiplied faster than the human mind can conceive. That was thirty years ago. In 1870 Professor C. V. Riley, the state entomologist of Missouri, called attention to the growth of the pest in New England, but of course no attention was paid to him, and in 1889 the people of Massachusetts learned to their cost that a scientific warning, disregarded, becomes a matter of much regret. Thus far the gypsy bug has cost Massachusetts $700,000, and it will cost a few hundred thousand more before there is an end of it. Year after year vast sums were appropriated to stamp out the bug, and railway carriages and private conveyances were stopped and fumigated, and in this way the pest was kept from spreading over the entire state. The moth is now under control, and the secretary of the board of agriculture, Professor Fernald, says that another $500,000 or so, expended at the rate of $100,000 yearly, should entirely rid the state and the country of its presence. The moth devours everything green that grows, and is a most serious drawback to agriculture. Professor Fernald thinks that by 1910 it can be exterminated.

Thursday, May 27.

Thursday, May 27.—The senate made good progress on the tariff bill, disposing of about ten pages. Several votes were taken, the finance committee being sustained in each case by majorities varying from 6 to 15. The drug schedule was under discussion, and the debate was largely technical.

The house held a short session, during which an attempt was made to introduce a resolution recognizing the belligerency of the Cubans. Speaker Reed ruled it out of order. Adjourned till Monday.

Friday, May 28.

Friday, May 28.—Senator Tillman (S. C.) in a fiery speech on the sugar trust scandal, called on his associates to investigate the published charges of senatorial speculation, and if found true, purge the senate of those who debauched it.

Mr. Aldrich, republican member of the finance committee and in charge of the tariff bill, vehemently denied the charge that the sugar trust dictated the sugar schedule.

Considerable progress was made on the tariff bill, thirteen pages being covered. Several votes were taken during the day, but the finance committee had a liberal majority in every instance. The democratic members of the finance committee made a strong effort to reduce the rates on window glass, but their amendments to this effect were defeated.

Large Colony Is Planned.

Atlanta, Ga., May 31.—Ex-Governor Northern of this city, in carrying out his theory for the practical solution of the agricultural problems of the south, has just begun, with F. C. Varez of Louisville, Ky., and F. F. Putney and L. E. Welch of Albany, Ga., the location of another large colony of people upon 40,000 acres of land, near Albany, Ga. The land will be divided into farms, ranging from ten to 100 acres, with one large city, covering 1,000 acres, and situated in the center of the lands.

50,000 MINERS AFFECTED.

General Strike to Be Instituted Throughout the East.

The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America have decided to order a general strike throughout Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia, to secure the 69-cent rate for mining. More than 50,000 miners will be affected by the order.

Minnesota Law Thrown Down.

St. Paul, May 29.—The Supreme court Thursday declared the public warehouse law of 1895 unconstitutional. The law provided that every public warehouse other than those used for storage of grain should secure licenses from the government within thirty days after passage of the act, and that all railroad companies should be required to turn over to the warehouse companies all goods which had been in their possession uncalled for twenty days or more. The storage company was to pay the transportation charges and take a lien upon the goods for the amount.

Endeavor Union Rules Changed.

At the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Union of the Friends' church at Indianapolis the constitution was so changed that hereafter there will be five members of the advisory board, three to be elected and the other two to be the junior and senior superintendents. Kokomo and the first week in June, 1898, were selected as the place and time of the next meeting of the union. Howard Brown, Indianapolis, was elected superintendent.

Bartley's Arrest Is Legal.

Omaha, Neb., May 29.—Judge Baker of the District court overruled the motion to quash the information in the case against Joseph S. Bartley, the ex-estate treasurer, who is charged in the Criminal court of Douglas county with the embezzlement of $201,884.05 of state funds, which he is alleged to have withdrawn from the Omaha national bank and converted to his own use.

None of these judges have had less than two years of experience on the bench, and most of them have been holding court for more than five years, a number more than ten years, and one for over eighteen years. No person can impugn the honesty or ability successfully of any of these men. Some are Democrats and some Republicans, and all are honorable, able and industrious, and deserve the continued confidence of the people.

Be sure to see that all these names are on the ticket you approve and vote on June 7th, and be sure to vote. No election is more important than a judicial election. And it is of the greatest importance that good judges should be kept in the public service.

Eyes of Children.

Great care should be taken in exposing the child's eyes to the light; see that the light does not shine directly in its eyes as it lies in the lap. The light shining into the child's eyes when it is in the baby carriage not only affects the eyes, but the nerves. The cover of the umbrella of the carriage should be dark, and it is better to have the light reach the eyes from the side rather than from above. The care of the eyes is particularly important during this first year of life. Do not stand back of the child in talking to it. The muscles of the eyes are weak, and the child is in danger of straining them in turning, and crossed eyes may be one of the results. Do not hold things too near the eyes of the child. This is a cruelty to which many children are subjected. Bright colors are all very well at a distance, but do not dangle a brightly-colored object directly in front of the eyes.

SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1897.

Sad Indeed.

It is the season when the city dwellers migrate to the country. Our American aristocracy had their own cottages ready by May 1. The common people who work for their living will straggle along later, taking up their quarters in the hotels, cheap hired cottages and cheaper boarding houses. Moreover, they will do their best to look as handsome as the aristocracy.

Sometimes they do. Unless the millionaire American nobleman's wife and daughters had the amount of pa's income placarded upon the back of their distinguished pony phaeton the great public could not tell them from the schoolmistresses and wives of clerks and poor professional men. Herein lies the greatest grievance that can rankle in the soul of an American aristocrat. Do what he will, he cannot keep the people out of his path. He and his brethren may buy all the land for miles at a desirable summer resort and erect a barrier which none but cottage owners with a pedigree may pass, but in vain. A pedigree owner dies or loses his property or goes abroad to live. His magnificent mansion by sea or mountain is let for a common boarding house, and the odor of its breakfast hash is wafted day by day to the aristocratic nostril.

This melancholy tragedy is enacted summer after summer in our most high and mighty summer resorts, and as yet there is no way to prevent it.

Decline of Love Fiction.

The most notable feature in the successful new novels of the day is the small place the passion of love between the sexes occupies. It has not been many years since a novel whose leading motif was anything else than the fortunes of two lovers would have been set down as no novel at all. Now it really seems to have dawned upon writers and readers that there are other phases of human nature quite as well worth considering as the delirious attraction toward one another of two young persons of the opposite sex.

Mrs. Humphry Ward made perhaps the first decided departure from the old style of romance. Du Maurier's first success, "Peter Ibbetson," dealt with the passion of love, it is true, but it was of a weird kind that never brought the lovers together in the flesh. In Du Maurier's second novel, even more successful than the first, passionate romancing, except in the case of one character, dropped out of sight altogether, while in "The Martian," his last, perhaps also his greatest story, sexual love is a mere episode of the main story.

It has remained for Rudyard Kipling, in "Captains Courageous," to develop a novel, a brilliant and telling one, too, in its way, one with a lesson, without any sex love in it at all.

Really, must love's young dream take a back seat in the novel of the future?

"Our locomotives may go into the scrap heap, as the old stage coaches had to go," says President Clark of the New Haven railroad. The reason is to be found in the success of the new third rail system. In brief, electricity has been adapted to the long distance track by means of this rail. Electricity is sent into the third rail from various power houses along the route. The motor apparatus of the car takes the current from the rail by means of two shoes 33 feet apart. These slide along above the rail. An experiment train driven thus was able to make over a mile a minute. Railway officials are more than pleased. If the system is as successful as it promises to be, we have at hand a revolution in railway travel. The electricity can be furnished more cheaply than steam. There will be no stoppage for fuel and water along the route, no smoke or cinders. Passengers may have windows open with impunity and will not wake in the morning to find their berths in the sleeping car peppered over with soot. Travel will become a joy, as one is whirled to his destination at the rate of a mile a minute. It will be possible to journey from San Francisco across the continent to New York or Boston in less than four days.

Oklahoma is the right name for the state which is to be made by putting Indian and Oklahoma territories together into one commonwealth. Oklahoma is a brave old Indian name. It is musical to hear and pleasant to speak.

The Great State of Texas.
Other reasons than because she is the home of Congressman Joseph W. Bailey has Texas to be proud of herself. Almost anything that will grow in any part of the western hemisphere will thrive in one part of the state or another. Even bananas are produced at San Antonio, though the grower must always take some risk of untimely frost. The inhabitants claim that the fruit garden of the world is to be in the region 15 to 30 miles north of Galveston. When the north was doubled up with blizzards and snow in some places six feet deep early in April, Galveston people had strawberries peddled in their streets. They likewise had new cabbages for 1 and 2 cents the head, other fresh vegetables proportionally. This being the case, it is not surprising that the last few months have seen an influx of more than 500 thrifty German families into the Lone Star State. What is more, they came direct on German ships from their own land to Galveston, which is rapidly becoming a seaport of importance. The great state has also an abundance of timber, yellow pine and hard woods.

Congress should encourage Galveston's seaport aspirations. It is to become the point of exit for more farm products, live stock included, than any city on the Atlantic or Pacific. It is cheaper to send beeves by vessel from Galveston direct to Liverpool than by rail to New York, thence by ship to Liverpool. Besides that, they reach Great Britain in better condition when sent all the way by water.

Texas has 20,000,000 acres of school lands for sale at from $1 to $5 per acre. Here is space for even all the co-operative agricultural colonies that now exist on paper to materialize and have plenty of room left. It will be necessary for them and other settlers, however, to keep their eyes open and not purchase poor land or land annually rendered unproductive by drought. Texas needs irrigation in some parts of her soil. When that is accomplished, she will certainly have in her the making of an ideal country.

Her live stock and beeves are rapidly improving. She can raise spring lamb enough to supply all the country, more cheaply, too, than they can be raised elsewhere. She can also annually produce cotton enough to supply the world.

