Charles Keyes has been around the past week nursing a bad tooth.
Mrs. Shadle of Prairie View is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Nichols.

John Gainor will move with his family to Palatine in the near future.

A. G. Smith made a trip to Richmond Saturday, where he visited his sister and some friends.

The new grist mill is nearing completion rapidly so far as the carpenter work is concerned.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Fisk of Brunson, Mich., visited with their niece, Mrs. G. H. Arps, over last Sunday.

Miss Ethyl Robertson of Barrington visited friends here Thursday afternoon.

John Sheffner of Elgin returned home Tuesday, after a week's visit with friends.

The Ladies' Missionary society will meet with Mrs. Elmer Robertson next Wednesday afternoon.

Henry Mundhenke and family returned from Iowa Saturday, after several week's visit with Mrs. Mundhenke's parents.

A large number from this place witnessed the Northwestern-Chicago football game at Chicago last Saturday.

Mr. Wing of Chicago, agent for an oil company, has moved into the Sturm house, and will peddle oil in our community.

James and Miss May Baker were out from Chicago Wednesday and spent the day with their mother and her family.

The rumor that Ahlgren & Lytle would move their meat market to other quarters is without foundation of truth.

Miss Isabelle Hunt of Elgin is staying with her aunt, Mrs. G. H. Arps, in this place while receiving medical treatment.

Rev. W. H. Haight, former presiding elder of this district, died in Chicago, and was buried Saturday at Belvidere.

FOR SALE—A lot, with good 8-room house and good barn on Plum Grove avenue, opposite the M. E. church. For particulars call on A. G. Smith.

The Palatine football team will meet the Garfield Athletic club team on the Athletic field this afternoon. The Garfield's played a tie game with the crack First Regiment team.

Mrs. Melssner of Richmond was visiting relatives here Wednesday and attended Mrs. W. H. Brockway's birthday anniversary, which Mrs. Brockway celebrated by inviting a few relatives.

The Young Ladies' Missionary society will meet with Miss Belle Taylor next Friday evening. All young people are invited to attend. Carriages will be at the church at 7:30 o'clock.

The Mayfair High school football team will meet the Palatine High school team on the Athletic grounds this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Capt. Knigge expects to lead his team to victory.

Haverkamp, a farmer living near Schaumburg, was thrown from his wagon in Elgin about 6 p. m. October 15, and his leg near the knee was broken. He was hurled against the sidewalk. The accident occurred near the Washington house and was caused by his team becoming frightened at a bicyclist. Dr. Dan H. Whitford attended him.

Two students from Moody's Institute, Chicago, told of their work among the prisoners and took up a free will offering in behalf of their work. A large audience attended the services in the M. E. church on Sunday evening, and were especially pleased with the solos and duets, which were sung in an exceptionally pleasing manner.

Only four members of the Des Plaines High school football team put in an appearance for a game here Saturday so several of Palatine's enthusiasts consented to help them out, and lined up, only to be run over in grand style by our High school team. No one seems to be able to give the score, but it was something less than 100 to 0.

A representative of the Chicago Telephone company was in town this week to obtain subscribers for their coupons, in consideration of which the company will put in a telephone line before January 1. The coupons will be taken as cash for service over the 'phone. The agent did not do as well as he expected, only $140 being subscribed. The company will decide in a few days as to whether they will put in a line to this village or not.

Independents Win Again.

The game of baseball at Wauconda Friday between the Elgin Iroquois and the Wauconda Independents at Wauconda resulted in a victory for the latter.

The score by innings was as follows:
Wauconda.....0 0 0 0 5 1 1 1 * 8
Elgin.....0 0 0 1 0 3 0 0 * 0-5

The battery for the Elgins was Brown and Priller; Wauconda, Broncheon and Roney.

Reception to Rev. and Mrs. T. E. Ream.

A complete surprise awaited Rev. and Mrs. T. E. Ream when they accepted an invitation Saturday evening to attend an informal reception in the M. E. church parlors.

About 200 or more people had, in response to invitations, assembled to celebrate the fact that their popular and able divine had been returned to them for another year, and incidentally to pay homage to the reverend gentleman and his estimable wife.

On entering the doors of the church parlors Rev. and Mrs. Ream were greeted with a Chautauquan salute, after which an address of welcome was read by Mr. J. E. Heise, followed by an original song by Mr. F. E. Lines, and which was composed for the occasion by Mrs. F. E. Lines. Revs. Troyer, Hageman and Suhr then delivered welcome addresses to their brother pastor, followed by a solo by Mr. Harry Vermilya, recitations by Mesdames F. E. Lines and M. G. McIntosh, a solo by Miss Carrie Kingsley and a recitation by Mrs. M. A. Bennett.

The smiling faces of the audience, which was composed of the elite of Barrington, clearly indicated that they approved of the action of the Rock River conference in returning Rev. Ream to Barrington for another year.

Fruit was served, and an enjoyable evening was spent by those present.

All kinds of job work promptly and neatly executed at figures that will defy competition, at REVIEW office.

APPROPRIATELY OBSERVED.

The Silver Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. H. Maiman Observed in Fitting Style.

Twenty-five years ago Friday of last week Mr. Henry Maiman led to the altar Miss Mary Gieseler, where Rev. Father Gaebbles, pastor of the Fremont church, pronounced them man and wife, after they had vowed to honor each other and stand by each other until death do them part. No truer exemplification of the noble characters possessed by the then young couple could be found then the celebration of their silver wedding anniversary which occurred on October 22, at their residence in Wauconda.

On the morning of Friday of last week the happy couple, followed by many of their relatives and friends, repaired to the Fremont church, where appropriate services were conducted. The leading characters in the joyful event, were preceded to the altar by two little flower girls.—Dora Hapke and Cella Freund—where they were blessed by Rev. Father Gieseler, a brother of Mrs. Maiman. Rev. Father Rhode, pastor of the church, then delivered an appropriate address. In the evening at 7 o'clock a large number of invited guests assembled at the comfortable home of Mr. and Mrs. Maiman, where they were most hospitably entertained at a banquet. Vocal and instrumental selections were followed by a social dance in the spacious hall above the store conducted by Mr. Maiman.

The guests present were:
Messrs and Mesdames:

J. Golding
L. C. Price
Jas. Welch
J. N. Freund
R. Harrison
G. W. Pratt
C. A. Hapke
M. Reis.

Mesdames
Chas. Davlin
Grosvenor
Ruggles
Wm. Lamphere
C. L. Pratt
Gieseler

Misses
Cora Davlin
Mary Freund
Anna Herbes
Daisy Grosvenor
Priscilla Davlin
Florence Ruggles
Clara Hendershot
Katie Freund
Eva Davlin.

Messrs.
Mat Freund
John Herbes
J. Boller
Rev. Father Jos. Rhode.
Rev. Father Gieseler
Henry Herbes
P. J. Maiman

The presents received by Mr. and Mrs. Maiman were many, among them being:

Silver Cup and Saucer, lined with gold—Rev. J. C. Gieseler.

Silver butter dish—Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Pratt.

Pie knife—Mr. and Mrs. J. Golding.

Breakfast-caster—Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Price.

Cake basket—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Davlin.

Butter knife—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Welch.

Butter dish—Mr. and Mrs. R. Harrison.

Fruit dish—Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Freund.

Nutcracker and picks—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lamphere.

Silver Cream Ladle—Miss Cora Davlin.

Silver Cup and Saucer—Mrs. Ruggles and daughter, Miss Florence Ruggles.

Silver Cake Knife and Fruit Dish—Mrs. Gieseler.

Silver Cake Basket—Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hapke.

Silver Butter Knife—Mrs. Herbes.

Silver Spoon-holder—Mr. and Mrs. M. Reis.

Silver Berry-spoon—Mr. Thos. Thorsen of Chicago.

Silver Card Receiver—Messrs. J. and E. Schless of Chicago.

Silver Picture Frame—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Maiman of Elma, Ia.

Silver Match Safe and Pocketbook—P. J. Maiman.

One-half dozen Silver Teaspoons—H. E. Maiman.

There is a practical lesson to be learned from the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Maiman, namely, that it does not take wealth to be happy in married life. This couple started out in life in very moderate circumstances, but by cultivating frugal habits, and being thrifty and enterprising, and by being honest at all times in dealing with their neighbors and patrons, they have amassed enough worldly possessions to keep the wolf from their door, as well as from the doors of their kin. There is not a happier couple to be found anywhere, and well may they be proud of each other. They have a family of bright and lovable children who are devoted to their parents, and who are capable and willing to lighten the burdens of their parents, and this fortunate couple is honored and respected by all who have the pleasure of their acquaintance. Mr. and Mrs. Maiman always lend a helping hand to any worthy enterprise or charity.

THE REVIEW wishes Mr. and Mrs. Maiman many more years of happy married life.

A Tale of Three Lions

BY
H. RIDER HAGGARD

"She will be back again presently," I said; "look out, but for heaven's sake don't fire unless I tell you to."

"Hardly were the words out of my mouth when back she came, and again passed the ox without striking him."

