PALATINE HAPPENINGS.

Events Past, Present and Future of Village and Vicinity.

Gathered and Compiled by A. G. Smith, Local Editor.

Horn sale of cattle today.

Base ball this afternoon. Take the North Division cars.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Wood have returned from California.

Mrs. Friese is now out of danger and recovering rapidly from her illness.

Miss Lydia Knigge is conducting a millinery department in Hitzemann's store.

A little boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lincoln Thursday morning.

F. W. Karstens was in town Saturday and has made arrangements to come back to Palatine to live.

Rev. D. J. Holmes preaches next Sunday morning on pigmies and in the evening on giants. Public invited.

The section hands quit work this week, they refusing to work longer for $1.25 a day. They ask for $1.50, as other hands are getting.

The Deestrie Skule will be presented at Arlington Heights next Friday night by the Palatine people. Many from this place will go with the cast.

CARD—We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the friends who in any way assisted us during the illness and after the death of our beloved mother. Mrs. STROKER'S FAMILY.

The class of '02 of the High school elected the following officers Thursday afternoon: President, Winnie Sawyer; vice-president, Cora Schultz; treasurer, Orla Sawyer; secretary, Ethel Kilton.

NOTICE—All those who have not had an opportunity to contribute to the funds for the improvement of Hillside cemetery, can leave it with H. C. Matthei at the post office and it will be thankfully received. By request of the committee.

The young ladies of the High school held a social in Masonic hall Saturday night to raise money to buy tennis outfits for the High school ladies' tennis club. They served ice cream and cake and succeeded in raising quite a sum. They will play on the ball grounds.

A. G. Smith was elected one of the secretaries at the seventh congressional convention in Chicago Wednesday. The convention took a recess to next Tuesday morning. This is a new district and there were so many candidates that none dare tackle the crowd and all decided to wait a week to size each other up.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Catlow still retain possession of Dr. Wadham's children, the judge in the case having decided that the guardians are well able and capable of taking care of the children. The doctor was trying to gain possession and the suit attracted considerable attention.

The high school base ball team will open the season on the local grounds this afternoon with a game with the Medora team of Chicago. This is the only outdoor amusement that we have during the summer and should be well attended. Palatine should take a half holiday Saturday afternoons and get out and see a ball game. It would do the merchants a world of good to get out and crack their heels together and expand their lungs at the end of the week. Try it and see.

Two Lawsuits.

Two lawsuits in three days attracted considerable attention in Palatine. Mrs. Carrie Morse brought suit against Harry Hutchinson to obtain possession of her house on Plum Grove avenue, which is occupied by the latter. The case was tried before Justice Whipple last Saturday night in the village hall. Harry acted as his own attorney and after selecting a jury that suited him, he took off his coat and proceeded to business. He claimed that Mrs. Morse had agreed to let him have the place as long as he paid his rent, which he has done up to the time he received notice to get out. Counsel for Mrs. Morse claimed that such was not the case, but that she wished to obtain possession and the jury was only few minutes in reaching a verdict, which they rendered after receiving a half dollar apiece. Harry made a strong plea for his side and would make a first-class lawyer if he was always as earnest as he was in his own defence.

After this case was disposed of Constable Putnam appeared with Peter Marx, who was taken on a warrant for larceny, sworn out by Chas. Wente.

Mr. Marx having no attorney, Justice Whipple appointed Will Julian to act as his attorney and he was granted a continuance to Monday morning. The hall was crowded to hear the case when it was opened. Mr. Wente said that Marx went to his farm and told his sons that he had sold him a certain horse, and that his youngest boy came to town with the horse, where he was given $27 by Herman Arndt for the animal, and that he had not sold the horse or set a price on it. The defense showed a letter written by Mr. Wente to Herman Arndt of Dundee, who purchased the horse, telling him that the price should have been $37 instead of $27, and for him to return the horse or pay $10 more. The judge concluded that it was not a case of larceny, but a dispute as to the price of the horse and dismissed the defendant with a warning not to deal again in horses.

Board Proceedings.

The village board met in regular session Monday night with all members present. President Olms appointed the following committees:

Finance—Comfort, Kuebler, Prellberg.
Streets and drainage—Putnam, Horstman, Ost.
Sidewalks—Prellberg, Horstman, Kuebler.
Police and lamp lighting—Horstman, Putnam, Ost.
Waterworks—Ost, Comfort, Putnam.
Judiciary, Kuebler, Prellberg, Comfort.

The judiciary committee asked for more time to present a report on the Lincoln case.

The treasurer's report showed a large decrease in the deficiency in the treasury, only about $400 in warrants being yet unpaid.

President Olms recommended the following appointments, which were confirmed by the board:

Treasurer, C. H. Patten.
Collector, A. G. Smith.
Night policeman, Henry Law.
Asst. Night policeman, H. Schroder.
Special police, C. Nichols, Chas. Seip.
Supt. water works and street commissioner, John Bergman.
Attorney, Roy L. Peck.
Local improvement board, Kuebler and Putnam.

The bond of John Bergman was approved and a petition to open a road through the lumber yard was referred to the judiciary committee.

PLEGGED TO HOPKINS.

Republicans of Illinois Want Aurora Man for United States Senator.

The republican party in state convention assembled, indorsed Albert J. Hopkins for United States senator, nominated Chris Mamer of Chicago for clerk of the supreme court, and Fred Busse of Chicago for state treasurer. Alfred S. Bayless of LaSalle county, was chosen as the nominee for state superintendent of public instruction and three trustees of the state university were named.

The convention was not all harmonious. The Mason-Sherman contingent rebelled and accusations of all kinds of corrupt political practices were hurled at what was termed "the Lorimer machine." Lieutenant Governor Northcutt, permanent chairman of the convention, was assailed by the minority faction for what it claimed was "gag rule." The speech prepared by Speaker Sherman for delivery before the convention, was not heard.

The result of the convention was the will of a large majority of the delegates and therefore binds the party in solid support of the ticket as nominated. In spite of the great indorsement given Hopkins, Senator Mason says he will be the next United States senator from Illinois and that he will begin at once an active canvass of the state, speaking in every county in the enemy's country. Mr. Dawes, who was a senatorial candidate, withdrew from the race at the close of the convention.

The resolutions presented paid tribute to the late John R. Tanner and indorsed the administration of President Roosevelt, and also contained the following: "We unreservedly indorse the clean, honest and economical administration of state affairs under Governor Richard Yates, and point to the businesslike conduct of departments of the state government as indisputable proof that the welfare of the great state of Illinois demands that the republican party remain in control of its affairs."

Messrs. George J. Hager, William Leonard and August Gottschalk were elected trustees of the White school district at the annual meeting held last Saturday evening. The school will take care of all the pupils who may be sent there even if the building has to be enlarged. The board is endeavoring to secure the services of a man teacher, offering a salary of $60, but up to the present has been unsuccessful.

ASKS FOR A FRANCHISE

To Occupy Barrington Streets for Electric Railroad Purposes.

Standing Committees of the Board—Appointment of Officers.

The village board of trustees met in regular session Monday evening all members present except Trustee Wm. Peters. President Lamey announced the following standing committees for the ensuing year:

Finance and Judiciary—Plagge, Robertson, Hatje.
Fire and Water—Peters, Hatje, Grunau.

Streets and Alleys—Robertson, Donlea, Plagge.

Public Grounds and Buildings—Hatje, Donlea, Peters.

Police and License—Grunau, Peters, Robertson.

Electric Lights—Donlea, Grunau, Plagge.

Miscellaneous Business—Grunau, Plagge, Donlea.

Health and Sanitation—Hatje, Robertson, Peters.

