Herman Garms and Miss Freda Young were married at the home of the bride's parents in this place last Sunday afternoon by Rev. Drogmüller of the German Lutheran church. The young couple will reside with the bride's parents for a short time.

Masonic Social and Banquet.

The social given by Palatine Lodge No. 317, A. F. and A. M., in their hall last Saturday evening, was the event of the season. The hall was filled with the members of the mystic order and their friends. C. D. Taylor was master of ceremonies and he skillfully kept the guests entertained. The Palatine quartet, composed of Messrs. Smyser and Knowe and Misses Schultz and Hopkins, sang several selections, which deserved the praise they received, and they were called on until their stock of music was all used. Mr. Cutting was the first speaker of the evening, and our readers who are acquainted with our former fellow townsman know that it was good. Mr. Cutting spoke feelingly of the friends and brother masons in Palatine and his pleasant memories of them. Mr. J. Haggard, the next speaker, also a resident of Austin, charmed the audience with his witty remarks from the start. Mr. Haggard claimed that although from the town-ship of Cicero he must not be a representative of that name. His remarks were more for the purpose of obtaining enough members to start an Order of the Eastern Star in Palatine. Mr. Haggard showed a wonderful energy in organization work. Dr. E. W. Wood of this place was then called upon for a speech and interested the audience with a few remarks, and after getting warmed up he praised the work of Masonic fraternity in glowing terms and did much to impress the listeners of the good accomplished by the organization. The next speaker, Mrs. J. H. Haggard is Grand Worthy matron of Illinois of the Order of the Eastern Star, and she won the hearts of her hearers with her pleasant, earnest talk in behalf of this branch of masonry. The object and purpose of this organization was explained, and she expressed the hope that Palatine might form an order at once to assist the lodge in many ways. A number signed their names for membership and quite a few more signatures are expected, enough in all to obtain a charter.

After the speeches the Athletic club quartet sang a song and had to respond to an encore. The guests were then invited to the hall below, where a feast was spread in the daintiest manner possible, constituting dishes of various kinds to please the inner man. Flowers were used in decorating. The quick manner with which the dainties began to disappear spoke well of the chefs. Although it took two "turns" to accommodate all there was more than enough to satisfy the guests. The lodge is to be congratulated for the pleasant evening rendered to its guests.

TRANSACT BUSINESS.

The First Regular Meeting of the Barrington New Village Board Well Attended.

Unusual interest was manifested by the voters in the first official meeting of the Village Board of Barrington.

When President Boehmer called the meeting to order every member answered to Clerk Lamey's roll call.

President Boehmer explained that the minutes of all special and adjourned meetings were always read and approved at the next regular meeting, after which the clerk read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved.

The following bills were then read and allowed:

H. A. Sandman, marshal, and cash paid sundry parties.....	$38.00
E. Rieke, hauling dirt.....	86.37
H. Johnson, hauling dirt.....	5.29
Wm. Carpenter, electric light.....	58.73
John Jaknke, hauling dirt.....	33.75
James Sizer, hauling dirt.....	5.70
F. Wolf, hauling dirt.....	24.96
Henry Pingle, hauling dirt.....	9.00
Chas. Horn, hauling dirt.....	6.37
Emil Naehner, hauling dirt.....	31.86
Barrington Review, printing and publishing.....	14.65
W. H. Gray & Bro., balance on artesian well.....	238.35
A. S. Henderson, night watch.....	35.00
Total.....	$527.64

A claim of Gray Bros. for $228.35, remainder due the firm who sunk the waterworks well, was read, and after City Engineer Patten had explained that the depth of the well was correct; in fact, the measure made by him revealed that it was three feet deeper than the firm claimed, the clerk was instructed to draw an order in favor of Gray Bros. for the amount.

Moved by Willmarth, seconded by Peters, that the clerk draw warrants for clerks and judges of election of the last election. Carried.

Contractor Patten asked the Board to allow him $1,500 on waterworks contract. After it had been ascertained how much money was on hand it was moved by Willmarth, seconded by Plagge, that Patten be allowed $1,500.

A communication from Wragg & Murphy was read, in which they agreed to furnish taps for waterworks at $1.10 each. The matter was laid over.

The applications of H. A. Sandman for marshal and A. S. Henderson for night-watch were read, and they were reappointed at the same salary as last year—$35 per month.

Trustee Peck suggested that inasmuch as Village Attorney Redmond lived so far from Barrington that Frank Robertson be appointed village attorney. Mr. Redmond to conduct all unfinished cases. Willmarth placed in nomination Redmond. After some talk back and forth the matter was left to be decided at a future meeting.

Trustee Willmarth presented a request from C. M. Vermilya to be permitted to run a pool and billiard room. The discussion that followed definitely defined the meaning of "game of chance." No action was taken.

It was moved and seconded that A. L. Robertson be reappointed village treasurer. Carried. [Richardson asked whether the law did not specify that a treasurer should not hold that office more than two years. This will be looked up.]

The appointment of a member of the Board of Local Improvement in place of Wm. Grunau, retired, was then taken up, and, on motion of Peters, seconded by Richardson, Trustee Plagge was appointed.

The Barrington Social and Athletic club asked for the use of the village hall for a dance to be given some time during the present month. The request was granted, and being the first social funtion to be given in its walls the trustees decided to charge no rent.

As the front stairway is now completed two more electric lights will be put in the village hall.

Mr. Arnold, special assessment commissioner, was allowed an advance of $250.

President Boehmer suggested that some one be appointed to oversee the laying of the waterworks mains. After considerable discussion it was left the duty of all the trustees to see that the ditch is dug deep enough and the work properly done.

The Board voted itself a salary of $24 a year, and the clerk's salary was put at $75 a year, an increase of $25 over last year.

Trustee Peters brought up the Main street sidewalk question. He said that Frey and Ed Peters had raised their walk, and Lageschulte would lower his to grade line as soon as he could get workmen. Howarth said he would raise his as soon as Plagge came down. Trustee Peters further said he brought up the matter by request of some of the property owners. The matter was left to the street committee.

President Boehmer appointed the following committees:

Finance—Robertson, Willmarth and Plagge.
Judiciary—Willmarth, Peck and Robertson.
Street—Richardson, Peters and Peck.
License—Peck, Peters and Plagge.
Health—Peters, Richardson and Robertson.
Ways and Means—Plagge, Willmarth and Richardson.

By this time (about 10:46) the Board had transacted all the business and adjourned.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS.

MINOR HAPPENINGS THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

An Old-Time Democrat Has Passed Away—County Conventions of Both Parties Are in Progress—Tragedy at Peoria—Senator Stoskopf Defeated.

Thomas V. Cutright Is Dead.

