There are people in every town who would let the place go to the dogs if they could make a dollar by opposing anything that would be a benefit to it. Try and start an enterprise or business that needs the assistance of the citizens, and see what foolish excuses some will give to try and down the proposition.

Henry Bicknase has decided to go to Oregon to see if a change of climate will not be beneficial to his health. Henry has been unwell for some time, and the doctors have advised a change of atmosphere. He will start in a week or so, and his wife will visit relatives for a few weeks until Henry decides to locate.

The village caucus last Saturday afternoon was a tame affair, there being no opposition to the old officers. The following is the only ticket in the field:

President of Trustees—A. S. Olms. Trustees—J. G. Hortsman, R. M. Putnam and J. M. Kuebler. Village Clerk—A. G. Smith.

New spring millinery goods just received at Mrs. Kimmitt's. A nice clean stock of frames and made up hats. Call and see. Prices always reasonable.

The following articles will be sold at public auction at the Fair residence Saturday, at 10 a. m.: Large mirror, piano, rosewood center table, rosewood bric-a-brac, 3 folding beds, wardrobe, music stand, tete-a-tete, iron bed and mattress, 2 oak bedroom sets, 2 black walnut bedroom sets, 2 commodes, 1 set springs, 2 mattresses, 2 feather beds, 2 book cases, 1 wire flower pot, rockers, chairs, wood heating stove and stands. John Herm, auctioneer.

After the confirmation exercises at the Lutheran church, Sunday, in which their son was confirmed, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helm invited friends to their home west of Palatine to celebrate the event. A royal feast was prepared for the occasion and a very enjoyable time was had by all. Among those present during the afternoon and evening were Messrs. and Mesdames Miller, Henning, Wienk, Doesch, Landwer and Alta Landwer, George Elfrink, Frank Raber, Miss Clara Elfrink and Miss Carrie Wienk.

The village board met in regular session Monday night with all members present. The treasurer's report showed a balance of $370.78 on hand. Petitions for sewer on Smith street, from Wilson street north under railway track, to relieve overflow at Kitson's place, was referred to the committee, as was also petitions for sewer on Wilson street, between Brockway street and Plum Grove avenue, and one on Plum Grove avenue from Chicago avenue to Washington street, two blocks.

The town election passed off quietly last Tuesday, although a fair percentage of the legal voters did their duty. The only contest was for the collectorship, and Frye won over Hoemker by a good majority. The ballot resulted as follows: J. G. Hortsman, supervisor, 241; Harry Schoppe, clerk, 243; J. H. Schierding, assessor, 264; Ira W. Frye, clerk, 185; F. Hoemker, clerk, 125; J. G. Weleneke, commissioner of highways, 242; Dan Bergman, school trustee, 244. There were 192 votes cast in the first precinct and 200 in the second.

Village Election Notice.

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 18th day of April, A. D. 1903, at the village hall in the village of Palatine, in the county of Cook and state of Illinois, an election will be held for the following officers, viz.: One President of the Board of Trustees.

Three Village Trustees. One Village Clerk. The election will be opened at 7 o'clock in the morning, and will continue open until 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day. Given under my hand at Palatine, the 3d day of April, A. D. 1903. A. G. SMITH, Village Clerk.

The following parties have purchased property lately and all expect to build in a short time. Mrs. Starck one lot of H. Abelmann, just west of Ed Lytle's property. Dr. Clausius, two lots where Wm. Turnan lives, just west of Mrs. Starck's purchase. Ray Gibbs, several lots of Mr. Dahl, formerly the north half of the base ball grounds. Phillip Matthei, two lots in Richmond's addition. W. H. Brockway the same, and Will Ost the same. There are many other deals in contemplation, but nothing certain has been done. It now looks as though we would have a large number of new modern residences in Palatine by next fall.

Mr. Bowman, of the Bowman Dairy company, was in Palatine Tuesday, and offers to put one of his milk bottling establishments in this place, providing the village will furnish sewerage and water, and the farmers will contract to bring in 200 cans of milk per day. He will put up a $25,000 building and employ from 10 to 20 men. The decision is now up to the farmers as to whether they want to get Elgin condensing factory prices or continue to risk their money with Chicago parties. Some very foolish arguments have been made by some producers, but we understand that enough milk will be contracted for to make the new enterprise a success. The Bowman company are beyond attack as to their financial standing, and they have always lived up to their contracts. If this chance is turned down our farmers will be at the mercy of the Chicago dealers for a long time to come, as the company will locate in one of the adjoining towns, if they fail to get enough milk contracted for here. Every citizen should talk and work for this enterprise. Remember the Elgin watch factory wanted to locate here before it decided to locate in Elgin, and a few old timers kept them away.

An exchange says that in Turkey all printing offices must have only one door and that must be open on the street. All windows must be closed by strong close wire-netting. If such a custom prevailed in this country how on earth would an editor make his escape when a committee of ladies called to ask him to print $37 worth of free job work and $89 worth of free notices about a 10c lunch party for the purpose of raising money for well-fed missionaries in Bulgaria?

TOWNSHIP ELECTIONS.