The following bills were presented, read and ordered paid:

Fire Department	$11 00
A. L. Robertson, water supply	75 00
street lights	68 00
John Jainke, labor	9 00
E. Rieke	3 00
Frank Donlea	31 80
L. E. Runyan	3 00
Henry Pingel	33 00
Chas. Schultz	2 75
Gus Wichman	6 25
John Donlea, salary	40 00
A. S. Henderson, salary	35 00
Judges and Clerks of election	30 00

The report had gained circulation that Marshal Donlea and A. L. Henderson, night watchman, were candidates for reappointment if the board would increase the salaries. Marshal Donlea, whose salary has been $40 demanded a $10 raise. Night Watchman Henderson, receiving $35, asked for $40. They were refused the advance and considerable talk was indulged in regarding the matter, but if there is a member of the board having reason for refusing a just demand they failed to make it known. The board desired that the village have "good service" but did not feel inclined to pay for it. John Donlea remains marshal, his salary $40, but his hours of duty are limited to 12, and duties as street commissioner curtailed. A. L. Henderson was reappointed night watchman at the old salary.

A. L. Robertson declined to again serve as treasurer and collector and H. K. Brockway was appointed to the position.

Frank Robertson was reappointed village attorney.

The appointment of superintendent of the water system was referred to the committee on fire and water.

John Donlea was named as fire marshal to succeed Henry Schroeder.

Ordinance No. 79, amending section four of ordinance No. 58, concerning dram shops, was read and passed. The vote was unanimous. The ordinance in full will be found in this issue.

The annual report of Treasurer A. L. Robertson was returned by the auditing committee and accepted by the board. The report in detail is published in another column of this issue.

Edward W. Stees, promoter of the a railway line to be constructed between Wauconda and Elgin appeared before the board and asked for a franchise granting him the right, permission and authority to locate, lay down, construct, maintain and operate a single or double track railway through the village of Barrington. The concession is asked for a term of 50 years. No street or streets are specified and no consideration offered the village for the rights asked. The petition recites that "trains between Wauconda and Barrington are to be in daily operation inside of 24 months and the rate of fare between Wauconda and Barrington is not to exceed 15 cents." The petitioner asks for most everything in sight and considerable that will never be granted. The board of trustees no doubt recognize the fact that the streets belong to the people. The petition was laid on the table.

The board adjourned until Monday evening May 19.

Political Notes.

Judge Charles E. Fuller of Belvidere will be elected to succeed Hon. Walter Reeves in congress. The bar of this district will lose one of its best members and the bench an honest, fearless judge. It will be hard to find a successor to Judge Fuller among the lawyers of this district.

The placing of Chris Mamer on the republican state ticket in the face of the protest of the Supreme Court justices and better element of the party in Cook county, is going to cost the party thousands of votes. Anybody familiar with Cook county politics knows Chris and knows that for 25 years he has been feeding at the public crib. His record is that of a cheap ward politician, the "bloody 19th of Chicago" being his political bailiwick. There are thousands of honorable men in the party who deserve recognition. Mamer is going to prove a heavy load for the party to carry.

The Chicago Tribune is authority for the statement that an independent candidate for the legislature will enter the field in the 8th senatorial district and that A. K. Stearns will be that candidate. Mr. Stearns has not, to date, denied the statement and it would surprise no one if he should do just that act. There are people in this world who don't know when they are crushed.

The democrats of Lake county will hold their convention at Libertyville next Thursday. They will nominate somebody for something. A democrat in Lake county, as far as securing political preferment is concerned, might as well be on a desert island. A democrat in Lake county is as much out of place as a prohibitionist at a brewing company's picnic.

The republicans of Cook county met in convention Tuesday and nominated a county ticket. The machine, of which William Lorimer is the manager, had everything its own way. It constructed a ticket Monday night, carried it to the convention hall the following day and no one attempted to smash it. The ticket as nominated is a good one; the nominees for judges and county commissioners are men of excellent character and repute. It is not a weak ticket only in spots which are sure to be attacked by the independent element which cannot and will not bow to the dictates of William Lorimer. The country towns of the county being almost solidly republican are depended upon to offset any defection in the city and will do it. There seems to be no doubt but what the ticket will be elected by the usual majority.

Slot Machines Packed Away.

Those who have been in the habit of patronizing the mechanical contrivances known as slot machines can now look up some other depository for their nickels and pennies. The various money getters located about here have been placed in retirement.

Marshal Donlea walked into a place of business Tuesday morning, and pointing to a little glass box decorated with facsimiles of kings, queens, jacks and aces, said: "Take that machine out of here before six o'clock today or I'll take it out and you'll go with it." John said something else but for want of space we omit it.

There are those who have an idea that a slot machine is not a gambling device, but the gentlemen whom we send to Springfield think differently as the following extract from the laws of Illinois will show:

"Every clock, tape, machine, slot machine or other machine or device for the reception of money on chance or upon the action of which money is staked, hazarded, bet, won or lost is hereby declared a gambling device and shall be subject to seizure, confiscation and destruction by any municipal or other local authority within whose jurisdiction the same may be found."

But that is not all of it, nor the interesting part. Here is some more:

"Every owner, occupant, lessee, mortgagee or other person in possession of any premises upon which any gambling device may be located and every person in the use, operation, lease or other possession of the same shall be fined for the first offense not less than $100, and for the second offense shall be fined not less than $500 and shall be confined in the county jail not less than six months."

Any form of gambling is bad but slot machine gambling is about the worst. There is a chance—a very slim one—to win once and awhile, but the class who patronize such devices are, as a general thing, those who cannot afford to do so. Trying to get something for nothing is a losing game.

It is said that not a slot machine is now in operation in this village and if so it is a good thing for the community.

WEEK'S DOINGS IN CONGRESS

Business Transacted by the House and Senate in the National Capital.

IN HONOR OF A. J. CUMMINGS

For Third Time in Its History the Hall of Representatives Is Thrown Open to Hold Funeral Services for a Deceased Member.

Thursday, May 1.

Discussion of the Philippine question again occupied most of the day in the senate. Both the Rosebud reservation bill and the sundry civil appropriation bill received consideration, but not final action. A bill appropriating $5,000 for a lighthouse-keeper's dwelling at Ecorse Range light station, Detroit River, Mich., was passed. The usual executive session preceded adjournment.

Most of the day in the house was given to the District of Columbia appropriation bill, which was not completed. Mr. Shattuck (Ohio) spoke on industrial condition, and Mr. Gaines (Tenn.) in criticism of conditions in the Philippines. A bill was passed providing that third and fourth class mail matter without sufficient postage shall not be remailed to the sender.

Friday, May 2.

Debate on the Philippine bill continued to occupy most of the session in the senate. The conference report on the Indian appropriation bill was agreed to. The Rosebud Indian reservation bill and the sundry civil bill were again considered, but not completed. When the sundry civil bill amendment providing an appropriation of $2,500,000 to begin the construction of a memorial bridge across the Potomac River to connect the Arlington Cemetery was reached Mr. Allison explained that it was not intended to begin the construction of the bridge until the plans had been approved by Congress. The amendment was then agreed to. An amendment was agreed to appropriating $100,000 for the construction of a revenue cutter of the first class for service in Hawaiian waters.

The amendment providing the machinery for the enforcement of the personal tax law of the District of Columbia, passed in 1878, was placed on the district appropriation bill as a rider, and the bill was passed by the house. The bill to provide diplomatic and consular officers for the Republic of Cuba also was passed. The bill to provide for the issue of passports to the residents of the insular possessions of the United States was made a special order after the disposal of the omnibus territorial bill. The bill to amend the bankruptcy law was called up, but not acted upon.

Saturday, May 3.

The senate devoted the entire day to debate on the Philippines and adjourned.

AMOS J. CUMMINGS, journeyed at 2:45 o'clock after the adoption of resolutions in respect to the memory of Amos J. Cummings of New York and the appointment of the following funeral committee: Senators Platt (N. Y.), Kean (N. J.), Penrose (Pa.), Jones (Ark.) and Bailey (Tex.).