Thomas V. Cutright, one of the veteran democrats of Peoria, a staunch Jacksonian of the old school, one of the leaders of the "Old Guard" in the party, died this morning at 8:45 o'clock, after an illness of three days, at the ripe old age of 82 years. Mr. Cutright was born at Chillicothe, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1815, and was the son of Nat and Margaret Cutright. His father was a native of Fayette county, Ky., and his mother of Botetourt county, Va. He was raised in his native town till he was 19 years of age, and then he removed to Fayette county, Ohio, with his parents and brothers. While he was in Chillicothe he learned the trade of a cabinetmaker, and after his removal to Fayette county he read law with A. S. Dickie for one year. Removing to Detroit, Mich., he worked at his trade for one winter, and then went to Brownsville, Tex., read law for four months, and was admitted to the bar in 1837. He came to Illinois in 1847, and settled in Chillicothe, Peoria county, and for a year or two practiced law, and worked at his trade at the same time, but in later years devoted his entire time to his profession. He was admitted to the bar of Illinois in Peoria in the year 1865. His residence in Chillicothe extended over a period of twenty-seven years, and he removed to Peoria in 1874. He was city attorney for some years in the former place, and filled the office of justice of the peace in Peoria. He always took an active part in politics, and was a prominent figure at all democratic assemblies. He voted for all regular candidates for president excepting Cleveland.

Shot by His Own Hand.

Peoria, Ill.: Henry E. Potthoff, a prominent insurance man and city treasurer of this city, while in the Alcazar saloon shot himself in the head and is lying in a critical condition at St. Francis hospital. An hour before his attempt at suicide he bade good-bye to a number of his friends, but they did not suspect anything wrong. He borrowed a revolver off Chief of Police White and on entering the saloon inquired as to who was at the bar. Then he entered the toilet room and shot himself. At the hospital he said he was a fool, that he had financial troubles, but now he had added to his difficulties. Mr. Potthoff has been city treasurer for a year, having been appointed at the death of Treasurer Gerdes. For several weeks other officials have been doing his work and Mayor Warner said that if there was any shortage in his accounts it would not amount to $200.

Lawyer's Name Mentioned.

Rockford, Ill.: It is intimated that Colonel Thomas G. Lawler of this city, ex-commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., will be appointed either colonel or brigadier general by the president. He tendered his services to Secretary Alger some time ago. The women of the First Presbyterian church have organized a relief society with fifty members to plan for work for the sick and wounded soldiers of the army. Enough recruits from among the Swedish-Americans of Rockford have volunteered to form two companies of infantry and Lieutenant C. A. W. Liljenstolpe of Chicago, who has already recruited seven Swedish companies in that city, will come to Rockford Saturday to complete the organization.

Democrats Approve War.

Joliet, Ill.: A convention of Will county democrats was held here to select seventeen delegates to the state and seventeen delegates to the congressional conventions. The former delegation is headed by J. B. Mount of this city. The congressional delegation is headed by A. S. Phelps, a silver republican. The convention adopted resolutions demanding that the state convention adhere to the principles of the Chicago platform. The convention by resolution also insisted on a united and vigorous prosecution of the war with Spain, in support of Cuban liberty, maintenance of American honor and revenge for the treachery against the Maine and its brave men.

Senator Stoskopf Defeated.

Freeport, Ill.: M. Stoskopf was defeated for the indorsement of his own (Stephenson) county for the nomination as a candidate for re-election to the state legislature, in a three-cornered fight between himself, D. F. Thompson and Douglas Pattison, at the democratic county convention here, the delegates to the senatorial convention being instructed for Pattison. Delegates to the congressional and state conventions were also selected, and resolutions were adopted indorsing the Chicago platform, denouncing the Allen bill, and pledging the administration the support of the party in the Spanish war. H. Poffenberger was indorsed for member of the state central committee from the ninth district.

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

Important Events Reviewed and Condensed Into Reliable Form for Our Readers.

Then, too, sail on, O Ship of State!
Sail on, O Union, strong and great!
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!
We know what Master laid thy keel,
We know what Master built thy keel,
What Workmen wrought thy ribs of steel,
Who made each mast, and sail, and rope,
What anvils rang, what hammers beat,
In what a forge and what a heat
Were shaped the anchors of thy hope!
Fear not each sudden sound and shock,
'Tis of the wave and not the rock;
'Tis but the flapping of the sail,
And not a rent made by the gale!
In spite of rock and tempest's roar,
In spite of false lights on the shore,
Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!
Our hearts, our hopes, are all with thee,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee,—are all with thee!

The war developments of the past six days have come thick and fast. Neither the United States nor Spain has lost any time in getting their respective naval and land forces to the front.

The Seventh Day.
England seizes United States torpedo boat Somers and cruiser Albany in British waters under pretense of neutrality laws. The reason is to help Spain. In the meantime anglo-manics on this side continue to prate about "English sympathy with us," "the two great English speaking peoples," etc. The truth is that no matter what the subsidized press may say, all the secret intrigues of England is against us.

President McKinley signed the bill increasing strength of regular army. William R. Day of Ohio was confirmed as Secretary of State. The bill providing for war taxation and a $500,000,000 bond issue was introduced in congress yesterday. The Postmaster General issued an order stopping the transmission of mails from United States to Spain. The War Department at Washington named the points in each state where the state troops will be mustered in. Lieutenant Rowan, U. S. A., reached Cuba on his way to confer with Calixto Garcia relative to the landing of troops on the island. A strong Spanish fleet reported to have sailed from Cadiz for the United States. Reported in Madrid that Spanish fleet at Manila was in battle line awaiting American squadron.

Seizure of the Panama.
The United States ship Mangrove did a good day's work by seizing the Spanish auxiliary cruiser Panama, loaded with rapid fire guns and provisions, ship and cargo valued at half a million dollars. She was towed to Key West. The president issued the following proclamation: Whereas, By act of congress, approved April 25, 1898, it is declared that war exists and that war has existed since the 21st day of April, A. D. 1898, including said day, between the United States of America and the Kingdom of Spain; and whereas, It being desirable that such war should be conducted upon principles in harmony with the present views of nations and sanctioned by recent practice, it has already been announced that the policy of this government will be not to resort to privateering but to adhere to the rules of the declaration of Paris. Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the power vested in me by the constitution and the laws, do hereby declare and proclaim: 1. The neutral flag covers enemy's goods with the exception of contraband of war. 2. Neutral goods not contraband of war are not liable to confiscation under the enemy's flag. 3. Blockades in order to be binding must be effective. 4. Spanish merchant vessels in any ports or places within the United States shall be allowed their cargoes and departures from such ports or places; and such Spanish merchant vessels, if met at sea by any United States ship, shall be permitted to continue their voyage if, on examination of their papers, it shall appear that their cargoes were taken on board before the expiration of the above term, provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to Spanish vessels having on board any officers in the military or naval service of the enemy, or any coal (except such as may be necessary for their voyage) or any other article prohibited or contraband of war, or any dispatch of or to the Spanish government. 5. Any Spanish merchant vessel which prior to April 21, 1898, shall have sailed from any foreign port bound for any port or place in the United States shall be permitted to enter such port or place and to discharge her cargo and afterward forthwith to depart without molestation, and any such vessel if met at sea by any United States ship shall be permitted to continue her voyage to any port not blockaded. 6. The right of search is to be exercised with strict regard for the right of neutrals, and the voyages of mail steamers are not to be interfered with except on the clearest ground of suspicion of a violation of law in respect of contraband or blockade."

