Mrs. V. V. Vincent's son was visiting her this week.

D. B. Wood is able to be around with the aid of a cane.

The firemen had their picture taken in uniform last Sunday.

Henry Coffee of Chicago was a visitor at Dr. Alverson's last Sunday.

"Hy" Harmenting of Dundee was over to see the football game Saturday.

Comfort & Co. received their engine for the grist mill the first of the week.

Mrs. Lemker of Gilmer has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Chas. Velhe, this week.

Nason Bros. have lost a number of hogs lately from a disease which has afflicted the entire drove.

Doctors Ray Gibbs and R. M. Putnam were hunting on Fox river Sunday and brought home nine birds.

A little street musician (?) was entertaining the business men at their places of business Wednesday.

The work on the erection of the pump station for the waterworks is being pushed rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schierding and Blanche spent a few days in Chicago at the home of Mrs. Dr. Wadhams.

Robbie Mix's school friends tendered him a surprise party Wednesday evening. The little folks had a very pleasant time.

FOR SALE—A lot, with good 8-room house and good barn on Plum Grove avenue, opposite the M. E. church. For particulars call on A. G. Smith.

The Concordia society of St. Paul's church will give a dance in Batterman's hall, Wednesday evening, November 24. Supper will be served.

To all who assisted at the fire last Monday morning, I wish to tender my sincere thanks for their timely aid and kindness in saving my residence.
MRS. V. V. VINCENT.

Wonder why it is that the Palatine young men find greater attractions at Barrington, while the Barrington young men find society in Palatine all right.

The Ladies' Aid society met with Mrs. Rev. J. C. Butcher Tuesday afternoon to complete arrangements for their bazaar to be held December 2, and 3. Mrs. R. H. Lytle was elected secretary in place of Miss Lambert, resigned.

FOR SALE, A BARGAIN.—Two-story, eight-room house, almost new, with barn, good well, and a large lot at corner of Wilson and Rose streets. This is an opportunity in a life time to get a nice home cheap, if taken at once. Terms easy. Apply to PALATINE BANK.

Mrs. Vincent's barn was burned to the ground about 3 o'clock Monday morning. The fire was discovered by Officer Law, who woke up the residents of the north part of town. The fire had nearly consumed the building before discovered, so an alarm was not sounded. The fire was undoubtedly incendiary. The barn contained a small quantity of hay.

Those who have been in the habit of using government stamped envelopes will note the fact that as soon as the present contract runs out you can get your envelopes printed at your home office only, as the government will no longer compete with the printer in printing the return cards. Also by recent ruling your letters will be held thirty days unless you have printed on the envelopes the time you wish them held.

Palatine Wins Its Fifth Consecutive Game.

The Palatine football team won its fifth consecutive victory Saturday by defeating the Lincoln Cycling club team by a score of 14 to 6. The score does not show the strength of the two teams, however, as Palatine did not get down to work until the second half, their playing before that lacking snap and team work.

The Lincoln's team was composed of substitutes of the Northwestern University, C. A. A. and Dental Surgeon's teams.

The only touchdown for the cyclists was made by Waidner, who pierced through the line for an 80 yard rug. Palatines' goal was never in danger. The Cyclists' were weak in the line, and the backs were sent through for big gains.

B. Smith, Van Vleck and A. G. Smith each made touchdowns.

Football Notes.

Nov. 25—Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co.

Palatine has scored 90 points against 12 this season.

There have been 19 members of the team and substitutes out for practice this week.

Otto Engelking is receiving more mail than he can handle these days. Many teams are looking for defeat here.

A big crowd is going to accompany the team to St. Charles today. A special car will be chartered from Chicago so that Palatine people will have plenty of room in which to spend their enthusiasm on the way home, if things go as they should. About fifty people will go along as "rooters" to encourage the boys for the Suburban championship. They will return at 7:42 in the evening.

One good thing the national convention of mayors and municipal councilmen did at its Columbus meeting was to pass a resolution recommending city governments to give cordial aid in every way possible to the labor bureau's commission appointed to investigate municipal ownership of public franchises, such as street railways, water and gas works and electric lighting. There is about an even difference of honest opinion in the United States as to whether a city should or should not own and operate those industries with which the whole public is directly concerned. The national bureau of labor will gather facts on both sides of the question and report. It is certain there is a growing general belief that either a city should own and operate its own public franchises or that private companies owning and operating them should pay a city well for the privilege of controlling public enterprises which are so lucrative to them.

SOME CHEAP CORN.

M. C. McIntosh Writes The Review an Interesting Letter From South Dakota

WATERTOWN, S. D., Nov. 10, '97.

I am again in the land of the Scandinavian and the west winds, wearing two suits of heavy underclothes and feeling like a stuffed mummy—only I wish I could wear another suit of underclothing without bursting the seams in my coat and trousers.

The chief aim of some of the fellows out here seems to be to get full of alcohol and then attempt to lick everybody in the caboose. [We travel mostly by stock express.] Last night the train men in subduing one hilarious stock man pounded him into insensibility and then locked him in a box car. When they opened the car at Hetland he jumped out and knocked over three men before they were aware that he was ready for fun again, and to cap the climax he ran off with the lantern.

The prairies are more bleak than ever, but the large herds of fat cattle and the immense fires of burning straw show some signs of prosperity.

At Neligh, Neb., one farmer is feeding 6000 head of range cattle. He has one field of corn (1,500 acres) which will average 40 bushels to the acre, besides having in his cribs something over 200,000 bushels which he bought for 12½ cents a bushel.

At Wayne there are 10,000 head of range cattle being fed for the Omaha market. These cattle are mostly 3-year-olds that have run on the plains further west until they have their growth, and are then shipped into the corn country to be fattened.

The Wyoming Bank of Jones county, Iowa, has 320 acres near Wayne, on 187 acres of which they raised 10,000 bushels of corn, the balance of their land is in cattle-feeding pens. The stock is kept in yards of 3 or four acres to each hundred head. The president of the bank had just returned from a trip out on the plains buying up some 3,000 head of young stock to be fed on their farm at Wayne, when I had the pleasure of meeting him.

The best stock for fattening purposes seems to be the Galloway grade, and not the pure-blooded. The Galloway stock brings 25c a hundredweight more in the market than Durham stock of the same grade.

Sheep are worth more here than ever before, and numerous flocks of 2,000 or 3,000 fine sheep can be seen through the entire sand hill country.

On the sand plains Alfalfa is the great hay crop, and after the second cutting is taken off the hogs are turned into the field to fatten on the green shoots and roots. Of course, the hogs ruin the field, but they get very fat.

I am going to start now on a hundred mile drive through the big hills of Coddington and Grant counties, and if I don't get caught by a blizzard I shall be with you Monday morning. [Mr. McIntosh got back on time.]

The Vote Was Secured.

An ex-M. P. who contested a high-land constituency in the sixties tells the following anecdote:

Once, after a long and fatiguing day's canvass, I tackled a dissenting minister, who was very keen upon the subject of getting the bishops out of the house of lords, and in pursuance of his favorite hobby he asked me:

"Well, sir, what are you prepared to do about the bishops?"

I was irritated and fatigued by my day's work, and I testily muttered, "Oh, hang the bishops!"

The minister bowed and replied: "Well, sir, you go rather beyond me there. I canna undertake to go altogether that length with you, but you shall have my vote."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Union Pacific railroad on which the government holds a mortgage consists of two distinct properties, the main line and its Kansas branch, known as the Kansas Pacific railway. The original intention of the government was to sell the two properties separately—the Union Pacific Nov. 2, the Kansas Pacific Nov. 5. In the sale which has been postponed to Dec. 15 the Kansas Pacific will be disposed of. The reorganization committee, representing the present management of the road, desired to obtain possession of the Union Pacific, but does not want the Kansas Pacific.

