VOL. 15. NO. 37.

BARRINGTON ILL. SATURDAY NOVEMBER 17, 1900.

$1.25 A YEAR.

PALATINE LOCALS.

A. G. SMITH, LOCAL EDITOR

Fireman's dance Thanksgiving eve. Fred Ehlert advertises a grand opening for tonight.

Louis Krieter of Chicago visited in Palatine Sunday.

J. A. Burlingame entertained his brother over Sunday.

Mrs. Bernice Schaeffer of Chicago visited Mrs. H. Hutchinson Saturday and Sunday.

The dedication of the new church at Lake Zurich has been postponed to December 2.

G. H. Arps has been appointed station agent at Palatine again and commenced his work this week.

Miss Alice Wortman of Sheridan has been a guest of her uncle, R. H. Lytle, and family this week.

Miss Lottie Hart is confined to her bed and the doctor has forbidden her to exercise for several weeks.

Mrs. Fred Smith and son spent last Tuesday night and Wednesday with her mother, Mrs. C. E. Julian.

A. G. Smith has moved with his family into Mr. Kimmett's house formerly occupied by Mr. Zachow.

Mrs. James Harris and children and Miss Gertrude Peters visited with E. Beutler and family last Sunday.

Get winter sash, doors, etc., of Battermann, Ablemann & Ost. Orders filled promptly. Call and get prices.

C. F. Hall Co., Dundee, offer 6,000 yards best silk ribbons, No. 12, 16 and 22 at 5c a yard; worth 20 and 25c yard.

Mrs. Sprech, who has been visiting her brother, Henry Knigge, returned to her home in Oak Park last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. E. W. Wood expect to start for California the latter part of next week, where they will spend the winter.

C. F. Hall Co., Dundee, cut prices for cash trade and get it because they give more for your money than any dealer. See them.

Members of Camp Comfort will hold a reunion with other campers of Twin Lakes at the home of Miss Blanche Schirding this evening.

Remember the Fireman's ball in Battermann's hall Thanksgiving eve. The proceeds go towards paying for suits for the fire company.

Professor Smyser has been having considerable trouble with a boy in one of the lower rooms in school who has been pilfering from other pupils.

Mrs. Charles Lytle gave a birthday dinner in honor of her husband's birthday last Sunday. His folks assisted him to celebrate befitting the day.

Dr. E. W. Olcott & Son, dentists, have arranged for two days of each week at their Palatine office. Dr. E. W. Olcott on Fridays and Dr. H. L. Olcott on Tuesdays.

John Hirn will sell sixty head of cattle, team of horses, one black horse and one new double harness at public auction at his farm 3 miles south-east of Palatine at 9 o'clock next Saturday morning.

The pupils of the Eighth Grade of the public school will give an entertainment in Knigge's hall next Friday night. Admission 10 and 15 cents. Proceeds to go toward the library. Be sure and remember the entertainment.

The Epworth League will be pleased to receive vegetables, jellies, jams, canned and dried fruits for the Lake Bluff Orphanage and Deaconess' Rest home. Contributions may be left in the church parlors any time between now and Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson and daughter Libbie started for Arizona the first of the week, where they will take up their residence. Mr. Wilson is one of Palatine's first settlers and we are sorry to lose such an old and respected citizen.

Federal smokeless coal is the best fuel for grates, stoves and furnaces. You have never seen or tried this coal as it is a new fuel made of hard coal, coke and some soft coal, pressed together hard as brick. It is clean—no fine stuff or dirt, does not clinker and is smokeless. In a stove it gives an intense, steady heat that lasts for hours without reloading. For sale by Battermann, Ablemann & Ost.

One election bet was paid off last Friday night and attracted considerable attention. Seth Schallenhamer wheeled his fellow-workman, Schmidt, from Meyer's hardware store to the stand pipe and back and stopped for drinks on the way. Schmidt carried a picture of McKinley and Roosevelt and Schallenhamer was tagged "The Result of November 6, 16 to 1." They were proceeded by THE REVIEW band and the procession occasioned considerable fun for spectators.

Woodmen Banquet.

Members of Palatine Camp, 6395 M. W. A. to the number of 37 enjoyed a banquet Saturday night which they will remember with pleasure for some time to come. After initiating a new member the lodge adjourned to Knigge's hall where they sat down to a banquet arranged by Mrs. Henry Bergmann. The boys covered themselves with glory when it came to eating and a lot of more hearty eaters would be hard to find. Stewed oysters, raw oysters, chicken, potato salad, celery, cake, fruit and coffee satisfied the cravings of hunger and crowded out smiles of joy. The sight of seeing the boys eat was a pleasure in itself, and Mrs. Bergmann did not have to be informed that her spread was a success. After the banquet a number of the members returned to the lodge room where cards and other amusements were enjoyed, and the committee who had the matter in charge felt that their efforts was a success.

Thrown From a Train.

Mat Krueger, a young man residing at 1401 Howard street, Chicago, was badly injured by being thrown from the St. Paul train as it passed through here toward Chicago about 9:30 Monday night. Rev. J. C. Hoffmeister was on his way home and was crossing the track near Wood's crossing when he discovered a man lying on the south track. A freight train was approaching and Mr. Hoffmeister moved the man off the track and called for help which soon arrived and the man carried to the depot and medical aid summoned. Doctors Best of Arlington Heights, and Schirding and Black of this place attended the man.

It was found that he had sustained a compound fracture of one arm and leg and a deep gash in the head. He was conscious at times and gave his name and address but the cause of the accident he did not seem able to tell. He stated that he had $15.00 in his pockets but a search failed to reveal any money about his person. He said he was riding with another man on the blind baggage. In his rambling talk while unconscious he kept exclaiming "let go my coat!" and the theory is that he was robbed by his companion and thrown from the train as papers belonging to him were found a block back from where he was discovered. He was cared for in the depot all night and taken to Chicago on the early morning train and taken to the hospital.

A Token of Respect.

Mrs. Frederick J. Filbert received a touching memento from her late husband's comrades of the 113th Illinois Volunteer Regiment association. It was a bound copy of a set of resolutions which was adopted by the association and gotten up by a committee appointed for the purpose. Mr. Filbert was secretary of the association for many years and beloved by his comrades. A. R. Baldwin of this place presented the memento in behalf of the regiment and spoke in a touching way of the respect and endearment that the comrades had for Mr. Filbert and the memento was a small tribute which they wished to present as a token of their appreciation of him and their sympathy for her and the family.

Village Board Proceedings.

The trustees of the Village of Barrington held their regular monthly session at the village hall, Monday evening, November 5, with all members present excepting Trustees Willmarth and Peters.

L. M. Miller, representing the Chicago Highlands Association, presented to the board an estimate of the cost of improving our drainage by widening and lowering the outlet. The cost is estimated at $1,000. The Chicago Highlands Association offer to pay one half the cost. Trustee Grunau moved to accept the proposition and his motion was carried by a unanimous vote. The offer was considered a fair one and that the village of Barrington could not spend money more judiciously than in this way.

On motion of Trustee Grunau the board adjourned.

A Spell of Weather.

The past week has brought to us a spell of weather. Monday the mercury took a slide down the tube and by Tuesday noon caused the coal dealer to grin with gratification while clothing merchants were in the 27th heaven of happiness. Wednesday the temperature took another drop and our people realized that winter, full grown and in good form including her dress of the "beautiful," had arrived for a five month's visit. Polar waves will from now on be on the bill prepared by the weather clerk.

Legislative Vote.

There was much talk during the campaign just closed of how the independent republican candidate, Mr. Cristy, could and would defeat the regular nominee or the minority candidate. The following vote of the three counties shows how he did not do so:

Lake	Boone	McHenry	Total
Shurtleff.....	7296 1/4	3947	5988	17011 1/4
Lyon.....	7837	3933 1/4	5649 1/4	16820
O'Connor.....	6441	2473 1/4	4966 1/4	13911

MCKINLEY'S VOTE A RECORD.

Has Greatest Plurality Ever Cast for President.

FIGURES GIVEN BY STATES.

Latest Footings on Electoral Vote Give Kentucky and Idaho to Bryan—Echoes of the Great National Election—Outlook for the Future.

The plurality of the popular vote secured by William McKinley in his successful contest for the presidency of the United States far exceeds any that has ever been given a candidate for the office. It tops his own plurality of 596,749 in 1896 by 248,262 votes, and exceeds that of General Grant in 1872, up to the present year the greatest on record, by 83,206 votes.