Wednesday, April 27.
The Asiatic squadron sailed from Chinese waters for Manila to engage the Spanish fleet. The monitor Terror captured the Spanish steamer Ambrosio Bolivar with a valuable cargo, including 60,000 pesetas in silver for Blanco's army. The first bombardment of the war occurred at Matanzas when the warships New York, Cincinnati and Puritan shelled the forts thirty minutes. The engagement began at 12:45 and closed at 1:15 p. m. There were no casualties on the American side. Great damage is known to have been done at Matanzas, and it is believed there was loss of life.

At a conference held between General Miles and the insurgent General Nunez final plans for the landing of American troops in Cuba were perfected. Orders for the recruiting of the regular army to its maximum strength of 62,000 men were issued.

Four shots were fired at the New York from Morro Castle early in the morning. The flagship was about six or eight miles from the city. None of the shots came near her. She did not reply, but steamed out of range. In a cruise along the shore west of Havana the Detroit saw Spaniards digging a new fort in Santa Clara. It appeared large enough for four or more guns. Hundreds of men swarmed over it like ants on a hole. The Detroit was in range and a big gun fired at her.

While cruising off Matanzas the Terror and the Hornet collided. Both ships had their lights out. In the darkness the Terror struck the smaller vessel amidships. The commander of the monitor thought he had rammed the Hornet and kept right ahead for fear that if he reversed his engines he might pull out the ram and cause the Hornet to sink. He commanded the crew of the Hornet to jump aboard the monitor. All but the engineer's crew obeyed. The latter being below, saw that no harm was done and stuck to the ship. The Hornet finally swung free. She was not damaged.

Thursday, April 28.
Neutrality declaration will be issued on the 29th. Governor Tanner and the Illinois brigadiers and colonels drafted a protest to congress and the war department against the order cutting down the volunteer companies and troops. Governor Tanner received a hint that he would not be allowed to command the Illinois forces and Inspector General Van Cleave resigned because of this. General William C. Clegg of Moline succeeded him. Order reducing volunteers obeyed at once. Portugal announced definitely that a at Camp Tanner. Final plans for the invasion of Cuba were agreed upon at a conference to-day between President McKinley, Secretary Alger, General Miles and General William R. Shafter, who is to lead the invasion. Yielding to the arguments of his military advisers the president decided to increase the number of soldiers that he proposes to land in Cuba from 5,000 to 10,000. The plans are to be put into execution within a week. Sickness as well as bullets has to be guarded against, so the president is trying to assemble from the volunteer and regular army forces 10,000 yellow fever "immunes," who are accustomed to the southern climate and who are not likely to succumb to the diseases peculiar to tropical and semi-tropical countries.

The bombardment of the forts of Matanzas on the New York, Puritan and Cincinnati on Wednesday was the first serious action of the navy since the beginning of the war. Advice from Hongkong indicated that a naval engagement would take place off Manila on Saturday. The monitor Terror captured the Spanish steamer Guide with a valuable cargo. First blood shed on a Spanish ship. France declares her neutrality and Germany, Portugal and Austria will soon follow suit. The town of Dover, Pa., in Morris county, N. J., and the country within a radius of twenty miles was started this afternoon by a series of terrific explosions, the first of which occurred at 2:10 o'clock. The explosions occurred in the Atlantic Powder Company's works, and the plant is now a mass of ruins. Six workmen were killed and four others were seriously injured, some probably fatally. The explosion is believed to have been the work of Spanish spies, as suspicious characters have been seen around the building for several days. In a fire at Worthing, S. D., the armory was burned to the ground and the ammunition, uniforms and guns of Company D, National Guard, were totally destroyed.

The work of rebuilding the destroyed gunpowder plant is already under way at Santa Cruz, Cal. Machinery has been ordered, and as speedily as possible the plant will be in operation.

Friday, April 29.
The steamship Paris, about which there has been so much apprehension, was sighted off Fire Island early in the morning. A Spanish squadron of four cruisers and three torpedo boat destroyers sailed west from Cape Verde Islands, presumably for America. A second squadron sailed north, but was compelled to put back for repairs. The American fleet was reported to have arrived at the Philippines, where a battle is momentarily expected. The gunboat Newport captured the sloop Engracia, one of the auxiliaries of the Spanish navy. All but two batteries of the artillery encamped at Chickamauga left for Tampa. The First Brigade of United States troops at Tampa received orders for immediate departure. The house yesterday passed the war revenue bill.

Saturday, April 30.
The battleship Oregon, en route from San Francisco to join the blockading squadron, reached Rio Janeiro at 6 o'clock in the evening. The flagship New York silenced the batteries at Cabanas, thirty-five miles west of Havana, on Friday evening. Three cruisers, one of them flying torpedo signals, left New York bound southeast on a secret mission. Admiral Dewey's fleet arrived off the Philippines. The Spanish war ships could not be found. The last of Spain's Cape Verde flotilla left St. Vincent. Admiral Dewey is reported to have captured four Spanish merchant vessels in the neighborhood of the Philippine Islands yesterday. It was announced that the fleet under command of Admiral Sampson will be divided, the second division to be in command of Commodore John C. Watson. The first expedition to openly leave for Cuba since Gomez began fighting left New York.