Barrington, - - - Illinois

But why do I keep Thanksgiving,
Did I hear you aught, my dear?
Why? When I'm all alone in life,
Not a chick nor a child to be near,
John's folks all away in the west,
Lucy across the sea,
And not a soul in the dear old home
Save a little bound girl and me?

It does look lonesome, I grant it;
Yet strange as the thing may sound,
I'm seldom in want of company
The whole of the merry year round—
There's spring when the lilac blossoms,
And the apple trees blush to bloom,
There's summer when great moths flit
And glaucous

Through the twilight's star-lit gloom.
Then comes the beautiful autumn,
When every fragrant brier, Flinging its garlands on fence and wall,
Is bright as a living fire;

And then the white, still winter time,
When the snow lies warm on the wheat,
And I think of the days that have passed away,
When my life was young and sweet.

I'm a very happy woman
Today, though my hair is white,
For some of my troubles I've overlived,
And some I keep out of sight.
I'm a busy old woman, you see, my
dear,

As I travel along life's road,
I'm always trying as best I can
To lighten my neighbor's load.

That child? You should think she'd try me?
Does she earn her bread and salt?
You've noticed she's sometimes indolent,
And indolence is a fault;

Of course it is, but the orphan girl
Is growing as fast as she can,
And to make her work from dawn to dark
Was never a part of my plan.

I like to see the dimples
Flash out on the little face,
That was wan enough, and still enough
When first she came to the place.
I think she'll do, when she's older;
A kitten is not a cat;

And now that I look at the thing, my
dear,
I hope she'll never be that.

I'm thankful that life is peaceful;
I should just be sick of strife,
If, for instance, I had to live along
Like poor Job Slocum's wife; I'm thankful I didn't say "yes," my
dear—

What saved me I do not see—When Job, with a sprig in his buttonhole,
Once came a-courting me.

I'm thankful I'm neither poor nor rich,
Glad that I'm not in debt;
That I owe no money I cannot pay,
And so have no call to fret.
I'm thankful so many love me,
And that I've so many to love,
Though my dearest and nearest are all
at home,
In the beautiful land above.

I shall always keep Thanksgiving
In the good-old-fashioned way,
And think of the reasons for gratitude
In December, and June, and May,
In August, November, and April,
And the months that come between;
For God is good, and my heart is light,
And I'd not change place with a queen.

often pass through the northwest as a gentle reminder that we had one last chance of bidding good-by to Indian summer. Had the weather not cleared I might have changed my mind about making the move I did make. Leaving instructions that we would all start in the early hours of morning, I went down to the shore and stepped into my canoe. I had with me my usual supply of matches and other incidentals.
The moon shone out so clearly over the rippling water that I did not mind the forebodings of rain that warned me. I did not think it was necessary to take a heavy caliber rifle and consequently neglected doing it, but I had with me a couple of good revolvers.

"I pushed the canoe from shore, and in a few minutes was gliding over the rippling waters of the Flambeaux, with no care of what the journey might bring. For over half an hour I kept my course down the river. The moon had shone brightly until then, and was only occasionally hidden by a few dark

I HUNG ON WITH BOTH HANDS.

A cold wind came up from the northeast and then I had some fears of the storm that had threatened all day.
The clouds came thick and fast and with them rain, at first only a few drops, but finally an icy rain which was driven by the terrible force of the wind. With the storm came lightning and I soon saw it would be folly to go further. I endeavored to turn my canoe toward shore, but the storm had changed into a young tempest, and to stay long on the waters in that craft meant death. I drifted on at a fearful rate, and I also noticed that the current of the river seemed swifter than I had noticed it before.

"While thus engaged a new sound fell upon my ears. It was a dull, deep roar, and every moment it seemed to increase. The water flowed more swiftly, and the roaring ahead of me became deafening. I knew too well what it was. My boat dashed madly forward, and I was entering rapids.
How large they were I did not know, for the country was comparatively new to me. I dropped my paddle into the bottom of the boat and hung on with both hands. How I ever got through alive I don't know for as I viewed the rapids the next morning they were the worst I had ever seen on medium sized rivers. The foam dashed over me, and my canoe grazed scores of rocks.
Then I heard the roaring far behind, and I found myself in tolerably smooth water, but I didn't care about running any more chances that night, and took to the northeast bank, which was on my left. My canoe grated on the sand and with a feeling of safety I stepped my foot on shore.

"As I did so the woods for rods around seemed to tremble. I knew what it was. The river at this point widened into a lake, over the left side of which was a floating island, that is, a projection of the mainland over the lake. The roots of the trees were closely woven together and a good

AN AWFUL CRASH FOLLOWED.
quantity of soil was packed in between.
I had heard many stories concerning these islands, but hardly credited them.
"I gathered a good quantity of wood together and started a fire, and sitting down on the wet ground tried to make myself as comfortable as possible.
Overcome by the exhaustion I had experienced I lay down and was soon asleep. How long I slept is hard to say, but it must have been about an hour

"I was awakened, and gazing about, darkness, yes, the darkness of an Egyptian night, met my eyes. A noise, at first very faint, disturbed the silence.
It was like that of a crying child, but I had heard it before; it was the whining of a lynx. I drew one of my revolvers and laid very quiet. The noise grew louder and I heard the fiend creeping upon me. My nerves gave way to my first impulse and I fired in the direction of the sound. A moment later and there was a quick spring and the beast lit upon my shoulders.

"Over and over we rolled. I felt the ground tremble, and an awful crash followed. The lynx loosened his hold, perhaps from fear, and I clutched wildly about me. My hands came in contact with a root. I grabbed it and swung backward and forward for, it seemed to me, an age. The waters beneath me seemed to boil, and then all was still, a stillness that was more terrible than death. I heard a pattering in the water beneath me and remembered the lynx. With a supernatural effort I swung myself upward, and, by clutching my feet on the roots and stones protruding from the side of the well, I was soon on earth again. I crawled a rod or so away, and then waited for daylight.

"As the first gray light of morning lit the eastern sky I turned my head toward what might have been my grave. It was a circular hole, about ten feet in diameter. I could see the water about fifteen feet below. I thought of the lynx and the terrible but just fate he had met, and then creeping to shore I got into my canoe, and casting one look behind me on that treacherous shore, I turned my back on it forever, and turned my face toward camp.

"This is my experience of a Thanksgiving day that makes the day one of thanks to me—thankful for my life."

A Thanksgiving Proclamation.
Know all men by these presents that
We turkeys do protest Against an annual outrage which Brings sorrow to the nest.

We think it most becoming for
A nation to give thanks,
But we object in firm tones when
It cuts into our ranks.

Think of the widowed ones, and think
Of orphans in the flock,
Who must this year with sadness view
The cruel chopping block.

So now, good people, we request,
Our pleadings may be heard,
And if you must give thanks and feast

Please kill some other bird.
—George V. Hobart.

THANKSGIVING
ARGUMENT

The old wife sat in the chimney place Talking of days gone by
To the small granddaughter close at her knee,
Eager and bright of eye.

"And only think," she finished, "dear,
That sad Thanksgiving morn
All that the Pilgrims had to eat
Was, each one, five grains of corn."

Out from his corner grandfather
Put in a quavering word:
"You're wrong, Priscilla Ann, you're wrong,
'Twas six, I've always heard."

"Pshaw, father, you've forgotten it.
No, child, 'twas only five."
"Priscilla Ann, I say 'twas six,
As sure as you're alive!"

"'Twas six!" "Twas, too!" "Why,
father!" "Well,
I ain't so old, I guess,
But what I know 'twas six!" "Oh,
land,
What silly foolishness!"

"Priscilla Ann!" "Yes, father!" "Six!"
The small granddaughter stared.
Then, crying, ran away. "There, now, You've got the poor lamb scared!"

"I hain't!" "You have!" Here was begun
A very pretty quarrel,
But that their daughter came in haste
To hear and point a moral.