McKinley over Bryan 845,011

Mr. Lincoln's Vote. The plurality of the popular vote secured by President Lincoln at his first election was 491,195. When he ran in 1864 this was decreased to 407,342. The first of the big pluralities, as they are reckoned to-day, was secured by Buchanan in his race against Fremont in 1856. He received 451,491 votes more than his opponent.

Grant's plurality over Seymour in 1868 was 305,458, and four years later, running against Greeley, he more than doubled this, obtaining a clear gain of 763,001 votes. This splendid total stood as high water mark from that time to the present week. It has always been the opinion of shrewd politicians that the figure would never be equaled by any future President. They believed that nothing but the spirit of patriotism burning at white heat could bring such an enormous plurality, and saw no war cloud or vital question of patriotism or national honor that might cause the voters to pronounce their will so emphatically. When the occasion came, however, the figures swept Grant's plurality into second place.

Garfield's Close Run. The smallest plurality ever given the winner of a presidential race went to Garfield when he beat Hancock in 1880. His plurality was 7,018, but with it he had a majority of 59 electoral votes. When Cleveland was successful over Blaine in 1884 his popular plurality was also very small, 23,005; he had 37 electoral votes to the good. In 1888, when he was beaten by Harrison with a majority of 65 electoral votes, he had a popular plurality of 114,660 votes over his successful opponent. In 1892, when he turned the tables on President Harrison, he secured a popular plurality of 393,688 and a majority of 110 electoral votes.

To Contest Kentucky Vote. A contest on the electoral vote of Kentucky is believed certain, for the Republicans claim that the McKinley ticket received a majority of the votes, despite the fact that unofficial returns from all the counties show a plurality for Bryan of more than 7,000 votes. This will be the first contest on an electoral ticket in twenty-four years. Several congressional seats also will be contested, and Yerkes, Republican candidate for governor, will ask the courts to give him the place he claims he won, although the figures now show Beckham to have 4,110 plurality.

Abbot Attacks Reorganization Plan. Willis J. Abbot, manager of the Democratic National Committee Press Bureau, attacks the reorganization plan proposed for the Democratic party by certain men, and calls it an attempt to boss the Democracy. He says it is necessary that Democrats should face this situation. Let them bear in mind that just as the forces of plutocracy have captured the Republican party and diverted it from those ideals which characterized it at its birth, so now the forces of plutocracy are moving upon the Democratic party, from which they were expelled in 1896, and which they now hope to capture and use for their own profit and for the spoliation and betrayal of the people of the United States. Senator James K. Jones calls reorganization talk "impertinence."

McKinley Wins Nebraska. Not only is Nebraska surely Republican, but as the returns become more nearly complete the disclosure is made that the landslide in favor of McKinley was fully as strong in Mr. Bryan's own state as in any state in the Union, says an Omaha special. Complete returns from all but five counties show that the Republican plurality on the national ticket will exceed 8,000. This is a net gain over 1896 of 21,000 votes, for in that year Bryan carried the state by a plurality of 13,556.

The Republicans made a clean sweep on everything but congressmen. The entire state ticket, from governor down to superintendent of public instruction, is elected by pluralities averaging 3,000. The fusionists, however, are still claiming the state ticket and the legislature.

IDAHO IS SAFELY DEMOCRATIC. Senator Shoup Will Be Replaced by Dubois—Heavy Vote by Women. Complete returns are not in yet from the back counties of Idaho, but the Democrats have made a clean sweep. Bryan has carried the state by from 2,000 to 2,500, and the entire Democratic ticket is elected by nearly the same majority. The lowest man will have 1,000 majority. The legislature as estimated by the Capital, the leading Democratic paper in Boise, stands forty-five fusion and twenty-five Republicans. Dubois was endorsed by the state Democratic convention for United States senator, and will receive the full vote of the Democratic members for that position. He will be chosen to take the place now occupied by Shoup, who deserted the cause of silver in 1896. The women polled a large vote. Only a few here and there failed to register and vote, and in this city they voted in large numbers. The Women's Democratic club was most enthusiastic, and did personal political work at the polls all day. The Idaho election went off quietly, without disorder, owing chiefly to the presence of women at the polls.

YATES REVIEWS ELECTION.

Gives His Reasons Why He Ran Behind McKinley in Illinois.

Governor-Elect Yates has issued the following statement from Jacksonville, Ill.: "The result of the election is gratifying to me in almost every particular. When I was nominated (as the whole state ticket knows) conditions were such that it was freely predicted that my election could not be brought about. It was said that no man could be elected governor of Illinois without pledges concerning patronage and legislation to come. It is true that I ran behind McKinley in the city of Chicago, my opponent, Mr. Alschuler, carrying that city by a plurality of a little over 13,000, while McKinley's plurality over Bryan in the county was over 8,000. In other words, about 10,000 men who voted for McKinley did not vote for me. I think this vote was almost entirely due to the so-called reform element in the city of Chicago, who were misled and deceived in a variety of ways and made to believe that I was not a friend of good municipal government."

SENATOR HANNA LIONIZED.

Chairman Welcomed by Leaders at Eastern Headquarters.

Senator Hanna, looking proud and happy over his second political victory, arrived in New York from his home in Cleveland to wind up the affairs and close the eastern headquarters of the national committee. The senator was met at the depot by Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the national committee, and when the two reached national headquarters Mr. Bliss triumphantly shouted so that all could hear: "Lo, the conquering hero comes!" Immediately there was a rush from all present to shake Senator Hanna's hand, and he was showered with congratulations. The national chairman's eyes were bright, and though his old enemy, gout, caused him to limp a trifle, he said he felt "immense," and he made no attempt to conceal his elation at his hearty reception.

WANTS BRYAN FOR LEADER.

National Committeeman Mack Says Nebraska is Still Party Leader.

Concerning the proposed reorganization of the Democratic party, National Committeeman Norman E. Mack said at Buffalo:

"We will go on fighting on much the same lines as we fought this year, though, of course, there must of necessity be some changes in the party's policy. The silver issue is not dead exactly. It is dead only in so far as the ratio of sixteen to one is concerned. The Democratic party always has and always will stand for bimetallicism. Of the issues that remain to the Democratic party imperialism and the trusts stand out pre-eminent. Imperialism will not die as an issue with the defeat of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan will continue to be the leader of the Democratic party. That I hope and believe."

Widener as Rival of Quay.

Millionaire P. A. B. Widener is expected to be a candidate for United States senator from Pennsylvania, and it is said that his candidacy will be endorsed by Mayor Samuel H. Ashbridge of Philadelphia. It is admitted that Mr. Quay's chances to be elected senator by the new legislature will be slender, and it has been known for some time that Mayor Ashbridge is not anxious to see Quay go back to the senate. The mayor will control twenty-three representatives and two senators in the new legislature, and without these Quay's fight would be useless. It is believed that a deadlock would follow an attempt to elect Quay. The mayor's object in desiring the election of Widener may be found in his own ambition to be governor.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for anyone of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. ## SIXTY-THREE LIVES LOST.

A Steamer Sinks and Many Passengers Drown.

FOUR PERSONS ARE SAVED.

City of Monticello Struck by Hurricane on Dangerous Coast—During Frantic Scramble for Boats Women and Children Drown.

The steamer City of Monticello, belonging to the Yarmouth Steamship company, has foundered in the Bay of Fundy with an appalling loss of life. Of the crew and passengers of the ill-fated steamship sixty-three persons are reported to have perished in the wreck. Some of the bodies have already been washed ashore. Among those who perished, it is reported, were many women and children. When the terrific hurricane struck the steamer she was in the Bay of Fundy. Great seas were hurled over her and in a short time she became unmanageable. Soon she started her timbers and began leaking. The water gained fast, and when it was decided to take to the boats a frantic scramble between the crew and passengers began. Some were washed overboard. Some lost their lives by the overturning of small boats. Others went down with the ill-fated steamer. She sank off Cape Forchie. The City of Monticello ran between Yarmouth and Halifax, which is 140 miles from the home port. She hails from Glasgow and was built at the yards of the Harlan & Hollingsworth company, Wilmington, Del., in 1866. She was formerly the City of Norfolk. Her registered gross tonnage is 1,034. Captain Smith, Mr. Eldridge and Miss MacDonald were saved. The list of lost includes many well-known local navigators. Captain Thomas Harding, the master of the Monticello, who is among the lost, leaves a widow and one daughter, at present residing in Yarmouth. The Monticello carried a full freight and a fairly large passenger list. Just before it foundered an attempt was made to reach the land in a small boat in charge of the quartermaster, and it contained Third Officer Fleming, Kate Smith, stewardess; Captain Smith of the Pharsalia and Acting Quartermaster Wilson Cook. This boat was smashed by a huge comber, the occupants being hurled high upon the beach at Pembroke, uninjured. It is believed these are the only survivors.