The announcement of Amos J. Cummings' death was made in the house by Mr. Payne of New York, who presented resolutions deploring his death and providing for services in the house, which were unanimously adopted. The speaker announced the following committee to attend the funeral: Messrs. McClellan, Wadsworth, Sulzer, Ray, Fitzgerald, Sherman and Ryan, all of New York; Young (Pa.), Clark (Mo.), Foss (Ill.), Williams (Miss.), McCleary (Minn.), Tate (Ga.) and Otey (Va.). At 12:15 o'clock the speaker, as a further mark of respect, declared the house adjourned.

Monday, May 5.

Most of the day in the senate was taken up by Senator Lodge with a speech on the Philippine civil government bill. The bill for the purchase of the Rosebud Indian reservation was passed with an amendment eliminating the commutation clause, and providing that settlers, in order to make good their titles to the land, shall live on it for five years. The bill changing the terms of the circuit courts of the United States within the first circuit was also passed. The senate then adjourned in respect to the memory of Congressman Otey.

An urgency resolution making additional appropriations of $10,000 for the expenses incident to the dedication of the statue of Marshall de Rochambeau was adopted by the house. Mr. Jones (Va.) announced the death of Representative Otey and offered the customary resolutions of regret. The speaker appointed the following committee to attend the funeral: Messrs. Jones, Swanson, Rixey, Hay, Lamb, Rhea and Flood of Virginia; Hepburn (Iowa), Meyer (La.), Jenkins (Wis.), Lanham (Tex.), Olmstead (Pa.), DeArmond (Mo.) and McCall (Mass.). The house then adjourned as a further mark of respect.

A house joint resolution making an additional appropriation of $10,000 for the dedication of the statue of Marshall de Rochambeau in Washington was passed, as was a bill to apportion the term of office of senators elected at the first general election in the Territory of Hawaii. Ninety private pension bills were also approved. The house adjourned shortly after convening out of respect to the memory of Congressman Salmon of New Jersey.

FIERCE BATTLE WITH FANATICS

American Troops Take a Fort After Desperate Fight with Moros.

RAISE FLAG OF THE PROPHET

Only After a Hand-to-Hand Encounter Do the United States Soldiers Succeed in Storming the Battlements and See Victory Perch on Their Banners.

Col. Frank D. Baldwin, with the Twenty-fifth battery and seven companies of the Twenty-seventh infantry, attacked and captured the Moro fort at Bayan, Island of Mindanao, after a desperate engagement in which one American officer and seven enlisted men were killed and four officers and thirty-seven men wounded.

The American loss was eight killed and forty-one wounded. The Moros lost more than 200 killed and at the end of the battle the survivors, eighty-four in number, surrendered unconditionally.

Of the Americans Lieut. Bovars was killed and Capt. Moore, Lieut. Jossman and Surgeon Major Porter were wounded.

The principal Moro leaders were killed, including the Sultan of Bayan, Raja Muda of Bayan, the Sultan of Panda Patan and many of the leading dattos.

The capture of the fort and the surrender of the surviving members is a severe blow to the Moro rebellion against American sovereignty in the most savage part of Mindanao, although the military authorities realize that the co-operation of the sultans and chiefs is general when the flag of the prophet is raised in a jihad or holy war.

The battle was a hand-to-hand one. The fort was defended by fully 300 men and was surrounded by four trenches.

The mountain guns fired 120 rounds at a range of 1,400 yards, but the Moro fortifications withstood the bombardment and Col. Baldwin ordered the infantrymen to take the fort by storm.

The Americans were compelled to make their way forward through successive entanglements of grasses and took the successive trenches after hand-to-hand encounters. The Moros fought furiously. After exhausting their ammunition they resorted to kris, barongs and kampilans. Several wounded Moros who were hidden in the high grass attacked the members of the hospital corps, who were seeking the wounded to succor them.

PRELATE DIES IN NEW YORK

Sudden Collapse of Archbishop Corrigan After Doctors Had Held Out Hope. Archbishop M. A. Corrigan died at New York.

The death of the archbishop came as a great surprise and shock to those in the archiepiscopal residence. It was more so to the general public, for the last bulletin of the day was that so certain were the physicians of an improvement in the condition of the patient there would be no more bulletins that night. Up to 10:30 there was no evidence of collapse—in fact, the archbishop at 10:40 talked with his secretary.

Shortly before 11 o'clock the trained nurses who had charge at the bedside noticed a change. Acting on instructions, the physicians were telephoned for.

At the same time the archbishop's two brothers were summoned to the room, as well as a number of priests. It was seen by the physicians that the end was at hand, and in less than a quarter of an hour his Grace was dead. His last moments were peaceful and without evidence of suffering.

As the World Progresses.
The first night when the streets of New York were lighted—that was 295 years ago—it was done by peremptory order of the Common Council, which read as follows: "A lantern must be suspended from a pole stretched out from the window of every seventh house." One hundred and nineteen years afterward Baltimore raised a great sensation by lighting one of its streets with gas. Then, thirteen years after that, New York put on great airs because one of its citizens constructed the first locomotive ever seen here. And that citizen was Peter Cooper, the great philanthropist.

Read Speeches of Statesmen.
The small attention paid to most speakers in the senate and house of representatives is often commented on by visitors to the galleries. But while speakers are not listened to they are read. A great many senators and representatives read not only newspaper reports of congressional proceedings, but the official report contained in the Record as well. They devote the first hours of the morning to this labor.

Alligators and Crocodiles.
The alligator never leaves fresh water, while the crocodile often goes to sea, and in the West Indies has sometimes been found many miles from land, heading directly for an island, possibly out of sight.

Brugere, the commander-in-chief of France's army, and vice president of the superior council of war. Gen. Brugere is regarded as the strongest man in the French army of to-day. Since he was "discovered" by President Carnot less than ten years ago and made secretary general at the positions of great importance, including that of Governor of Paris, during the critical times following the return of Dreyfus from Devil's Island, until he has become the chief of the army.

ILLINOIS ITEMS

Harry Broderick, recently returned from service in the Philippines, is confined in the city prison at Springfield on the charge of larceny. He is accused, with others who have not yet been arrested, with taking a buggy which had been left standing in front of a warehouse, awaiting the purchaser's convenience, and trying to sell it at a ridiculously low price. The rig was afterwards located in a barn belonging to Broderick's father.

John Davenport, foreman of the Springfield woolen mills, had a battle with a lone highwayman while on his way home, receiving bullet wounds in both legs. Upon being accosted, Davenport struck at the robber, but missed him. Then followed a hand-to-hand scuffle, in which the highwayman used a 44-calibre revolver, shooting Davenport in the left knee and right ankle. Notwithstanding his injuries, the wounded man gave chase, but was overcome by loss of blood and had to give up.

At Springfield a light rain fell during which the sun shone continuously. The phenomenon was unaccompanied by electrical disturbances, with the exception of a single flash of lightning, which struck a telephone pole in the rear of the city hall. The damage done consisted of burned-out fuses in the building, many broken electric lamps and a severe shock to the elevator man, George Young, who was rendered unconscious for half an hour.

Gov. Yates has issued a requisition on the governor of Iowa for the extradition of E. G. Klink, under arrest in Linn county, Ia., and wanted in Madison county, Ill., to answer to a charge of larceny.

Stead of Ottawa, former state's attorney for La Salle county, will deliver his lecture on "The Trail of the Yankee."

The extension of the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western railroad now has rails laid through East Springfield to within a few feet of the tracks of the St. Louis line of the Illinois Central but difficulty with that road is causing a delay which bids fair to be indefinite. Terms for crossings with the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern and the Wabash are also being held up, and the new road is still a mile and a half from the tracks of the Chicago and Alton, over which it is to enter Springfield.