"Why, father! mother! quarrelling,
And on Thanksgiving Day!
And all about a grain of corn;
That's foolish, don't you say?"
The old folks looked abashed. "'Twas six!"

"'Twas five!" "Why, no, 'twas four!"
And then it really looked as though
'Twould all begin once more.

Till grandma, gulping down her wrath
Said, "Well, they hadn't many;
But, sakes alive! if they hadn't five,
I'm thankful they had any."
—Florence E. Pratt.

With the likes of the Prince of Wales.

And, as you ooze along the way,
Thy life is sweet, I ween;
You do not have to say good day
And breakfast with the Queen.

O for some humble cavern place,
With bushes round the door,
Where I might never feed the face
Of any royal poor.

O for a shirt and pair of pants,
A pair of socks and vest;
I'd give them guys a song and dance
And try to do my best.

Aye, friend, I'd rather have thy job—
Although you need a shave—
Than be an Anglo-maniac slob
And fill a royal grave.

SATISFIED WITH BLANCO.

Minister Woodford Commends His Course.

PROTEST AGAINST AUTONOMY.

Union Constitutional Party in Cuba Cables Its Disapproval to the Queen Regent—Pope Leo Expresses Sympathy with the Throne.

United Minister Woodford had a cordial interview with Senor Moret, minister of the colonies, and it is believed that he assured Senor Moret that the United States government is satisfied with the measures taken thus far by Marshal Blanco.

The government has received for the queen regent the cabled request of the union constitutional party in Cuba that her majesty decline to sign the decrees establishing autonomy in the island, but the request will be ignored.

The ministerial organs express satisfaction at the message of the pope to the Spanish bishops, voicing his sympathy with King Alfonso and the queen regent.

WOMEN GO TO THE KLONDIKE.

Seventy-five Take Passage in a Steamer Which Sails from New York.

New York, Nov. 17.—The steamship City of Columbia, which will leave this city for the Klondike gold region via Cape Horn on Dec. 1, was visited today at her dock, foot of East Ninth street, here by over 5,000 people, half of whom were women and children. Nearly all of the 300 men and women already booked for the passage visited the steamer during the hours it was open for inspection, beside a large number of invited guests. Among the latter were H. A. Herbert, former Secretary of the Navy; General H. V. Boynton, E. V. Camack of Philadelphia, the venerable ex-secretary of Nicholas Biddle; C. P. Huntington and D. O. Mills, and a delegation of seventy-five business men and bankers of Philadelphia, who are interested in the project of sending out the Columbia.

Sixty of the passengers already booked are females, the major portion of whom are married women. There are a few widows among them. Thirty-five of the women are chaperoned by Mrs. H. S. Gould.

The youngest passenger will be a boy of 7 years, who will accompany his mother to the far north. Three hospital nurses and five physicians are among the passengers. The men in the party include six lawyers, one banker, and twelve Yale students, who have abandoned their studies for the perils of the Klondike. The passengers come from all over the country and Canada.

The City of Columbia will be in charge of Captain E. C. Baker. It will reach Seattle in April, and on the way to the Horn will stop at several of the South American ports.

Committee to Prepare a Report.

The special committee on the home missions of the Presbyterian Church authorized the Rev. J. L. Withrow to appoint the subcommittee that is to prepare a report to be submitted to the full committee at a meeting to be held in February. The sentiment of the general committee is in favor of the so-called Indiana plan of missionary work, and the subcommittee will recommend the adoption of that plan in its report.

Would Pay Bonds in Gold.

Prof. Charles F. Dunbar, whose reputation upon financial and economic questions at Harvard university is well known, makes a strong argument in favor of bonds payable specifically in gold in his recommendations to the monetary commission. He also favors a currency based upon banking assets and the retirement of the legal tender obligations of the government.

Lynching in North Dakota.

CIVILIZATION AND MOB LAW.

Lynchings No Longer Peculiar to the Southern States.

The time was when the punishment of alleged offenders by mobs was, though not unknown, exceedingly rare and confined to the frontier where the statute laws were imperfectly enforced, says the Detroit Free Press. In recent years it has become exceedingly common and is no longer confined to the newer communities of the frontier. As we have grown in what we call civilization the number of lynchings has increased, and the rude justice—or injustice—of the mob is heard from in states of the Union which are counted among the most highly civilized. So long as it was confined to new communities like those in California in the early days or to the states of the south, with their racial conflicts, the outgrowth of the war, the attempt of the mob to execute the criminal law, or some barbarous substitute for it, was not calculated to prompt the query we are considering. But when states like Ohio and Indiana, and even Michigan, are found in the ranks of the lynchers, it is time to ask in serious earnest whether there is not something the matter with our civilization and whether it really is the success we have claimed it to be. It is well worthy of note that it is in this country, with its republican institutions, which we have fondly believed to be the home of the highest civilization known to modern times, that this barbarism flourishes most luxuriantly. It is scarcely known in the countries of Europe, and there is hardly one of these—not even excluding Turkey—which does not plume itself upon its superiority in this respect and deride, because of it, our claim to the higher civilization. Why is this? Is it because liberty leads inevitably to license and because the average man cannot safely be intrusted with the freedom which is here secured to him by the constitution and the laws? We should be very sorry to think that. Yet there are not wanting those in monarchical countries to make the assertion, and the lynching habit comes perilously near to bearing them out in it.

PRETTY DOROTHY DREW.

Story About the Grand-Daughter of William E. Gladstone.

A pretty story of Mr. Gladstone and his little granddaughter Dorothy is told. A tourist describing a fete at Hawarden says: A space immediately opposite the center walk from the house was roped off for Mr. Gladstone and his party. A few ladies had already taken their seats on the wall and on chairs within this inclosure, when, like a little bird, Dorothy Drew came dancing along from the castle. When the immense crowd in the field below caught sight of her they cheered loudly. Evidently she is well accustomed to 'being received,' for she danced up to the wall and stood smiling with the most perfect self-possession. She is only a tiny mite, and was very simply dressed in a pink print frock and a white hat. She began pulling up her frock, and in a moment, with her mother's help, off came her little brown shoes and stockings, and she was barefooted. For the rest of the afternoon she remained so, and ran about with equal ease on both gravel walks and grass. While we waited for Mr. Gladstone she sat on the terrace wall, plucking ivy leaves and throwing them to the crowd. Then she stuck the leaves between her toes and waved her little foot to the people. She has exquisitely formed legs and feet, and I was told that she is often seen in the village barefooted. She caught sight of a little girl in the crowd, and not content with giving her an ivy leaf, she ran off to the flower beds, gathered some pansies, made them into a buttonhole bouquet with ivy, and passed them over the wall. When her grandfather alluded so prettily to her in his speech, Mrs. Gladstone lifted her up on the wall beside him, where they stood hand in hand, while the crowd cheered themselves hoarse. It was a pretty sight. The old man's face glowed with pride, while he bent down and told her to kiss her hand to the people. She was lifted down again out of sight, but for the rest of the afternoon she was dancing—always dancing—here, there, everywhere, on her little bare feet.

DOROTHY DREW.

CURES RHEUMATISM, ETC.

A Recent Discovery That Is Working Wonders.

The most prevailing afflictions that for a century have been engaging the most scientific skill of the medical world are rheumatism, neuralgia, catarrh, asthma, la grippe and their kindred ailments. The country is full of sufferers from these complaints. Although the most learned experts of the medical profession have labored for a century to produce a curative, until quite recently no positive results were effected. To the Swanson Rheumatic Cure Co., 167-69 Dearborn street, Chicago, belongs the credit for having produced the new remedy. It is being extensively advertised under the trade mark of "Five Drops." The trade mark is self-explanatory. Five drops make a dose. The effect is magical. In days gone by other alleged cures have been marketed with the promise to take effect in thirty days or more. Five Drops begins to cure at once. Immediate relief is felt. In order to more effectively advertise its merits the company will for the next thirty days send out 100,000 of their sample bottles of this positive cure for 25 cents a bottle by mail prepaid. Large bottle, 300 doses, $1 (for thirty days 3 bottles $2.50.) Those suffering should take immediate advantage of this generous offer and write them to-day.