Killed by Cuban Steal.
Death has come as release to a man driven insane by the Cuban postal frauds. Cyrus G. Neely, brother of the accused official, expired in the Eastern Indiana hospital for the insane at Richmond Sunday, after months of madness, believed by friends the direct outcome of the disgrace brought upon his family by the scandal. Cyrus G. Neely, who was 54 years of age, had served for thirty years as a mail clerk in the railway mail service, a faithful, hard-working man, who seemed satisfied with his position of trust, even with its apparent limitations and lack of opportunity.

Fight Over Legislators.
The contest in Douglas county, Nebraska, over three doubtful candidates on the legislative ticket is growing warm. The fusionists are contesting every inch of the ground. Republicans allege fraud in South Omaha. Editor Hitchcock of the Omaha World-Herald has threatened to impeach the county clerk, who stands pat. He seeks to disqualify three candidates in order that Editor Rosewater of the Omaha Bee may not control their votes for the United States senate.

Wants to Be Speaker.
David E. Shanahan of Chicago has formally announced his candidacy for speaker of the lower house at Springfield. Mr. Shanahan has represented the 9th district in the legislature for three regular and two special sessions and has just been re-elected for another session. He was the personal manager for Judge Haneoy in the latter's campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination last spring.

Fire Breaks Up a Funeral.
While the funeral services of Mrs. Sarah Graves were being conducted at the Methodist church at Decker, Ind., the sanctuary caught fire and a panic ensued. The fire started in the basement and burned through the floor before discovered. Many persons escaped through the windows and the coffin was carried out of the church. Several women fainted. The church was badly damaged by the fire.

Worked Himself to Death.
William D. Holmes, who has been employed during the campaign by the Democratic national committee, collapsed while sitting in a chair at the Hoffman house, New York City. He was removed to a hospital, where he died later. His father is a member of N. Holmes & Co., a wealthy Pittsburgh banking firm.

BOERS SUFFER SEVERE LOSS.

Result of Recent Fighting—Col. Le Gallais, British, Killed.
There has been heavy fighting near Bothaville, South Africa, since Nov. 6, resulting in the defeat of the Boers, who lost 23 killed, 30 wounded and 100 taken prisoners. Seven of their guns were also captured. The British lost three officers and four men killed. Lord Roberts, telegraphing from Johannesburg under date of Nov. 8, gives details of the defeat of the Boers near Bothaville and adds to the facts already known the following: "Col. Le Gallais was heavily engaged for five hours with 1,000 Boers. Knox reinforced Le Gallais and completely defeated the Boers. Dewet and Steyn, with the Boers, left in great haste and were pursued some miles to the south-east. The enemy broke up into small parties. Le Gallais was among the killed. Steyn's secretary, De Villiers, was wounded and captured."

Lord Roberts also reports a number of small affairs, the most important of which was an engagement fought Nov. 6 by Smita-Dorrien south of Dalmanutha, which resulted in the Boers being driven to the east of the Komati river.

Two Wrecks on One Railroad.
An open switch caused the north-bound Missouri Pacific passenger train to collide with a switch engine on a siding in the yards at Leavenworth, Kan., Sunday morning. Application of the air brake checked the speed, but the following passengers were injured: Henry Creighton, colored, Lynchburg, Va., bruised; S. H. Harris, Chicago, traveling man, ear split; Bud Lawrence, colored, St. Louis, Mo., shoulder dislocated; George H. Logan, colored, Cincinnati, O., cut and bruised; Richard Lewis, colored, Lynchburg, Va., bruised; Thomas Madison, colored, Lynchburg, Va., bruised; Arthur Maxwell, colored bicycle rider, Chicago, jaw broken. The colored passengers are members of a minstrel troupe.

The Missouri Pacific east-bound passenger train Sunday ran into an open switch at Sugar City, Colo., crashing into an engine and caboose of a work train on a siding. The engines of both trains and the baggage car of the passenger were demolished. The engineers and firemen of both trains and several passengers were injured. No one was killed. The injured were returned to Pueblo.

Brick Yards Go to Trust.
Practically all the brick yards in Middlesex county, Massachusetts, have passed to the control of the New England Brick company. The trust has purchased the yards in Belmont, Cambridge, Concord, Andover and Medford, aggregating 350 acres of land, with buildings. The deeds have been placed on record and the stamps show that the consideration was $348,000. Of this amount the Bay State Brick company received $300,000, the trust taking all of the company's plants in Cambridge, Concord and other places. It is understood that plans also are in preparation for taking in all of the brick yards in New England, so that the company will be able to control the entire output from the New Brunswick border to the Hudson river.

Carter Hearing Is Postponed.
The habeas corpus proceedings in the case of Oberlin M. Carter, late captain of engineers United States army, which were set for hearing at Leavenworth before Judge Hook of the United States District Court, were continued to Nov. 22. The prisoner was visited at the penitentiary during the day by his uncle, Col. L. D. Carter of Oakland, Cal., and his brother, D. S. Carter of Chicago, with the purpose, it is said, of having him examine a voluminous budget of papers connected with the case. Application for the writ of habeas corpus, which commanded Warden McClaughry of the penitentiary to produce Carter in court and show cause why he is detained, was filed here on Oct. 17 before Judge Hook.

Mr. Bryan Reading and Writing.
The atmosphere which now pervades the Bryan home at Lincoln, Neb., seems strange and incongruous. For some months past the ear of the visitor to Mr. Bryan's house during his presence there has been met with the rattle of typewriters and the click of telegraph instruments on every occasion, while the din of many voices and the bustle and confusion of hurrying feet had grown to be a part of the house. But now an unnatural quiet reigns. An air of domesticity prevails and that of the political headquarters is no longer apparent. Mr. Bryan, in slippers and loose dressing gown, sits in the library with his family and leads the home life of the ordinary American citizen.

Wants to Fight Castellans.
John F. Moulton, who is now in Chicago, has challenged Count Boid de Castellans to a duel with pistols. Mr. Moulton objects to the statement that "Americans are pig merchants, whose highest ambition in life should be to supply French aristocrats with money." Mr. Moulton's home is in San Francisco, and he has recently returned from the Philippines.

LATEST NEWS FROM CHINA.

Contests Mostly of a Diplomatic Nature.

NEW POLICY IS NOW SHAPING

Envoys After a Council Demand the Execution of Princes and Officials High in the Management of the Chinese Government—A Dilemma Confronted.

Thursday, November 8.
Report of American-Russian-French agreement as to China discredited in European capitals. Ministers of the powers at Peking, unable to agree on terms for settlement with China, ask instructions.
Jean de Bloch, celebrated peace advocate, says Russia will surely withdraw troops from Manchuria.

Friday, November 9.
Li Hung Chang's note protesting against Pao Ting Fu expedition returned to viceroy unanswered.
American soldiers prevented Russians from tearing down British flag in China. Friction among troops of different nations cause of frequent shootings.
Yellow book on Chinese affairs, published by French foreign office, shows close relation between France and United States.

Sunday, November 11.
The treasurer of the province of Pechili, one Chinese general and a Chinese colonel, who had been found by a court-martial to be responsible for the slaughter of seventeen American and English missionaries at Pao-tingfu and the torture of four others, who were rescued alive, were Sunday shot, together with twenty prominent Boxers, with the approval of Field Marshal Count von Waldersee. Tien Yung is the name of the provincial treasurer executed. His high official comrades who suffered a like fate were Gen Wei Shung Kong and Col. Kiu. After death the condemned men's heads were cut off and exposed on poles as a warning to the populace.

Monday, November 12.
Envoys in Peking have drawn up joint note fixing preliminary conditions to peace negotiation, among them a statue of Von Ketteler, personal apology to Emperor William by native Prince, and execution of eleven guilty high officials. American attitude in Chinese affair derided by New York correspondent of London Times.

Tuesday, November 13.
Chinese Princes very naturally object to demand of allies that they be executed. Other proposals may be accepted.
A dispatch to the London Times from Dr. Morrison in Peking, dated Nov. 11, says: "As far as it is possible to judge, China will willingly accede to all the terms of the conjoint note now ready to be presented subject to the approval of the home governments, except the demand for the death penalty against princes and officials, which it is impossible to fulfill while the court is in the hands of these accused officials."
The German reichstag convenes and the kaiser's speech deals with China.