"What on earth is she doing?" whispered Harry.

"Playing with it as a cat does a mouse, I suppose. She will kill it presently."

"As I spoke, the lioness once more dashed out of the bush, and this time sprang right over the doomed ox. It was an exciting sight to see her clear him in the bright moonlight, as though it were a trick she had been taught."

"I believe that she has escaped from a circus," whispered Harry; "it's jolly to see her jump."

"I said nothing, but I thought to myself that if it was, Master Harry did not appreciate the performance, and small blame to him. At any rate, his teeth were chattering a bit."

"Then came a longish pause and I began to think that she must have gone away, when suddenly she appeared again, and with one mighty bound landed right on to the ox, and struck it a frightful blow with her paw."

"Down it went, and lay on the ground. She put down her wicked-looking head, with a fierce growl of contentment. When she lifted her muzzle again and stood facing us obliquely, I whispered, 'Now's our time, fire when I do.'"

"I got on her as well as I could, but Harry, instead of waiting for me as I told him, fired before I did, and that of course hurried me. When the smoke cleared, however, I was delighted to see that the lioness was rolling about on the ground behind the body of the ox, which covered her in such a fashion, however, that we could not shoot again to make an end of her."

"She's done for! she's dead!" yelled Pharaoh, in exultation; and at that very moment the lioness, with a sort of convulsive rush, half rolled, half sprung, into the patch of thick bush to the right. I fired after her as she went, but so far as I could see without result; indeed the probability is that I missed her clean. At any rate she got to the bush in safety, and once there, began to make such a diabolical noise as I never heard before. She would whine and shriek, then burst out into perfect volleys of roaring that shook the whole place."

"Well," I said, "we must just let her roar; to go into that bush after her at night would be madness."

"At that moment, to my astonishment and alarm, there came an answering roar from the direction of the river, and then another from behind the swell of bush. Evidently there were more lions about. The wounded lioness redoubled her efforts, with the object, I suppose, of summoning the others to her assistance. At any rate they came, and quickly too, for within five minutes, peeping through the bushes of our skerm fence, we saw a magnificent lion bounding along toward us, through the tall tamarisk grass, that in the moonlight, was now very like ripening corn. On he came in great leaps, and a glorious sight it was to see him. When within fifty yards or so, he stood still in an open space and roared, and the lioness roared to, and then there came a third roar, and another great black-maned lion stalked majestically up, and joined number two, and really I began to realize what Jim-Jim must have undergone."

"Now, Harry," I whispered, "whatever you do, don't fire, it's too risky. If they let us be, let them be."

"Well, the pair of them marched off to the bush, where the wounded lioness was now roaring double tides, and the whole three of them began to snarl and grumble away together there. Presently, however, the lioness ceased roaring, and the two lions came out again, the black-maned one first—to prospect, I suppose—and walked to where the carcass of the ox lay, and sniffed at it."

"Oh, what a shot!" whispered Harry, who was trembling with excitement."

"Yes," I said; "but don't fire; they might all of them come for us."

"Harry said nothing, but whether it was from the natural willfulness of youth, or because he was thrown off his balance by excitement, or from sheer recklessness, I am sure I can not tell you, never having been able to get a satisfactory explanation from him; but at any rate the fact remains, he, without word or warning, entirely disregarding my exhortations, lifted up his Westley Richards, and fired at the black-maned lion, and, what is more, hit it slightly on the flank."

"Next second there was a most awful roar from the injured brute. He glared around him, and roared with pain for he was sadly stung, and then before I could make up my mind what to do, the great black-maned brute, evidently ignorant of the cause of his pain, sprang right at the throat of his companion, to whom he evidently attributed his misfortune. It was a curious sight to see the evident astonishment of the other lion at this most unprovoked assault. Over he rolled with an angry roar, and on to him sprang the black-maned demon, and commenced to worry him. This finally awoke the yellow-maned lion to a sense of the situation, and I am bound to say that he rose to the occasion in a most effective manner. Somehow or other he got to his feet, and, roaring and smarting frightfully, closed with his mighty foe. And then ensued a scene that absolutely baffles description. You know what a shocking thing it is to see two large dogs fighting with abandonment. Well, a whole hundred of dogs could not have looked half so terrible as those two great brutes as they rolled and roared and rent in their rage. It was an awful and a wonderful thing to see the great cats tearing at each other with all the fierce energy of their savage strength, and making the night hideous with their heart-shaking noise. And the fight was a grand one, too. For some minutes it was impossible to say which was getting the best of it, but at last I saw that the black-maned lion, though he was slightly the bigger, was failing. I am inclined to think that the wound in his flank crippled him. Anyway he began to get the worst of it, which served him right, as he was the aggressor. Still I could not help feeling sorry for him, for he had fought a gallant fight when his antagonist finally got him by the throat, and struggle and fight as he would, began to shake the life out of him. Over and over they rolled together, an awe-inspiring spectacle, but the yellow boy would not loose his hold, and at length poor black-maned grew faint, his breath came in great snorts and seemed to rattle in his nostrils, then he opened his huge mouth, gave the ghost of a roar, quivered, and was dead."

"When he was quite sure that the victory was his own, the yellow-maned lion loosened his grip and sniffed at his fallen foe. Then he licked the dead lion's eye, and next, with his fore feet resting on the carcass, sent up his own chant of victory, that went rolling and pealing down the dark ways of the night in all the gathered majesty of sound. And at this point I interfered. Taking a careful sight at the center of his body, in order to give the largest possible margin for error, I fired, and sent a .570 express bullet right through him, and down he dropped dead upon his mighty foe."

"At that, fairly satisfied with our performances, we slept peacefully till dawn, leaving Pharaoh to keep watch in case any more lions should take it into their heads to come our way."

"When the sun was fairly up we arose, and very cautiously proceeded—at least Pharaoh and I did, for I would not allow Harry to come—to see if we could see anything of the wounded lioness. She had ceased roaring immediately on the arrival of the two lions, and had not made a sound since, from which we concluded that she was probably dead. I was armed with my express, while Pharaoh, in whose hands a rifle was indeed a dangerous weapon—to his companions—had an ax. On our way we stopped to look at the two dead lions. They were magnificent animals, both of them, but their pelts were entirely spoiled by the terrible mauling they had given to each other, which was a sad pity."

In another minute we were following the blood spoor of the wounded lioness into the bush, where she had taken refuge. (This, I need hardly say, we did with the utmost caution; indeed, I for one did not at all like the job, and was only consoled by the reflection that it was necessary and that the bush was not thick. Well, we stood there, keeping as far from the trees as possible, and poking and speering about, but no lioness could we see."

"She must have gone away somewhere to die, Pharaoh," I said in Zulu."

"Yes, Inkoo's" (chief), he answered, "she has certainly gone away."

"Hardly were the words out of his mouth when I heard a most awful roar, and looking around saw the lioness emerge from the very center of a bush just behind Pharaoh in which she had been curled up. Up she went on to her hind legs; and as she did so I saw that one of her fore paws was broken near the shoulder, for it hung limply down. Up she went towering right over Pharaoh's head, as she did so lifting her uninjured paw to strike him down. And then, before I could get my rifle round or do anything to avert the coming catastrophe, the Zulu did a very brave and clever thing. Realizing his own imminent danger, he bounded to one side, and then, swinging the heavy ax round his head, brought it right down onto her back, severing the vertebrae and killing her instantaneously. It was wonderful to see her collapse all in a heap like an empty sack."

"My word, Pharaoh," I said, "that was well done, and none too soon."

"Yes," he answered, "it was a good stroke, Inkoo's. Jim-Jim will sleep better now."

"Then, calling Harry to us, we examined the lioness. She was old, if one might judge from her worn teeth, and not very large, but thickly made, and must have possessed extraordinary vitality to have lived so long, shot as she was; for, in addition to her broken shoulder, my express bullet had blown a great hole in her that one might have put one's fist into."

"Well, that is the story of the death of poor Jim-Jim and how we avenged it, and it is rather interesting in its way, because of the fight between the two lions, of which I never saw the like in all my experience, and I know something of lions and their ways."

"And how did you get back to Pilgrims' Rest?" I asked hunter Quatermain when he had finished his yarn."

"Ah, we had a nice job with that," he answered. "The second ox died and so did another, and we had to get on as best we could with the three remaining ones harnessed unicorn fashion, while we pushed behind. We did about four miles a day, and it took us nearly a month, during the last week of which we pretty well starved."

"I notice," I said, "that most of your trips ended in disaster of some sort or another, and yet you went on making them, which strikes one as a little queer."

"Yes, I dare say; but then remember I got my living for many years out of hunting. Besides, half the charm of the thing lay in the dangers and disasters, though they were terrible enough at the time. Another thing is, they were not all disastrous. Sometimes, if you like, I will tell you a story of one which was very much the reverse, for I made four thousand pounds out of it, and saw one of the most extraordinary sights a hunter ever clapped his eyes on."

REBUILDING NOSES.

Aluminium as a Foundation and How It Is Used.