Texas has her own notions of value. A Texan will sell a pony for a couple of dollars and pay $35 for a common dog if the canine pleases him. A pair of game chickens is worth the price of a horse. So is a good hunting dog.

It makes us very weary, this talk about "educating children above their station" in our republican country. What is anybody's station in the United States anyhow? It is the place he can make for himself, and maintain. We must never lose sight of the fact that a hod carrier's children have as good right to a college training as the sons and daughters of the millionaire, if they can get it. Some lady critics of the American public school system, also some ministers of the gospel who seem to have forgotten that Christ was the son of a carpenter and his disciples were common fishermen, have lately been airing their mutual views on the ruinous effects of educating poor people's children to believe they can be ladies and gentlemen? An education is that which best fits a child for the work it will probably do in the world, but no fine lady lolling back in her chair and talking patronizingly of the people's schools, no high salaried preacher sitting upon velvet cushions in his gilded pulpit, has the right to decide what that work shall be. These least of all.

Another Accident.

Railway Clerk—Another accident on the road today. sir
Manager—That so? What now?
Clerk—Man dislocated his neck trying to read our new timetable.—New York Journal.

All the United States congresses are now billion dollar ones. The last three have each in turn appropriated more than $1,000,000,000 for the many expenses of this great nation. Of course we spend more money than we used to on national expenses, because the country is so much larger and its necessities are more complex. Still, to the average citizen it does appear as if our republican government ought not to cost us more than $500,000,000 a year, especially under the pressure of such hard times as have been upon the country since 1893.

There never was a difficulty that there was not also a way out of. When you are overwhelmed with troubles, brace up and find the way out. Do not kill yourself, do not whine. Go to work.

This is his distinguished name, Mustesharal Vezaewh, and he is the Persian minister to the United States.

Hundreds of thousands have been induced to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy by reading what it has done for others, and having tested its merits for themselves are to-day its warmest friends. For sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

The Heath & Milligan Mfg. Co. was the first on the market with a paint exclusively for floors. "Creolite" is the name of it and is the result of many years' experience, and they are in a position to know it is absolutely the best floor paint made, no matter what the price. This floor paint dries in 12 hours without tack. It is made in eight attractive colors and is sold by J. D. Lamey & Co., Barrington.

"There's no use in talking," says W. H. Broadwell, druggist, La Cygne, Kas., "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy does the work. After taking medicines of my own preparation and those of others, I took a dose of Chamberlain's and it helped me; a second dose cured me. Candidly and conscientiously I can recommend it as the best thing on the market." The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

Paint your buggy and make it look like new. The Heath & Milligan Mfg. Co. make a special paint for buggies—a paint that contains varnish and everything complete to make a first-class job. It is made in several handsome colors, and is sold by J. D. Lamey & Co. They also sell the black enamel finish for carriage tops.

A. H. Patter, with E. C. Atkins & Co., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I have never before given a testimonial in my life. But I will say that for three years we have never been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, and my wife would as soon think of being without flour as a bottle of this remedy in the summer season. We have used it with all three of our children and it has never failed to cure—not simply stop pain, but cure absolutely. It is all right, and anyone who tries it will find it so." For sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

THE MISADVENTURES OF JOHN NICHOLSON

BY ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON.

INTERNATIONAL PRESS ASSOCIATION.

When John awoke it was day. The few winter sun was already in the heavens, but his watch had stopped, and it was impossible to tell the hour exactly. Ten, he guessed it, and made haste to dress, dismal reflections crowding on his mind. But it was less from terror than from regret that he now wakened; and with his regret there were mingled cutting pangs of penitence. There had fallen upon him a blow, cruel, indeed, but yet only the punishment of old misdoing; and he had rebelled and plunged into fresh sin. The rod had been used to chasten, and he had bit the chastening fingers. His father was right; John had justified him; John was no guest for decent people's houses, and no fit associate for decent people's children. And had a broader hint been needed, there was the case of his old friend. John was no drunkard, though he could at times exceed; and the picture of Houston drinking neat spirits at his hall-table struck him with something like disgust. He hung back from meeting his old friend. He could have wished he had not come to him; and yet, even now, where else was he to turn?

These musings occupied him while he dressed, and accompanied him into the lobby of the house. The door stood open on the garden; doubtless, Alan had stepped forth; and John did as he supposed his friend had done. The ground was hard as iron, the frost still rigorous; as he brushed among the hollies, icicles jingled and glittered in their fall; and wherever he went, a volley of eager sparrows followed him. Here were Christmas weather and Christmas morning duly met, to the delight of children. This was the day of reunited families, the day to which he had so long looked forward, thinking to awake in his own bed in Randolph Crescent, reconciled with all men and repeating the footprints of his youth; and here he was alone, pacing the alleys of a wintry garden and filled with penitential thoughts.