Safety Pins.

The safety pins men are wearing for scarf pins this fall have certainly the merit of being unique, but safety pins have too long been the lower servants in the pin family to have an aristocratic air now that they are elevated to ornamental masculine uses, albeit they are made of the precious metal.—New York Times.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. THE TURN OF LIFE

Is the most important period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop for good, are symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. Those hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life.

The Vegetable Compound is an invigorating strengthener of the female organism. It builds up the weakened nervous system and enables a woman to pass that grand change triumphantly.

It does not seem necessary for us to prove the honesty of our statements, but it is a pleasure to publish such grateful words as the following:

"I have been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time during the change of life and it has been a saviour of life unto me. I can cheerfully recommend your medicine to all women, and I know it will give permanent relief. I would be glad to relate my experience to any sufferer."—Mrs. DELLA WATSON, 534 West 5th St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Barrington Review

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

M. T. LAMEY, Ed. and Pub.

Entered at the postoffice at Barrington, Ill., as second-class matter.

SATURDAY, NOV. 20, 1897.

Hampshire has appointed a police officer for one month, at a salary of $25. He also has charge of the street commissionership. The gentleman has a "hot" job.

The Nunda Electric Light Co. now furnishes light every morning from 5:30 until daylight. Barrington citizens would be satisfied with light during the early evening hours.

F. H. Hall has sold his interest in the Gazette-Register plant at Waukegan to the Messrs. DeKay, who will continue the publication. It is announced that the negotiations were made last Saturday. Mr. Hall has returned to Kenosha.

As nice a piece of road making as we have ever seen is the stretch of road from Barrington north to Hollister's Corners, and thence west to White's school house. The gravel is of a superior quality, and is well put on. The Town of Cuba has established an enviable reputation for itself all over Lake county for road improvements, and it is to be hoped the good work will be kept up.

City Attorney Thornton of Chicago is endeavoring to raise funds for Street Commissioner McGann for the purpose of putting in repair all the sidewalks. At the rate the damage suits are piling up against the city, he is fearful it will result in bankruptcy unless stopped in time. Barrington has as yet had no damage suits—caused by defective sidewalks—but our village trustees should see to it that no person will have cause to file one against the village. Let them order all bad sidewalks put in repair at once, before the bad weather sets in.

The apparatus of the electric light plant put in by the city of Woodstock consists of one arc light dynamo with a capacity of sixty 2,000-candle power arc lamps, an incandescent dynamo with a capacity of 1,500 16-candle power incandescent lights, fifty-five 2,000 candle power arc lamps, 600 light capacity in electric meters. Besides there goes with the alternator a small dynamo called the exciter, which furnishes the current for the alternator. The construction of the plant required the erection of 442 poles. These poles are neatly painted, the first six feet black and the remainder white. The contract price of the plant was $12,250.

Workmen excavating for the foundation for abutments of the bridge in course of erection near Copeland's farm, near Libertyville, found what appears to be some kind of mineral in large quantities. Upon submitting it to a white heat it emits a strong odor of sulphurated gas, and loses none of its original form. In fact, heat will not destroy it. Supervisor Miller's duty is plain. He should organize a mining company at once and place the stock on the market, the proceeds to be expended towards taking the Board of Supervisors to the Paris exposition in 1900. We have for a long time been of the opinion that Supervisor Miller's hankering for Klondyke would result in something turning up, and it has. We are glad of this for the reason that the chances of his leaving Lake county are reduced to a minimum.

At a recent meeting of the Harvard city council the question of building walks on the street corners was brought up. The question to decide was: "Should the owner of a corner lot be compelled to build any more sidewalks than in front of his building?" At first it was the opinion of nearly every one that the city would have to build portions of walks which were not in front of the property, or in other words a man owning a corner lot could only be compelled to build a sidewalk on the street fronting the building. City Attorney Young, however, informed the council that there was a state supreme court decision which covered the case. The decision was to the effect that the walk was as much to the advantage of the building as the walk in front, and it was the duty of the lot owner to stand the expense.

Thanksgiving.

Next Thursday (November 25th) has been proclaimed by President McKinley as the day for thanksgiving.

Ever since the year 1621, when a little colony of pilgrims at Plymouth established this custom, has it been observed by the larger part of the inhabitants of the New World, and today it is one of the most universally observed holidays in our land.

It is no more than right that a wealthy and prosperous nation like ours, professing christianity, should devote one day out of the 365 in the year to praising God, who, in his charity and love, has made us what we are. Certainly every human being has something to be thankful for. Therefore, let us observe next Thursday in a manner which befits a christian nation. Let us forget our daily cares for one day and offer thanks unto God for all the good things we have been blessed with the past year.

This day would also be a most glorious opportunity for all of us to look around among our neighbors and try and locate those with whom the hand of fate has not dealt with as kindly, perhaps, as with ourselves. Let us remember these in a substantial manner, so that no one in our community can have an excuse not to be thankful on that day. Let us make happy all those we can. Remember the scripture: "It is better to give than to receive."

Wise Disposition of the Case.

Daniel S. Corr, who at the last term of the Lake county court plead guilty to manslaughter in the shooting of John Dillon, in Justice Shattwell's court room nearly two years ago, has been sentenced to imprisonment for life in the Joliet penitentiary. Lake county is to be congratulated on the disposition of this case. Had the trial been carried through on the charge of murder in the first degree the expense would probably have footed up several thousand dollars, and great difficulty would probably have been found in securing Corr's conviction, owing to his advanced age and state of health. In accepting the plea of manslaughter States Attorney Heydecker acted wisely, and it is better for all concerned.

October Piano Clearance Sale.

We urge an early call from every intending piano buyer in Barrington and vicinity. We are making, during October, a general clearance sale. It includes second hand, shopworn, old style cases, rental stock and exchanged pianos of many makes, including several Bradburys. Some of these Clearance Sale pianos rank high musically. We recommend them for beginners. Our wholesale and retail departments have both contributed largely to this notable sale.

Every visitor is invited to inspect our complete line of Bradburys in up-rights and cabinet and parlor grands, the foremost of all pianos. But we especially urge these cheap but serviceable "Clearance Sale" pianos just now. We need the room badly for new stock.

Terms: A proper discount for cash. But times are good, money easy, our own capital perhaps the largest in our line, (see Dun or Bradstreet) salaried positions secure, hence time buyers will be equally favored and may practically make their own terms. Our prices include free delivery. Selections now may be delivered later. If you cannot call, write for "Clearance Sale" list. F. G. SMITH,

The 3-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to attacks of croup. Mr. Johnson says he is satisfied that the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, during a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place; and they handle a great many patent medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when his child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by A. L. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

ORDINANCE NO. 62.

An Ordinance Authorizing the Borrowing of Money for the Construction of Water Works Plant and the Issuance of Bonds, Therefore:

Be it Ordained by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Barrington, Counties of Cook and Lake, and State of Illinois.

Section 1. That interest bearing coupon bonds to the amount of Eight Thousand Dollars ($8000), be issued by the Village of Barrington; said bonds to be each for the principal sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1000.) All to bear date on the first (1st) day of December, A. D. 1897. To be numbered from one (1) to eight (8), inclusive.

Said bonds shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent (6 per cent) per annum, from the date thereof, such interest to be payable semi-annually, on the first day of January and the first day of July, in each year, upon presentation and surrender of the proper interest coupons. Said bonds numbered one (1) and two (2) shall be due and payable on the first day of July, A. D. 1908; bonds numbered three (3) and four (4), shall be due and payable on the first day of July, A. D. 1909; bonds numbered five (5) and six (6), shall be due and payable on the first day of July, A. D. 1910; bonds numbered seven (7) and eight (8) shall be due and payable on the first day of July, A. D. 1911.