In this era of reconstruction through which New York is passing even noses come in for their share of remodeling and rebuilding, says the New York Tribune. So many people are afflicted with a disfiguring disease which eats away the nose and face that "plastic surgery" has felt called on to find means to restore broken or decayed noses to their original beauty, or even to improve on that. Dr. Robert Weir was among the first to discover a practical solution. He experimented with some success in transplanting bones of living fowl to the human face. One of his earlier operations was conducted in a stuffy little Harlem flat. His patient was stretched on the table under ether; her face was laid open and streaming blood, but the duck, not receiving due attention, had escaped unnoticed from the assistant. "Now, doctor," said Dr. Weir to a dignified participant, "oblige me by half-killing that bird and let me have about three inches from its breast bone for this girl's nose." Amid the gawwows surrounding there were ten minutes of rigorous exercise in catching the bird and reducing it to a state of insensibility. Since then he has dispensed with live birds and has turned his attention to gutta percha, rubber, silver and gold for nose bridges. All these failed because electrical action was generated, requiring further operations. Finally, pure aluminum was resorted to with satisfactory results. Now the nose bone is made of that metal. It has a stout hook at the upper end by which it is secured to the base of the forehead, while the other end is held out from the face by two short legs terminating in sharp spikes which are anchored in the bone. There is no necessity for ugly scars, because the operation is carried on entirely beneath the skin. A long incision is made under the upper lip above the teeth, so that the whole flap of the face can be turned back like a mask or an old glove. Then when the metal framework is secured the skin is drawn down again and the nose tissue is shaped into a Grecian, Roman or pug nose, as desired. Seven years ago Dr. Weir got his first ideas from French publications, but has since made many modifications and improvements. Other prominent surgeons have followed his example, such as Dr. Abbe, Dr. Powers of Denver and Dr. Knight. The operation is comparatively simple and all have succeeded in restoring noses, which, if they are not of service in distinguishing bad odors from good, are at least beautiful in looking natural."

A Married Man.

Merchant Tailor—Good morning, Mr. Truepay. What can I do for you this morning? Mr. Truepay—I want a suit of clothes. "Yes, sir. John, the tape and book, please." "Eh? Ready-made?" "Yes—a cheap one." "Certainly—certainly. Right this way, please. I hadn't heard of your marriage."—New York Weekly.

ILLINOIS NEWSLETS.

RECORD OF MINOR DOINGS OF THE WEEK.

Seven Days' Happenings Condensed—Social, Religious, Political, Criminal, Obituary and Miscellaneous Events from Every Section of the State.

Kankakee—George Searles, a prominent St. Anne farmer, was killed by a kick from a horse.

Pittsfield—Patrick Garvey recently choked to death while eating a bun and some cheese. He lived at Griggsville.

Chicago—Attorney Henry S. Boutell was nominated by the Republicans of the Sixth Illinois congressional district to succeed the late Representative Edward D. Cooke.

Duquoin—As a result of the suspension of sixteen students for refusing to prepare for a literary program, twenty-five young men and women marched out of the high school building. Colored pupils are the cause of the trouble.

Galesburg—At the meeting of the Military Tract Medical society these officers were elected: President, E. L. Mitchell, Rossville; first vice-president, M. S. Marce, Peoria; second vice-president, W. G. Bailey, Pekin; secretary, O. B. Will, Peoria.

Peoria—The Illinois grain dealers met in convention in this city. B. S. Tyler of Decatur, secretary of the association, figures from the fullest reports that the corn crop of this state for 1897 will aggregate 201,562,888, and that of the United States at 1,612,503,110. The amount in farmers' hands in Illinois on Oct. 1, 1897, was 17 per cent of the crop of 1896, or 48,377,370 bushels.

Champaign—Mrs. A. L. Hannah, living near Mahomet, this county, was reported dead Monday evening. When the funeral was in progress it was discovered that she was breathing. Restoratives were applied. Five hours later she expressed a desire to eat, and has been gaining ever since. The attending physician says he sees no reason why she should not make a complete recovery.

Joliet—J. E. Thompson of Chicago, who has been in the Will county jail six months under the debtors' act, was taken to Chicago last week by Deputy United States Marshal Clark to receive his release from the federal courts. Thompson purchased lumber from a Wisconsin firm, which was not up to the contract. He refused to pay for it and the men sent him to jail for debt, keeping him there six months.

Joliet—Judge Dibell has handed down an opinion adverse to the Chicago drainage trustees in the suit brought against the district by Chester S. Allen, a land owner in Lockport. The district two years ago bought some right of way property in Lockport from the Daggett heirs, paying $125 an acre therefor. The title to the land was claimed by Allen, but his claim was ignored. Judge Dibell now finds that the title to the Daggett property rests in Allen. This will lead to new condemnation proceedings.

Bloomington—Tuesday was celebrated the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Brokaw, at their home in this city. Mr. Brokaw is Bloomington's only millionaire, and he is one of the hardest-working men in the city. Both he and Mrs. Brokaw are in good health. Mr. Brokaw, who is the proprietor of a small plow factory, works every day at the bench in his shop beside his hired mechanics and manages his immense money-lending business and his scores of farms without the assistance of a bookkeeper, or even a secretary. He is aged 52 and his wife is 53.

Carlinville—The omission of the letter "S" in the indictment which charges Fenwick R. Hedley with manslaughter for killing John R. Richards, has added complication to this celebrated case. Attorneys for the defendant were compelled to move that the indictment be quashed, contrary to their desires. Judge Creighton ruled that the $5,000 bond under which Hedley was held should stand good till the grand jury in January acts. The defendant's attorney moved to quash fearing if Hedley should be acquitted the state would have good grounds to indict and try him again.

Francis J. Gorsche, 23 years old, the only son of the late Catherine Gorsche, who left an estate of $270,000, has filed a bill in the Circuit court at Chicago asking for the annulment of his marriage with Maria Mansie, which he says resulted in a loss of $15,000 to him. The complainant declares he was drugged by the woman, and that the sole purpose of the woman and her husband, whose existence he had known nothing of, was to get possession of his property and then rid themselves of him. He accuses them of keeping him a prisoner in their house for several days, and the woman is said to have then secured $5,500. It is also recited that he went to Paris with the woman and $5,500 more was taken from him there while asleep. Mansie joined them, and they returned to Chicago, where Gorsche escaped by jumping from a train.

PAINFUL AFFLICTION

A Son Writes a Letter Telling How His Father Was Troubled.

WINAMOE, IND.—"My father was troubled with boils and carbuncles. After suffering for some time, he heard of a similar case cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. He began taking this medicine and continued its use until he was cured. My mother is taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for rheumatism and it is helping her." GUY E. NEWKIRK, Box 184.

Search-Lights on Land.

The recent night attacks on British army posts in India have led to the suggestion that all such exposed military camps be provided with powerful electric search-lights, like those used by war-ships. With bright beams playing over the surrounding country, it is argued, the danger of night attacks would be greatly diminished; and sentries and outlying pickets could be protected from the assassins who, it is asserted, not infrequently stalk them like game and murder them in the darkness.

Tours in the Rocky Mountains.

The "Scenic Line of the World," the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, offers to tourists in Colorado, Utah and New Mexico the choicest resorts, and to the transcontinental traveler the grandest scenery. Two separate and distinct routes through the Rocky Mountains, all through tickets available via either. The direct line to Cripple Creek, the greatest Gold Camp on earth. Double daily train service with through Pullman sleepers and tourists' cars between Denver to San Francisco. The best line to Utah, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington via the "Ogden Gateway."

Who are injured by the use of coffee. Recently there has been placed in all the grocery stores a new preparation called GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. The most delicate stomach receives it without distress, and but few can tell it from coffee. It does not cost over 1/4 as much. Children may drink it with great benefit. 15 cents and 25 cents per package. Try it. Ask for GRAIN-O.

Let the "Century" Alone.
There is a growing craze among women at present to win and wear "century" run medals. And some of them even aspire to the double and triple century honors. Nothing can be worse for them than these century runs. And as far as the greater distance contests, they are simply invitations to suicide—an overtaxing of physical strength that no woman can long withstand.—New York Herald.

Loring & Co.'s Big Medical Sanitarium.
(From The Chicago Times-Herald.)
A representative of the Times-Herald recently visited Loring & Co.'s Medical Department, the Henry Medical Dispensary, in its new and enlarged quarters at 56-62 Wabash Avenue, the whole fourth floor of the big Fairbank building. This is the strongest, most reliable concern of its kind in the United States and it is fitted up more elegantly and expensively than any other. Its physicians are the most skillful, and its appliances for the successful treatment of all diseases are the most complete and embrace every recent worthy invention for the benefit of suffering humanity. Nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, weak back, spinal rheumatism and rupture are successfully treated by new methods. Consultation and advice free by mail about any disease. Send for symptom blank, No. 1 for men, No. 2 for women, No. 3 for skin diseases, No. 4 for catarrh, or write fully about your case. If you have been given up by others, your case is the kind Loring & Co. want. Address Loring & Co., Dept. 42, Nos. 56-62 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Electric Cabs in London.
During the past summer a number of electric cabs have been licensed to run in the streets of London, in competition with the ordinary hackney carriages drawn by horses. The motive power is furnished by an electric motor, of American manufacture, which, together with the battery, is carried in the under part of the vehicle. All the movements of the cab are controlled by a lever placed beside the driver's seat. The speed can be varied from one mile to nine miles per hour, and a single charging of the battery-cells suffices to run the cab a distance of about fifty miles.