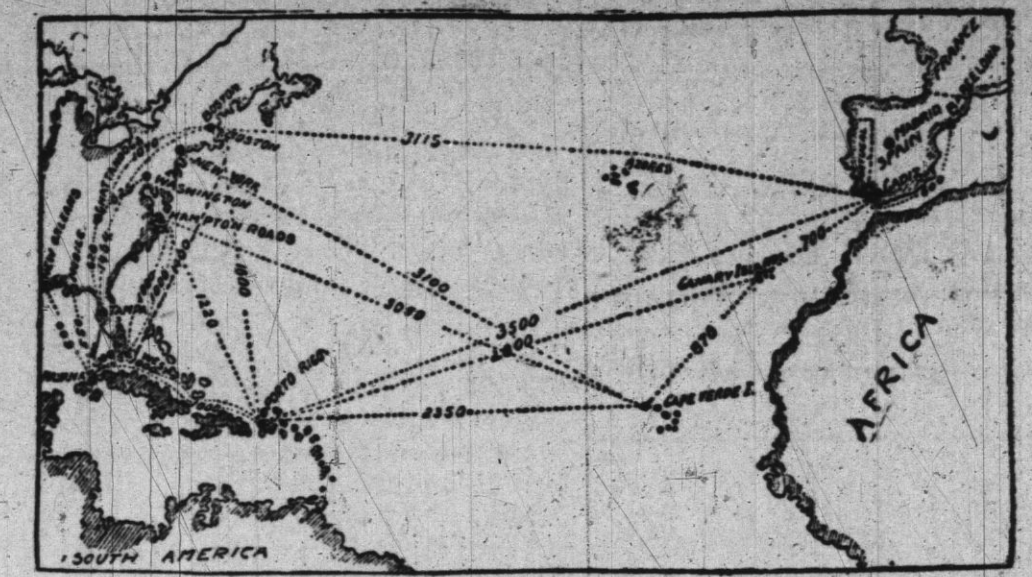

Sunday, May 1.
Commodore Dewey, in command of the Asiatic fleet, almost totally destroyed the Spanish fleet near Manila. Two of the Spanish warships were burned, several were sunk, and it is not believed any escaped. The cruisers Don Juan de Austria, Reina Maria Christina, and Castilla are known to have been among the vessels destroyed. The Scorpion, Lieutenant Commander Marx in command, joined the flying squadron at Hampton Roads. The newly purchased cruiser Topeka arrived safely in New York harbor. Japan issued a proclamation of neutrality. It was reported at Tampa that the start for Cuba would be made by United States troops on Tuesday. Sixty thousand Illinois people visited Camp Tanner at Springfield to see the militia in bivouac. Ships that fought off Manila: United States fleet, Olympia (flagship), first-class cruiser, Capt. C. N. Gridley; Baltimore, protected cruiser, Capt. N. M. Dyer; Boston, protected cruiser, Capt. Frank Wiles; Raleigh, protected cruiser, Capt. J. E. Coghlan; Concord, gunboat, Commander Asa Walker; Petrel, gunboat, Commander E. P. Wood; McCulloch, dispatch boat; Nanshan, collier; Zafiro, collier. Spanish fleet: Reina Mercedes, cruiser; Reina Christina, cruiser; Isla de Cuba, cruiser; Isla de Luzon, cruiser; Castilla, cruiser; Don Antonio de Ulloa, cruiser; Don Juan de Austria, cruiser; Velasco, cruiser; Elcana, gunboat; General Lezo, gunboat; Marquis del Duero, gunboat; Quiros, gun-boat; Villalobos, torpedo gunboat; General Alava, transport; Cebu, transport; Manila, transport; Isla de Mindanao, converted cruiser. Results: Spanish cruiser Reina Maria Christina, admiral's flagship, burned; Spanish cruiser Castilla, said to be completely burned; Spanish cruiser Don Juan de Austria, blown up; several Spanish ships sunk: Cadarso, captain of the Spanish flagship, and crew of 370, who perished with the vessel. Commanders of the Spanish cruisers Castilla and Don Juan de Austria, with their crews of about 500 men all told. American losses are unknown. Summary: United States vessels lost (Madrid admission), 0; United States vessels damaged (from best information), 0; Spanish cruisers totally lost (Madrid admission), 3; Spanish gunboats damaged (Madrid admission), 2; Spanish captains lost (commanding lost cruisers), 3.

Monday, May 2.
Congress appropriated $35,720,945 for the support of the army. The naval bill providing for the addition of four coast defense monitors, three first-class battleships, twelve torpedo boats, and sixteen torpedo boat destroyers was sent to the president. Martial law was proclaimed in Madrid. The cruiser Yale (formerly the American liner Paris) was sent to sea under sealed orders. Eight large transports to conduct the first expedition to Cuba were ordered to proceed to Tampa. Commodore Dewey demanded the immediate surrender of the city of Manila. The demand was refused and the bombardment of the defenses followed. The town of Cavite was razed, the batteries destroyed, and the heavy fortifications on Corregidor Island, at the entrance to the bay, attacked. Cruiser Nashville arrived at Key West, bringing several Spanish military officers prisoners of war who were taken off the steamer Argonauta, which was taken off Cienfuegos by the Nashville on Friday with a valuable cargo of arms and ammunition.

Contraband of War.
Authorities on international law agree that no absolute definition of contraband of war can be made. Certain principles, however, have been laid down which serve as a reliable guide as to the character of a cargo of a neutral vessel subject to seizure by a belligerent. In order to constitute goods contraband of war it is decided that they must not only have a hostile quality but also a hostile destination. On the other hand, goods of an innocent quality are not contraband even if their destination is a hostile port. With respect to its hostile or innocent quality merchandise is divided into three classes—first, that which is useful only for war, such as arms and ammunition; second, that useful alike in peace and war, such women and children in Puerto Rico. The conditions in the interior are horrible. Children are perishing of starvation and the villages are petitioning the government for succor. Smallpox is epidemic. Draft animals are dying and the desperate, starving peasants are killing bees in the highways, cutting them up and distributing the portions among the hungering. The mayors of municipalities insist upon an extensive cultivation in anticipation of a siege. The prohibition of the exportation of cattle is agitating the people. Their indignation has been excited by the rapacity of the merchants, who have decreased the pound weight by one-third and increased prices 50 per cent. Railroad rates upon provisional freight into the interior have aggravated the situation. The financial situation is critical. Banks are suspending. Bankers refuse to sell drafts. Paper is discounted 90 per cent. The colonial bank refuses Spanish paper. The opening of the insular parliament has been postponed indefinitely by order of Captain General Macias. The old ministry has been overthrown and a new ministry sworn. New tariff studies have been initiated. Twenty-five thousand troops are expected from Spain. Bakers are hurrying orders for 160,000 pounds of biscuits for them. The militia is organizing in all the towns.

Fight Lasted Four Hours.
Before the battle of Cavite the Olympia, the Boston, the Raleigh, the Concord, the Petrel and the Monocacy entered the bay under cover of darkness by the smaller and safer Bocachica channel. The forts of Corregidor Island gave the alarm by firing on the intruders, but they seem to have inflicted no serious damage. The American squadron moved up the bay and at 3 o'clock in the morning appeared before Cavite. Here, lying under the shelter of the forts, was the Spanish squadron. Admiral Montejó, a few days before, went to Subic Bay to look for the enemy, but learning that they were vastly superior in force had prudently returned and placed his ships under the protection of the forts. This was his only chance of meeting the enemy on something like equal terms, and it did not suffice. Soon the Americans opened fire. The Spaniards replied vigorously and the combat continued without interruption for four hours, during which the Don Antonio de Ulloa was sunk, the Castilla and Mindanao were set on fire and the Reina Maria Christina and the Don Juan de Austria were seriously damaged. One or two of the smaller craft were scuttled by their crews to escape capture. Others took refuge in a small neighboring creek emptying into Baker Bay, where, presumably the American ships were unable to follow them. But no one surrendered.