One of the investigations being undertaken by Messrs. Hasselbring and Stutenranch of the department of agriculture, University of Illinois, who have established a laboratory at Salem, has reference to the matter of spraying fruit trees in bloom. Preliminary experiments made last year indicate that the blossoms which are hit by the spray before being fertilized fail to set fruit, owing to the fact that the pistils are injured by the spraying material. The experiments to be made here have in view the determination of the nature and extent of the injury to both pistils and pollen, and the effect upon the quality and quantity of the crop.

An application has been made to the North Alton village board by the Alton Railway, Gas and Electric company for a franchise in the village to be perpetual. The village board will grant a franchise in order to secure illuminating gas, but will limit the franchise to thirty years.

The village of Illiopolis, Sangamon County, for the first time in forty years, has a mayor and village board in favor of license. The last administration had enforced the blue laws with such severity, that at the recent election it was determined to elect more liberal officers. A deficit in the treasury which bid fair never to be wiped out was also used in argument by the liberals, and they carried the election by a small majority. As it now stands, the village board is three for license and three against, with the deciding vote resting with the mayor, who is avowedly in favor of granting licenses.

A new crossing was put in by the Alton street railway company over the Chicago and Alton tracks at Plaza street. The Alton is preparing to relay its track through Alton with 80-pound steel rails to accommodate heavier business.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

DAUGHTER OF THE CONFEDERACY
High Honor Is Unanimously Accorded to Miss Lucy Hill.

The great success of the reunion of the Confederate Veterans at Dallas, Texas, was due in no small degree to the active work of Miss Lucy Hill, sponsor-in-chief of the reunion. Miss Miss Lucy Lee Hill. Hill received marked attention from the veterans, many of whom had fought under her father, Gen. A. P. Hill, and under her uncles, Gen. Basil W. Duke of Louisville, and Gen. John H. Morgan.

Miss Hill, who is considered one of the handsomest women in the south, has been called the Daughter of the Confederacy since the death of Winnie Davis, the daughter of President Jefferson Davis. Her friends claimed that as Miss Hill is the only living daughter of a general born within the Confederate lines, while the war was in progress, she should bear the distinction so long held by Miss Davis. The old veterans made much of her during the reunion and she received their homage with all the grace of a princess.

Miss Hill's father was killed in a charge on the last day of the war. She was born at the front, her mother having left the battlefield two hours before her birth, returning a fortnight later only to find her husband had been killed. Gen. Robert E. Lee personally recovered the body of Gen. Hill, had it laid in an ambulance, and sat beside it with Mrs. Hill and her little baby daughter.

RECOVERED AN IMMENSE FORTUNE
How Theodore H. Price Pulled Himself Out of the Mire of Debt.

Two years ago the brokerage firm of Price, McCormick & Co., of New York, failed with liabilities of $12,000,000. The firm speculated in cotton and for ten years Theodore Price, the senior member, had been regarded as an expert, but in the winter of 1909 his judgment proved disastrous, and after the assignee had succeeded in making satisfactory settlements all around, Price had an indebtedness of $3,000,000 staring him in the face.

That would have crushed some men; not so Price. In a quiet way he resumed operations. Last September he began to figure what the cotton crop would be. He secured complete reports from all the counties of the United States in which cotton is grown and his estimate at the time was that the crop would not exceed 10,000,000 bales. Then he formed a syndicate to buy cotton and since September the syndicate has made some big purchases. The price has steadily advanced, the official report from the Agricultural Department at Washington has confirmed Price's estimates and the syndicate has made enormous profits. Mr. Price himself is said to have realized from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000, nearly all of which he has devoted to the settlement of his old firm's claims.

A Royal Baby Story.
The king of Italy has a kindly humor, according to the Court Circular and Court News.

An old, superannuated servant sent in a petition for a pension, and addressed it to the Princess Yolande—an infant still in her cradle. By his majesty's command the paper was placed in the cot with the baby.

"What did her royal highness say?" asked Victor Emmanuel. "Nothing, sire," replied the eunuch. "Very well, then, silence gives consent," was the king's comment, and the old woman got her pension.

The Reciprocity Treaties.

The report of the senate committee on foreign relations in favor of ratifying several treaties of reciprocity revives the question of reciprocal trade in other quarters than Cuba. These treaties were entered into before the beginning of the Roosevelt administration and have been quietly sleeping in the pigeonholes of the foreign relations committee's desk.

The report favors the ratification of all the treaties except those with Argentina and Jamaica. Of these the former has a clause in reference to wool which is undesirable to the wool growers of the western plains, and the latter includes one respecting oranges which the California fruit growers object to. The remaining treaties are those with France, Nicaragua, Ecuador, Santo Domingo and the British West Indies except Jamaica. The article of most consequence in these West Indian treaties is sugar, on which the reduction is 12 1/2 per cent from the Dingley rates. The remaining duty would be more than 75 per cent ad valorem. In return for this concession we get a considerable free list of American exports to those islands and a reduction to 5 per cent on a large number of both agricultural and manufactured products. In the trade with Bermuda we make a reduction of 20 per cent and get in return substantially the same reductions as in the other islands. We have 66 per cent of the total foreign trade of Bermuda now, and this treaty will give us most of the remaining 34 per cent. The treaty with France makes some concessions on knit goods and on imitation jewelry.

Lord Kelvin's Dream a Reality.

"I hope to live to see the day when a dream I have had will come true," said Lord Kelvin, the eminent British electrician, to the students of Columbia university in New York the other day. "I fervently hope to see the day when we shall have the transmission of electrical power over 300 miles with a voltage of 40,000. When I first talked of that fifteen years ago, I was laughed at, but with the wonderful transmission of power at Niagara Falls my dream looks to be near fulfillment in the close future."

Lord Kelvin's dream is nearer fulfillment in this country than has been demonstrated at Niagara. Long distance transmission of electrical power has reached a higher development on the Pacific coast than in the east. The Bay Counties company in California is now supplying current for power purposes at 40,000 volts at a distance of 224 miles from the generator. The Snoqualmie Falls Power company is now transmitting current for power purposes fifty miles at a voltage of 30,000 and expects within a year to be supplying the territory from Portland to Vancouver, over 300 miles, at 60,000 volts. The latter plant is near Seattle and now supplies current to Seattle and Tacoma and intermediate points.

Apparently while Lord Kelvin has been dreaming American electrical engineers have been hustling.

Society men in Paris have formed an antiponging league. They found that wherever they went they were expected to play the game, and it became necessary to organize for self protection. The members of the league wear a button notifying the curious that they refuse to be parties to such a "foolish, unmanly and English pastime." The adjectives are arranged according to the French ideas of climax. Foolishness to the Parisian is a venial fault; unmanliness is pretty bad, provided the Gallic definition of unmanliness obtains in the discussion, and anything English is extreme. The instinctive antipathy between English and French is ancient and enduring as rock.

The confession of William Aylesbury that he and his pals have been guilty of stealing more than a hundred horses between Boston and New York would seem to show that the occupation of the old fashioned horse thief is not played out in New England. It would be a pity if such a choice rascal as Aylesbury should reap the usual reward of turning state's evidence against the rest of the gang.

It has been brought out in a Connecticut divorce suit that the man in the case was drunk twice a day for 364 days in succession. How many times he was drunk on the three hundred and sixty-fifth day is not stated.

Miss Stone has begun her lecture tour under the management of Major Pond. If she could only get a few of those terrible brigands to appear on the stage in full uniform, it would add to the realism of the story of her capture.

Having secured control of about everything in the way of transportation on the surface of the earth, water as well as land, J. Pierpont Morgan appears now to be going after the underground railroads.

A Card.

I wish to express my deep appreciation to Dr. Kendall for the excellent service he rendered me during my late attack of la grippe and severe relapse which followed. I owe my recovery to his skillful treatment and cannot in words convey my gratitude.

J. C. RAIN.

Typographical Errors.