FIBROID TUMOR

Expelled by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Interview With Mrs. E. A. Lombard.

I have reason to think that I would not be here now if it had not been for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cured me of a fibroid tumor in my womb.

Doctors could do nothing for me, and they could not cure me at the hospital. I will tell you about it:

I had been in my usual health, but had worked quite hard. When my monthly period came on, I flowed very badly. The doctor gave me medicine, but it did me no good. He said the flow must be stopped if possible, and he must find the cause of my trouble.

Upon examination, he found there was a Fibroid Tumor in my womb, and gave me treatment without any benefit whatever. About that time a lady called on me, and recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, said she owed her life to it. I said I would try it, and did. Soon after the flow became more natural and regular. I still continued taking the Compound for some time. Then the doctor made an examination again, and found everything all right. The tumor had passed away and that dull ache was gone.—Mrs. E. A. LOMBARD, Box 71, Westdale, Mass.

OUR OBJECT: 1. We want to awaken a universal appreciation of the great merits of CASCARETS CANDY CATHARTIC. We also want to increase our business by inducing 10,000 people to become users and well-wishers of this wonderful laxative and liver regulator, which even now is selling at the rate of 5,000,000 boxes a year. It will pay us to give away $1,000, instead of spending it for some other form of advertising.

2. Every body knows what enormous sums of money we spend annually for advertising. We probably lose $25,000 a year by not knowing just what a paper is worth as an advertising medium. If we can find out just how many see this advertisement and give it attention, it will be big money in the information.

WHAT YOU ARE TO DO: There are in the schedule below fourteen names of diseases and ailments cured by CASCARETS CANDY CATHARTIC. We want you to increase our business by inducing 10,000 people to become users and well-wishers of this wonderful laxative and liver regulator, which even now is selling at the rate of 5,000,000 boxes a year. It will pay us to give away $1,000, instead of spending it for some other form of advertising.

From each name letters have been omitted and their places supplied by stars. To fill in the blank spaces properly and set the names right will be a test of your learning. We want you to spell out as many names as you can, then send the list to us with $25 cents to pay for a box of CASCARETS. For correct lists we shall give cash prizes of from $1 to $100 in gold. The correct list gotten up in the most artistic and original style will be awarded the first prize, the next award the second prize, and so on. Also, if your list contains ten or more correct names, you will receive a SPECIAL CONSOLATION PRIZE. By exercising care in preparing your list you will be able to secure part of the $1,000 cash award, but under all circumstances you will be a winner. The distance you live makes no difference, as all are treated alike.

AWARDS WILL BE MADE PROMPTLY: This advertisement will appear in this paper only twice, so prepare your list quickly and will be honestly awarded and promptly sent. Here are the words to be spelled out. Be sure you give them in their right order:

1. CO * ST * A * I * N. The cause of nearly all other diseases, cured by CASCARETS.
2. HE * D * C * E. A dull, throbbing pain, caused by bad stomach, cured by CASCARETS.
3. B * L * I * U * S * E * S. A condition caused by torpid liver, cured by CASCARETS.
4. L * V * L * V * R. Torpid condition of an important organ relieved quickly by CASCARETS.
5. PI * PL * S. An eruption of the skin, removed by the purifying effect of CASCARETS.
6. BL * T * H * S. Brown spots on the skin, caused to disappear quickly by CASCARETS.
7. B * D * BL * D. Impure condition of the vital fluid. CASCARETS purify the system.
8. S * S * R * S * T * M * H. Fermentation of undigested food, instantly stopped by CASCARETS.
9. P * L * S. A painful irritation caused by constipation, cured only by CASCARETS.
10. F * S * T * LA. An ulcer caused by bowel irregularities, given a chance to heal by CASCARETS.
11. I * D * G * T * ON. Improper assimilation of food, relieved by a CASCARETS after meal.
12. DY * P * P * A. Chronic inactivity of the stomach requiring patient use of CASCARETS.
13. C * L * C. A gripping pain, attacking children most frequently, stopped by CASCARETS.
14. I * S * O * M * A. Sleeplessness due to disease of the digestive canal, cured by CASCARETS.

IF IN SENDING YOUR LIST OF WORDS, say whether you want the prize money sent in gold coin or whether you prefer bank draft or money order. The cash award offered represents more than the value of the 25c you send with your list. The only thing we ask is that you will exhibit your cash award either in gold or in form of a check, as you choose, for a few days in your own drug store or show window. This entire offer is an honest one, made by a responsible firm, whose honorable reputation is known to every retail druggist throughout the land. CASCARETS are the most perfect medicinal preparation ever discovered, and you will be delighted with them. They are the greatest boon for women and children and we want to make their merits known. If you mention this paper in your letter, or otherwise make your answer will not be considered! Mr. H. L. Kramer, Treas. and Gen. Mgr. of the Sterling Remedy Company, will give this contest his careful personal attention. As he is now at the famous Magna-Med Cur and Florida Water Baths, of which he is principal owner, be sure to address H. L. KRAMER, Indiana Mineral Springs, Ind.

RESPONSIBILITY. THE STERLING REMEDY CO., makers of Cascarets Candy Cathartic, are favorably known to every publisher, banker, retailer and wholesale druggist. We are confident of our honesty and financial ability to carry out to the letter every condition of our contest. If dissatisfied, we will refund your money. GUARANTEED. This is absolutely true.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1897.

Miss Sarah Randall died in Baltimore recently at the age of 103. That was a good while to enjoy a single life. She said her experience had led her to conclude that men could not be trusted. Miss Randall's views on the proper bringing up of children must have been interesting.

Some of those men who are making $500 a day at Dawson City ought to invest a little of their wealth in a sewerage system for the town. A pestilence of typhoid fever is already ravaging the place, and a number of strong young men have died of it. What is $1,000,000 where one has to die of typhoid fever?

Considering its nearness to the largest city in the Union, the town of Cortland, N. Y., contains some queer people. A man there came to his death suddenly. An autopsy showed the valves of his heart to be diseased and ruptured in three places. But the intelligent jury summoned by the coroner returned a verdict that the man had "died by the visitation of God." A visitation of some common sense would be a good thing in the heads of those jurymen.

It is very possible that her sound beating by Japan may prove to be the making of China. Not till it had measured its strength against even a semi-westernized nation could the Chinese government find out how really rotten and weak it was. China has evidently learned her lesson. On the resumption of peace she first cast about for means of paying the indemnity awarded to Japan, and next she prepared to bring her army, her railroads, her business methods and even her agriculture up in line with modern methods. China moves slowly, but there is now reason to believe that she is shaking off the deadening traditions of 4,000 years and modernizing herself.

About midsummer Professor William Libbey of Princeton university ascended to the top of the Enchanted mesa of New Mexico. None had succeeded in doing this before. Professor Libbey and another gentleman made, as they supposed, a thorough examination of the great table rock, which is nearly 500 feet high and steep as the side of a wall. The professor and his friend found upon the rock no trace that it had been inhabited at any time, but some weeks after Professor Libbey's ascent Mr. F. W. Hodge of the Smithsonian institution also made the climb and explored the Enchanted mesa in company with several other gentlemen. Contrary to Professor Libbey's story, Mr. Hodge reports that his party found fragments of ancient pottery, two stone axes, a shell bracelet and a stone arrowhead. There were also faint traces of a trail whereby the great table rock had been climbed by its former inhabitants. Mr. Hodge's find is of exceeding interest. It shows the people, whoever they were, that formerly lived upon the rock to have belonged to the stone age, likewise to have understood the making of earthenware. What race of the ancient inhabitants of America they belonged to has yet to be deciphered by the ethnologists.

It is really unfortunate that in the mad rivalry of opposition transportation companies it is so hard to find out the exact truth in regard to the Klondike and the Alaskan goldfields. Whether the Skagguay pass is really so frightful in its morasses, precipices and dead horses nobody can tell. That story is spread over the length and breadth of the country by transportation companies interested in having travelers go by other routes. One cannot even depend on the newspaper letters, for the transportation companies have hired men to write for the newspapers just such information in regard to their own routes as they desire to be put before the public. It is villainous. At the same time nothing is more certain than that the truth will out finally and do damage to the very ones who have endeavored to suppress it. Those who lie for their own advantage always come to grief sooner or later. There is business enough in the immediate future for every Alaskan transportation company now formed and three times as many more. There is no occasion for any of the wholesale exaggerations and misrepresentations that have been circulated with so lavish spending of printer's ink.

Future of Alaska.

What rank as to wealth, population and importance will Alaska hold in the American Union 50 years from now? It is a fascinating speculation.