Portugal Friendly to Spain.
While it is true that the Portuguese prime minister has publicly and privately declared that Portugal will be absolutely neutral in the present war, it is equally true that the king and government of Portugal are doing their utmost to favor Spain. The proclamation of neutrality has been deliberately withheld, while Portuguese officials have been assisting the Spanish fleet at Cape Verde to prepare for war against the United States. Investigations by telegraph indicate clearly that Portugal has been, up to present moment, an active, aggressive ally of Spain. The government will not allow correspondents to telegraph to America the movements of Spanish warships in Portuguese waters. The official organ of the government announces that this applies to the correspondents of all nations, but the fact is that telegrams addressed to Spain are allowed to go practically without censorship. It is obvious that Portugal intends to connive at the secret coaling of Spanish warships in her waters, especially at points where there is no American consul to protest.

Barrington Needs a Fire Company.

One of the most important things that Barrington now needs is a drilled fire company, and that, too, at once. The need of a company of this kind in our village must be admitted by all, and the matter should be looked after by the Village Board at the earliest possible moment. A company to be efficient to battle against the fiery elements, besides being composed of good, active and level-headed men, should get out for practice not less than twice a month. Practice is what counts—without it but little can be achieved. Talk the matter up, gentlemen, and get the company organized.

Inheritance Tax Law Held Valid by the United States Supreme Court.

The inheritance tax law of Illinois, the bill for which was entered and fought for in the Illinois legislature by Senator R. W. Coon of Waukegan, and brought him into especial prominence, has successfully run the gauntlet of the United States Supreme Court and has been declared constitutional, the opinion affirming its legality being handed down at Washington Monday of last week.

The legal fight against the law has been one of the most celebrated of the last quarter century, extending as it has through all the courts, and furthered by the combined interests of three large estates that were among the first to come within the provisions of the law.

The inheritance tax law provides that all estates which are bequeathed to lineal descendants, including father, mother, brothers and sisters, shall have an exemption of $20,000 for each heir. All of the estates above that amount are liable to a tax of 1 per cent. Where the estate is bequeathed to collateral relations, such as uncles, aunts, cousins, the exemption provided is $2,000 for each legatee, the tax of 2 per cent to apply to all over that amount. Strangers to the blood are taxed according to the amount. The exemption is $500. All over that amount and under $10,000 is taxed 3 per cent; over $10,000 and under $20,000 4 per cent; over $20,000 and under $50,000 5 per cent; all over $50,000 6 per cent. The tax is collected by the county treasurer of each county, who receives 2 per cent of the amount of his collections. The balance goes to the state treasurer.

The immediate result of the decision of the constitutionality of the law will be that over $1,000,000 will be turned over to the state treasury as soon as the money can be collected. In all more than fifty estates will be asked to pay the tax.

Republican County Convention.

A Republican County convention will be held at the town hall, in the Village of Libertyville, Lake county, Ill., on Saturday, May 21, A. D. 1898, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of selecting twenty delegates to the Republican Senatorial convention, to be held at Woodstock; McHenry county, Ill., on Saturday, June 4, A. D. 1898; and also for the purpose of selecting thirteen delegates to the Republican State convention, to be held at Springfield, Ill., on Tuesday, June 14, A. D. 1898; and also for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Congressional convention of the 7th congressional district, yet to be called. It having been resolved at a meeting of the County Central Committee that each voting precinct in the county be declared a primary district, and that primary elections or caucuses be called for each of said primary districts, it is therefore recommended that primary elections, or caucuses, be called for each primary district in said county on Friday, May 20, A. D. 1898, at the usual hour. The representation of each primary district will be one delegate for each 27 votes, or major fraction thereof, cast for the republican candidate for president in 1896. Every one who furnishes us with an item is considered a friend to THE REVIEW. Many Zurich people have conscientious scruples about giving in personal items, thinking that the scribe will consider them anxious to get their names in print. This is a mistake. Any editor of a paper with a grain of sense will hold such contributor in grateful remembrance. So pass your items of news along. AN OPEN LETTER TO MOTHERS.

We are asserting in the courts our right to the exclusive use of the word "CASTORIA," and "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," as our Trade Mark.

I, Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Massachusetts, was the originator of "PITCHER'S CASTORIA," the same that has borne and does now bear the fac-simile signature of CHAS. H. FLETCHER on every wrapper. This is the original "PITCHER'S CASTORIA" which has been used in the homes of the mothers of America for over thirty years. Look carefully at the wrapper and see that it is "the kind you have always bought," and has the signature of CHAS. H. FLETCHER on the wrapper. No one has authority from me to use my name except The Centaur Company, of which Chas. H. Fletcher is President.

March 8, 1897. SAMUEL PITCHER, M. D.

Below Zero All the Year.

The coldest inhabited country appears to be the province of Werchojansk, in oriental Siberia. The mean altitude of the terrain is about 107 meters (about 350 feet) above the sea. A Russian savant passed one entire year in this inhospitable region and kept a daily record of the temperature, which he has recently published, and from which it appears that the daily mean of the entire year is 2.74 degrees below zero! The daily mean for January, 1896, was 63.4 degrees below zero.

Book reviewers are all accomplished linguists. The fact is easily discovered by glancing over their criticisms of books that have been translated into English. A WOMAN'S BURDEN.

From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

The women of to-day are not as strong as their grandmothers. They are bearing a burden in silence that grows heavier day by day; that is sapping their vitality and clouding their happiness.

Mrs. Alexander B. Clark, of 417 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, is a typical woman of to-day. A wife with such ambition as only a loving wife can have. But the joys of her life were marred by the existence of disease.

Suffering as thousands of her sisters have suffered, she almost despaired of life and yet she was cured.

"For five years I suffered with ovarian trouble," is Mrs. Clark's own version of the story. "I was not free one single day from headache and intense twitching pains in my neck and shoulders. For months at a time I would be confined to my bed. At times black spots would appear before my eyes and I would become blind. My nerves were in such state that a step on the floor unsettled me."

"Eminent doctors, skillful nurses, the best food and medicine all failed. Then I consented to an operation. That, too, failed and they said another was necessary. After the second I was worse than ever and the world was darker than before."

"It was then I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I heard that they had cured cases like mine and I tried them."

"They cured me! They brought sunshine to my life and filled my cup with happiness. The headache is gone; the twitching is gone; the nervousness is gone; the trembling has ceased, and I have gained twenty-six pounds. Health and strength is mine and I am thankful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for the blessing."

These pills are a boon to womankind. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, they restore the requisite vitality to all parts of the body; creating functional regularity and perfect harmony throughout the nervous system. The pallor of the cheeks is changed to the delicate blush of health; the eyes brighten; the muscles grow elastic, ambition is created and good health returns.

Not Worth While.

Sharker was concerned in a new company to find he was chagrined one morning to find that the Daily Tomahawk, in its city article, disapproved of his methods. In much indignation, he took the article to his solicitor, breathing out threatnings of libel actions. "He as good as calls me a swindler," he told the man of law; "can't I make him prove it?" "Well," was the reply, "I dare say you could. But if I were you, I wouldn't."—Pick-Me-Up.