And that reminded him: why was he alone? and where was Alan? The thought of the festal morning and the due salutations reawakened his desire for his friend, and he began to call for him by name. As the sound of his voice died away, he was aware of the greatness of the silence that environed him. But for the twittering of the sparrows and the crunching of his own feet upon the frozen snow, the whole winless world of air hung over him untraced, and the stillness weighed upon his mind with a horror of solitude.

Still calling at intervals, but now with a moderated voice, he made the hasty circuit of the garden, and finding neither man nor trace of man in all its evergreen coverts, turned at last to the house. About the house the silence seemed to deepen strangely. The door, indeed, stood open as before; but the windows were still shuttered, the chimneys breathed no stain into the bright air, there sounded abroad none of that low stir (perhaps audible rather to the ear of the spirit than to the ear of the flesh) by which a house announces and betrays its human lodgers. And yet Alan must be there—Alan locked in drunken slumbers, forgetful of the return of day, of the holy season, and of the friend whom he had so coldly received and was now so churlishly neglecting. John's disgust redoubled at the thought; but hunger was beginning to grow stronger than repulsion, and as a step to breakfast, if nothing else, he must find and arouse this sleeper.

He made the circuit of the bedroom quarters. All, until he came to Alan's chamber, were locked from without, and bore the marks of a prolonged disuse. But Alan's was a room in commission, filled with clothes, knickknacks, letters, books, and the conveniences of a solitary man. The fire had been lighted; but it had long ago burned out, and the ashes were stone cold. The bed had been made, but it had not been slept in. Worse and worse, then; Alan must have fallen where he sat, and now sprawled brutishly, no doubt, upon the dining-room floor.

CHAPTER VII.

The dining-room was a very long apartment, and was reached through a passage; so that John, upon his entrance, brought but little light with him and must move toward the windows with spread arms, groping and knocking on the furniture. Suddenly he tripped and fell his length over a grotesque body. It was what he had looked for, yet it shocked him; and he marvelled that so rough an impact swung it with an effort from the ground, and with a rush of relief, came forth again under the open heavens.

The portmanteau, being of occidental build, was no feather-weight; it had distressed the powerful Alan; and as for John, he was crushed under its bulk, and the sweat broke upon him thickly. Twice he must set it down to rest before he reached the gate; and when he had come so far, he must do as Alan did, and take his seat upon one corner. Here, then, he sat awhile and panted; but now his thoughts were sensibly lightened; now, with the trunk standing just inside the door, some part of his dissociation from the house of crime had been effected, and the cabman need not pass the garden wall. It was wonderful how that relieved him; for the house, in his eyes, was a place to strike the most cursory beholder with suspicion, as though the very windows had cried murder.

But there was to be no remission of the strokes of fate. As he thus sat, taking breath in the shadow of the wall and hopped about by sparrows, it chanced that his eye roved to the fastening of the door; and what he saw plucked him to his feet. The thing looked with a spring; once the door was closed, the bolt shot of itself; and without a key there was no means of entering from without.

He saw himself obliged to one of two disgraceful and perilous alternatives; either to shut the door altogether and set his portmanteau out upon the wayside, a wonder to all beholders; or to leave the door ajar, so that any thievish tramp or holiday school-boy might stray in and stumble on the grisly secret. To the last, as the least desperate, his mind inclined; but he must first insure himself that he was unobserved. He peered out, and down the long road; it lay dead empty. He went to the corner of the by-road that comes by way of Dean; there, also, not a passenger was stirring. Plainly it was, now, or never, the high tide of his affairs; and he drew the door as close as he durst, slipped a pebble in the chink, and made off downhill to find a cab.

Half-way down a gate opened, and a troop of Christmas children sallied forth in the most cheerful humor, followed more soberly by a smiling mother.

"And this is Christmas-day!" thought John; and could have laughed aloud in tragic bitterness of heart.

How He Watched His Chance and Stole a Sponge.

It is somewhat singular that a man, by keeping his eyes open, can see unexpectedly many interesting incidents of city life every day but cannot see incidents that he expects to see, says an exchange. If he travels up and down and across town frequently he may expect to see fires, but the chances are that he will travel for weeks without seeing a sign of flames, although the record in the newspapers indicates that eight or ten fires a day are not unusual. Likewise in regard to accidents in the streets. If a cable car runs over a person it is reported that a great throng gathered at the scene, but it is evident that the number of persons that could be summoned as witnesses is very small. Hardly an hour passes without something happening in Broadway and attracting a crowd in a few minutes, but hundreds on the outskirts are obliged to ask: "What's the matter?" Minor incidents are sized up sooner and sometimes they are as interesting as the incidents one expects to see. That was exemplified at Broadway and Fulton street at noon recently. One of the peddlers there had a box of sponges on the curbstone. Being obliged to be on guard against the approach of a policeman, he did not observe a stub-tailed dog until after it had seized a sponge with its teeth and started to run across the street. His features expressed amazement and anger in quick succession as he exclaimed, "You little cuss!" and ran after the dog. The dog became bewildered slightly while trying to escape, and he glanced backward to see if he had been pursued. The peddler hesitated over leaving his box too far out of sight and, on the crossing, contented himself with whistling and snapping his fingers at the dog in a manner suggestive of his desires to recover the sponge. But the dog would not be influenced by a strange voice. Fifty persons watched the performance and, although a few sympathetic individuals tried to catch the dog, the majority laughed. Seeing an opening under a wagon, the dog jumped through and scampered up the street. It is not unreasonable to believe that those who saw the incident imagined that the dog had been trained to steal, although its master did not reveal himself in the immediate vicinity.