American authors, no less than English, sometimes suffer for the sins of the printer. A line of Mr. Aldrich's which originally read "A potent medicine for gods and men" was misprinted. "A potent medicine," etc. And Mr. Aldrich's equanimity was upset on another occasion because in a serious mood he wrote in one of his poems "Now the old wounds break out afresh" and was horrified to read that he had said "Now the old woman breaks out afresh."

Replanting the Seeds.

Nubbins (shouting across the garden fence to his next door neighbor)—Hi, there! What are you burying in that hole?

Neighbor—Oh, I'm just replanting some of my garden seeds.

Nubbins—Garden seeds, eh! Looks to me very much like one of my hens.

Neighbor—That's all right. The seeds are inside her.

While in Chicago recently Anna Held visited the famous stockyards and branded a ham at one of the packing houses. Later it—the ham, not the stockyards nor the packing house—was given to her as a souvenir. There are members of her profession to whom the presentation of a ham would be significant and appropriate.

The enterprising city of Chillicothe, O., has a number of lady street car conductors. The scheme will not be accepted as a success until it is known whether the male passengers are expected to stand up and give the conductor a seat.

While peace may or may not be in sight in South Africa, it need surprise no one to hear of another heroic dash by De Wet or Delarey or to read another of Kitchener's "I regret" reports.

An eastern journal suggests that all the stuff that is written about the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons fight should be paid for at the usual advertising rates. A reasonable and sensible suggestion!

Though Valet Jones may go free for turning state's evidence, he will hardly have the assurance to regard himself as vindicated.

He soon discovered that his driver had chosen a far from delectable route to the hotel—true, it might be shorter, but he could not remember ever having heard of a Jehu ready to cut down the length of his journey when he had a good paying fare inside.

The marquise experienced the first little sensation of alarm, or, rather uneasiness, just then. His curiosity having been aroused, the marquise found means to look out of the vehicle, and was not greatly surprised when he discovered that an unknown man sat beside the driver.

Before now he had known that some one was riding behind, having heard various thumps that, gave the secret away, and once upon twisting his head around he had a fleeting glimpse of a human eye glued to the little glass in the back canopy of the vehicle.

A very pleasant outlook, really. Being a philosophical man to a marked degree, the marquise at once set to work pooling his resources, so as to make as game a stand as the occasion would admit.

He remained perfectly cool and self-possessed—when a man had passed through such astonishing adventures as had fallen to his lot of late years he is hardly likely to show the white feather because forsooth a few London blackmailers and footpads conspire to entrap him.

He gathered his energies together and watching his chance, quietly opened the door to the left, intending to drop out without attracting the attention of the two cronies upon the seat.

A very clever little idea, and one that might have worked to a beautiful issue only for one thing—he had forgotten the fellow who was riding in the rear of the "growler."

The marquise, with an agility he had acquired from long years of athletic practice, had successfully made the drop, and was in hopes that his move had not been seen, when the third party leaped from behind the vehicle, and, throwing himself upon the half-recumbent passenger, sounded the alarm.

CHAPTER XVIII

In Due Time.

No doubt the Kilkenny cats had a very salubrious time of it when they indulged in their little engagement, but such an encounter could not bear comparison with the scramble in which the marquise engaged when these three London footpads set upon him.

The fellow on his back was interfering with his blows as much as he possibly could, and as a result the others were enabled to throw themselves upon him.

Matters were in this mixed-up state and the final result in doubt, when a new element was precipitated into the game.

An outsider hurried himself upon the struggling mass, and by an exercise of tremendous muscular strength tore the man loose from the gentleman's shoulders, though he clung with such pertinacity that he carried away the collar of the marquise's coat.

The newcomer gave him a toss that sent him down a nearby area, where a crash of glass and startled screams announced his prompt arrival.

Then this unexpected ally turned his attention to the others—the marquise, freed from his tormentor in the rear, had opened his batteries upon them afresh, and was dealing out his blows with reckless abandon, when he saw one of them snatched bodily from his feet and tossed through the open door of the four-wheeler as though he might have been a mere sack of oats.

Upon this the last of the trio, who proved to be no other than the driver, uttered a yell of fear and, scrambling in haste to his seat, laid the whip on his horse and clattered down the narrow street.

Thus the field was suddenly cleared of enemies in double-quick order, and the manner of their disposal seemed to greatly amuse the muscular, red-bearded giant who had come so opportunely to the assistance of the beleaguered marquise, for he roared with laughter.

"Gang awa' wi' ye baith, and dinna' forget the puir de'il who lies in a muckle yonder. Man, they were mair than ye could weel handle, but it did me good to be of assistance to ye, and that's no lee," he exclaimed, assisting to brush the gentleman off.

The marquise at sound of his voice was stunned, but he recovered in time to cry out:

"Donald McGregor, by my life it is!" "Aweel, ye seem to know me, sir, though I confess the honor is all on your side. Still, there is something familiar in your voice I dinna ken—it's verra curious."

The marquise by this time had managed to get hold of his honest hand, and was squeezing it with much emotion.

"Ah! McGregor, you're always doing something for others. The last I saw of you, my dear fellow, was when I offered myself as a target for Captain Livermore's bullet, and declined to murder him afterward."

The man from Scotia uttered a roar, and insisted upon embracing the other, much to the amusement of the crowd that had gathered.

This extraordinary meeting was one of the most pleasant things that had occurred to the marquise since striking London.

He had in a fashion made search for this old and tried friend, but as yet had been unable to get track of him, so that the encounter came as a most agreeable surprise.

McGregor's story was told in a few sentences—he had taken a wife and started in bravely to increase the population of Her Majesty's people with a pair of twins as a beginning, but beastly luck had swooped down upon him, and he was having a hard pull at present, though nothing could crush his jolly spirits.

This pleased his companion more than words could tell, since it opened a way for him to assist his old friend. "Worry no longer, McGregor, for there is a bright future ahead. I am in a way to put you in a position where money will flow into your pockets. God bless you for a true-hearted friend. There is my card—call on me at ten to-morrow, and you can have anything you ask. Meanwhile take this for a temporary loan—not a word against it—I won't hear a murmur. Go home to your wife and babies, and remember me in your prayers. Such luck to meet you after searching in vain—it must have been an especial act of Providence. When you come to the hotel to-morrow send up your name to the Marquis of Montezuma."

Whereupon the McGregor was actually compelled to lean against a house for support, so wonderful was the intelligence thus communicated.

"It beats a'," was all he could mutter.

When safely landed in his hotel he resolved never again to be caught napping in such a reckless way. After all, it had been an eventful day, and brought both joy and regrets.

The marquise had a strange feeling as though that for which he had yearned all through those dreary years was about to be snatched away from him in his hour of victory.

The little germ was working, and in due time it might leave the whole lump—a few more such rude shocks as he had received when those two little cherubins captured him in Fedora's house would certainly complete his discomfort, and if he had hoped to continue cruel and relentless he must take no chances in that direction.

CHAPTER XIX

Mazette Makes a Discovery.

Affairs could not continue much further without coming to a crisis.

There came the day when the marquise found he could no longer blind one pair of eyes, at least.

Mazette had remembered. The marquise was taken by surprise when, upon entering the little studio, he found Mazette in tears.

"Come, what has gone wrong?" he exclaimed in dire dismay, for, like all men, he felt his utter impotence under such conditions.

She came toward him, smiling through her tears—there was upon her face reproach, delight and keen artistic disappointment.

"Why did you not tell me before?" she asked, as he took her hand in his.

"Tell you—indeed, if I only knew what you meant I would only be too glad—this is, I then you have discovered all?" for it dawned upon him that she was no longer blind.

"Oh, Jack, how dreadfully cruel of you," as she dropped her head in order that he should not see the tears of mortification.

"To conceal my identity all this time—yes, in one sense it was, but I had an object in it all, I assure you," he declared sturdily.