A Diplomat.

Mrs. Oldfriend—"How much do you pay your servant?" Mrs. Newife—"Oh, Bridget gets $100 a month." Mrs. Oldfriend—"A hundred dollars! Impossible!" Mrs. Newife—"Oh, no. You see, I make her pay for all she breaks out of her wages, and I have to give her that much to keep my rules."—New York Journal.

Case of Necessity.

Wife—"Jack, dear, I have just come from the dressmaker's, and I think you had better pay her something on account." Husband—"I don't see how I can very well." Wife—"But I want to get a new gown."—Puck.

He could not believe the evidence of his senses; it was incredible that the laughing voice belonged to his cold, proud wife—the girl who had swept imperiously from the room when he saw her last. He looked at her in amazement. She would not see the surprise on his face or make the least difference because of it.

"You have the very pick of the garden here," she said; "every spray has its own special beauty."

He roused himself, and tried to recover from the wondering stupor that had overcome him.

"You really remembered, Hildred, what I said?" he began, with a pleased look.

"Yes, and I think you showed good taste," she replied. "I know no flower lovelier than fragrant mignonette."

"And you really think that I have good taste?" he said.

"Yes. Why should that surprise you?" she asked, with a smile.

His face flushed, and his eyes drooped.

"I fancied," he said, hurriedly, "that you considered me altogether graceless, and without one redeeming quality."

"Indeed, I do not," she replied, earnestly, thinking of all that Sir Raoul had said in his favor. "That is a great mistake of yours."

"There is one thing," he confessed, in a low voice—"I have shown the worst side of my character to you."

She felt frightened and inclined to run away.

"You will not lose my flowers or throw them away?" she said. And then she was startled, for his handsome indolent eyes were looking into hers with a new expression in their blue depths.

"Am I so wanting in chivalry and gallantry, Hildred?" he asked her. "I believe this is the first thing that you have ever given me of your own free will, is it not?"

"No," she replied, quietly, "it is not."

"Ah, pardon me," he said, with a quick change of face and voice—"you gave me your fortune!"

There was hot rebellion for one moment—hot, bitter rebellion. Then she remembered Sir Raoul's words. It was for her husband's good. She trampled down the hot impulse of angry pride—she stilled the bitter anger and contempt. Her victory over herself was so great that she was even surprised at it. She laid her hand on his arm.

"Nay, Lord Caraven," she said, gently, "you are quite wrong. I was not thinking of money. Gold is dross—I despise it—I could almost hate it for the mischief that it makes. I was thinking of something very different from money—something that money could not buy."

He was looking at her with keen curiosity.

"Something that money could not buy," he repeated. "I declare that you puzzle me. I thought gold was omnipotent."

"I do not think so—I do not like it. Omnipotent? Why, Lord Caraven, all the wealth in the world could not buy happiness or love."

"No," he said, quietly, "it could not; yet, Hildred, money has done something for me."

"I do not intend to deprecate it," she remarked; "but it is not omnipotent; and there are many things in this world of far higher value than money."

"It is true," he said, thoughtfully.

She laughed again, and, if he had known her better, he would have detected tears in the sound of that laugh.

"We are positively agreeing, Lord Caraven," she said.

He was looking at her with intense curiosity in his face.

"Hildred, what have you given me that money could not buy?"

The dark eyes gleamed softly.

"I will not tell you, Lord Caraven," she answered.

"But I must know. You have excited my curiosity—you must gratify it. You have enumerated three things that money cannot buy—happiness, virtue, love. It was none of these. Then what could it be?"

"I must go, Lord Caraven," she said, her face growing hot and her heart beating quickly. "I if you weigh every word that I say, I shall have to be very careful."

"Hildred, tell me what you mean?" he requested. "What have you given me?"

"I will tell you," she replied, laughingly. "when you have counted all those tiny leaves on the mignonette."

She turned to go, but he put out his hand to detain her. She eluded him, and, with a light laugh, disappeared, leaving him by the veranda alone.

"You look astonished at something," said Lord Caraven's friend to him when he returned to resume their game at billiards.

"Yes," replied the earl—"I have been enjoying a novel sensation."

"What is that?" asked his friend.

"I am not quite sure," was the laughing reply—"I should not like to be too certain of it—but I believe that I have been flirting with my own wife."

The young countess had hastened smilingly away after presenting him with the sprays of mignonette. If that was the result of a few kind words, she said to herself that she would often say them. Sir Raoul saw her smiling and blushing, with a glad light in her eyes.

"Well," he said, "what success, Hildred?"

"The best in the world," she replied; and her pleasure was increased at dinner time when she saw that Lord Caraven wore some of the mignonette in his buttonhole.

Lord Caraven was fond of music; he had a rich, ringing tenor voice which, as a rule, he was too indolent to use. He would troll out a verse of a love ditty, or the chorus of a drinking-song in a fashion that made one long to hear the rest. In the evening Sir Raoul asked him to sing.

"It is too much trouble," said the handsome earl. "Why should I exert myself to sing when other people can do it so much better for me?"

"That is an idle excuse," returned Sir Raoul. "Lady Caraven, persuade your husband to sing; he has a voice almost as rich and clear as Mario's, but he will never use it."

She came over to him. He looked at his beautiful young wife in all the shimmer of satin and gleam of pearls; he gazed earnestly into the beautiful face.

"Do sing, Lord Caraven," she said. "You owe me something for my flowers this morning."

"Do you really wish me to sing, Hildred?" he asked.

"I do, indeed," she answered.

"Then you shall be obeyed. Will you have an old-fashioned English ballad, or a Scotch one? No French or Italian for me. I like good hearty words."

SHE ELUDED HIM.

He sang one of the prettiest of English songs—"Good-by, Sweetheart, Good-by"—sang it with such sweetness, such pathos, that his listeners were almost moved to tears.

"I could not leave thee though I said

'Good-bye, sweetheart, good-bye.'"

As the last words passed his lips he caught a glimpse of his wife's face. What did it express? He stopped suddenly. Sir Raoul rallied him, begging him to finish.

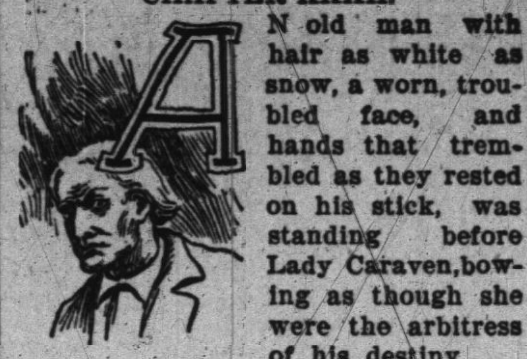

"Let us have the last verse," said he; but the earl turned quickly to him.