Strange Disease Killing Cattle.
A herd of cattle which was shipped to Spring Valley, Ill., from Nebraska last week has become affected with a mysterious and fatal disease. The cattle, three carloads, are in a pasture on a farm owned by the Spring Valley Coal company, and are the property of Charles Nelson. Several of them are dead. A veterinary surgeon from La Salle was unable to determine what the disease is, and the state veterinarian has been sent for.

Fee to Arbitration by Force.
Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York testified at Washington before the industrial commission on sweat shops and arbitration. He said he had more confidence in voluntary organizations to meet evils that grow out of the sweat-shop system than in legislation. He advocated a permanent commission to mediate between capitalists and labor organizations. He was disinclined to favor compulsory arbitration.

Thirteen Stores Burned.
A fire broke out in a restaurant in Houma, the seat of justice of Terrebonne parish, Louisiana, and destroyed an entire block of buildings. Thirteen stores were burned, as well as the office of the Houma Courier, with all its printing outfit. The store of Dauden & Avery, the largest in the parish, was damaged, but escaped destruction. Loss, $105,000.

Fire Destroys Electric Light Plant.
The car sheds and electric plant of the Norfolk Railway and Lighting company in Huntersville, a suburb of Norfolk, Va., were totally destroyed by fire Sunday morning. Fifty-two cars and the electrical machinery were destroyed. The loss is $150,000, covered by insurance. The street car system was badly crippled.

One Cent Hotel Is Routed.
At Chicago "Levee Tom," keeper until Sunday of a "1-cent lodging house" in Wabash avenue, south of Van Buren street, was ousted by the police of the Harrison street station and the proprietor and fourteen lodgers turned out. This abode for wanderers was not elaborate. Its roof was the sidewalk and its walls the street on one side and the foundation of the buildings on the other. But it satisfied the men who came nightly and were assigned to a board upon giving "Tom" a copper for room rent. Business men in the vicinity complained to Inspector Hartnett that their stores were endangered by the old stove which "Tom" kept burning for the comfort of his patrons. So "Tom" and his lodgers had to seek other quarters.

Guilt of Sending a Bomb.
At Waterloo, Ia., the case of the state vs. Jerome W. Hoot, who has been on trial on a charge of trying to kill his wife by sending her a dynamite bomb, was given to the jury and a verdict was reached finding the prisoner guilty of assault, with intent to commit murder. The case was stubbornly fought, but the evidence was largely against the prisoner. The question of the jurisdiction of the Iowa court was paramount in the motion to direct a verdict for the defendant, but the motion was overruled after an all-day argument.

May Advance Price of Pig Iron.
The Bessemer Pig Iron Association, which is composed of all the large producers of pig iron, held a secret meeting at M. A. Hanna & Co.'s office in Cleveland. It was expected that the price of Bessemer iron would be fixed at a rate of from 50 cents to $1.50 higher than the present rate of $13.50 per ton. As less than half of the firms in the association were represented no action was taken. Another meeting will be held shortly.

Two Boer Leaders Are Dead.
Among the Boers who were killed in the recent fighting near Belfast were General Fourie and Commandant Prinsloo. The British have reoccupied Philippolis, after four hours' fighting. Gen. French will take command of the Johannesburg district. The condition of Miss Roberts, daughter of Lord Roberts, is more serious.

Married at Davenport, Iowa.
Miss Julia Prettyman Kimball of Davenport, Ia., and Frank Warren Everett of Highland Park, Ill., were married at Davenport. The bride belongs to one of Davenport's oldest and most prominent families; her father being A. Kimball, ex-first vice president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad.

First Snow of Season.
The first real snowstorm of the season struck Minneapolis Monday. Lumbermen are hoping the weather will turn much colder before a great amount of snow comes, so that the ground will freeze and a bottom be given for work in the woods. If the weather remains warm lumbering operations will be greatly hampered.

Fight Fire at Algona, Mich.
For two hours at Algona, Mich., 500 men and boys Monday worked vigorously in an effort to save the town from destruction by fire. They were successful after four buildings had been destroyed and several others damaged by fire and water. The combined losses will not be far from $20,000.

Held for Smuggling Jewelry.
Two Mexicans, who gave their names as Velino M. Preza and Alejandro A. Maroucel, were arrested at New York charged with smuggling into this country part of the famous jewels at one time worn by Carlotta, the widow of Emperor Maximilian of Mexico. The jewels in the men's possession are said to be worth $75,000.

Ware Beats Pedlar Palmer.
At a sporting club in London a twenty-round contest for the bantam championship between Pedlar Palmer and Harry Ware resulted in a victory for the latter, although Palmer showed himself far more clever than his opponent and held the fight on points until toward the end.

TWO MILLIONAIRES DEAD.

Marcus Daly and Henry Villard Expire the Same Day.

AFTER LIVES MUCH ALIKE.

Both Self-Made Men—Beginning Their Careers as Poor Immigrants They Work Their Way to Great Wealth and High Station.

Marcus Daly and Henry Villard both died Monday in New York. These two men, whose careers have such a similarity, passed away within a few miles of each other, and almost at the same time. Both were born abroad, coming to this country while still boys, and both won fame and wealth in the great northwest, which they did much to develop. Both were millionaires at the time of their death, Villard leaving a fortune estimated at $1,000,000, while Daly's wealth is believed to be fifty times that amount. Both started in life penniless and both won riches by their own personal merit and efforts. Henry Villard, noted as a newspaper man, railroad builder, and financier, was born in Germany, and ran away from home at an early age, coming to Illinois, where his first work was done as a newspaper reporter and correspondent. After working on the Tribune in Chicago he drifted to the east and later to Europe, where his qualities as a financier won him the confidence of capitalists, whose backing later permitted him to carry out some of his daring enterprises. His work did much for the progress of the Pacific coast states. He planned and carried into effect the first direct railroad to the northwest.

He also identified himself with electricity in its early days, and to his capital and perseverance is due in great part the rapid strides in that field. He furnished the money which permitted Thomas A. Edison to carry on the experiments which revolutionized the lighting system of the world. In his later years he returned to his old work, the newspaper business, and purchasing the New York Evening Post, did much for independent journalism. Three times was Henry Villard a millionaire. Twice were fortunes many times greater than the one he left wiped out in financial panics, and although each time he could have saved much of his wealth to himself he protected others in preference, paying great losses out of his won private means.

Marcus Daly, a native of Ireland, came to the United States at the age of 13 years, settling in California. His first work was at digging potatoes, and for years he earned his living as a day laborer. Gaining some money in California during the days of the gold fever, he won the confidence of some of the foremost capitalists of the state, and was sent to Montana to manage their mining interests there. Soon striking out for himself, he began his remarkable rise which left him many times a millionaire and one of the foremost men in financial and political circles in the country. Daly's long feud with William A. Clark, culminating in the ousting of the latter from the United States senate, is recent history. Clark's victory at last week's election came too late to affect his old foe, who then was on his deathbed.

Villard's chief interest in life was work for the good of his fellow-men. He was a firm advocate of civil service in its earlier days and took prominent part in other reform movements. Numberless public institutions and charities have profited by his friendship. His gifts were numerous in the land of his birth as well as in this country.

Daly had for his chief hobby the love of the racehorse. For many years his stable was one of the most famous in America. He owned many of the animals whose names have been most familiar on the tracks in this country. This sport, with politics, furnished him entertainment and a means of spending his enormous income during the last years of his life.

Marcus Daly died in his apartments in the Hotel Netherland at 8 o'clock Monday morning. Dilation of the heart and Bright's disease of the kidneys, with resultant complications, were the immediate cause of death, though Mr. Daly's illness dated back several years. Daly's motto was: "Do yourself that which you would have done right."

Smallpox Among Shoshone Indians.
The Indian bureau has received a telegram from the Shoshone agency in Wyoming, announcing that smallpox has broken out at Lander, near the Indian reservation. Vaccine virus for 1,700 persons which the agent asks to have dispatched him immediately has been forwarded.

Colored Man Electrocuted.
Richard Gardner, colored, was electrocuted in the penitentiary at Columbus, O., at 12:05 Friday morning. He was convicted of the murder of little Ethel Long at Austin, O., on May 22.

The Barrington Review

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY

M. T. LAMEY, Ed. and Pub.

Entered at the postoffice at Barrington, Ill., as second-class matter.

Saturday, November 17, 1900.

President McKinley's Thanksgiving turkey will come from Rhode Island this year. It now weighs thirty-five pounds and is fattening, part of Connecticut having been borrowed for the occasion.

Hon. George R. Lyon of Waukegan announces his candidacy for speaker of the legislature subject to the action of the republican caucus. Mr. Lyon is a gentleman whom Lake county people would like to see honored with the position.