She looked up troubled.

"What does it all mean—I hope, I pray you are doing what is right—that is—"

and there she stopped confused.

Upon which he laughed almost boisterously and possessed himself of her other hand—they were such good friends, such old friends, there could be no harm in this natural and innocent action.

"Have no fears, little woman—my patent of nobility was issued in the regular way at Madrid, for the usual round sum—I am the genuine article, the Marquis of Montezuma. As to my wealth, you have heard that I possess amazing gold mines in the new world. I assure you my money has all been honestly acquired and also taken from mother earth, a present from the old Montezumas of Aztec time."

They talked of old times, and the many memories they had in common—the flight of years how precious these recollections became—a halo seemed to surround each incident in those days of yore, making romantic what at that time had been exceedingly prosaic happenings.

Really the marquise enjoyed the half hour in Mazette's society more than he might have cared to confess while still hugging that determination for vengeance in his heart—while that grim spectre haunted his life he could never be wholly happy.

And when he said good-bye he must needs take both her hands in his and press them—as such an old familiar friend should have the privilege of doing, though it startled him a little to see the blush that flashed athwart Mazette's cheeks.

The Marquis of Montezuma whistled softly as he ran down the steps from the studio. It was the first time in many a long day he had felt so light-hearted and cheerful.

As the lower steps were a little gloomy he almost ran over a lady in the act of ascending. Of course an apology sprang to his lips, for his awkwardness seemed to have alarmed her. The next instant the Marquis uttered an exclamation of astonishment in which there was also a trace of alarm, for, as he turned to the lady he found himself looking into that beautiful but dangerous face of the Senorita Juanita.

Why the sight of a lovely face should cause the marquise to tremble might seem a mystery, but he knew the reason—it was not that he feared this Spanish girl so far as his own personal safety was concerned, but there were others:

Mazette!

That Dona Juanita had been dogging his footsteps of late he had no doubt, and her motive in doing so was no mystery, since she had vowed to discover who the authoress of his wrongs in the past might be in order to avenge them.

But what had that to do with Mazette, since she was not concerned in his misery of the past?

"Ah! the interest of this jealous woman had more to do with the present—the future."

And that was why he trembled, because suddenly overtaken with the overwhelming consciousness that Mazette's happiness was precious to him. The shock did more to tear away the cobwebs with which he had concealed the truth than anything else that could have happened.

Besides he could not forget the blush that had swept over her face as he said good-bye.

Dona Juanita was the first to speak—she had made a half-frantic struggle to lay hold of her veil, doubtless in the expectation of lowering the flimsy gauze in time to conceal her face, and when she found it was too late, her hand fell to one side, and she met the astonished gaze of the marquise with a defiant smile, saying:

"I have not had the pleasure of talking over old times such as you promised, Senor Jack. I sadly fear you find other attractions too great a tax upon your time."

"Ah! I am a very busy man, senorita; you can readily understand that. They shower attentions upon a successful man in London—once I might have starved to death upon the streets, and a few lines in the morning Times would have been my poor obituary. Now, it takes columns to chronicle my most simple doings, how I live, what I think and such stuff. Bah! I am disgusted with it all."

"Tell me, Senor Jack, have you given up your design for vengeance?" she asked, fixing her great black eyes upon him as though there might be much more in this question than appeared upon the surface.

"Not yet," he answered slowly.

"Ah! then there is still hope," she muttered, and he did not comprehend at the time just what this meant, though later on the full importance of it burst upon him.

Hope for what?—her designs were all selfish, since it never entered her head to think of others, and the future as connected with her own fortunes was all that concerned her.

The marquise was glad when at last he saw her into a room, raising his hat, pressed her hand in adieu, hoping that he might set eyes no more on the belle of San Jose.

CHAPTER XX

How Fedora Heard.

The Livermores had vanished from the sphere which they had for some years adorned, but it was no mystery to the marquise, who had kept track of their movements through those who served him well.

AFTER HUGO, SILENCE.

The Great French Author's Immense Appreciation of Himself.

It was a quarter of a century ago that the writer of this paragraph first saw Victor Hugo, the centenary of whose birth was recently celebrated. It was at a congress of European authors, assembled in Paris to discuss the question of international copyright. Nearly all the distinguished authors then living were present at this congress. Hugo presided. On his right was M. Leon, the French minister of public instruction, and on his left was Turgenieff, the great Russian novelist. It was the opening day of the congress, and Hugo delivered an address of welcome to the delegates.

At the conclusion of his address, a delegate arose and began to discuss the question before the congress. He had not spoken a dozen words when the presiding officer rapped him to order. "Silence!" said the president. "Nobody speaks after Hugo. The congress is adjourned until tomorrow!" There was no dissent from this ruling of President Hugo, and the delegates dispersed.

It was an impressive demonstration of Hugo's tremendous appreciation of himself, as well as of the profound respect in which he was held by his literary contemporaries.

Sawmill Run by a Woman.

A sawmill is successfully run by a woman near Plainfield, N. J. Mrs. David Blackford carries on this industry, performing the part of engineer, and hiring a man and boy for rough work. Her husband spends six months of each year in South America, searching for lumber, and thus he profits of the lucrative business are kept in the Blackford family. Mrs. Blackford is a comely young woman, who supervises all the financial and mechanical parts of the sawmill, turning out extra fine work.

HOW CHEAP BAKING POWDER IS MADE.

The Health Department of New York has seized a quantity of so-called cheap baking powder, which it found in that city. Attention was attracted to it by the low price at which it was being sold in the department stores. Samples were taken and the chemist of the Health Department reported the stuff to be "an alum powder," which analysis showed to be composed chiefly of alum and pulverized rock.

The powder was declared to be dangerous to health, and several thousand pounds were carted to the offal dock and destroyed. It is unsafe to experiment with these so-called "cheap" articles of food. They are sure to be made from alum, rock, or other injurious matter. In baking powders, the high class, cream of tartar brands are the most economical, because they go farther in use and are healthful beyond question.

He Took the Persimmon.

When Senator Simmons was a candidate for senator down in North Carolina his principal opponent was a millionaire, who flooded the state with handsome buttons bearing his picture. The appearance of the buttons everywhere rather annoyed Mr. Simmons, who felt that he must do something to counteract this evidence of popularity. He had no money to throw away on buttons and for awhile he was in a quandary. Then an inspiration came to him. He decided that, he would take a persimmon for his emblem.

Persimmons are as numerous in North Carolina as sands upon the seashore. In the fall of the year, when the election was held, they were round and hard, and fastened quite securely to their short stems. It did not take long for the followers of Mr. Simmons to learn that they could not please him better than by wearing a persimmon, and so the button was soon cast into the shade.

"We are all 'simmons men,'" said the wearers of the fruit, and the phrase, combining a pun on the persimmon with loyalty to the popular candidate, was so effective that it materially helped Mr. Simmons to win in his race for the senate.

A Soldier's Narrow Escape.

Watts Flats, N. Y., May 5th.—George Manhart of this place, a hale and hearty old soldier of 80 years of age, tells a thrilling story of a narrow escape from death.

"Four years ago," he says, "the doctors who were attending me during a serious illness called my wife aside and told her that I could not live two weeks as I had Bright's Disease, which meant certain death."

"As a last resort we thought we would try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and accordingly sent to Mr. Clark's drug store and got a box."

"This remedy worked wonders in my case. I noticed the improvement at once and discharged the doctor."

"I kept on improving until every symptom of illness had gone and I was strong and well."

"I feel like a boy and to-day I am chopping wood as well at eighty as at twenty. Dodd's Kidney Pills did it."

AS THE WORLD REVOLVES

SEEK GOLD SEEN IN A VISION

Farmer City, (Ill.) Men Led by Women Spiritualist.