Alaska is three-fourths as large as the rest of the United States. Its capital, Juneau, is 100 miles south of the latitude of St. Petersburg. Alaska's extreme northern point is not so near the pole by at least 100 miles as the north of Finland, yet every part of Finland is inhabited by an intelligent, refined people who could give the average inhabitant of the United States several points in the matter of bathing and bodily cleanliness. If the line of the railroad which cuts across Siberia were prolonged through Alaska, the greater part of that territory would lie south of it. Yet the Siberian railroad is confidently expected to become the line of travel and of freight export for a vast agricultural and mining population. The climate of Alaska is less severe than that of the same latitude in Siberia because of the warm Japan wind current which laps the shores of northwest America. Moreover, it is certain that, besides all its priceless wealth of mineral treasures, much of the southern half of Alaska will raise various hardy agricultural products.

Such being the case, there is a marvelous future for our northwestern territory. It is perhaps the intention of those who go there to make their fortunes to step out and leave the whole country to its fate just so soon as they have accumulated their pile. Such a course would be base in the extreme. To this grand territory, which nature has endowed so magnificently in spite of its glaciers and snowfields, every man who gets a fortune out of it owes something—owes much. He owes it to western civilization to do something for the country in return for what it has done for him.

Alaska is capable of becoming the home of millions of intelligent, comfortable and happy people. Its morasses must be drained, roads, railways and telegraphs must be constructed, schools, churches and theaters must be built, the coal and oil fields of the territory must be developed and manufactories and industries suitable to the region introduced. Reindeer ranges, taking the place of the great cattle ranges of our present northwest, may be started, furnishing fresh meat to the whole territory. There are undreamed of possibilities for civilization in Alaska. Let those whom Alaska lifts above want and privation be not ungrateful.

A Long Lived Bird.

The following instance of longevity in a bird may be of interest to your readers: My cousin, Mrs. C., had a siskin given to her in 1881. It had been bought at a dealer's in 1879. In the autumn of 1884 it escaped out of the window while flying about Mrs. C.'s dressing room, as it had been in the habit of doing every morning. Every effort was made to get it back, but it could not be found. Mrs. C. went away for the winter and did not return until the following spring. Her gardener then told her that during the winter a siskin had squeezed itself into a cage of his which was hanging outside his cottage. The siskin was sent up to Mrs. C. and evinced the greatest delight at seeing his mistress. In fact, there is no doubt that it was her bird. From that day until its death in September, 1896, it could never be induced to leave its cage, though the door was often left open on purpose.—London Spectator.

John Brown's Ancestor.

It seems that John Brown of Ossawatimie had a narrow escape of not being born, for Winslow tells how his Mayflower ancestor, Peter Browne, the carpenter, with John Goodman, wandered off in the Plymouth woods one day in January, 1621, and lost their way chasing a deer and were out all night, hearing the lions roar and almost freezing their feet. Finally, "it pleased God, from a high hill they discovered" Squish and Clark's island in the bay, and so got back to the "raude-vous," as Winslow terms the fort on Burial hill, "faint with travel and want of victuals and almost famished with cold." Had they never come in Kansas might now be a slave state, but it was otherwise ordered.—Boston Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Umbrellas.

An umbrella dealer cautions against the double use for sun and rain of a rain umbrella. Silk wears, he says, as long as its oil lasts, then it splits and cracks and is gone. The sun dries out the oil, hence its harm. A folding umbrella is to be found at some of the shops which will pack in an ordinary 14 inch satchel.—New York Post.

In Britain, of course, members of parliament receive no salary, but in New Zealand they receive annually $500; Japan, $900; South Australia, $1,000; Victoria, $1,500; France, $1,800; Queensland, $2,000; Canada, $2,000; Brazil, $3,000; Mexico, $3,000; United States, $5,000.

Croup Quickly Cured.

A goodly number from here attended the entertainment at Wauconda last evening. They report a pleasant time.

A. B. Mitchell has resigned his position as station agent of the E. J. & E. railroad at this place. He will engage in business for himself, elsewhere.

Mark Bennett was the guest of J. W. Bennett last week. Mr. Bennett offers his farm of 135 acres for rent to suitable parties.

The American Telephone Company and the Chicago Telephone Company have a large force of men at this place at the present writing.

H. C. Paddock was a Zurich visitor last week. He also visited our school, and expressed himself as being well pleased with the way Principal Hodge conducts his school.

There was to have been a game of ball played here Sunday between a "picked-up" nine and the Wauconda Juniors, but the latter failed to put in an appearance.

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Durstin met with the misfortune of dislocating her shoulder on Tuesday. Dr. Kendall of Barrington was summoned to attend the patient.

A spur from the main line of the greatest through telephone line will be put into Zurich. The material for the construction of the same has arrived.

The Pollack Tire Tightener company has secured Al R. Ficke as their representative. He will be pleased to have you call and look at the simple contrivance that saves the owners of vehicle much money.

Mrs. George Graber is receiving treatment at the St. Joseph hospital in Chicago for a cancer on her face. We are pleased to report that a successful operation has been performed.

Accidents have been many of late—Joe Dietz losing his left hand in a corn husker, H. Schumacher losing his right arm in a machine of the same kind, John Barnholz accidentally being shot in his ankle, John Blaine breaking his leg, besides the happening of a number of minor accidents to a large number of our citizens.

A DISASTROUS BLAZE

Fred Fischer Meets With a Severe Loss at Quentin's Corners Late Tuesday Night.

Fred Fischer's new barn and granary, chicken-house, shed, crib and smoke-house at Quentin's Corners were destroyed by fire which started in the barn in some mysterious manner about 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night. Sixteen cows, 2 horses, 3 pigs, about 175 chickens, 600 bushels of oats, 41 loads of hay and 29 loads of corn were destroyed, as was also the farm tools and machinery.

The entire loss will easily figure up $2,000. The buildings, stock and machinery were insured in the Ela Mutual Fire Insurance Co. Mr. Fischer's loss will be about $700.

The fire was discovered by John Gainer just as the roof of the barn was caving in. It was only through heroic efforts that the residence was saved.

H. A. Drewes is contemplating opening a dancing school in our village in the near future. There is no doubt but he could have a large class, as no dancing teachers have visited this vicinity for a number of years.

J. Boller of Chicago is here tuning pianos and repairing organs. If you have any work to do in this line, now is the time to have it done, as Mr. Boller is a thoroughly experienced man, and does nothing but first-class work.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Kent and Mrs. Bangs have removed to Chicago. Walter Bangs moved their household goods Monday. Mr. Kent was principal of our High school for the past three years, and was well liked by all. While we regret to lose him as a resident we wish him success in his new home. Mrs. Kent and Mrs. Bangs will also be greatly missed.

October Piano Clearance Sale.

We urge an early call from every intending piano buyer in Barrington and vicinity. We are making, during October, a general clearance sale. It includes second hand, shopworn, old style cases, rental stock and exchanged pianos of many makes, including several Bradburys. Some of these Clearance Sale pianos rank high musically. We recommend them for beginners. Our wholesale and retail departments have both contributed largely to this notable sale.

Every visitor is invited to inspect our complete line of Bradburys in up-rights and cabinet and parlor grands, the foremost of all pianos. But we especially urge these cheap but serviceable "Clearance Sale" pianos just now. We need the room badly for new stock.

Terms: A proper discount for cash. But times are good, money easy, our own capital perhaps the largest in our line, (see Dun or Bradstreet) salaried positions secure, hence time buyers will be equally favored and may practically make their own terms. Our prices include free delivery. Selections now may be delivered later. If you cannot call, write for "Clearance Sale" list. F. G. SMITH, Mfr. Bradbury Pianos, J. M. Berlin, Wis.—Carl Smith was killed in a runaway.

Telamah, Neb.—Mrs. Seth Kelly killed herself with poison.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Henry Hans, 11 years of age, is insane from having inhaled gasoline fumes.

Union City, Ind.—The Commercial National bank has been authorized to begin business; capital, $50,000.

Red River, N. M.—Anderson Clay shot and killed James Cunningham near here during trouble over a woman.

Liberty, Mo.—William Carr was arrested on a charge of having drowned his 2-year-old daughter.

Sacramento, Cal.—Aunt Nancy Daniels, a colored woman, is dead at the age of 110 years. She was a native of Virginia.

Whitehall, Wis.—J. O. Gilbertson & Co., general merchandise, have assigned. Liabilities, $8,000 to $10,000; nominal assets, $12,000.

Rib Lake, Wis.—Fire damaged the big sawmill of J. J. Kennedy, together with many thousand feet of lumber. Loss, $87,000; partly insured.

Marquette, Mich.—Owing to the improved outlook in the iron industry, the Lake Shore iron works, a large plant, resumed operations after a long period of idleness.

Owosso, Mich.—The entire board of health has resigned because the council refused to allow them $50 each extra pay for services during a diphtheria epidemic.

Point Arena, Cal.—The steamer Alcazar, dispatched to the rescue of the crew of the wrecked steam schooner Caspar off this city, reported having seen nothing of the supposed survivors of the disaster.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—Sam Gamble shot and instantly killed Fred Kelley at Lost Creek mining camp.