Nearly a million copies of the Bible were circulated in China last year. Allowing one Bible to a family, and assuming that every family consists of five persons, that leaves 395,000,000 Chinese still in ignorance of the gospel of peace on earth good will unto men.

The contest for the senatorial toga is now on in earnest. Senator Cullom, is confident of being returned while Governor Tanner, Congressmen Hopkins and Cannon are in the race. A number of dark horses will, no doubt, be found on the track when the start is made at Springfield.

The New York Times says: "The talk about the immediate disruption of the cabinet is without foundation. The cabinet will stand by the President until his next inauguration. Those members who are anxious to retire will have their chance then."

Basing figures on the election returns which give the total vote in Lake county for 1900 as being 7655, the population of the county at this time is 28,275. It is a generally accepted theory that by multiplying the total vote by five, a very nearly accurate count is secured. Thus the vote of Lake county in 1896 being 6,866 and the population 34,330, the gain in four years is 3,945. The gain in the county from 1892 to 1900 was 12,330.

John Alexander Dowie, who has purchased a large tract of land in Benton township, this county, with a view to establishing a heaven of his own to contain among other things a lace making plant, has ran up against the U. S. immigration laws. He imported a party of lace makers. They reached New York, ticketed through to Waukegan. The government has ordered them deported to their English home. Now, if the government will prevent Dowie from returning to this country the people will have much to be thankful for.

Married women, under some circumstances, may be considered the head of the house, according to a decision of Judge Purnell of Virginia. The decision is understood to be based on a case in which the wife supported the family, and was held to apply to a wife either living apart or with her husband, if the husband did not contribute to the support of the family. The suffragists hail the decision as another step in the uplifting of women to a plane of equality with men. They contrast it with the decision of the Supreme Court of Illinois, which has held that where a wife lives with her husband the husband is to be considered the head of the house.

Governor elect Yates issues a letter on the result of the late election, and says in part: "The result of the contest is gratifying to me in almost every particular. It was said that no man could be elected governor of Illinois without pledges concerning patronage and legislation to come. It was said by many of the most experienced leaders of all parties that a man not connected with either faction or element of the party could hope to receive only a lukewarm support from both. These predictions have substantially come to naught. Every element of our party came up to the polls with unbroken front and rallied around the state ticket." Mr. Yates pays a high compliment to his opponent, Samuel A. Schuler, and the manner in which the campaign was conducted by that gentleman. This is indeed pleasant and marks a new era in politics in this state. Clean men can be depended upon to conduct a clean campaign.

The Chinese Tsung-li-yamen.

The position taken by this government in demanding the abolition of the Chinese tsung-li-yamen, or foreign office, and the appointment of a single head for the conduct of foreign affairs in Peking seems to be a step in the right direction. Ever since ambassadors and ministers were received at Peking they have had trouble in finding the government receptive of their propositions through a responsible medium. The tsung-li-yamen was finally constituted to provide a place where the ministers could present their addresses and a body of officials supposed to represent the throne in dealings with the powers. But this medium proved unsatisfactory. It was soon found to possess no authority whatever, but was compelled to refer all important matters to the palace, which was so hedged about with restrictions and etiquette that the ministers were practically helpless. Only by a bold stroke could they make an impression. At last they demanded the right to be heard by the emperor, and this was granted only when China was made to feel the full force of possible foreign displeasure.

The tsung-li-yamen, however, remained the place where all diplomatic business was transacted, and it continued as unreliable as ever. Writers on China tell many amusing stories about this establishment. The ministers were received with scant courtesy and compelled to state their errands under circumstances insuring the widest possible publicity of even the most sacred secrets. Managers on at the yamen could readily learn the most secret plans of the envoys, and as the Chinese mind is given inordinately to speculation and imagination along certain lines often the most innocent facts served as the basis for startling reports of grave international complications. The real negotiations had to be conducted with the palace officials in a sort of intrigue. Ever since the Japanese war, which was supposed to show to China the folly of some of her antiquated ways, the ministers have had the greatest difficulty in securing definite replies to their proposals, and it is not to be doubted that much of the uncertainty as to conditions in the empire which culminated in the disasters of last June and July was due to the irresponsible agency through which China continued to transact her important diplomatic affairs with the outer world.

The abolition of the tsung-li-yamen and the substitution thereof of a foreign office with a single responsible head would doubtless greatly simplify matters in China.

And now President Harper of Chicago university has been having a heart to heart talk with the members of the faculty of that institution, some of whom have lately been attracting attention in ways which while they may have added to the gayety of nations assuredly did not elevate the reputation of American educators either at home or abroad. According to report, President Harper expressed particular displeasure with three professors—the one who ranked Mr. Rockefeller above Shakespeare, the one who disgusted his history classes by lecturing to them in the language of the slums and the one who explained the riots of today by saying that they were a natural result of the lawless deeds of our Revolutionary ancestors.

Julia Marlowe, the actress, presents her compliments to all persons desiring her autograph, thanks them for their interest in her and in the representatives of the American stage and informs them that on the receipt of 50 cents the autograph will be sent to any address and that the money thus obtained will be forwarded to the treasurer of the Actors' Fund of America. This is a decidedly clever way of inducing the autograph fiends either to desist or contribute to a worthy charity.

It is intimated that General Lord Roberts will not return to England at present. The Boer revival, it is said, is more serious than at first believed and may call for unexpectedly severe measures and more time. In the meantime the magnificent reception arranged for "Little Bobs" may have to be indefinitely postponed. Perhaps it will keep.

Now let us place "paramount" carefully back in the dictionary and give it a rest. If ever there was a word that has worked overtime, this is the one.

It is a curious coincidence that the winner of Nov. 6 should have the champion race horse of the year named after him.

Of Service to Our Readers.

[From the Camden, S. C., Messenger.] We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. This testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup. For sale by all Druggists at Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine.

M. W. Hughes was a Chicago visitor Monday.

Miss Lottie Held of Chicago is the guest of Miss Orpha Darrell.

Miss Florence Grace, who has been on the sick list the past few weeks, is reported convalescent.

Mrs. Harrison and daughter Lora have moved to the city where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. J. E. Glych of Chicago is enjoying a brief visit with relatives and friends in our village.

Isadore Lintelman of Dubuque, Ia., spent the first part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Haas.

Messrs. L. C. Price, H. E. Maiman, F. Roney and J. S. Haas transacted business in the city Thursday.

Mrs. J. Grosvenor went to the city Saturday where she will make her future home. Mrs. T. Seymour accompanied her and will remain there a few days.

C. F. Hall Co., Dundee, offer bargains. Go there at once and get best calico 24 and 34c.; 500 samples of fine underwear at 8, 10, 12, 15 and 19c up to 69c a garment; worth double.

A social ball will be given at Oakland hall next Friday evening, Nov. 22. Music will be furnished by Reed's orchestra of McHenry. Tickets 75c, supper extra. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Carl Eriksen is reported very ill. Dr. Fegers of McHenry was summoned and held counsel with Dr. Dawson after which the former announced the ailment to be brain fever. Mr. Eriksen is somewhat better at present.

Druggist Morgan of Crawfordsville, Ind., says: Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin is a medicine I can conscientiously recommend as it does just what you claim. It is the best laxative I ever saw. Sold by Chas. E. Churchill.

Lawrence Kinsala, who is well known in our village, passed an order, Tuesday, for $15.00 to Fuller & Wentworth drawn on Ernest Meyer, for whom he said he had been working and had that amount coming to him. When the order was presented to Mr. Meyer he stated that he owed Kinsala nothing and refused to pay it. Mr. Fuller went to Kinsala's home to find out the misunderstanding and was informed that "Larry" had gone to Chicago. Mr. Fuller and Marshal Reilly immediately started in search of him. No result as yet.

Ten ladies from Wauconda, in spite of the cold weather, responded to an invitation from the Barrington W. R. C. to visit them on Nov. 14. After a pleasant drive they arrived at their destination and stopped at the store of Leroy Powers to get warm. It was with that amiable gentleman that the young ladies of the party heartily enjoyed themselves. The party was taken to the cozy hall which was tastefully decorated with flags and roses. There was assembled many ladies by whom the visitors were heartily welcomed. After the inspector arrived the president, Mrs. Sizer, called the meeting to order. The ritualistic work was heartily approved by the inspector. Then followed remarks by Mrs. Cook of Wauconda, and Mrs. A. L. Powers, which was heartily enjoyed. A sumptuous repast was served which will always be remembered as a prominent feature of the good time spent in Barrington. It was with regret adieus were said and Wauconda hopes in the future to entertain them as highly. "How far that little candle threw its beams, likewise shown the good deed of Mr. Powers."