The first coupon on each of said bonds shall cover the interest thereon from the date thereof to January first (1st) A. D. 1898, and each of the other coupons on each bond shall be for the sum of Thirty Dollars ($30.00) with interest thereon, at six per cent (6 per cent) per annum, after maturity.

Said bonds and the coupons attached shall be signed by the President of the Village of Barrington, and countersigned by the Clerk of the Village of Barrington, and attested by the corporate seal of said Village of Barrington; and said bonds shall be known and designated as the "Village of Barrington Water Works Bonds," and shall be payable at the Commercial Loan and Trust Company's Bank, Chicago, Illinois.

Section 2. The said bonds shall be sold at such time and place as the President and Board of Trustees of said Village may determine, for the highest and best price that can be obtained for same; and the proceeds arising from the sale of said bonds shall be placed in the treasury of said Village, to the credit of the "Water Works Fund," which fund is hereby specially created, and said money shall be used for the payment of expenses pertaining to the purchase of a site for, and the construction of Water Works, for furnishing a supply of water, for fire protection and the use of the inhabitants of said Village of Barrington.

Section 3. That an annual tax be levied on all the real and personal property within the corporate limits of said Village of Barrington and subject to its municipal tax, sufficient for the purpose of paying the interest on the above mentioned debt when it shall become due and for paying and discharging the principal when due and payable. Same to be included in the annual ordinance to be passed by said President and Board of Trustees, known as the "Annual Appropriation Ordinance" and certified to the County Clerks of Cook and Lake Counties, Illinois; to be extended on the proper collection ordinance according to law.

Section 4. That the credit of the Village of Barrington be and the same is hereby irrevocably pledged to the payment of all of said bonds and the interest thereon, according to the terms thereof.

Passed November 15, 1897.
Approved, November 17, 1897.
Published, November 20, 1897.

HENRY BOEHMER,
President.
Attested:
LYMAN A. POWERS,
Village Clerk.

It is refreshing that in the midst of complaints from every source of business inactivity, of a demoralized condition in trade that has thus far shown but slight improvement, even with the present prospect of better times that must in the nature of things become a realization in the near future; in the midst of these conditions the firm of C. F. Hall Co. experience no lethargy in the demand for merchandise. In addition to a fine local trade, they enumerate patrons by the hundred that come from miles around to secure bargains that as a matter of fact no other dealers can offer. This is explained by their superior facilities for handling trade; years of experience in buying and selling; cash that talks; advertising that pays, and a thorough knowledge of the wants of the public—the inducements and courtesies that please them, and the price that places the comforts and little luxuries of life within the reach of all.

"The worst cold I ever had in my life was cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes W. H. Norton of Sutter Creek, Cal. "This cold left me with a cough and I was expectorating all the time. The Remedy cured me, and I want all of my friends when troubled with a cough or cold to use it, for it will do them good." Sold by A. L. Waller, Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

Three Banks Wrecked in Crawford County, Ind.

MANAGER CAN NOT BE FOUND.

Financial Institutions at English, Marengo and Leavenworth Close Their Doors—Three-Fourths of the Families in the County Affected.

The banks in English, Leavenworth and Marengo, Crawford county, Ind., closed their doors Nov. 13. The failure is the most far-reaching that ever occurred in southern Indiana. All the county money was distributed among the three banks. Perry county is also a sufferer, as all the fall installment of taxes just collected was in the three institutions.

While the failure will perhaps not reach higher than $150,000, that sum disappearing from a county as poor and sparsely settled as the county of Crawford touches the pocket of nearly every business man and farmer in the vicinity. Crawford is an agricultural county, and the failure was delayed until the farmers had deposited the money for their crops, permitting the bank wreckers to clean up a goodly sum.

R. H. Willett had the management of the affairs of the bank, and he is in hiding.

The triple failure is even worse than was at first supposed. It is now estimated that the syndicate that controlled the banks has sunk not less than $500,000 in various deals.

Persons familiar with the situation say that the wholesale houses of Cincinnati and Louisville, and perhaps one or two at Indianapolis, Terre Haute and Richmond will lose in the aggregate not less than $150,000. The individual losses are heavy. The merchants of English lose from $200 to $2,500 each, and the same is true in the other towns.

Three-fourths of the families in Crawford county have been affected by this failure, and hundreds of honest men cannot pay their debts. The failure of the Haughey bank at Indianapolis or the crash of the other banks several years ago are not to be mentioned in the same list with this failure. Conservative men say this is more than a failure—it is a calamity.

May Manage Their Own Affairs.—The special committee appointed by the last general assembly of the Presbyterian church to reform and harmonize the methods of giving to home missions decided that state synods and presbyteries should be allowed to manage their own affairs without the aid of the home board of missions, meaning a granting of practical autonomy to each presbytery.

Wisconsin Bank Goes Under.—The Bank of Antigo, Wis., has been closed by the board of directors, and application has been made for a receiver, owing to the discovery of irregularities in the cashier's books. C. B. McDonald, vice president and director, said that the bank's finances were unimpaired and that over 50 per cent of the entire deposits is in its vaults at the present time.

Victory for Oil Operators.—Judge McClure has handed down a ruling holding Indiana anti-waste natural gas laws defective, inasmuch as no provision for a fine was included. This opens the Indiana gas territory to oil operators, and is a great victory for them.

Sovereign Would Be President.—J. R. Sovereign, the retiring general master workman of the Knights of Labor, it is said, resigned his position in order that he might push his candidacy for president of the United States in 1900.

Respite for Durrant.—On application of Durrant's attorneys the state supreme court granted a writ of probable cause, the effect of which will be indefinitely to delay the execution. Durrant was to have been hanged on Nov. 12.

Not Guilty of Fraud.—W. S. McIntosh, who was charged with having defrauded DeKalb county, Ind., of $50,000, was declared not guilty by the jury.

Not Offered the Canal.—The Japanese legation at Washington makes official denial of reports that Nicaragua had tendered to Japan the franchise of the Nicaraguan Canal.

HANNIS TAYLOR, AMERICA'S PEPPERY DIPLOMAT.

Hannis Taylor, who has raised storms of comment and indignation on two continents by his article in the North American Review and by his letter to the New York Herald, is a man of strong impulses and most resolute and brave. His publication of matters that he learned as minister to Spain is regarded as an act unique in the history of American diplomacy. It was never done before, and the public is amazed that Mr. Taylor can possibly take such a view of etiquette as permits him to disclose facts that came to him in a purely official and confidential manner. The former minister is only 44 years old, but that, while young for a diplomat, is rather too old to be offered as an excuse for such loquacity. He is a native of North Carolina, but has lived in Alabama ever since he was a lad. In that state he studied law, and in Mobile he rose to considerable eminence. His argument before the United States supreme court several years ago won for him much praise from the legal profession of the United States. His first diplomatic work was in the Berine Sea dispute. Governor Coats of Alabama recommended Mr. Taylor to the President for the Spanish mission, and he was appointed to the post April 6, 1893. Mr. Taylor has a splendid knowledge of international law, and his general fitness as a diplomat makes his recent utterances all the more startling and painful. While minister he was very prompt in vigorously representing his country at the Spanish court. During the troubles in Spain, nearly two years ago, when the American legation was guarded from the mob by Spanish soldiers, Minister Taylor bore up bravely under the fire of hostile and fierce criticism, and did not flinch from the fury of the Madrid mob. Mr. Taylor is widely known by his work, "The Origin and Growth of the English Constitution," which has been adopted as a text book in several American universities. In this great work he shows that all the good laws of England were borrowed from Rome. Also that our own laws are substantially those of ancient Rome and are not copied from England.—From the Chicago Daily Dispatch.

ILLINOIS NEWSLETS.

RECORD OF MINOR DOINGS OF THE WEEK.