Mrs. Edward Conover, a spiritualist, who resides at Farmer City, Ill., has stirred that village with a vision which, she says, has disclosed to her the location of an immense pot of gold south of Farmer City. In her vision, she says, she was told to select twelve men, the names of whom were given her by the spirit. She told the twelve men of her vision, but one of them was unable to join in the search so Mrs. Conover secured another person.

While looking for the treasure the man who had said he could not come put in an appearance, making thirteen men. Last night, Mrs. Conover says a spirit told her there was an evil person in the party, and that the gold could not be found until he was discharged.

HAPPY THOUGH IN THE POORHOUSE

Pauper Once Rich and a Partner of Jay Gould.

The tricks played by fate upon humanity are many and varied. One would naturally think that a man who was the partner and trusted friend of Jay Gould, the noted financier, and who had attained a fortune would be in a fair way to pass his declining days in his own home and with comforts of various kinds about him. Josiah Lynn, who, fifty years ago conducted with Gould a number of successful business enterprises and who then located in Washington, N. J., to enjoy his wealth, is now a public charge, old and blind but cheerful and philosophical withal.

Mr. Lynn is 73 years old, has snow-white hair and a fine intellectual face. He was when young a good business man and made money fast. Then came reverses and his fortune dwindled. His wife died, friends deserted him—and his eyesight failed. Still he was happy and even when it became necessary to remove him to the poorhouse at Karsville, N. J., his courage did not fail. Mr. Lynn is awaiting the last summons hopefully but is content with prevailing conditions while they must be endured.

Thrift of Foreigners.

Nothing more beautifully illustrates the small thrift of foreigners than the mails. For instance: While we write for transmission abroad over 73,000,000 letters a year, we receive only 59,000,000. While of unpaid and short-paid letters we send 1,369,752, the foreigners afflict us with 2,165,552, in which we are obliged to pay postage. While we send abroad 49,157 postal cards with paid reply, they send us only 27,713. We write more single cards than they do, beating them nearly three quarters of a million in a total of 7,800,000. In short postage they impose on us annually to the sum of about $300,000. For sending and receiving this mail the government pays $2,250,000 a year.

King Edward's Cook.

The cook of King Edward of England draws a salary of $10,000. This is the same as the salary of a lieutenant general or an admiral of the fleet and exceeds that of many bishops of the Established Church. The King has often referred to his cook as a "perfect treasure" and has often proffered him a cigar from the royal pocket case. The cook is a Frenchman named Menager and maintains a splendid establishment of his own. He generally goes to the royal residence at 11 o'clock in the morning and drives there in his own carriage.

INSIST ON GETTING IT.

Some grocers say they don't keep Defiance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz. in a package, while they won't be able to sell first, because Defiance contains 16 oz. for the same money. Do you want 16 oz. instead of 12 oz. for the same money? Then buy Defiance Starch. Requires no cooking.

ARE FIGHTING A CRUEL ENEMY

Describes the Filipinos as a Treacherous People Who Pretend to Be Friendly and Assassinate the Americans When Their Backs Are Turned.

"Our soldiers in the Philippines," said Senator Cullom, "have been subjected to more atrocities, perhaps, than any other army in the world, and it is but natural there should be deep resentment on the part of the troops and a desire to retaliate. Our boys have been stabbed in the back by supposed friendly natives, buried alive, mutilated, tortured in the most fiendish manner, and have been subjected to cruelties which seem beyond the conception of the human mind.

"We are not a cruel people and our soldiers are not savages. They love fair treatment and respect an honorable foe. But when the natives of the Philippine Islands, who pretend to be our friends, assassinate our soldiers it is not strange that there is a desire to retaliate and that the natives who were guilty of these atrocities were made to pay the penalty in some instances. No civilized person could defend the practice of torture under ordinary circumstances, but there seems to be some excuse for it when men are goaded into retaliatory actions by witnessing the assassination of their comrades.

"I do not defend the practice of torture, neither do I defend the practice of firing in the rear upon men who are doing their duty to their nation and are giving up their lives. I have no patience with copperheads. They are a disgrace to the nation. Our people have no use for them, and if the Democrats think they will benefit by trying to blacken the illustrious achievements of the American army they are much mistaken. We have been silent under the senseless attacks, but the country became uneasy and was asking us if the army of today is made up of cutthroats and blackguards.

"The army needs no defense, but the time is now past when we should sit in silence and listen to outrageous insults heaped upon the service which has always reflected renown upon the nation. As these attacks continued it was decided to show the country the facts in the case and let the people know what our men have suffered and let them decide whether or not the few instances of torture were justified."

sufficient vitality, an operation for ovarian troubles. Not a very cheerful prospect, to be sure. I, however, was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash; I did so, fortunately for me. Before a month had passed I felt that my general health had improved; in three months more I was cured, and I have been in perfect health since. I did not lose an engagement or miss a meal.

"Your Vegetable Compound is certainly wonderful, and well worthy the praise your admiring friends who have been cured are ready to give you. I always speak highly of it, and you will admit I have good reason to do so."—Mrs. G. BRUCE, Lansing, Mich.

The price of milk in Chicago has gone up to seven cents a quart, the result, it is said, of a scarcity of feed for cattle and the high price of beef, according to the health department officials. At every milk depot dealers are turned away daily without their supply of the fluid. The quality is poor, the milk in most instances being deficient in butter fats. The price per can of ten gallons is 90 cents, the highest price ever reached for milk in Chicago in May, and there is every prospect of a further rise.

The Seventh district congressional temporary organization adjourned to Tuesday afternoon, May 13. This district is composed of the towns of Han-wood Park, Wheeling, and three of the northwest wards of Chicago. The delegates from Barrington, Palatine and Wheeling favor Roy L. Peck of Dealers say that bicycles have gone out of date. Where they formerly sold fifty they now sell one. People do not use them for pleasure as they once did, but buy them now wholly as a matter of business. If they can use a bicycle they buy one, but otherwise have no use for one. The price has gone down so that everybody can own one, and yet there is no demand. That is the most natural thing in the world,

too. When everybody wants a thing then price is no object, but as soon as the demand fails nobody wants to invest.

A country minister, in a certain locality, took permanent leave of his congregation in the following pathetic manner: "Brothers and sisters, I come to say goodbye. I don't think God loves this church, because none of you ever die. I don't think you love one another, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me, because you have never paid my salary; your donations are moldy fruit and wormy apples; and by their fruits ye shall know them. Brothers, I am going away to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of a penitentiary, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls."

We call attention to Ordinance No.
79 which appears in this issue, not that it differs materially, only as to the hour of closing, from any of the previous ordinances passed by the village board for the control of dram shops, but to acquaint some people with the law. It has been said that there was no ordinance relative to the "closing up tight" of the saloons on Sunday. There has always been one, though it was not necessary, the state law being sufficient. There has been no trouble with the law. The trouble was that the same was not enforced.
The most ostentatious citizen in the community has as much power to see that the laws are obeyed as has the village trustees. We notice that the men who howl the loudest about the mismanagement of public affairs are the ones who accomplish the least in the way of reform. If you know that the law is being violated why do you not enter complaint and have such violation stopped? The proper way is to practice what you preach or forever hold your peace. Don't expect any individual to pull your chestnuts out of the fire.

DR. M. F. CLAUSIUS

Writes an Interesting Letter From Fort Huachuca, Arizona.

FORT HUACHUCA, ARIZONA, Apr. 20, 1902.

Editor Review:—

I happened to look at the calendar this beautiful Sunday morning and note with surprise that it is nearly six months since myself and family left Barrington, and am reminded that I promised to send you a communication for publication.

Leaving Chicago November 10, we traveled by the Illinois Central railway to New Orleans. Our route was through Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana and the sights along the way, especially the great fields of cotton, were most interesting. Our stay in New Orleans was brief but we were favorably impressed with what we saw of the city and its surroundings.