Atlantic, Iowa.—Malignant scarlet fever has appeared here. A quarantine has been established.

Mandan, N. D.—Andrew Johnson and Oscar Peterson were drowned in the Missouri while hunting.

Keokuk, Iowa.—Mrs. Mary L. Day of Keokuk, an aged missionary among the Indians, died at Denmark.

Jeffersonville, Ind.—Mrs. Lizzie Harding, who shot and killed Miss Mary Rosenbaum, was indicted for murder in the first degree.

Fairbury, Ill.—Conrad Munz, proprietor of the Fairbury sorghum and cider works, was seriously injured by a Wabash train.

Greencastle, Ind.—Carl Huffman, aged 14, had both of his legs cut off while jumping on a Big Four train. His injuries are fatal.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Prentice Tiller was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the penitentiary for having in his possession keys to United States mail boxes.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Two large barns on Milton Jones' farm in Williams township burned, with contents, including eight head of horses. Loss $6,000.

Dubuque, Iowa.—Jerry Manning was found dead in the Chicago house. He had lived here for eighteen years, but he never uttered a word as to his past history. In his clothes about $360 was found.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—William Hense returned to his home near Lafayette when the family was away, secured a shotgun, and, lying down on the bed, pushed the trigger with a cane, blowing off the top of his head.

Bloomington, Ill.—The police will make a systematic and complete search of the city for Arthur Browning, who has been missing since Oct. 9. It is feared by Browning's relatives that he was murdered or committed suicide.

Stevens Point, Wis.—The old Boyington residence, in the town of Sharon, twenty miles northeast of this city, burned. Miss Zoberowski, a sister of the proprietor, returned to the house for some clothes and will probably die from the frightful burns she received.

Sioux City, Iowa.—The Young Men's Christian Association building, one of the finest in the west, was sold under execution to F. N. Goddard of New York, the mortgagee, who bid it in for $31,000. One year is allowed for redemption, and an attempt will be made to raise the money within that time.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Springfield, Ill.—Milton S. Kimball, a well-known business man, died here, aged 66 years. He raised a company and served as captain during the war.

New York.—Tom Hawkins, the prize-fighter who did not regain consciousness after a bout in the Green Point Athletic club and was thought to be dying, came to his senses and will recover.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Preliminary steps have been taken to form a combine of sewer pipe and terra cotta ware manufacturers of the United States with a capital of $11,000,000. The proposed combine will be controlled by eastern capitalists.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Searchlight, the 3-year-old son of Dark Knight, has beaten the world's pacing record of 2:09 1/4 for 3-year-olds, going the mile in 2:07 flat. The first quarter was in 0:34 1/2, the half being reached in 1:02 1/2. At the three-quarters the watch showed 1:35 1/2, and the mile was reached at 2:07.

San Francisco.—Reports from the interior show that the heavy rains which fell this week all over the northern part of the state have caused immense loss to farmers and vineyards, and will in all probability put an end to the shipment of grapes to the east. The total loss exceeds $1,000,000.

Pana, Ill.—After a strike lasting three months the Penwell mines have signed the scale and work will be resumed.

Pittsburg.—At a state convention of Alabama miners it was decided to affiliate with the United Mine Workers of America, thus adding 13,000 men to the organization.

Springfield, Ill.—Gov. Tanner has asked Gov. Drake to investigate the report that Iowa troops invaded Illinois at the time of the Woodmen trouble in Fulton, Ill.

Cleveland.—A private telegram announces that I. B. Britton of the Brush Electric Company, died of yellow fever at New Orleans. He was a wealthy Cleveland.

Buffalo, N. Y.—The Queen City Gas company, owned by James Edward Addicks, has been sold. The purchasers are all Buffalo men. The price is said to be $1,050,000.

Manchester, Iowa.—E. E. Andrews, grocer, has made an assignment. Liabilities, $2,100. The failure is attributed to a war that has been going on for the last month, during which goods were sold at less than cost.

Cambridge, Mass.—Justin Winsor, the famous librarian of Harvard University, died Friday.

Berlin.—In reply to the so-called attacks made upon Max Bouchsein of Illinois, the United States consul at Barmen, the local chamber of commerce, has forwarded to the foreign office here a document testifying to Mr. Bouchsein's efficiency.

Lodi, Wis.—The bank of Lodi has closed its doors.

Philadelphia.—The A. O. U. W. selected Pittsburg as the 1898 meeting place.

St. Paul.—The Minnesota Insurance department declared against the "underwriters" form of policy, and will issue notification to the companies at once.

Decatur, Ill.—The supreme court, in the case of Counselman & Co. vs. Manuel Reichert, brought up from Cass district court, declares that contracts for grain where the intention is merely speculation on the rise or fall of the market and no delivery is intended are gambling contracts and void.

Nashville, Tenn.—The United States armor-plate commissioners who are inspecting the iron of the steelmaking plants in the southern states, arrived from Sheffield, Ala.

Vincennes, Ind.—Mrs. Sarah M. Hooker of Bicknell sued Joseph Phillips, a rich neighbor, for $5,000 damages for breach of promise. Phillips is a widower, 68 years old.

Dayton, O.—The shoe store of A. F. Diers was closed on mortgages aggregating $20,000. The Dalton Shoe company and Hathaway, Soule & Harrington have $17,000 in the concern and are in charge.

YERKES' TELESCOPE.

B'G OBSERVATORY DEDICATED AT LAKE GENEVA.

Chicago Street-Car Magnate Talks of the Uncommercial Character of Astronomy—Interesting Ceremonies at Williams Bay, Wis.

Every wheeled vehicle above the grade of a farm wagon was pressed into service at Williams Bay, Lake Geneva, Thursday morning to convey the visitors arriving on the two special trains from Chicago to the Yerkes observatory, where the dedication of the big telescope was to be consummated. For hours before the observatory had been the scene of tremendous bustle. Excited attaches of the institution hurried to and fro, the cook ran up stairs at ten minute intervals to consult the director, and the director as frequently went down to consult the cook. An enterprising colored waiter had established a boot shining platform at one end of the hall and the astronomers whose devotion to their scientific pursuits had hitherto left them no time for such trivialities blocked their way in their anxiety to get smartened up. In consequence of all this the last session of the conference, which began at 9:30, was short.

The weather was decidedly unpropitious. Until nearly 11 o'clock a light, drizzling rain fell steadily, and a raw east wind whirled the branches from the trees and ruffled the waters of the lake until great patches of foam made a white line along the shores. Even when the rain ceased falling, the clouds maintained a sullen, threatening aspect and the sun consistently refused to countenance the proceedings throughout the day.

In spite of everything that Williams Bay could do the hacks, buggies and carriages were altogether inadequate to deal with the crowds that poured out of the trains at 11 o'clock. This, how-two or three times before he spoke. The presentation address was as follows:

"After five years of patient waiting and incessant labor we are brought together to perform the agreeable duty which has been in our minds during the whole of that period, namely, the dedication of the observatory. It was in October of 1892 that Dr. Harper and Prof. Hale arranged for the manufacture of the telescope and building the observatory, and since that time the work has been incessant. Before this, however, three years had been spent in preparing the rough glass, making eight years in all which was required to produce what we now have before us. The anxiety of those who were so deeply in the work can scarcely be imagined, for as they followed it step by step from its incipency to its finish, many doubts and fears naturally crossed their minds. As no glass had ever been made of the size of this there was no criterion to go by, and it was necessary to leave everything to the future. Then, again, there was the risk of accident, and when the glass was safely lodged in its final resting place the hearts of many who are now present beat much more freely and with greater satisfaction than they had since the projecting of the work. A priceless gem to these gentlemen was at last in safety, and when we consider what would have been the result in case of accident—six years of sincere work being thrown away and six years more would surely elapse before the same results could be obtained—we can imagine something of their feelings of satisfaction when they saw the final accomplishment of their labors. That we have done a good deed and one which will revert to our satisfaction, we have no doubt.

"The science of astronomy, while being the oldest extant, has been, we may say, the most neglected. It is in no way commercial, and that may be one of the chief reasons. Its promulgation has always been confined to a taking charge of the work to be performed in this observatory, and I therefore, with the fullest feeling of satisfaction and pleasure, turn over to you this structure with all its contents, feeling satisfied that it is now in the best of hands, and that the labors here will be serious, conscientious and thoroughly done. I feel that in your attempts to pierce the mysteries of the universe which are spread before you by our great Creator, that the enthusiasm of your natures will carry you to success."

President Martin A. Ryerson of the board of trustees of the university expressed the appreciation with which the trustees regarded the Yerkes gift. "When the many expressions of gratitude have found utterance on this occasion," he said, "there will still remain what must be a source of even greater gratification to Mr. Yerkes—the continued and increasing usefulness of his great gift." President Harper followed with a history of the gift of the telescope and observatory, the selection of the site and the general equipment. Then, addressing Mr. Yerkes, he thanked him on behalf of the faculty and members of the astronomical staff. "If it were possible for you to derive a tithe of the satisfaction from your gift which the giving of it will bestow upon each one of us you will have been rewarded." The Rev. J. D. Butler of Madison, Wis., then offered prayer and the exercises closed.