Result of Balloting in Barrington and Cuba Townships.

Orlo Loomis Defeats George A. Jencks for Collector.

Elections for township officials were held in the various towns Tuesday. The weather was all that could be desired, and the result was that a heavy vote was polled.

There were surprises, but as the number of petition candidates was not large but little excitement was manifested.

Result in Cuba.

In the township of Cuba the only contest was for commissioner of highways. Charles Grom was the regular nominee and John Daly the petition aspirant. Mr. Daly made an excellent run but failed of election by 14 votes.

A total of 200 votes were pulled in this township, the count showing as follows:

Clerk—F. H. Plagge, 143. Assessor—Fred Kirschner, 144. Collector—Henry Rieke, 144. Commissioner of Highways—Charles Grom, 105; John Daley, 91. Justice of the Peace—Edson Harneden, 148.

The proposition submitted for a special tax of 60c on the 100 for gravel was carried by a vote of 146 for to 8 against. This is very gratifying to the friends of the good roads project and shows that the farmers are awake to their own interests. Let the campaign in this direction be waged unceasingly until every road in the country will be rendered passable at all seasons of the year.

Loomis and Krumfuss Win.

The contest in Barrington township developed into a spirited one. When the caucus was held the three candidates for collector showed the following strength: Jencks, 34; Smith, 33; Loomis, 31. It was then claimed that Mr. Jencks, who was declared the nominee, on so narrow a margin of votes, would have "hard sleddin'" at the polls, and he did. Loomis and Smith went on the ticket by petition and received substantial support, Loomis winning out by the following vote: Loomis, 115; Jencks, 107; Smith, 100.

The petition candidate for commissioner of highways, William Krumfuss, defeated the regular nominee, A. H. Fairchild, by a vote of 167 to 136, and in that greatly surprised those who predicted other estimates. The regular ticket, outside of Loomis and Krumfuss, was successful by the following vote: Supervisor—A. H. Boehmer, 207. Clerk—Leroy Powers, 205. Assessor—J. C. Plagge, 208. Justice of the Peace—E. H. Gould, 250. School Trustee—J. L. Meiners, 240.

IS IT A MUSHROOM?

The Wauconda Bank Closed After an Existence of Two Weeks.

Our sister village has been trying for many years to attract a railroad to within its limits. The citizens kind of yearned for something of a metropolitan complexion. Tired of waiting for Edward Warren Stee's electric railroad, a number of representative citizens decided to have some sign of commercial life in their midst and hunted up a party who had a few private banks in need of nourishment. The Wauconda people figured that a financial institution was necessary to the prosperity of their village.

Frank Komp of Kenosha, Wis., was conducting the State Bank in that city. He heard of Wauconda's want and hiked over there, remained a day, and when he left the pretty village on the shore of Bangs lake he promised to return soon and bring with him as nice a financial institution as $10,000 would secure. He kept his agreement.

Three weeks ago pretty fixtures arrived at Wauconda, a banking room was fixed up, Mr. VanHart, of Kenosha, installed as cashier, and the institution opened for business.

A local board of trustees consisting of H. E. Maiman, H. T. Fuller, Jay Price, James Murray and John Golding, was selected by Banker Komp to hold a trust fund of $10,000 "to protect" depositors. This trust fund consists of bonds secured by the State Bank of Kenosha, the parent institution.

Deposits to the amount of $4,000 were placed in the new "tower of strength" the principal depositors being Frank Roney, L. C. Price & Son., Golding Bros., H. E. Maiman, W. A. Putnam & Son.

Last Saturday Mr. Komp's Kenosha Bank was taken in charge by the state bank examiner and closed. The institution at Wauconda also closed its doors. The "local trustees" were at Chicago Wednesday trying to effect a settlement, and it is thought that depositors may realize 75 cents on the dollar. The bank may re-open but if it does Mr. Komp will not be the manager.

Put not your faith in mushroom institutions.

Push the Good Work.

Interest is growing in the good roads movement in every section of the country. The press is united on the question and will keep hammering at it until passable roads are secured.

An article in this paper published two weeks ago has been reprinted and commented upon by a number of papers in this vicinity. The Wauconda Leader reprinted the article and at once found courage to go after the commissioners of Wauconda township in the following sensible and timely article:

"That the editor is sound there is doubt, and we had felt after a drive over the roads referred to that something more 'strenuous' might be said, but could not attempt to express our feelings without appearing in the attitude of the scold, but it seems that if the commissioners and Cuba are subject to criticism or counsel that we may offer a few words on the same subject without being thought presumptuous. First it is a subject very near the immediate interests of us all, and anything which is offered in a spirit of aiding should not fail to be well received. Then as we have no other means of travel at present than to go on foot or horse conveyance I would seem that at least one route to each principal town about us should be made passable at any season of the year. Cuba's people have done much more in the past few years than we have along this line, and their good work is beginning to be felt by all who are obliged to travel.

It would seem Wauconda ought to be able to complete the road to the town line both by the Davlin and Lake's Corners route, and if the money in the treasury will not permit of its being done, we suggest that a subscription of labor and money be sought to aid the Highway Commissioners, and that these two roads be put in better condition than ever before.