ILLINOIS NEWSLETS.

RECORD OF MINOR DOINGS OF THE WEEK.

Seven Days' Happenings Condensed—Social, Religious, Political, Criminal, Obituary and Miscellaneous Events from Every Section of the State.

The body of Charles Sundholm, a tailor, who disappeared from his home several days ago, was found at the mouth of the Chicago river, Chicago.

The operetta "Pauline, the Belle of Saratoga," was given by the young woman's class of the California Avenue Congregational church at Occidental hall last week.

Ascension day was observed by St. Paul's commandery, Knight Templars, of Fairbury. Visitors attended from all the neighboring cities. Sir Knights Perran of Chicago and C. F. H. Carriers of this city delivered addresses, which were followed by a banquet.

Peoria, Ill., Special: A meeting of the trustees of Bradley Polytechnic institute was held here, all the members being present. Dr. Harper and Prof. A. W. Small of the University of Chicago, and Prof. E. O. Sisson of Chicago were present, as were all the other members. Eight university professors were recommended for positions on the faculty, and will be announced as soon as contracts are closed. Monday, Oct. 4, was selected as dedication day. The buildings are in course of erection.

Four years ago Mrs. Stuart Harper of Moline lost four diamond rings from her suburban house, Witchwood, two miles south of Moline. They were valued at $2,000. Detectives were employed on the case for several months, but their efforts to find the gems were futile. Ashes had been placed about the windmill, and last week after four years Alex. Trevor, Mrs. Harper's coachman, found one of the rings embedded in the ashes. It was in good condition. A further search revealed a second ring, and also four diamonds from a third ring. In all, only about $100 worth of the property is now missing. The ashes are being sifted in the hope of finding two small diamonds and a sapphire.

Last week at the poor house in Will county George Sage, aged 21 years, son of Elizur Sage, of Channahon township, died with consumption and from the effect of worrying over the affairs of his parents. His father, after paying his uncle, Russell Sage, the $50 due on his mortgaged house, could not afford to give George any of the delicacies needed. George also worried over the attempt of his mother to commit suicide two weeks ago. The supervisor of Channahon wrote to Russell Sage, the New York millionaire, two years ago, asking him to make provision for his nephew's son, to keep him out of the poorhouse. The appeal was unanswered, and to the county house the young man went.

Waukegan, Ill., special: The Illinois Equal Suffrage society opened its twenty-fourth annual meeting here today. About seventy-five delegates were present. In the afternoon the regular session was held in the Methodist church. President Julia Mills Dunn of Moline called the meeting to order, and Mrs. M. S. Fitts, president of the local society, welcomed the delegates. A letter of greeting from Mayor Pearce was also read, to which Mrs. Belinda Sackett of Geneva responded. Committees were appointed for the ensuing year and some reports were read. Miss Mary Miller reported rather discouragingly of the society's paper, the Women's Forum, saying that they only had 67 cents on hand. Mrs. Conine of the Colorado legislature was introduced to the audience, and was greeted with applause. At the evening session Mrs. Conine spoke on "Women in Municipal Politics." Other speakers were Helen M. Gougar, Rena Michaels Atchison and Fannie Newman.

Bloomington Special: At 7:15 o'clock Thursday Michael T. Colton was found dead in his apartments on a third floor on West Washington street. Colton, who was a bartender, had been missing since Monday. His room was entered by the police and his body was found lying on the floor. The room was in confusion. The bed clothing was disturbed, and the remains of the supper were upon the table. There were three bullet holes in Colton's head. The room door to the hall was locked, but the transom was open. The key lay on the floor of the room near the door. A revolver, two loads of which had been discharged, lay on the floor near the corpse. Colton's wife and he had lived very unhappily, and only a few weeks ago he was arrested for assaulting her. They had quarreled almost incessantly. Mrs. Colton has not been seen for several days. It is believed Colton was shot once while he was on his feet and twice after he was on the floor. A coroner's jury was impaneled and the inquest postponed until to-morrow. At 10 o'clock to-night the police found in a corner of the room a hatchet, the blade of which was smeared with blood, as was also a towel hanging on the wall.

THE GRAIN-O LAW SUIT.

Rochester, N. Y., May 19, 1897.—The great $50,000 damage suit instituted by a Michigan cereal company against the Genesee Pure Food Company is at an end. They settled it and took it out of court for the ridiculously small sum of $500, and, as a practical result, Grain-O is in greater demand than ever. The new plant, only just completed, is to be duplicated, so that not only the old friends of the delicious food drink, which completely takes the place of coffee, but the new friends it is making every day can be supplied. The beverage which the children, as well as the adult, may drink with benefit will be furnished in unlimited quantities.