Seven Days' Happenings Condensed—Social, Religious, Political, Criminal, Obituary and Miscellaneous Events from Every Section of the State.

Emden.—At a special election held here yesterday the proposition that the village issue $3,500 bonds for a water-works carried.

Kankakee.—Two cannon, presented the Kankakee Grand Army of the Republic by the government, were dedicated by the Rev. Joseph Bell of Pontiac.

Kankakee.—Dancing classes have been organized by a Chicago professor among the 2,200 patients at the Illinois eastern hospital for the insane. Those whose physical and mental condition will permit are to be given as many lessons as possible during the term. There are also weekly dances for patients. Male attendants dance with female patients and female attendants dance with male patients. It is believed the mental condition of the insane is greatly benefited by the amusement.

Elgin.—Sidney Heath, the last original member of the First Methodist church to live in Elgin, is on his death-bed from paralysis. He is one of Elgin's pioneer citizens. In 1836 Mr. Heath came from Connecticut, where he was born in 1812, to Kane county, buying a claim of Ira Minard, afterward of St. Charles. He paid $700 for it, selling it, after a residence thereon of thirty-five years, to the state for the site of the Illinois Northern Hospital for the Insane. Since 1871 Mr. Heath has lived in Elgin.

Paxton.—Mr. and Mrs. Gust Aspergren Monday evening observed the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding at their home on the East side. About thirty guests were present, and of their children Mrs. E. A. Edgren, of Evanston, wife of Rev. E. A. Edgren; Charles Aspergren, of the firm of Aspergren & Sandstedt, and Mrs. S. Engstrom. Eight of eighteen grandchildren were present. Congratulatory addresses were delivered by Revs. E. P. Olson and Rev. Edgren. The presents were a pair of gold eye-glasses for each and two gold-headed canes for Mr. Aspergren.

Charles Page Bryan, of Chicago, has been named as the successor of Minister Charles Denby, who now represents the United States at China. Charles Page Bryan is the only son of Thomas B. Bryan, and was born in Chicago at the old family homestead, Monroe street and Michigan avenue. When the child was six months old the family removed to Elmhurst, and there young Bryan spent his boyhood. It is his present home. He completed his education at the University of Virginia and the Columbian Law School, and was admitted to the bar in Washington, D. C., in 1878. Soon afterward he went to Colorado, and became the editor of the Denver Inter Ocean and the Colorado Mining Gazette. He also was chosen, in 1884, president of the Colorado Editorial Association.

Springfield.—Secretary of State Rose refused to grant a license to the Mutual Aid Brotherhood of Winnebago, Winnebago county, to incorporate under the laws of the state. He did this on his own responsibility, without waiting for the opinion of the attorney general. The secretary thought the establishment and maintenance of a brotherhood, with members living together in homes, would subject the members to too great temptations for transgression of moral law, and he did not think such an institution should be sanctioned by the laws of Illinois. It remains to be seen whether or not mandamus proceedings will be brought to compel the secretary to grant the license. This is the Schweinfurth institution, the founder of which has been the object of much public criticism during the last two years.

Chicago.—Charles Pearcey, who for fifteen years was a familiar figure on West Madison street, is dead. He was old, at least 55, when he took up his lodgings in a little room at 224 West Madison street. He lived the life of a recluse from the beginning. At times he did his own cooking; sometimes he ate in the cheap restaurants of the neighborhood. He never did any work; neither did he ever seem to be in actual want. He made no friends. He bothered no one. All he asked was to be left alone. Yet there were things about the old man that provoked curiosity. He gave signs of having seen better days. Although living the life of a miser, an investigation of his room after his death shows that he was wealthy. The room was shabbily furnished and littered with all sorts of odds and ends. The chances of finding anything seemed slight, but from all sorts of improbable places government bonds, money in small amounts, two watches, a memorandum showing deposits in various banks to the amount of $1,000, and other valuables, were dragged out. The total amount of his wealth is estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000.

Who Should Engage in Dairying.

There is a great deal of reckless and extravagant advice given in regard to the advantages of dairying over other phases of agricultural production, says a writer in Southern Farm Gazette. While good profits are being made by many dairymen it remains a fact that a great deal of the dairying practiced does not pay as well as some other lines of work might. Where a man lives near a good market and possesses the ability to properly manage a dairy we know of no business that offers more pleasant or profitable work; but few men are fitted for dairy work and not many women are likely to fancy the drudgery and attention required to operate a dairy successfully. The man who engages in the dairy business and expects to make a living out of it without work is almost certain to be disappointed. With good facilities, careful and constant attention and a special fitness for the business a fair profit may be expected. On the other hand while some are sure to make a success of it under the most adverse conditions others will as certainly fail under the most favorable circumstances. Where dairying can be made most profitable and where it should be most encouraged is on the farms where mixed farming is practiced. A few cows can be made to pay handsomely on any ordinary farm and besides will afford one of the rarest but greatest luxuries, good milk and butter for family use.

Corn Silage Vs. Corn Fodder.

Director E. B. Voorhees of the New Jersey experiment station has made careful, comparative tests of corn silage and field dried corn fodder for milk and butter production, with following results:

1. That the cost of harvesting, storing and preparing the dry matter contained in corn was greater in the form of silage than in the form of dried fodder.
2. That the changes that occur in the composition of silage were not such as to decrease its feeding value in a greater degree than those which occur in the process of dry curing corn fodder.

3. That for milk and butter production the feeding value of the dry matter of the silage was greater than that of the dried fodder corn. The yield of milk was 12.8 per cent greater, and the yield of butter fat 10.4 per cent greater.

4. At one cent per pound for the milk produced, the value of the corn crop was near $10 per acre greater when fed in the form of silage rather than in the form of dry fodder.

This test was from a field of fifteen acres that yielded only 11.25 tons of silage to the acre. From this it will be seen that when one has ten acres of a fair growth of corn (112.5 tons), it would pay for a hundred dollar silo the first year, to ensile it instead of feeding it dry. Sometimes a little figuring on correct data reveals some bad "sink holes" in one's farming operations.

Lime Water for Scours in Sheep.

As we are all having more or less trouble with our sheep and lambs being off condition and generally scouring, in many cases going so far as to cause the loss of half the lamb crop in this county, and as my experience may be of some benefit to some brother sheepman, I thought I would send it to you, writes D. Dement in American Sheep Breeder. After trying all the old remedies used before with success, and still the trouble increasing and lambs dying, I finally thought of trying lime water. Knowing that to be a great agent for purifying the stomach at times when every other tried remedy had failed, I began using lime, air slacked (rock lime just as well or better). Put one quart of lime in a trough and pump on say fifty gallons water, then let settle and water sheep off the top; as the strength decreases fill up with new lime. The sheep, scouring, were feverish and drank heartily; therefore the remedy went where needed most. The effect was magical; all began improving at once; the offensive smell disappeared, and only lost one weak lamb after using lime. All are eating fine and appear to be gaining. I don't know what effect lime would have on intestinal worms, if any, but I do know how it worked with the scours. There has been quite a loss of lambs in this county, in some cases 50 per cent dying. Grass too washy, hot days, wet nights, causing colds, worms and general weakening of sheep.

S. D. Maddock, Champaign County, Ill.—The corn exhibited by me at the state fair was planted May 20 on fall-plowed land on which were spread fifteen loads of manure. It was disced three times before planting and harrowed four times and twice after planting. It was worked twice with a cultivator. It was planted in rows three feet six inches apart and drilled every eight inches. This acre yielded 108 bushels and fifty-five pounds, but with a favorable year I am confident that it would have made over 200 bushels per acre. One-half of the stalks did not ear out on account of the dry weather, and July 10 it blew down as flat as if a roller had passed over it.

AUSTRIA'S EMPEROR

ONE OF EUROPE'S MOST UNHAPPY KINGS.

His Christian Spirit of Compromise Has Cost Him More Sorrow Than All the Rest of Continental Rulers—Family Troubles.