Here we boarded the Southern Pacific and started west on our way toward the setting sun. The scenery along the route from New Orleans to Beaumont, Texas, was varied and pleasing. During the night we were whirled across the prairies to San Antonio, reaching there at 9 o'clock a.m.
We remained there about two hours,
and I had but little chance to make observations, but was favorably impressed with the situation of the city.
It is said that the temperature gets very hot there in midsummer. The population is mostly Mexicans and Spanish is generally spoken. The ride through Texas is a tedious and monotonous one—nothing but prairie and prairie everlasting.

After leaving San Antonio the mountains came in view in the far distance.
Late in the afternoon we passed over what is said to be the third largest railway bridge in the world, the Pecos river high bridge. Its dimensions are as follows: Height 321 feet; length 2280 feet; number tons of steel 640,000.

Cost $2,000,000. It is a great structure and worth seeing. El Paso was our next stop and it is a thriving city on the Rio Grande river, which divides Texas from Mexico, the city of Jurez being located on the opposite bank. If you wish to see a genuine bull fight Jurez is where they have 'em. Every Sunday and holiday the people swarm there and by paying one peso witness the fun.

From El Paso we crossed the line and entered New Mexico. Our journey across the state of Texas occupied from Tuesday evening until late Thursday morning. Deming, New Mexico, was reached by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road. We entered Arizona at Varnaman where the mountain scenery became beautiful and interesting, being one continual panorama until we reached Wilcox
the end of our railway journey.

When we left the train astonishment was pictured on the face of Mrs.
C., as she noticed the cowboys, Mexicans and few Indians lounging about.
"Is this the place you have brought us to?" she asked, while the children pronounced it a "bum town," and I feared a rebellion then and there.

We had to remain at Wilcox over night and found it not so bad a town.
The place contains 400 inhabitants, is lighted by electricity and has a comfortable lodging house and Chinese restaurants. The next afternoon the army ambulance was ready to convey us to Fort Grant, a distance of thirty miles, the post where we were make our home. The ride was a delightful one and greatly enjoyed. We reached there at 6 o'clock and the following morning I entered upon my duties.

We had been in quarters at the fort for about ten days when our furniture arrived, we arranged our dwelling and was soon comfortably situated.

Fort Grant is located in the foot hills between two mountain ranges, the Pinaleno range to the east and Arivaipa range to the west. A lovely valley extends 50 miles, the scenery being picturesque. Here was the hunting grounds of the once treacherous tribe of Apache Indians. There are a few cattle ranches there, that being the chief industry. Farming is out of question, not much being raised except garden truck. Vegetables, butter and eggs are high, butter 35 cent 8 per punl, eggs 35 cents per doz.
Hunting is good, the country abounding in all kinds of game, rabbit and quail are plentiful in the valley and deer in large numbers are found in the mountains.

The last of November I was ordered to Fort Huachuca, 100 miles south of Grant. I left the family at Grant for several weeks they joining me here
Dec. 18. This place is beautifully located in the Huachuca mountain range, altitude 5200 feet above the sea level. There are numerous beautiful canyons here, the fort lying at the entrance of one of the most beautiful, which leads directly to old Mexico, 20 miles south. This is in Cochise county the county seat being Tombstone, the town made famous by the Arizona kicker, 24 miles east.

The climate here, since Dec. 1., has been perfect, only 10 cloudy days, and light snow twice which lasted no time.
The mountain peaks presented a grand sight clad in white. This is truly the land of sunshine. We enjoy it here very much though it is very dry. The drinking water is excellent, coming directly from springs in mountains 4 miles up the canyon. The rainy season in this country starts about the latter part of June and last 6 or eight weeks. One thing detrimental here is the high winds which prevail in the winter season. You have heard of sand storms, but if you want to see them come down here. I have seen the valley so filled with sand and dust that it was almost impossible to recognize anything nearby.

Hunting is a sport here but game is not as plentiful as around Grant. We see coyotes here often and puma may be found occasionally, but bear is seldom seen. Wild pigeons are plentiful here and are relished. The highest mountain peak here is 10,000 ft. above sea level and is known as "nigger head" because of its cone shape and black appearance.

There are numerous mines in this region but I am taking no stock in them. I have a collection of beautiful specimens of the minerals and value it very highly. I visited Tucson last winter and found it a lively city of 8,000 inhabitants, many good business houses and fine residences. It is located much lower than Huachuca and the thermometer reaches 100° to 110° in the shade. But Phoenix beats 'em all now, the mercury having registered 120° there this season. Down in the valley the drought has been very bad and cattle are suffering for want of water. It is no uncommon sight, as we ride about the country, to see lots of dead cattle lying about.

With best wishes and regards to all
Barrington folks, I remain
Yours truly,
M. F. CLAUSIUS, M.D.

THE HIGHER LIFE.

EDITED BY HACKNEY.

The night, the long and silent night!
Stretched out upon my couch I lie
And gaze from out my window night
Athwart the gray and darkened sky.
Afar beyond those somber clouds,
Steadfast sun of heaven shines on,
But ah! what gloom my soul enshrouds
As I lie waiting for the dawn.

I know not why thou hath decreed,
O Lord, that such my lot should be,
With promise fair and gracious meed
Of love and hope denied to me;
I do but know that thus bereft
I lie here waiting for the dawn;
That stranded, useless, I am left,
Though still the tide of time flows on.

The influence of the church is not for a few, but for the whole community in which it is located. The church in a community stands for righteousness, integrity and as a reminder that men will have to give an account of their actions. Then, again, the church creates friendship in a community.

Religion is of everyday and practical concern; to limit it to the due recital of studied phrases and assistance at majestic and imposing ceremonies, without seeing through, far in, what these imply, is like dividing body from soul. What has our training done for us if it has not made us strong in purpose and sound in heart?

One of the modern heresies is the one that makes the individual and not the family the unit of society. Man by himself is not a complete being.
Man and woman as husband and wife together make the unit. It is an essential part of the teaching of Christ
that the unit of society is the family.
The father who commands the respect and love of his children is the best citizen before the law as well as the best christian in the eyes of God.

A loving word is always a safe word.
It may, or may not, be a helpful word to the one who hears it; but it is sure to be a pleasant memory to the one who speaks it. Many a word spoken by us is afterward regretted; but no word of affectionate appreciation to which we have given utterance finds a place among our sadly remembered expressions. Looking back over our intercourse with a dead friend or fellow-worker, we may, indeed, regret that we were ever betrayed into a harsh or unloving word of censure or criticism in that intercourse; and we may wish vainly that we had now the privilege of saying all the loving words that we might honestly have spoken while she was yet with us. But there will never come into your heart at such moments a single pang of regret over any word of impulsive or deliberate affection which passed your lips at any time.

If you will hold a new bank note between your eyes and the light, you will see running through it at intervals fine silken threads, placed there to prevent bank bills from being counterfeited, and to render the precious bits of paper strong enough to stand the rough usage they often meet at the hands of hurried merchants and cashiers. And well do the tiny strands meet the demands made upon them.
A bank bill will bear, uninjured, tugs and twiches that would tear apart an ordinary piece of paper. Here is a lesson for our daily living. When running through every act and every thought there is the thread of love, how it strengthens and keeps unbroken our pleasant relations one with the other! It makes of friendship a tie that cannot be broken, and there is nothing which so meets the demands of every emergency of life as this beautiful and precious bond of love. The silken thread of love in the home! How strong it is! How many sharp pulls of impatience and irritability it resists without breaking! How it binds heart to heart, making the interest of each the interest of all, and the high ambition of one the chief aim of the other!
There can be no real home without love running through its every-day life, and the heart instinctively turns from any and all substitutes, as surely as the counterfeit bill is reflected at a touch or glance of the banking expert. The thread of love runs not alone through lives of men. It has its origin in the heart of God, and binds the hearts of his human children to their heavenly Father.