Suits may come and suits may go, but Grain-O goes on forever.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

PHYSICIANS BAFLED.

Prof. R. S. Bowman, Instructor of Natural Science in Hartsville College, Cured of a Severe Illness by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People After Physicians Failed.

From the Republican, Columbus, Ind.

Prof. R. S. Bowman, the able instructor of natural science in the famous Hartsville, (Ind.,) College, is well and favorably known, not only as an educator, but also as a minister of the gospel, as for a number of years he was pastor of the United Brethren church at Charlotte, Mich., before coming to Hartsville.

PROF. R. S. BOWMAN.

Some time ago he had a severe illness which was cured almost miraculously. A reporter hearing of this, interviewed him regarding his experience. Prof. Bowman was in the midst of his work when the reporter called, but he cheerfully gave him a hearing. "A year ago last fall," said the professor, "I broke down with nervous exhaustion, and was unable to properly attend to my

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over 1/4 as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cts. and 25 cts. per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

duties. I tried different physicians but with no relief, and also used many different proprietary medicines, spending almost fifty dollars for these medicines alone. I then succumbed to a siege of the grip in the middle of winter, and was left in a much worse condition. My kidneys were fearfully disordered, and my digestion became very poor. I was indeed in a bad condition. "A minister in conference learning of my condition advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I had heard much about the wonderful curative powers of this medicine, but it was with reluctance that I was finally persuaded to try it, as it seemed that nothing could do me any good. However, I procured three boxes of pills and took them strictly according to directions. By the time the last dose was taken I was almost cured, and in better health than I had been for years. I continued using the pills awhile longer and was entirely cured. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

Such was Professor Bowman's wonderful story which was further endorsed by the following affidavit:

Educational institutions are of value in proportion to the completeness of their equipment and the favorable aspects of their environment. No institution in the world has gathered to itself such complete advantages in the way of equipment and educational ability as the NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC in Boston. Its pupils are instructed as thoroughly and with as much care in the beginning of their courses, as in the highest grades that are offered, while the reputation of the institution and the record made by its graduates both at home and abroad, are at all times a guarantee of the ability of those who pass through its curriculum.

Good Word for Ducks.

Under favorable conditions the breeding of ducks is very profitable, says a writer in the Poultry Monthly, and there are few farms or small country places upon which a few ducks cannot be kept with both pleasure and profit. Of course, these birds belong to the classes of water fowl, and therefore it is desirable to have a pond, spring, brook, lake, or some small, clean body of water in which the ducks may bathe and freshen their plumage (which soon becomes soiled and dirty), as well as secure considerable food in the shape of water plants, insects, worms, etc. Wherever a duck plant is located near an arm of the sea, the ducks secure much food in shape of fish, quahaugs, clams, etc., at each ebb tide. But notwithstanding the desirability of water privileges, ducks will get along and do very well with only enough water for drinking purposes, and indeed thousands upon thousands of ducks that have graced tables of hotels, epicures and others, never saw more water than their drinking dishes held, from time of hatching until death ended all. That roast duck is fine eating cannot be denied, and that duck eggs are large and very nutritious also cannot be gainsaid. Hence a flock of a dozen, or less, of ducks will go quite a distance in keeping the family in the best of provisions. One very important item about the duck is that, when properly cared for in a small flock, she will continue laying for three or four months a fine, large egg, just as true as the day comes around. The hen is satisfied to lay every other day, or even less, but the duck carries on active business every day. It is not a good plan to pen ducks in very large flocks. Twenty-five ducks to a pen is plenty, and four lively drakes about right for twenty-five ducks. During the laying season keep the ducks confined during the forenoon, when the eggs will have been about all dropped; then set them at liberty during the afternoon. Ducks are great eaters, but luckily not over particular. They seem to crave bulky, filling food; so boll roots for them, such as beets, carrots, onions, potatoes and turnips. Mash these and add a mixture of ground grain composed of bran, ground oats, cornmeal and linseed meal. Mix the grain something as follows: One peck of bran, one peck of oats, one peck of cornmeal, and two pecks of linseed meal. Do not forget oyster shells for grit and to help form the egg shells, for the making of which a great deal of carbonate of lime is needed. The young ducklings are at first quite tender and must be kept from rain, water and all dampness. Feed them milk with the regular foods, if possible, and force rapid growth. As soon as they acquire regular feather they are hardy and tough.

Tuberculin Test in France.