"Not another word, Raoul," he answered. "I can sing no more. I have seen a ghost."

"A ghost!" cried Sir Raoul. "The ghost of what?"

"I am not quite sure," replied the earl; "but I think it was the ghost of what might have been." And Sir Raoul said no more.

CHAPTER XXXII.

"I am Farmer Moore, my lady—Farmer Moore—and I want to speak to you."

Lady Caraven stood quite still; he was a man so old and venerable that his appearance alone commanded respect.

"Farmer Moore," she repeated, "and you want me. I am very pleased to see you. Will you come into the house?"

"No, my lady; I cannot enter your doors with my present trouble on me. Your husband is a young man, but he is driving my white head to the grave."

"My husband!" exclaimed Lady Caraven. "You must not speak ill of him."

"He must not act ill to me," he said; "an old man, my lady, so old that my grandsons say a good wish from me is a blessing, an evil wish a curse—an old, old man, my lady."

She saw how he trembled, and sweetest compassion filled her heart. What could he want from her, this old man?

"I have stood here, my lady," he said, "every day for ten long days, waiting to see you. They told me that you were young and bonny—that you had kind eyes and a kind heart. Your husband wants to drive me to death, my lady—will you save me?"

She thought he must be raving; but his manner was calm and collected. They were standing together just at the end of the copse, and Lady Caraven pointed to one of the fallen trees.

"Sit down there, Farmer Moore," she said, "if you will not come into the house, and tell me what is wrong."

"I am an old man, my lady; I have lived many years, and I have never seen an injustice prosper yet. The earl is going to do an injustice to me and mine. You will keep him from it?"

"I will if I can," she replied. "What is it?"

"The Moores have lived at Bromhill Farm, my lady, more years than I can count. I have heard it read how, centuries ago, when the lords of Caraven went to war, the Moores followed them. They have always been tenants on the Ravensmere estates. The farm, my lady—Bromhill Farm—is let to them on lease; when one lease expires another is signed. My lady, when I was a boy, my father signed a lease for seventy years, and the seventy years will be at an end next month. I have sons and grandsons waiting to succeed me, and the home is my home—I love it. My father lived and died there, my sons were born there. The old homestead is part of my life, of my soul, my lady; standing outside of it, I seem to have no life."

"I understand," she said, gently.

"There has never been any difficulty about the renewal of the leases, my lady. The lords of Caraven knew how to value good tenants; and when a fresh lease was signed the earl would say, 'Moore, you will take a glass of wine with me,' and the best wine in his lordship's cellar would be put before him. There might have been tenants who would have offered more money; but the lords of Ravensmere would have laughed at that. We were their humble friends and true servants, my lady. You do not meet with such every day."

"I understand," she repeated, not knowing what to say.

"Now, my lady, the seventy years' lease, signed when I was a curly-headed boy playing at my father's knee, has expired. We thought, my son John and I, that we had nothing to do except call on the earl and renew it. We never dreamed of anything else, my son John and I. So we called, my lady, and a footman brought us word that his lordship left all the business connected with the estate to Mr. Blantyre. As we were leaving home I said to my son John: 'John, we shall taste the earl's famous wine to-day,' and he, in his cheery way, said: 'It will do you good, father.' But there was no wine, my lady, no kindly greeting from the lord of the castle, no message to the old retainers of the house, except that we were to go to Blantyre. My lady," said the old man solemnly, as he struck his stick upon the ground, "I hate Blantyre!"

She could have added, "So do I." But it was wiser to be silent.

Ancient Scales.

A pair of scales, much like those of the modern pharmacists, is among the multitude of objects discovered this year in excavations about thirty miles from Thebes and recently exhibited in London. The scales are finely finished, having a beam about four and a half inches long.

ASTHMA'S PROGRESS.

From Cold to Cure.

No relief in other remedies.

There are many medicines that palliate asthma. There are few that do more than relieve for a time the oppressed breathing of the sufferer. There are few diseases more troublesome and more irritating than asthma. It interferes alike with business and with pleasure. It prevents enjoyment of the day and makes the night a terror. A remedy for asthma would be hailed by thousands as the greatest possible boon that could be offered them. There is a remedy for asthma. Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has cured hundreds of cases of this disease, and testimonials to its efficacy from those who have tried the remedy are multiplying with every year. The cases presented in the testimonials that follow may be taken as exemplifying the quick and radical action of this great remedy.

"About a year ago, I caught a bad cold which resulted in asthma so severe that I was threatened with suffocation whenever I attempted to lie down on my bed. A friend recommended Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I began to take it, and soon obtained relief, and finally, was completely cured. Since then, I have used this medicine in my family with great success for colds, coughs, and croup."—S. MURRAY, Editor "Rollink" (Polish), Stevens Point, Wis.

"While on the Gasconade River, Ga., I caught a severe cold which resulted in asthma. After taking doctors' prescriptions for a long time without benefit, I at length made use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was completely cured."—H. O. KITCHELL, Greenwood, Miss.

"Some time since I had a severe attack of asthma, accompanied with a bad cough and a general soreness of the joints and muscles. I consulted physicians, and tried various remedies, but without getting any relief. Finally I took Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and in a very short time was entirely cured."—J. ROSSELL, Victoria, Tex.

Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is known the world over as one of the most effective medicines for the cure of coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, asthma, bronchitis, and all affections of the throat and lungs. It is not, as are so many cough medicines, a mere "soothing syrup," a temporary relief and palliative, but it is a radical remedy, dealing directly with disease and promptly healing it. In response to a wide demand Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is now put up in half size bottles, sold at half price—50 cents. More about Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in Ayer's Curebook. SPANISH FLEET CRUSHED.

Admiral Dewey Wins Victory in the Philippines.

SHIPS OF SPAIN DESTROYED.

Admiral Montejó's Vessel, the Reina Maria Christina, Burned and Its Commander Killed—Little Damage Inflicted on the American Squadron.

Commodore Dewey's squadron has won a decisive victory over the Spanish fleet. The battle was fought off Cavite, ten miles southwest of Manila. It lasted for several hours and resulted in a crushing defeat for Spain.

It was a terrific battle, undoubtedly one of the fiercest and most brilliant in the history of naval warfare. The nine ships of the American fleet were outnumbered by those of Spain, but the Americans were superior in armament.

The heavy fire from Commodore Dewey's guns was effective from the outset. Admiral Montejó's flagship, the Reina Maria Christina, was burned and its commander killed. The Don Juan de Austria was blown up and the Castilla was burned.

Others of the Spanish fleet were badly damaged, and were sunk to prevent their falling into the hands of the Americans.

There was considerable loss of life on the Spanish side.

Little damage was inflicted on the ships of the American squadron.

ATTRACTIVE WOMEN.

Fullness of Health Makes Sweet Dispositions and Happy Home

[EXTRACTS FROM MRS. PINKHAM'S NOTE BOOK.]