HE Emperor of Austria represents better than any other European sovereign the principle of compromise in monarchical government. If he had not been for his flexibility in adapting himself to emergencies, Austria-Hungary would not be the united empire which it has become through a series of political adjustments based upon expediency. He has been on the throne since 1848, and is now in his sixty-eighth year, a well-preserved, amiable sovereign with a sad, wistful face, as though he was disappointed with the results of his long reign. In war he has been unsuccessful, having lost his Italian provinces and the leadership in Germany by his disastrous campaigns with France and Prussia. His one great diplomatic stroke, by which his territories were enlarged in the south, was his secret treaty with Russia before the last war with Turkey. He agreed to remain neutral provided he could have the Turkish provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Without exposing his country to the burdens and risks of warfare, he made up for the territories which he had lost. His empire is larger than it was when he ascended the throne in the revolutionary year of 1848. He has shown himself to be a good politician. In the

The Germans, Magyars, Slavs, Czechs and Poles are jealous and spirited races. No other sovereign has such a team of wild horses to drive. The emperor has a firm hand and a bright, cheery way of chirruping and whistling to his unruly steeds. He succeeded in keeping the horses together when they were ready to break away from control at the close of the Russian war with Turkey. The Magyars were in sympathy with the Turks and detested the Russians, who had conquered them after Kossuth's revolution; the Slavonian races were on fire with sympathy for the Bulgarians, and the Germans were opposed to the acquisition of Bosnia and Herzegovina. The emperor knew his own mind, and carried out his bargain with Russia. The emperor's reign has been embittered by many misfortunes. The fate of Maximilian of Mexico was one of the earliest of his griefs, and the untimely death of the crown prince was a blow from which he has never recovered. Amiable in disposition, farsighted in policy, and dexterous in his management of subjects and in his dealings with statesmen, he has been an unfortunate sovereign and has had reason to repeat the old-time saying: "Call no man happy who is born to the purple."

THE SOLDIER IN GERMANY.

Where the Burden Lies—Spending Money and Destroying Property.

We say much in our press of militarism being a heavy burden to Germany, says Harper's Weekly. We mean usually that the cost of maintaining half a million men in times of peace is something of a burden to a sandy country with a poor population. True enough, but that cost is cheerily paid even in Germany, for it represents to the unthinking the insurance of their national independence. The real burden of the military system in Ger-

CAPTAIN-GENERAL OF CUBA.

Ramon Blanco y Arenas, who succeeds Weyler as captain-general of Cuba, filled that position in 1879, just after the suppression of the last revolution. He promised them to continue the mild methods of Campos, but failed to keep his promises. He was relieved of his duties, sent to the South Sea Islands, thence to the Philippine Islands, whence he was recalled because of his failure to suppress the rebellion. He may pursue a milder policy in Cuba but is expected to follow Weyler's methods, and has announced that he will do so.

war with Prussia, Hungary was a disaffected country, because it was not allowed to govern itself. When the disastrous campaign ended, he realized that conciliation was the only practical method of ruling a confederacy of nations in which antagonistic races were continually pulling in opposite directions. He had the good many falls indirectly much more heavily than it does in the budget. The burden lies in the fact that soldiers are selected for nearly every office, from railway porters to prime ministers. Now, military discipline is a good thing up to a certain point. But there is a point in soldier training where the recruit ceases to be a citizen and thinks only as a governmental atom. This is peculiarly the case in Germany. The government first converts its citizens into military machines and then places these automata in positions of political responsibility where the largest amount of common sense and practical experience are required. Now the soldier is not a man trained to economy or to inventiveness. His business as a soldier is to spend government money freely, and to destroy by bullet and saber whatever opposes him. He rides down growing crops, wastes whatever he touches, never argues—commands, or else obeys. That is the ideal soldier—the Phil Sheridan, the Marlborough. With these qualities go frequently honesty, administrative capacity, courage, but rarely the gift of persuasion, other than by ultimatum.

Increase of Population.

During the last sixty-five years the increase of population has been: In France, 18 per cent; Austria, 45; Italy, 48; United Kingdom, 63; Germany, 75; Russia, 92; British colonies, 510; United States, 626.

EMPEROR FRANZ JOSEPH.

sense to support the Hungarian proposals, and to accept the crown at Budapest at the hands of the dominant race. This was the famous compromise of 1867 by which the Magyars were allowed to govern one-half of the empire while the Germans ordered the destinies of the remaining half. He has strongly favored every measure for conferring the privileges of home rule upon the various states of the empire.

THE WEST.

Some Facts the East May as Well Realize

The effort to build on the plains great cities has thus far been a failure. Outside those situated on the Missouri there are none than can claim the prominence two decades ago predicted of not less than a score of budding municipalities, says the North American Review. But with the appearance of a seaport at a distance of only 700 miles, what may not happen? The vast and fertile region between the Mississippi and the Rocky Mountains is capable of supporting more than one Buffalo, Cleveland or Cincinnati. If the alliance that is being so rapidly perfected unites, as it bids fair to do, all this magnificent section, we may see this time to come, with a second Boston on the Gulf beside. The east has populated and built up the west. Its best young men have "broke" the prairies and made of the level reaches of sod farms and orchards. Its capital has caused a growth that has been the wonder of the world. But the emigrants who left the homes in their revered land, "back east"—the dweller on the plains speaks the words with tenderness—who are in different case now. The friends and relatives in the east are thinned by the sickle of time, the debts are being paid off, and the relation between the east and the west is less one of dependency on the one hand and of patronage on the other. They are independent empires, each with its own conditions and ambitions. That the west is reaching out for an alliance with the nearer south is because it sees in that action the improvement of its finances and a fairer prospect for the coming years. That such a view is widespread and that it is attracting more attention every day is a striking feature of the present condition of the western development. That it means something more than idle speculation and that it will result in new business and trade relations is scarcely to be doubted. It probably means decreased revenues for the eastern traffic lines and the related industries, but unless the judgment of the west is at fault it means better times for the plains. The east may as well realize that its child has come to the years of maturity and is acting for itself.

"Crossed the prairies as of old
The pilgrims crossed the sea,"

Township of But One House.

Undoubtedly the most extraordinary township in England is that of Skiddaw, in Cumberland. It contains but one house, the occupier of which is unable to exercise the Briton's privilege of voting, because there is no overseer to prepare voters' list and no church or other place of worship or assembly in which to publish one. The most remote village in England is that of Farleycum-Pitton. This rural spot is thirty and one-half miles from the nearest railway station. As a contrast to this may be mentioned the hamlet of Ystard, about ten miles from Cardiff. This tiny settlement possesses two important main roads, two railroads and two large rivers.

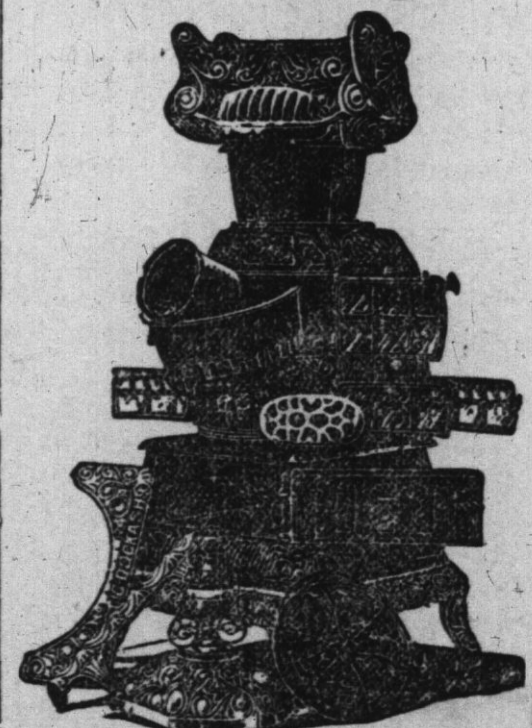

The Art of Needle-Making.