A Sacrifice To Conscience

By
H. B. Welsh

The sick man turned a startled look on her.

"What do you mean, little one? Tell me, Jasmine. Have you any reason for saying this?"

"None," she answered, gently patting his thin hand, "but that kind of instinct which you once said to me, daddy, all women have. I don't like him; I mistrust him. Is it not strange? There are some people, now"—she paused, and a little soft color crept into her cheeks—"that one feels could help one, would never betray one, could keep one's secrets as they would their own."

"Yes," said David Lloyd, "that is so. There is that young lawyer, now—what is his name?—Enderby; I think I could trust him. But you are wrong about Lyndon, Jasmine; he is my friend. Now it is time for my medicine, is it not?"

Jasmine went away for it, and after giving it to him, sat down by the fire. There was a soft light in her eyes, a kind of tremulousness on her mouth, as she looked into the flickering flame. Of what was she thinking? Who can say? The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts.

But she did not forget her household duties. She ran away presently to get the early tea which her father liked more than any other meal. Suddenly she heard a faint cry, and running to her father's side she found him lying back in his chair, a ghastly color like that of death overspreading his face, his eyes open, but fixed and glazed, his lips apart, and a slight froth upon them. His whole appearance was a terrible one; but Jasmine had seen it once before—the night on which she had gone for Doctor Lyndon.

She looked for a basin of warm water, and put his stiff hands into it, as if with an idea that that would do him good. As she did so a knock sounded on the door. She flew to it, and opened it to see Paul Enderby.

It was Sunday, the day on which he had promised to come.

"Oh, Mr. Enderby," she exclaimed, "father is terribly ill! Will you come in?"

He followed her, and was shocked to see the terrible condition of her father. Jasmine continued her operations, loosened the neckband of the dressing gown, and chafed his hands with her own trembling ones.

"Shall we lift him into bed, and I shall run for the doctor?" said Enderby, in a whisper.

"No, no—not Doctor Lyndon!" she exclaimed, with a sudden energy that startled him. "But, if you do not mind helping me, we could lift him into bed."

Enderby, with great gentleness, did so. Then he stood aside, wondering, as he had often done before, why he came always to be a helper of this man and his daughter; it was while Jasmine hung over her father, doing what she could for him with such womanly and almost motherly solicitude, that Enderby saw in her now a woman, not a child.

Suddenly the dreadful look passed from the sick man's face, and he began to talk in a strange, rambling, incoherent way.

"Yes, yes, Lyndon—just so, that's what we must do. Keep it quiet, of course. But he—what is his name?—Sir John, Sir Matthew—no, no I've forgotten!—he'll help me. He won't see harm come to me. And then there's Jasmine, my little one. Oh, whatever happens she must be cared for and looked after, and she must come to me. See here, this is how we'll—well—"

His voice trembled away incoherently. Jasmine, her face very white, and wide terror in her eyes, turned to Enderby. The young man's heart ached at the agony in her appealing look.

"Has he ever been like this before?" he asked in a low voice.

"Only once," Jasmine whispered, "and that was the night I met you. Oh, it is terrible!"

"What can we do? You don't wish for Lyndon. Shall I get another doctor?" Enderby asked.

"No; he would be so put about over it when he became conscious." She moved to the foot of the bed, for the incoherent babblings were now lower, and Enderby followed her. Suddenly she looked up with terror in her face. "It is awful to think it," she said, whispering—and he could see her lips twitching nervously—"but I—I am afraid of Doctor Lyndon. I don't trust him. Can it be—oh, I dare not say it!"

Paul started violently, and he felt his own pale face. Could there be anything in the vague suspicion and mistrust of this man? He felt he must know what Jasmine thought; so much depended upon it. He laid his hand on her arm.

"Miss Lloyd, will you trust me sufficiently to tell me what you mean? You have some reason to dislike, to distrust Doctor Lyndon? As I told you, I know him—a little. Perhaps I might be able to help you if I knew what you fear."

Jasmine stole to her father's side. He was asleep. She came back to Enderby, and made a motion to him to follow her to the window.

"I know you will not betray us," she said in a low voice. "Perhaps you have guessed my father has some secret weighing on his mind. I do not know what it is; he has not told me. But I know this: my father is a good man, and he has never done anyone a wrong in his life. Doctor Lyndon knows his secret; I can see that. My father trusts him, and takes everything the doctor prescribes. He hardly takes any food; that is because Doctor Lyndon says he must not eat much, and that is making him so weak. And the doctor gives him a medicine—it is marked 'Hypophosphates' on the label. He had taken a dose of that—the last dose in the bottle. The last time he was ill like this; and that he had today is the last dose in the bottle. Is not that strange?"

It was strange—very. Enderby's face, grave and pale, was slightly turned from Jasmine; but she saw it, and a sudden, overwhelming terror moved over her. In her agitation she seized his hand.

"You think it—strange?" she said. "Oh, I must save him! I must save him! Help me, dear God—help me!" Passionate sobs broke her voice, and she threw herself on her knees, covering her face with her hands. Enderby looked down at her, strange emotions stirring him.

Then he bent down and raised her up gently.

"Don't give way like that, my child! We shall save him, no fear of that. I shall tell you what I will do. I have a friend, a doctor. You must persuade your father to see him. As for the bottle, you must let me have it, and we shall soon know the truth. And in the meantime, be brave and strong, and take care of your father; and on no account give him anything prescribed by Doctor Lyndon."

With a sudden impulse the girl seized his hand again, and this time snatched it to her lips.

"May God bless and reward you for ever and ever!" she murmured, brokenly. And then, as if ashamed of herself, turned away, while a warm blush drowned the pallor of her face.

CHAPTER VI.

"Yes, there is nothing else for it. I must refuse Sir Henry's offer, and Cecil will be lost to me forever," said Enderby to himself, as he walked away from Burdon mansions.

It was nearing the hour for evening service, and church bells were already ringing a clangor of loud invitations over all the great city. Enderby was a church-goer. He was not one of the class, so common among college-bred and cultured young manhood, who consider a religion a superstition, and have renounced the belief that there is any God who ruleth the earth; and he felt at this moment, which seemed like a crisis in his life, a strange desire to be guided in his course of conduct by something higher than human wisdom or counsel.

He went into Westminster Abbey, and remained throughout the service. The psalms seemed strangely applicable to his own case.

"Lord, who shall abide in Thy tabernacle? or who shall rest upon Thy holy hill?"

"He that hath used no deceit in his tongue, nor done evil to his neighbor, and hath not slandered his neighbor—"

"He that sweareth unto his neighbor and disappointeth him not, though it were to his own hindrance."

"He that hath not taken reward against the innocent."

Enderby bowed his knees humbly with the rest of the congregation, and from his heart went up a truly earnest prayer:

"Help me, O God, to do the thing that is right, even though it be to my own hindrance! Guard me from ever seeking a bribe against those who may be—nay, who I feel sure—are innocent."

He wrote to Sir Henry Lennox that night:

Dear Sir Henry: Will you allow me to withdraw my acceptance of your most kind and generous offer to take me as your junior in a certain case that is pending? I find I cannot conscientiously take the case in hand. I can only trust to your generosity not to ask my reasons, which are private ones. Again thanking you for your kindness, yours very sincerely,
PAUL ENDERBY.

He had promised not to disclose his acquaintance with the man calling himself David Lloyd, and he meant to keep that promise until he was freed from it.

Enderby had gone straight from Burdon mansion to his friend Doctor Bunthorne, and asked him to call upon David Lloyd, merely saying it was a case in which he was interested, though the Lloyds were little more than chance acquaintances, and promising to call in on the doctor and hear his report.

On Monday he met Sir Henry at the Law Courts. The great lawyer looked pale and worn; Enderby had never seen him look so old or so spent a man.

"You do not look well, Sir Henry. Why don't you take a holiday?" he said. "If I were your doctor I should insist upon it. The brain needs a rest as well as the body, and you give yours absolutely none."

"I am all right," said Sir Henry, a little impatiently for him; he was usually so patient even in dealing with stupid witnesses or dogmatic 'learned brothers,' that it was a common legend among the barristers that the Queen's Counsel had never been seen out of temper.

"So you don't wish to make a name for yourself in the Browlow Pearl case, Enderby? Have you heard anything about it from—from any one?"

"Sir Henry, I am not at liberty to reply to your question," replied the young man, with the slightest shade of hesitation. "May I ask you again, as I asked you in my letter, to generously leave the matter as it is? I shall never, believe me, forget your kindness in making me an offer which, if I could have accepted it, would have been so advantageous to myself."