Woman's greatest gift is the power to inspire admiration, respect and love. There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. At the first indication of ill health, painful menses, pains in the side, headache or backache, secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and begin its use. This truly wonderful remedy is the safeguard of women's health.

Mrs. MABEL SMITH, 345 Central Ave., Jersey City Heights, N. J., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I can hardly find words with which to thank you for what your wonderful remedy has done for me. Without it I would by this time have been dead or worse, insane; for when I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a terrible state. I think it would be impossible for me to tell all I suffered. Every part of my body seemed to pain some way. The pain in my back and head was terrible. I was nervous, had hysterics and fainting spells. My case was one that was given up by two of the best doctors in Brooklyn. I had given up myself; as I had tried so many things, I believed nothing would ever do me any good. But, thanks to your medicine, I am now well and strong; in fact, another person entirely."

If you are puzzled about yourself, write freely and fully to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and secure the advice which she offers free of charge to all women. This is the advice that has brought sunshine into many homes which nervousness and irritability had nearly wrecked.

Next Sunday evening, at the M. E. Church, Rev. T. E. Ream will preach on the topic, "Trouble Banished," from the text found in Revelation, 21st ch., 1st verse: "And there was no more sea." A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Our undertaker, E. M. Blocks, took another course in embalming in Chicago last week and received a diploma. This makes four diplomas that he has in his possession, from as many colleges where embalming is taught, proving that he is an expert in the art.

The first picnic ever given by Vergismennicht No. 48, Plattdeutsche Gilde, will be held on Sunday, May 29th, at Lake Zurich. No pains are being spared to make this a grand success. Tickets are but 50 cents, and this includes the dance in the evening.

The new telephone line was completed to Quentin's Corners and connected with the main wire last evening. All that now remains for it to be in operation is the placing of the instrument in position and the wires connected at this end, which will probably be done Tuesday or Wednesday.

Abram Combs, who has been employed in the creamery here for the past two years, left Friday for White Pigeon, Mich., where he takes charge of a creamery. Abram has made many friends here, who wish him success in his new field, which he no doubt will gain, being a competent and industrious workman.

A representative of the Heath & Milligan Mfg. Co. was out Thursday afternoon to demonstrate the superiority of their Railway White lead over any strictly pure white lead that might be brought up for a test. A very accurate test was made, and it was proved that this Railway lead would go farther and come out whiter and more uniform than any lead in the contest that was brought against it.

Barrington has an opportunity to secure the college of one of the most influential church societies in the United States. A little encouragement from our citizens would secure this college, which is to open, when completed, with 300 students, and which will increase to treble that number in a few years. We understand the trustees of the society have already secured the option on eighty acres of land.

The following Barringtonians attended the rally of the Keystone League in Chicago Monday evening: Mr. and Mrs. S. Gieske, Misses Ida Gieske, Alma Strickfaden, Mary Frye, Luella Plagge, Luella Meiners, Anna and Bertha Schaefer and Martha Landwer, and Messrs. Frank Plagge, Geo. Hansen, Henry Schroeder, John Schaefer, Tim Meiners, Reuben Plagge, Ezra Suhr, Geo. Lageschulte and John Elfrink.

A drama, entitled "The School Ma'am" will be given by the Good Templars in Stott's hall, Saturday evening, May 14. This is an interesting comedy in four acts, lasting two hours, showing the funny side of our country schools. It contains a well laid plot, where two of the directors try to have the innocent "school ma'am" discharged. The Irish janitor and the mischievous school boy cause no end of trouble and fun. The drama will commence at 8 o'clock sharp. Admission, 15c and 20c.

On Friday evening of last week the first lawn party of the season was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kampert. It was a surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Kampert and proved a most pleasant evening to those present, among whom were: Misses Maud Adams, Pearl Perry, Ella Meyers, Emma Kampert, Gertrude Meyer, Cora Landwer, Carrie Dix, May Cowden, Sadie Krahn, Amanda Schroeder, Luella Plagge, Martha Kampert, Ida Gieske, Minnie Meyer and Gertrude Kitson, and Messrs. John Schwemm, Albert Kampert, Charles Peterson, Ezra Suhr, Reuben Plagge, Theodor Suhr, Albert Gieske, Henry Meyer and Henry Schroeder.

Miss Carrie Krueger, the 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Fred Klemm of this place, met death in a peculiar and mysterious manner Wednesday forenoon at the farm of Mr. Tackler, four miles south of Nunda. Mr. Tackler was grinding some feed in the barn, and all of a sudden the machine stopped. He made a close inspection, but could not find a cause. Going into the adjoining room he was horror stricken to find the body of Miss Krueger dangling from a knuckle in the tumbling rod. He tried to loosen her but could not, and had to call the hired man to his assistance. From all the evidence adduced at the inquest it must be concluded that the hair of the girl, while walking under the knuckle of the tumbling rod, got caught and pulled her off her feet, killing her instantly. Her remains were brought to Barrington yesterday afternoon for burial, Rev. Menzel of St. Paul's church officiating. Miss Krueger was in the employ of Mr. Tackler for over two years, and was highly thought of by all who knew her. She was an active worker in Sunday school work.

"You can't fool me, (Johnnie)," was demonstrated Monday evening by one of the party who attended the Keystone League rally in Chicago. Becoming estranged from the rest of the party he saw a street car approaching and got aboard, telling the conductor to let him off at Barrington. He arrived at his destination all right.

The Young People's Missionary Society Meeting.

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Young People's Missionary Society of the Salem church Tuesday evening, and the program as rendered was good.

The first number was an opening song by the society, followed by the reading of the scriptures and an earnest prayer by Miss Mary Frye and another song by the society.

Mrs. S. Gieske next rendered a good recitation in a pleasing manner.

Miss Esther Lageschulte then captured the house by the quaint way in which she delivered a humorous selection in which she described a railroad journey in a sleeper at night to the melodious tune of heavy snoring by a passenger, and, by the way, this passenger happened to be a pretty young girl with golden hair. Her imitations were perfect and elicited repeated applause.

A double quartette, composed of Misses Ida Gieske, Martha Landwer, Anna Grabenkort and Grace Landwer, and Messrs. George Lageschulte, Tohn Schaefer, Ezra Suhr and Ezra Meier, then sang a beautiful selection.

Miss Nora Plagge recited "A Brave Little Girl" in an especially pleasant manner.

A number of those present then told what they seen and liked best at the Keystone League rally in Chicago Monday evening.

Rev. C. J. Frye of Edison Park was present and was called on to make an address. After a few explanatory remarks, he took for his text "Habits." He advised the young people not to let the bad habits acquire control over them, for then they would not have to "swear off." The reverend gentleman's address was delivered in a fluent and entertaining manner, and was replete with good, common sense advice. The close attention that the young people accorded the speaker was evidence that his remarks fell on fertile soil.

Two members resigned and two applications for membership were received and favorably acted on.