The art of making needles was kept a secret until about 1650, when it was taught to the English by Christopher Greening. Now the English needles are sold all over the world. At Redditch alone 20,000 people make more than 100,000,000 a year.

At the meeting of Barrington Court of Honor No. 373 held last evening officers for the ensuing year were nominated. The election will take place the fourth Tuesday in December.

Several carloads of material were received the past week for the water works plant, and work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. J. D. Lamey & Co. are furnishing the most of the material.

Tomorrow evening the Y. P. A. will hold their annual meeting at the Zion's church. An unusual fine literary program has been arranged for the occasion. Everybody is cordially invited to attend this meeting. Meeting will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

Algonquin has organized a social club for the purpose of furnishing social amusements. The club has a large membership. Why would it not be a good idea to organize a club in Barrington this winter?

Attorney Frank Spitzer of Woodstock will visit Barrington every Tuesday, where he can be consulted on legal matters. Mr. Spitzer is well and favorably known, and no doubt will build up a lucrative practice.

If you enjoy attending turkey shoots and raffles go to Lake Zurich next Thursday, November 25th, and attend Henry Branding's turkey shoot and raffle. He will have an unlimited supply of fowls on hand.

The Wheeling creamery began making brick cheese again November 1st. Henry Boehmer, proprietor, was over from Barrington last week and pronounced them first-class cheese that will sell well on the market. The outlook is good, and Mr. Hansams says they expect to pay about $1.00 per cwt. for November.—Cook County Independent.

The annual election of officers of the M. W. A. will take place at their next regular meeting on Tuesday evening, December 7th. Every member is requested to be present at that meeting. Copies of the new by-laws have been received and may be obtained by calling on the clerk.

M. T. LAMEY, Clerk.

Tomorrow evening at the usual hour Rev. T. E. Ream of the M. E. church will preach on the topic "The Race Before Us," from the text found in I Corinthians 9th ch. 24th v.: "So run that ye may obtain." All are cordially invited to attend.

The Baptist church contemplates holding its "Golden Jubilee" sometime next month, having now completed fifty years of life. A splendid program is being prepared. A more complete notice will be given later.

Miss Alta Gretton attended the dedication of the First Church of Christ (Scientist) in Chicago Sunday. The edifice is at the corner of Drexel boulevard and Forty-first street and is a most beautiful building, the inside being finished entirely in white and gold. Visitors from all over the United States were present at the services.

The entertainment to be given by the Peak Sisters on Thanksgiving evening at the M. E. church will doubtless draw the largest audience ever given an entertainment in the history of this village; therefore if you desire seats you should secure them early.

A sunrise prayer meeting will be held in the class room of the M. E. church next Thursday morning at 6:30 o'clock. This is the annual Thanksgiving prayer service and will be held for one hour. All are invited to attend.

The services will be held at the Zion's Evangelical church. Short addresses will be made by the different pastors. All are cordially invited to attend these services.

BRILLIANT LIGHT.—L. F. Schroeder, A. W. Meyer & Co., John C. Plagge, H. D. A. Grebe and Henry Butzow have equipped their business places with the latest invention in the way of gas burners. It is a decided improvement over the old style gas burner, as it gives a more brilliant light than the old and besides consumes less gas.

The McHenry Journal says: "Last Saturday evening Mrs. Belle Shales severed her connection with the Nunda postoffice, and on Monday went to her new home at Barrington. Mrs. Shales had been in the postoffice in Nunda three years the first of November, and has given general satisfaction to its patrons. We hope she may be very happy in her new surroundings." [Mr. and Mrs. Shales occupy the home in which the late Thos. FitzSimmons resided. Mr. Shales is employed in the hardware store of L. F. Schroeder.]

The "End of the Year Sale of Pianos," now in progress at Lyon & Healy's, affords close buyers an unparalleled opportunity to secure dependable instruments at almost nominal rates. In slightly-used and second-hand uprights they offer quite a choice, at prices from $100 to $140, and in strictly new 1897 style instruments, they offer values fully as great. You cannot afford to neglect this occasion. Easy monthly payments may be arranged. Visitors welcome. Lyon & Healy, Wabash avenue and Adams street, Chicago. A copy of the Lyon & Healy Annual for 1897, containing new popular music, free to callers.

The case of Henry Schumacher, who lost his arm in a feed cutter recently, is one that should be brought to the attention of the public. Mr. Schumacher has a family of a wife and three children to support. He is now incapacitated for farm work and is endeavoring to secure a situation which a man with one arm can fill. THE REVIEW, having personally investigated the case, has this report to make: Mr. Schumacher is a gentleman of industrious habits and is reliable. He is deserving of any situation that he can fill. If any of our readers can help the unfortunate gentleman to a position we would be glad to hear from him or her.

The Chautauqua Circle, under the able leadership of Prof. Smith, is one of the most popular literary societies of this community. The society meets on Friday evening of each week, at which meetings a regular prescribed course of study is pursued. This year's study is "Imperial Germany." Aside from the regular course of study social and literary entertainment is furnished. At the meeting held last week a decidedly spirited debate was the chief attraction, the subject being "Is the New Woman Superior to the Old Woman?" Mrs. Fred Lines and Miss Belle Domire took the affirmative, while Prof. Smith and Mrs. M. C. McIntosh took the negative side. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative.

Miss Emma Meier spent Wednesday in Chicago.

Misses Minnie Meyer and Minnie Brasel visited in Chicago Saturday.

H. K. BROCKWAY, P. M.

The Chicago Engineering company Friday conveyed the electric lighting plant at Barrington to the Western Electric company and the Electrical Exchange, of Chicago, to satisfy their claims of $2,800. The settlement was made by R. S. Egan. The latter also assumes an incumbrance $2,500, money borrowed from the Barrington bank. It will also probably assume the $300 due for labor. A movement is on foot to complete the plant and sell it to the village of Barrington. There are fourteen miles of wire up. Richard Sheean has been custodian and will be placed in charge as superintendent. The company which established the plant is virtually at an end.—Elgin Courier.

Barrington Village Board Proceedings.

The Board meeting Monday evening was attended by quite a delegation of visitors, among whom were three representatives of as many Chicago banking institutions, who were there for the purpose of bidding on the waterworks bonds.

Every member of the Board was present. The ordinance authorizing the issuance of bonds of $1,000 each, to the amount of $8,000 was read and passed. The first two bonds will be payable in 1908, and two bonds will be taken up each year thereafter.

The bonds were sold at auction to Harris & Co., Chicago, for $8,925, a premium of $925. The bonds bear 6 per cent interest, payable semi-annually.

City Engineer Patten presented plans and estimates of cost, for an additional story on the pump house to be used as a city hall. This will cost $1,337, and with a tower $2,000. It was decided to accept Mr. Patten's plans and have the hall with the tower.

Mr. Patten then presented his bond with Messrs. Batterman and Comfort as sureties, as guarantee that he will faithfully carry out the provisions of his contract. The bond was approved.

It was agreed to pay B. H. Landwer $100 and take a bond for a deed of the land on which the standpipe is to be erected.

Trustees Collen and Willmarth wanted to know whether not a written notice was required to be served on the electric light company, demanding that they furnish light or forfeit their franchise. They were informed that such notice was not necessary, and if the company did not furnish light within thirty days they would forfeit their franchise. Section 7 of Ordinance No. 59 requires to make a written demand on the company for light, and after said notice if the company neglects to furnish the light within thirty days then the franchise can be declared null and void.

The gentleman representing Farson Leach & Co., brokers, after having made his bids for the bonds walked off the platform in front of the city hall and, as he afterwards declared, "I thought over all the events of my life" during the trip of 10 feet to the ground. With the exception of some bruises he was not injured.

A gentleman representing a pump house was present and exhibited drawings of their machinery, but no action was taken as to the purchasing of a pump.

Board then adjourned.