Sir Henry turned aside for a moment; but when he looked around again the momentary expression of irritation had passed from his face.

"For whatever reason you have refused, Enderby," he said, "I am sure it is one that does honor to yourself. The man who can refuse to take fortune's tide at the flood, when he knows it will lead on to fortune, because conscience forbids him to do so, is a man who, perhaps, may not succeed in this world, but whose failure, if he fails, is more glorious than the success of others."

"Thank you, Sir Henry," said Enderby, flushing a little. The praise of such a man as Sir Henry was worth something, for he was one whom Paul Enderby admired and revered with all his heart.

How had he been deceived by such a man as Dundas Lyndon? Enderby asked himself the question again and again. In his own mind he had arrived at what seemed a likely enough solution of the mystery of David Lloyd.

Dundas Lyndon was in some way connected with the crime with which Lloyd had been accused, and was working upon the gentle and unsuspecting nature of the latter in order to get an inconvenient and dangerous witness out of the way.

Enderby hardly knew how deeply he was interested in the case until he discovered that he had almost forgotten an engagement he had in the evening, at which he expected to meet Cecil Lennox.

She was there, surrounded by a bevy of admirers, as Enderby approached, and looked very lovely in her exquisite Parisian confection of primrose and pink.

Enderby's pulses beat quicker as she turned her brilliant smile upon him. She extended her hand, and in a few minutes he and she were alone.

"So you are to be my father's junior in a great case that is coming on?" she said, still smiling upon him. "I am so glad! I congratulate you beforehand. It is the beginning of fame for you, and you will go up the ladder so quickly once you have started the ascent."

Enderby's face fell, and a shadow came upon his brow.

"Sir Henry told you so much, Miss Lennox? But did he not tell you that I had refused his generous offer?"

Cecil started.

"Refused! You can't be in earnest, Mr. Enderby! Refused such an offer! Why, it will be the making of your fortune! This case is a celebrated one, my father says. What possible reason can you have for refusing?"

Wants Voice and Stature.
Nat Goodwin, his wife (Maxine Elliott) and Henry Miller occupied a box at the Lyceum theater on Thursday night to see Charles Richman in the character of Prince Victor. An acquaintance sitting near me remarked, "Miller is gathering inspiration for 'The Only Way.'" While Nat Goodwin, looking as solemn as an owl, was wishing that he had Richman's voice and stature to enact "When We Were Twenty-one." An "every-nighter" whispered, "Richman is the nearest approach to Lester Wallack that we have on the stage at the present time."

ST. VITUS' DANCE

Three great and complete cures effected by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

Mrs. J. A. Ferre, who resides near 905 Main Street, Hartford, Conn., says:

"My daughter Lulu became very ill with St. Vitus dance over a year ago. She became so bad that she lost the use of her right arm and side, and we thought at one time she would lose her speech. Her tongue was almost paralyzed, she was so bad she could not feed herself, and at night she would get so nervous I had to sit and hold her. I tried several doctors, but they did not do her any good. I did not find anything that would help her until I tried Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. She is now, by the use of this medicine, entirely cured."

C. H. Bailey, Esq., of Waterbury, Vt., writes:

"I am more than glad to write about my little daughter. Until a short time ago she had always been a very delicate child and subject to sick spells lasting weeks at a time. She was very nervous, and our family doctor said we would never raise her, she was so delicate and feeble. We tried many remedies without the least good. We felt much anxiety about her, especially as no doctors could benefit her, and had great fear for her future. Learning of the wonders being done by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I determined to give it to her. She soon commenced to improve under its use, and rapidly gained in every respect. She eats and sleeps well, and her nerves are strong. The medicine has done wonders for her and it is the best we ever knew. I recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, to everybody."

Mrs. J. Learmonth, of 776 Broadway, South Boston, Mass., says:

"At ten years of age my daughter became affected with a nervous condition which soon developed into St. Vitus' dance. It was pronounced by the attending physician to be a very severe attack. The mouth would be drawn spasmodically far to one side, the hands and arms were restless and constantly twitching. Her limbs also were weak; her ankles bent under her so that it was almost impossible to walk. She was so nervous that she would scream almost like a maniac and then have fits of crying. After two months' treatment without a cure, I concluded to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. Three bottles entirely cured her. She is now thirteen years old, and has been well ever since, and to-day is a picture of health."

A PEANUT PARTY.

This Winter Evening Game May Include the Children.

Peanut Jackstraws.—Group your guests by fours round small tables, and give to each group a heap of peanuts and a pair of candy tongs. They play in turn, taking as many from the pile as possible without disturbing the others. Time is called at the end of ten minutes. Test for Steadiness.

—Each is to take from a dish as many nuts as possible on an ordinary table knife and carry to an empty dish at the opposite side of the room. This trip may be repeated if possible within the two minutes allowed. Grabbing.

—Each is to take in turn as many nuts as can be grabbed in the hand, the nuts being then counted and marked down. Hunting.—Use one or two special rooms for this and secrete the nuts early in the day. Allow ten or fifteen minutes for the hunt. Word Making.—Provide paper and pencil for each and allow 15 minutes in which to make as many words as possible from the letters composing the words peanuts. With each of these diversions tally should be kept by the players and hostess of individual scores, and at the close of the supper prizes may be given to the winners of each contest. These should be inexpensive and as absurd as possible. Japanese stores usually have a variety of cheap goods which are both pretty and suitable.

HELPED THE CHIEF.

How a Loyal Engineer Did His Brother Great Service.

Meadville, Pa., Nov. 12.—(Special)—The Loyalty of the Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is proverbial. A circumstance occurred in this city some days ago, which emphasizes this feeling.

Frank J. Zeller, is Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers No. 143. He is extremely popular among his fellow railway men, and one of the best known Engineers running out of Meadville. When the announcement was made a short time ago that Frank was pretty sick, it caused a great deal of regret among the boys. Soon he was missed from his engine, having had to "lay off" on account of his back. A brother of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who had been ill with similar symptoms, some time before, and who had been pulled through, called to see Mr. Zeller, and in a brotherly way, took with him a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the Remedy which had cured him. He advised Mr. Zeller to try them, with the result that after seven boxes had been used, he was entirely well, and able to work.

In an interview Mr. Zeller states: "I had suffered for four years with this affliction, being often kept awake at night with pains, and at times unable to work. I tried several of the advertised remedies, and found that they did me no earthly good. Finally, a member of our Order, who had been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills brought me a box, and asked me to try them. I had little faith in them, but as a drowning man grasps at a straw to help him, so I took the Pills. I used seven boxes, and am today as well and strong a man as there is in Pennsylvania."

Naturally, Mr. Zeller feels very grateful, and his complete recovery has delighted his many friends, and none more than the good Brother, who feels that he was instrumental in saving the life of the Chief.

How Mothers may Help their Daughters into Womanhood

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she cares for the physical well-being of her daughter, so will the woman be, and her children also.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

The following letters from Miss Good are practical proof of Mrs. Pinkham's efficient advice to young women.

Miss Good asks Mrs. Pinkham for Help.

June 12th, 1899.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been very much bothered for some time with my monthly periods being irregular. I will tell you all about it, and put myself in your care, for I have heard so much of you. Each month menstruation would become less and less, until it entirely stopped for six months, and now it has stopped again. I have become very nervous and of a very bad color. I am a young girl and have always had to work very hard. I would be very much pleased if you would tell me what to do."—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yeslar Way, Seattle, Wash.

The Happy Result.

February 10th, 1900.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is just simply wonderful the change your medicine has made in me. I feel like another person. My work is now a pleasure to me, while before using your medicine it was a burden. To-day I am a healthy and happy girl. I think if more women would use your Vegetable Compound there would be less suffering in the world. I cannot express the relief I have experienced by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MISS PEARL GOOD, Cor. 29th Avenue and Yeslar Way, Seattle, Wash.

Now is the season for winter advertising. The judicious advertiser is the individual who reaps success. THE REVIEW reaches ninety per cent of the families in this section. An advertisement in its columns will bring you returns. Try it.

On October 19 the Illinois Supreme court declared in the case of Theodore Noel that the section of the pharmacy law prohibiting general dealers from selling patent medicines without a permit is void on account of being class legislation, thus reversing a former decision.

Supervisors S. L. Carfield of Avon; Thomas E. Graham of Grant; G. B. Stephens of Newport; J. A. Mason of Vernon; Miles T. Lamey of Cuba and County Clerk Hendee of Waukegan, have been selected as delegates to attend the annual convention of supervisors, county commissioners and county clerks to be held at Joliet next February.