The Times, in a long article Friday morning on the opening of the Yerkes observatory, expresses the hope that it will be free from "a great danger that seems to beset so many American institutions—an insufficiency of enough means to defray annual expenses." The Times adds: "The University of Chicago will not be established on a firm basis until an endowment sufficient to maintain it is secured; and the Yerkes observatory should have its share in such an endowment if it is to escape the danger of becoming a tombstone rather than a living monument to its generous donor."

ODD AND INTERESTING.

Heroes do not fear death but they shrink from disfigurement. Hence terror will be scattered abroad by the new weapon—a vitriol gun which has been invented. As its name implies, it discharges the deadly acid instead of bullets.

It was not until 1878 that the manufacture of hairpins began in the United States. Previous to that time those used in this country were brought from England or France. Now the trade is such a large one that it takes 50,000 packages, each containing twenty-four pins, to supply the wholesale demand daily in New York alone.

Ten thousand six hundred and fifty-two murders were committed in the United States last year.

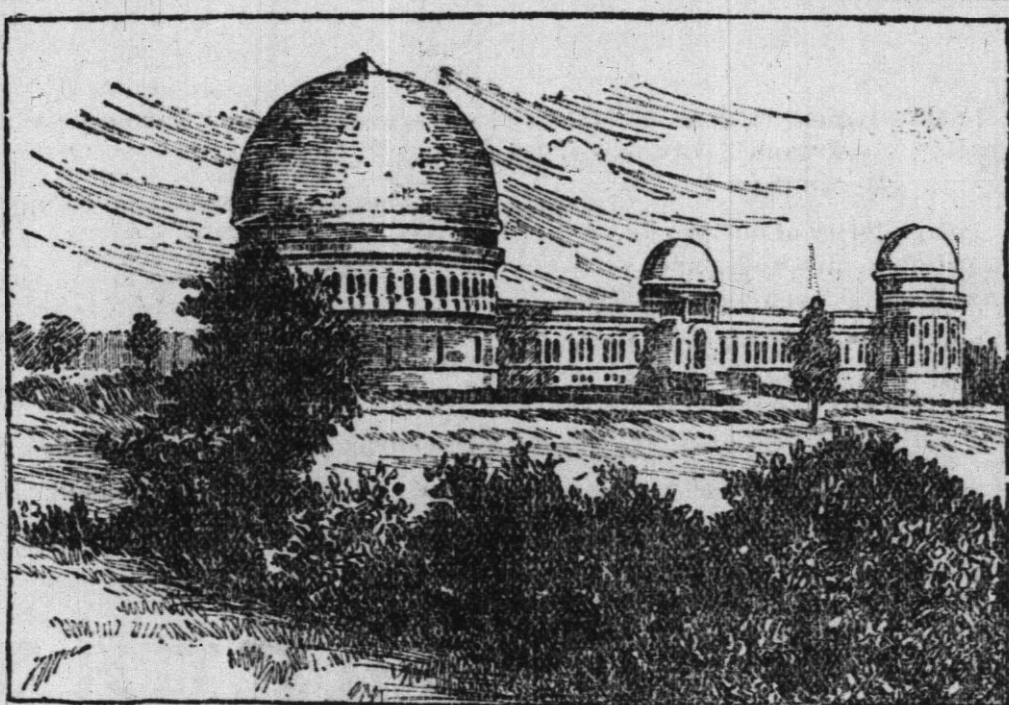

Switzerland, though she spends only half a million dollars yearly in her army, can turn out 100,000 trained men in two days in case of need and has a reserve of 100,000 more and a land-storm of 270,000. The army maneuvers this year will be held in the mountains of the Engadine.

There has been a scarcity of cents in Toronto, caused by the 15,000 Epworth leaguers who were there carrying off about 50,000 of the copper coins as souvenirs. To relieve the situation a half ton of the cents was shipped from Montreal.

South American lovers have a pretty custom. It is well known that when the petals of the great laurel magnolia are touched, however lightly, the result is a brown spot, which develops in a few hours. The fact is taken advantage of by the lover, who pulls a magnolia flower, and on one of its pure, white petals writes a motto or message with a hard, sharp-pointed pencil. Then he sends the flower, the young lady puts it in a vase of water, and in three or four hours the message written on the leaf becomes quite visible and remains so.

In the old German town Hanover there is buried a countess who denied the existence of God and ridiculed the idea of the resurrection. In her contempt for Christianity she ordered that after her death her grave should be built of solid masonry and covered with enormous stones, bound tightly together by iron clamps. On this tomb she ordered to be engraved her defiant challenge that it could never be disturbed by God or man. One day the seed vessels of trees above the countess' grave lodged in a small crevice in the tomb, where it soon sprouted, and, extending its delicate roots under the massive stones, quietly and slowly raised them from their place, the sod beneath it furnishing nourishment for the majestic tree that has accomplished what the woman defied God to do.

ever, had been foreseen and four steam launches were in waiting at the dock near the station platform. Most of the visitors embarked in these and were taken around the bay and landed at the Young Men's Christian Association grounds at the foot of the observatory.

Arrived at the brown stone portals, the company resolved itself into an irregular procession, and in the course of time filtered through into the building.

The ceremony, which took place in the telescope dome, began with an invocation by Dean Eri B. Hulbert, and after some singing by the Spiering quartet, Prof. Keeler delivered an address on "The Importance of Astrophysical Research and the Relation of Astrophysics to Other Physical Sciences." He explained that the domains of physical science are not capable of being defined by perfectly sharp boundary lines, but pass into one another by imperceptible gradations, and the common ground between two allied sciences is sometimes so broad and fertile that a new science is developed by its special cultivation. Such a science, he said, was astrophysics. The real basis was laid by the invention of the spectroscopic.

In the course of his address Professor Keeler condemned the imaginative novelist, who turned the public mind into channels of the darkest scientific heresy by telling stories based upon the supposition that there were inhabitants of Mars. This supposition, he said, had been condemned as a vagary by the very men whose labors had excited the novelist's imagination.

When Prof. Keeler had finished his address Charles T. Yerkes rose from his seat among the college professors, whose gowns, with their orange and scarlet hoods, together with the colors worn by the women, gave the circle a brilliant appearance. It was expected by some that Mr. Yerkes would make his presentation speech clad in flowing robes, but he wore nothing longer than a black frock coat. He seemed a little nervous as he bowed to the applause that greeted him, and cleared his throat class of enthusiasts who felt an interest in their work and gloried in the achievements which they attained. Five thousand years ago astronomy was studied, but it was not until 600 years before the Christian era that any progress had been made in it. Greek mythology used it as a romance, with but little idea of its truthfulness, and up to the beginning of the seventeenth century, when the telescope was invented by Hans Lipperhay and applied by the great Galileo, but little was known of the science. From that time on, through the work of Newton, Lagrange, Laplace, Dominicus, Cassini, Flamsteed, Bradley, Herschel, Bessel and others equally celebrated, good progress was made, and during the last half century there have been greater advances than ever before. This is owing to the fact that we now have the ability to determine correctly by instruments which are late inventions matters that were never dreamed of. It is to the great telescopes that the ardent workers look for encouragement for their labors. Accurate means have been devised for recording the observations, while the photographic plate together with the spectroscopic, have been applied with the most astonishing results.

"As I said, one reason why the science of astronomy has not more helpers is on account of its being entirely uncommercial. There is nothing of moneyed value to be gained by the devotee to astronomy; there is nothing that he can sell. Compared with electricity and other sciences of like character, there is the greatest difference. Consequently the devotee of astronomy has as his only reward the satisfaction which comes to him in the glory of the work which he does and the results which he accomplishes. These are some of the reasons why you are gathered here to-day and why this edifice and its contents have been erected.

"That the work will produce good results, I am, after a thorough examination, fully satisfied, and my satisfaction is still more intense when I hear of the great and enthusiastic men which the University of Chicago has gathered around it for the purpose of

COULD NOT AGREE.

Judge Tuthill Discharges the Jury in the Luetgert Case.

For sixty-six hours the jury struggled with the Luetgert murder case at Chicago. They retired shortly before 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. At 10:50 o'clock Tuesday morning they announced to Judge Tuthill that it was impossible for them to agree. An order for their discharge was then entered by the court.

The final ballot taken by the jury resulted 9 to 3 for conviction. In the presence of his attorneys Luetgert made a sworn statement in which he denied his guilt.

The jurors signed the following statement: "We wish to state that while the evidence was such that we were unable to agree upon a verdict, one thing we did agree about, and that is, that the circumstances were such that the people had ample reason to prosecute on the showing without hearing the de-

NINETEEN WERE KILLED.

Terrible Disaster on the New York Central Railroad.

DROWNED IN HUDSON RIVER.

Passenger Train Plunges Over an Embankment—Travelers Imprisoned in the Submerged Coaches—Engineer and Firemen Die at Their Post.