The French government has recently issued a decree that will affect all shippers of cattle to that country, the order being in effect that no cattle can be imported and retained unless they have been tested on the frontier by the tuberculin test and found free of tuberculosis. This measure has become imperative owing to the prevalence of the above disease among bovine stocks, the serious loss that has resulted to stock owners, and the menace to public health. The order particularly affects the import of British breeding stock. In the past few years a syndicate of French breeders of Shorthorns has, through the aid of the French government, purchased numbers of high-bred Shorthorns in Great Britain with the object of improving the cattle of that breed in their own country. Among their purchases have been some of the best Shorthorn bulls brought out at the shows of the Royal Agricultural Society of England. Under the new regulation of the French government the above syndicate finds it must refuse to purchase any cattle that will not come out clear from the tuberculin test. Recent experience under this order brings out this emphatic refusal, two or three of the bulls purchased in Great Britain having proved tuberculous and having to be destroyed. One of these was Lord Polwarth's "Nonsuch"—champion at the Royal Show at Leicester—and purchased at a price closely approaching $5,000. Under the circumstances the decision of the syndicate is hardly surprising. The example of the French government has been followed by the Canadian—that no cattle shall be imported into the Dominion unless warranted free of tuberculosis as tested by the tuberculin test.

Use of Milk.—There is nothing aside from the milk of human kindness so necessary to the comfort of any family as the milk of a good cow. It is like oil poured upon the troubled waters of family life; it is a perfect food for the baby; it is an excellent beverage for the children; it furnishes cream for the coffee, butter for the bread, and cheese for the lunch. It shortens the pie crust and raises the Johnny cake, even the cat and dog cry for it. With the farmer it goes still further. It raises the calf; it feeds the pig; it pleases the colt and it delights the chickens. Yes, and if he will only give her a fair chance, the cow will clothe the children, buy comforts for the wife, pay the taxes and help to lift the mortgage.—Rev. T. Currie.

The Man who is Raising a Big Crop

—realizes that the harvest time is ahead. Ideal farming comprehends not only the growing of the tallest grain—the most tons-to-the-acre of hay; the best farming—the farming that pays—must contemplate something more than this: for there is a harvest time, and just in proportion as a crop is saved successfully, speedily and economically, in just that proportion may be measured the season's profit or loss.

Harvesting Machines are the profit-bringing kind; they are built for long wear, hard work, light draft, and in short, to satisfy. There are other kinds that don't cost as much, but there's nothing cheaper than the best. REV. J. WESLEY MILLER, Cured of a BAD COUGH.

He writes on May 11, 1897: "I have been troubled for years with a cough in the winter season AND this last winter had a severe attack of bronchitis which left me worse, if possible, than before, but after taking three 25c boxes of Dr. Kay's Lung Balm have been completely cured. My wife has been troubled with CONSTIPATION FOR 10 OR 12 YEARS and at times has vomited as long as eight days without the bowels moving and has had to take medicine constantly but has never found anything that has done her so much good as

Dr. Kay's Renovator

She has taken four 25c boxes and while taking it, has been regular and has improved in her general health very much, and I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Kay's remedies to those who are afflicted.—J. WESLEY MILLER, Pastor, M. E. Church, Grandview, Ill. Dr. Kay's Renovator has cured so many of the worst cases of DYSPEPSIA that we consider it a specific for this disease and for proof we refer all to the testimonials of wonderful cures reported in our book. It has cured many bad cases of HEADACHE, and when caused by constipation or dyspepsia it is sure to cure every case. In fact, we believe it has no equal for headache from whatever cause. It always cures BILIOUSNESS and all forms of liver and kidney complaints, nervousness, neuralgia, impure blood, eczema, skin diseases, pimples, boils, blotches, glandular enlargements, dropsy, RHEUMATISM and piles. It is sold by druggists or sent by mail at 25c a box. Send stamp for Dr. B. J. Kay's "Home Treatment and Valuable Recipes," a 68 page book treating all diseases. Address Dr. B. J. Stop! Women,

And Consider the All-Important Fact,

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience in treating woman's diseases is greater than that of any living physician—male or female.

You can talk freely to a woman when it is revolting to relate your private troubles to a man—besides, a man does not understand—simply because he is a man. Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman, whose knowledge from actual experience is greater than any local physician in the world. The following invitation is freely offered; accept it in the same spirit:

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

The Lake County Unions is the name of a baseball nine organized by John Forbes of Lake Zurich. The nine is composed of players from Barington, Lake Zurich and Wauconda. They are equipped with new and attractive uniforms. Judging from the way they played at the practice game at Lake Zurich Sunday it will take a pretty good nine to best them. They will play an A1 nine Monday, at 3 o'clock, at the picnic to be given at Oak Park, Lake Zurich.

They say that Gustav Fiedler, Lake Zurich's hustling and popular butcher, was caught napping for once. As he returned from a hurried trip to Chicago on Tuesday he forgot that he was travelling on the fast N.-W. R.R. instead of the "J.," and consequently when he thought he was about at Desplaines the porter called out Cary.

The fire which a great many persons saw Monday night was the Irving Hotel, the $90,000 hostelry at Lake Bluff. The building was completely razed to the ground, and the invaluable grove, which was the finest to be found anywhere, was completely ruined. The property was insured for $50,000.