The Waukegan Gazette says: A curiosity being displayed in M. B. Salmon's store is a bunch of peanut branches laden with nuts. They were raised by Herbert M. Lville of Russel, who this year, as an experiment, grew a crop of ten bushels. It was not believed peanuts could be successfully grown in this section, but Mr. Melville has proved that they can be.

Frank Howard Collier, the eccentric attorney, has petitioned the court in Cook county for a writ of mandamus to compel the Chicago Telephone company to place a telephone in his house without compensation. His claim is that the company is a "public interest" and obliged to give service upon request. Frank will get no telephone unless he pays for it.

The President has issued the usual proclamation regarding Thanksgiving and calls upon the people to assemble, eat, drink and give thanks that they live surrounded by all that tends to make a residence on this terrestrial globe a pleasure. THE REVIEW will properly observe the occasion providing "admiring subscribers" see fit to satisfy the crayings of the editor and his official family with a well-developed specimen of the turkey tribe.

A manufacturing concern is seeking a permanent location and will erect a brick building to cost at least $20,000, and employ from 25 to 50 men to start with providing they can secure a free site and $5,000. The company has the business already established but are compelled to change locations. There is idle capital in Barrington awaiting investment and here is an opportunity to add to property values and business interests.

Mrs. E. M. Fletcher met with an unfortunate accident Thursday evening. She was passing Peters' livery barn in the carriage room of which some parties were engaged in foot ball practice. They made a "rush" just as the lady was passing the entrance. She was knocked down and suffered painful injuries about the head and is now under the care of a physician. The sidewalks are no place to practice foot ball.

The Thursday club met at the home of Mrs. P. A. Hawley on Hough street this week. After the usual program was rendered a paper written by Chas. Downing, the electrician, was read. His subject was "Electric Lights without Conductors." The ladies of the club feel greatly indebted to Mr. Downing for his able and instructive paper. Refreshments were served. The club will attend a reception to be given by the Altruin club at Jefferson Park Saturday afternoon.

Engineer William Loco has presented this office with a relic in the shape of a piece of material used in the construction of old Fort Marion at St. Augustine, Florida, the oldest defense now standing on the North American continent. Mr. Loco secured a large piece of the masonry while on a tour through the Southland last May. He has been very liberal in presenting his friends with souvenirs until but a small share remains for him to call his own, and which recalls many pleasant memories connected with the trip along the east coast of Florida where many evidences of the first settlement of the continent by the Spaniards still remain.

From an article headed "The Public School and the Community," published in the School Weekly, we extract the following: "The public school is the most potent influence existing today, tending to fuse the varying interests and ideas of the American people in one coherent whole. The public school stands for common interests, common ideals, and common sympathies. It is both a cause and result of sympathy and fellow feeling. 'If I had as many sons as old Priam,' said Daniel Webster, 'I would send them all to the public schools.' Webster realized the tremendous influence exercised by the public school in breaking down of prejudice and nationalizing tradition."

The Woodmen Make Merry.
The Barrington camp, No. 809, M. W. A. opened up the social season on Wednesday evening by giving a literary entertainment and musicale to their families at the Woodmen hall.

The weather was fair and at eight o'clock the hall was comfortably filled, over two hundred people being present to help make the affair a success and partake of the evening's pleasure.

L. H. Bennett, who acted as spokesman for the society, welcomed the gathering to the hall in a few well-spoken words, after which the following program was rendered:

Music.....	M. W. A. Band
Recitation.....	Mrs. M. A. Bennett
Bass solo.....	Prof. C. S. Horn
Music.....	M. W. A. Band
Recitation.....	Mrs. M. C. McIntosh
Vocal Duet.....	Myrtle and Almada Plagge
Cornet solo.....	Alma Stiefenhofer
Song.....	Male Quartette
Music.....	L. H. Bennett, Dr. C. H. Kendall, P. A. Hawley and F. J. Hawley.
Recitation.....	M. W. A. Band
Cornet solo.....	Mrs. M. C. McIntosh
.....	Prof. C. S. Horn

The program was carried out in an able and creditable manner and the repeated encores was an evidence that all had studied their lines carefully and diligently.

Miss Luella Plagge and Mrs. Dr. C. H. Kendall acquitted themselves in good grace as accompanists.

After the program oranges, apples, bananas and candies were passed by the Foresters, which soon disappeared while all engaged in an old-time heart-to-heart conversation.

The Woodmen have added another to their long list of unbroken successes.

Not as Advertised.
A combination styled the Ideal Entertainers held forth at the Baptist church Monday evening to a good sized audience. Just why two parties constituting this company should call themselves "Ideal" is a conundrum. The word signifies perfection—high standard of excellence, and in this case the word has been sadly abused. The program was far from that advertised in the press, the well-known and popular Mr. Alber being absent. A few moving pictures were fairly good, and two hours and a half of sleight of hand, ventriloquism and efforts of a black-face comedian who sprung gags older than the declaration of independence and sang coon songs long since forgotten by the authors, made up the entertainment, if such it may be called. There were portions of the program which pleased the children, and some of the older ones seemed deeply interested in old, time-worn tricks of legerdemain, but there was nothing instructive, elevating or entertaining about it.

It is to be hoped the societies in this village inviting traveling companies to appear here will select something refined, pleasing and instructive. Continuous shows advertising wagon and reaper factories do not please our people.

Annual Inspection.
The annual inspection of W. R. C. No. 85, occurred at their hall in this village on Wednesday afternoon and was conducted by Mrs. Ryder of Marengo, who carries the credentials as inspector for this district. A delegation of 12 ladies from Wauconda W. R. C. visited the corps on that afternoon and a very pleasant and profitable meeting was the result of their visit. An elaborate luncheon was served on small tables by the home corps at 5 o'clock, after which the visitors took their departure expressing many thanks for the kindly manner in which they had been so agreeably entertained.

An entertainment for the W. R. C. is being planned for the near future by parties at Barrington Center which is being looked forward to with many pleasant anticipations.

First of the Season.
The Barrington Social and Athletic club will inaugurate the holiday season festivities by a grand ball to be given in Stott's hall, Friday evening, November 30. The music will be furnished by Prof. Horn's orchestra of Chicago. The reception committee, consists of Roy Meyers, Max Lines and Ray Cannon. Dr. T. H. Rath, Lawrence Donlea and John Sizer will have charge of the floor.

Tickets 75 cents. Supper will be served at Butzow's restaurant at 75 cents a couple.

A new remedy for biliousness is now on sale by all Druggists at Barrington, and A. S. Olms, Palatine. It is called Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. It gives quick relief and will prevent the attack if given as soon as the first indication of the disease appears. Price, 25 cents per box.

Heard on the Street.

The mist of death, and the shadows
Of swift approaching night,
Have fallen upon the meadows,
And left them brown with blight.
The bloom and the beauty of summer
To the will o' the wind is thrown.
And winter, the hidden-come,
Maketh the earth his own.
—Selected.

Never put off until tomorrow the winter underwear that ought to be put on today. If you have not got a suit patronize home merchants.

If the rooster crowed every time a piece of gossip was started that bird would have a mighty busy time of it in this region of earth.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that a guard rail placed on the high walk north of the E. & J. crossing on Walnut street might save the village a suit for damages.

Some men are easily moved to tears. At an entertainment given here not long ago, a well developed male in the audience was noticed to shed tears at the simplest acts of the burnt cork smeared artist. Whether they were tears of sympathy with the performer or in remembrance of days long ago, will probably remain unknown.

Now is the winter of our discontent made slightly more comfortable by the glow of the hard coal burner and the knowledge that we are more fortunate in the selection of an abiding place than the residents of Medicine Hat where mercury has been at the zero mark for a month.

When a young man will satisfy the ambition of his best girl to attend an entertainment by purchasing for her a ticket with the last quarter between him and bankruptcy, and then stand for three long, weary hours in the November night wind awaiting the close of the program to see that she is safely home, it is safe to wager that he has a warm spot in his heart for the girl.

A gentlemen asked us the other day what society consisted of. Our individual opinion is that it is made up of good clothes, hungry stomachs, deception, heartaches and mixed grammar.

A Chicago man came out to this section and indulged in a hunt Wednesday. He bagged several fine squirrels, a canvas back duck and another bird whose species was in doubt. Expert huntsmen were called for an opinion. The minion of the law pronounced it a loon; the liveryman examined its bill, turned it over a few times, and decided it was a domestic duck. The newspaper man was, of course, out-classed among such expert authority but still hangs to the opinion that it was nothing more or less than a Dendronessa Galeriliculata.