The New York and Boston special express train, No. 46, over the New York Central and Hudson River road, was thrown from the tracks into the Hudson River at Corbin's Basin, two miles below Garrisons, N. Y., early in the morning of Oct. 24.

There were ninety-six passengers and fourteen train hands on board. Nineteen persons were killed, as follows:

Engineer John C. Foyle of East Albany; Fireman John Q. Tompkins of East Albany; Samuel Williams, 131 Best street, Buffalo; Thomas Ryley of St. Louis; W. G. Myers of Tremont, N. Y.; A. G. McKay, Harlem; E. A. Greene of Chicago; William Schenckbecker of Newark, N. J., otherwise known as William S. Becker; Giuseppe Taguana of New York; Mrs. Robert Lindsman of Utica; Unknown Woman, not yet identified; Chin Lee Song of San Francisco; Chin Fong Hop, brother of Chin Lee Song; Hoo Wuh of New York; Lee Tong Sing of New York; unknown Chinaman, with letter to Hop Sing of Newark, N. J.; Wong Gim, residence unknown; two unknown Chinamen.

List of injured: Buchanan, Charles H., of 415 West Forty-seventh street New York; head cut. Cling Gwan Hung, of New York, severe scalp wound; Chinaman, unknown; internal injuries; may die; Peekskill hospital; Chinaman, unknown; forearm fractured; Peekskill hospital; Flood, John, of Stockport, N. Missing—Snead, William C., of Lynchburg, Va.

The engine and express car are in fifty feet of water. The combination baggage and smoking car and one day coach are submerged. Of the six sleepers one is entirely under water, two are only partially covered. Three of the sleepers did not leave the track.

The wreck is said to have been caused by the tides washing away the underpinning of the track. The engineer and fireman went down with the engine. Many passengers were rescued through the car windows.

LITERARY BUREAU OPENED.

Democratic National Committee Will Do Work from Chicago.

The democratic National committee, through Senator Jones, its chairman, has opened a literary bureau in Chicago. This bureau is for the distribution of literature and for the preparation of matter in plates and ready print for the country newspapers. A vigorous campaign of education will be carried on with a view of electing a democratic congress in 1898. Senator Jones will direct all matters connected with the literary bureau. Silver will be held the predominating issue in all matters pertaining to the bureau.

Illinois Democratic Editors Meet.

One hundred and fifty democratic editors from Illinois gathered at the Tremont house, Chicago, Oct. 22. Mayor Harrison welcomed them, asserting his fidelity to Bryan and the Chicago platform. Representatives James F. O'Donnell of the Bloomington Bulletin named Mr. Harrison as governor in 1900, referring to him as "a representative democrat and his record as mayor of Chicago magnificent." Ex-Governor John P. Altgeld made a speech to the convention.

A. L. Hereford of Springfield was re-elected president of the association, G. M. Le Crone of the Effingham Democrat was made vice-president, Edwin Beard of the Watseka Times secretary and C. P. Berry of the Carmi Courier treasurer.

GEORGE K. NASH TALKED OF FOR JUSTICE FIELD'S PLACE.

Columbus, O., Oct. 22.—George K. Nash, the chairman of the Ohio Republican state executive committee, whose name is mentioned broadly as the successor of Justice Stephen J. Field in the supreme court of the United States, is the son of a farmer. He was born in Medina county, this state, and got his education at Oberlin. He came to this city in 1865 for the purpose of reading law, and had for his preceptor such an able man as Judge R. B. Warden, who has been a member of the supreme court of the state of Ohio. Mr. Nash has been a Republican ever since he had reason enough to take an interest in politics. He was launched on his political career in 1870 when he was elected prosecuting attorney of Franklin county. In 1880 he was elected attorney general of Ohio, and was re-elected and served until his resignation in 1883. Governor Foster appointed him a member of the supreme court commission in 1883, and, after serving two years in that place, he returned to the practice of law. In 1895 he reappeared in political life as a candidate for governor. Judge Nash is a Knight of Pythias and an Odd Fellow.

C. T. YERKES, DONOR OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST TELESCOPE.

Charles T. Yerkes owns the city railways of Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities. The nickels paid by the people for rides have made him a many times millionaire. He does not know how to spend his income on selfish living, so he decided to build the largest observatory on earth. It has just been dedicated at Lake Geneva, Wis. The telescope is the largest ever made. It not only brings Mars and all the planets of our system into full view, but it penetrates other solar systems, even that of Hercules. It will clear away many of the mysteries of the heavens and will be of great benefit to mankind. It is attracting some of the world's greatest astronomers to Lake Geneva.

a letter from Lady Somerset explaining her views on the social purity question. Lady Somerset favors a system of license and regulation.

The executive committee presented a set of resolutions denouncing the position taken by Lady Somerset and insisting that the organization should refuse to be a party to any action which savored of a compromise in their fight against vice. The resolutions were adopted.

A resolution declaring the belief of the organization in international arbitration was adopted. Other resolutions drafted declared against lynching, for church co-operation and for equal suffrage.

ROBBERS SECURE $6,000.

State Bank of Blairsburg, Iowa, Loses a Big Sum.

A terrific explosion of dynamite in the State Bank of Blairsburg, Iowa, Oct. 24, which shattered the great safe, demolished the heavy plate glass windows, wrecked the building and alarmed every resident of the city. Hasty investigation showed that robbers had caused the destruction. In cracking the safe the burglars used ten times as much dynamite as was necessary. The robbers secured $6,000 in securities and a small sum of money which had not been placed in the time lock safe.

One robber was shot and caught. He gave his name as Edward Gilcoin, but would not give the names of his companions.

On Monday the bridge crew of the C. & N.-W. road had a narrow escape. The crew was just returning from work when they met the gravel train. Owing to the fact that it was very dark and the engine of the train was pushing instead of pulling it, the men were unable to see the train until the first car was nearly upon them. As it was, they just had time to jump before the hand-car was struck. With the exception of a demolished hand-car no damage was done.

Ed Peters and George Hansen have decided to dissolve partnership on Nov. 1st, Mr. Hansen retiring, and Mr. Peters continuing the livery business at the old stand. The firm of Hansen & Peters was established some four or five years ago, and was a success from the beginning. Its popularity and business increased steadily, due largely to the fact that the members of the firm were young, industrious, full of ambition and kept first-class turnouts. Their rates have always been reasonable, and their dealings with the public has at all times been honorable. These same principles will be observed by Mr. Peters in conducting the business on his own account, while Mr. Hansen can rest assured that the well wishes of all his friends and old customers go with him in whatever business he may embark in.

An Adieu But Not Good Bye.

A farewell surprise party was tendered Miss Dorrit Rouse Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Hageman. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music, and an excellent lunch was served.

Dorrit will be greatly missed by her large circle of friends and we hope soon to see her again in our midst.

Those present were:

Elect Officers.

At the regular business meeting of the Epworth league held at the home of Miss Carrie E. Kingsley, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Carrie E. Kingsley.
First Vice-President—H. A. Harnden.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. Mary Wilmer.
Third Vice-President—Miss Allie Meyer.
Fourth Vice-President—Mrs. T. E. Beam.
Secretary—Wilbur Harnden.
Treasurer—Miss Laura Wilmer.

Two new names were added to the membership roll of the League. They were Mrs. J. I. Sears and Roy Myers. It was an excellent business meeting.

Spinner Bros. Defeated.

The decision of Justice Plagge in the suit of Kunke & Ahlgrim vs. Spinner Bros. was in favor of the plaintiffs.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

This is given to Mr. A. Stoxen by me, not by his request more than by my own wish, to testify to the very satisfactory settlement for loss of personal property destroyed just nine days ago (Oct. 5th). On October 14th I was paid in full, without cut or discount, and I hereby tender my sincere thanks to both the agent and company, and do most heartily recommend them both to any and all persons in need of reliable insurance. Any who wish may address me at my home, Libertyville, Lake Co., Ill., or if they desire may call on the agent, A. C. Stoxen, Wauconda, Ill., and verify this statement. ALBERT MOXEY.

A pain in the chest is nature's warning that pneumonia is threatened. Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind over the seat of pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, and prompt relief will follow. Sold by A. H. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the Barrington postoffice Friday, Oct. 29, 1897:

The Miller, F. O. Stocum, Miss B. Karney, John Berlin, Hiram M. Bizant, Mrs. J. W. Cogswell, Phingston & Craft, John Hartzen, Charlie Kinale.

H. K. BROCKWAY, P. M.

A few weeks ago the editor was taken with a very severe cold that caused him to be in a most miserable condition. It was undoubtedly a bad case of la grippe and recognizing it as dangerous he took immediate steps to bring about a speedy cure. From the advertisement of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the many good recommendations included therein, we concluded to make a first trial of the medicine. To say that it was satisfactory in its results, is putting it very mildly, indeed. It acted like magic and the result was a speedy and permanent cure. We have no hesitancy in recommending this excellent Cough Remedy to anyone afflicted with a cough or cold in any form.—The Banner of Liberty, Libertytown, Maryland. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by A. L. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.