The dance given at Foreman's pavilion Monday evening was an unqualified success in every way. A large number of citizens took their families, and an unusually good time was had by all. There could not have been found a more orderly crowd anywhere than was in attendance at this dance.

Don't forget to attend the first picnic of the season at Oak Park, Lake Zurich, on Pentecost Monday, June 7th. A large number of attractions have been secured, and no pains or expense will be spared by John Forbes, the manager, to make this one of the most enjoyable gatherings that ever took place in Lake Zurich. Make your arrangements to attend this picnic. See large bills for further particulars.

Mrs. Stempel was tendered a very pleasant surprise party by eighteen of her friends Friday evening of last week. Social games were indulged in, and all present had a most enjoyable time. Refreshments were served at midnight, to which ample justice was done. The party must be classed as one of the most enjoyable social affairs given this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Landwer entertained, on Monday, Messrs. and Mesdames A. Thies of Elgin, William Thies, Jr., of Hanover, Wm. Thies, sr., of Plum Grove, and Misses Florence Thies of Elgin and Helen Lorenzen of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Remington and daughter of Ruthvin, Ia.

A most enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Kitson Wednesday evening, the occasion being a surprise party given in honor of their daughter, Miss Gertrude, and Miss Lillis Colby, by a number of their friends. After playing many social games, a good luncheon was served. All present spent a most enjoyable evening.

The Lake Zurich creamery is turning out some extra fine butter and cheese. The credit for this is due John Willner, who makes the butter, and John Danielson, the cheesemaker. Both these gentlemen are good workmen and understand their business. F. E. Hawley & Co. own the creamery.

Don't forget to turn out at the election next Monday, June 7th. Elections will be held both in Lake and Cook counties to elect judges for the Supreme and Circuit courts; and in addition Cook county elects a Superior Court judge and a county commissioner. Polls are open from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Tomorrow morning (June 6th), at 10:30 o'clock, Barrington Camp No. 809, M. W. A., will attend divine service at the M. E. church, and in the afternoon they will march to the cemetery and decorate the graves of their deceased Neighbors. The Woodmen will meet at their hall at 10 o'clock and then march in a body to the church. In the afternoon they will again assemble at their hall at 1:30 o'clock, and then proceed to the cemetery. Every Woodman is requested, out of respect for their deceased Neighbors, to attend the services.

If you once use Kalsomine, you will not want to use any more whitewash. Kalsomine is mixed and applied identically the same as whitewash and will not leave streaks nor rub off. It is put up in 5lb packages in several handsome tints. Sold by J. D. Lamey & Co., Barrington.

The dispute between the inhabitants of school district No. 11, commonly known as Pedersen's district, and No. 5 (Kelsey school) has been settled by County Superintendents of Schools

Marvin of Lake County and Wire of McHenry County. Some time ago certain parties wished to annex Messrs. George and Deforest Kelsey to District No. 5 and detach them from District No. 11. The case was bitterly fought before the school board, resulting in a verdict for the District No. 11. The case was appealed to the county superintendents of schools of Lake and McHenry counties, with the result that the Messrs. Kelsey now belong to School District No. 5. Both, George and Deforest Kelsey wanted to be annexed to School District No. 5.

About twelve young ladies and gentlemen met Friday evening of last week and planned a surprise party on their popular little friend and schoolmate, Myrtle Comstock. The surprise was complete, and after playing "Kiss the Pillow", "Postoffice", "Cross Questions and Crooked Answers" and "Spin the Platter", refreshments were served. A most enjoyable time was had by the jolly young folks. Those present were: Masters Bennie Schroeder, Willie Wagner, Rex Henderson, Fred Boehmer, Charlie Thorp, Walter Lageschulte and Lewis Comstock, and Misses Jennie Fletcher, Mabel Wagner, Ethel Kitson, Charlotte Palmer, Mary Ulrich and Myrtle Comstock.

The C. & N.-W. road made a few slight changes on their time-table which went into effect Monday. In the morning the 2nd Barrington train leaves at 6:30 and the 3rd Barrington at 7:00 o'clock. The time of the St. Paul train, which arrives here in the morning, has been changed to 6:45. This train stops at Barrington and Palatine on Sundays only, to take on passengers. On June 7th another Geneva Lake train will be put on and will leave Chicago on week days at 1:15 p. m. arriving at Barrington at 2:13 p. m. Returning, this train will leave Barrington at 6:53 p. m. week days.

The Electric Light of Mowerdom

The pine knot—the tallow candle—the oil lamp—gas—these are stages in the evolution of illumination, which today finds its highest exponent in the electric light.

Similar and no less striking has been the evolution of grain and grass cutting machinery. In 1831 the scythe and the cradle were superseded by the McCormick Reaper. The intervening years have seen many improvements, until now we have that model Harvester and Binder, the McCormick Right Hand Open Elevator, and that veritable electric light of mowerdom, the

MCCORMICK

New 4. It is not only the handsomest mower ever built, but it is, in every sense of the word, the best—and if your experience has taught you anything, it is that there's nothing cheaper than the best.