We believe that some such means may make this work possible, and though funds are scarce here, would aid the work as much as possible. Who will lead in this undertaking. Let us hear from others."

Harry Hill, who has been visiting with friends and relatives in our village, returned to his home in Waukegan Saturday.

At a meeting of the Wauconda Volunteer Fire department last Monday evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Fire chief, J. W. Cooke; captain engine company, E. A. Golding; captain hose company, J. P. Blanck; secretary, B. C. Harris; treasurer, J. C. Price.

The town-election held in the village engine house Tuesday did not prove very exciting, the following straight ticket being elected: Assessor, Arthur Cooke; clerk, Arthur Powers; collector, B. J. Barker; justice of the peace (north end to fill vacancy two years), Dan Richardson; constable, (north end to fill vacancy two years), P. Raught; highway commissioner, Henry Davis.

The program and debate given in the M. E. church last Friday evening was largely attended. The program was featured by selections by the Wauconda High School orchestra. This was the orchestra's first appearance in public, and the members were generally encouraged by the manner in which their music was received. After the program, a debate followed, the question being: "Resolved, That the government should own, control and operate the railroads." Affirmatives, L. K. Fuller and John Brand. Negatives, Jennie Greene and H. E. Maiman. The question was well and ably discussed, the negative side winning. Rev. Lapham then announced that the ladies had something good in the line of hot biscuit and maple syrup upstairs and advised all to try it. His advisement was well received. The receipts amounted to $9.50.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Measures Under Consideration in the Capitol at Springfield.

GOVERNOR YATES SEEKS LIGHT

Requests Opinion From Attorney General Hamlin Regarding the Semi-Annual Reports to Be Submitted by Heads of Various State Institutions.

Gov. Yates has addressed a letter to Attorney General Hamlin asking an opinion upon the character of the semi-annual reports to the governor, as provided for in section 20 of article 4 of the constitution.

"My attention has been called to the latter part of section 20 of article 4 of the constitution of Illinois, which reads as follows:

"An account shall be kept by the officers of the executive department and of all the public institutions of the state of all moneys received or disbursed by them severally from all sources and for every service performed, and a semi-annual report thereof be made to the governor under oath; and any officer who makes a false report shall be guilty of perjury and punished accordingly."

"I have the honor to inquire: First, as the section in question requires all officers of the executive department to make a semi-annual report of receipts and disbursements to the governor, under oath, what is the duty of the governor in the premises? Is it contemplated that he shall make a semi-annual report under oath, addressed to himself? Would it be a compliance with the constitution for the governor to make such a report and file it with the secretary of state? In this connection your attention is called to the fact that in compliance with section 21 of article 4 of the constitution I forward to each house member of the Forty-third general assembly at the opening thereof a fully itemized report of the manner in which the appropriations at my disposal had been expended.

"Second, does section 20, above referred to, require semi-annual reports under oath not only from officers of the executive department and state institutions, but also from the various subdivisions of the state government commonly called departments, such as the adjutant general's department, the insurance department, the health department, etc.?"

"Third—Does the constitution contemplate in all these cases a report as fully itemized as the report which I have made? In this connection your attention is called to the fact that this can easily be done, but the reports of some departments will be voluminous.

"In order to be sure within the law on this point I have had blanks for such sworn semi-annual reports prepared and forwarded to each such department and institution.

"Fourth—It is contended by some that the constitution provision in question requires merely an itemized report of fees received and disbursed, exempting from such report all officers, institutions, and departments which do not have the actual custody of moneys, but simply draw warrants upon appropriations. I desire your opinion upon this point."

Talk of Special Session. A special session of the legislature to consider Cook county legislation is among the possibilities.

Some of the older members declare that a special session, at which the Cook county bills can be considered on their own merits and without reference to the bills wanted outside is the only solution of the present difficulty.

There is no doubt that Cook county legislation is in a precarious condition. Without any well defined or argumentative opposition to it, it seems to be blocked. Part of this is due to the Cook county members themselves, who are not agreed on what they want, but the most serious obstacle is the attitude of the country members, who are undertaking to have the assessment limit raised.

Gov. Yates has not yet been sounded on the proposition to have a special session. There are reasons for supposing that he would oppose it on general principles, because special sessions are not popular as a rule.

The most important matter which the senate will have under consideration during the week will be the municipal ownership bill. That measure is on the order of third reading, ready to be passed as soon as the Chicago election is over, but there are few who believe it will go through in its present form.

Drainage Legislation. The Chicago drainage legislation is to be taken up Wednesday, when the senate committee will proceed to the consideration of the bill which has been agreed upon as a compromise between the sanitary district and the commissioners of the Illinois and Michigan canal. The bill is still in committee, and some doubt is expressed as to the ability of its friends to get it out.

More Pay for Plumbers. The Alton plumbers have been granted an advance of $1 a day in their wages. The master plumbers, including all the employers, agreed to refrain from working and to employ enough journeymen plumbers to do all the work.

Is Killed by Horse. George T. Miller, formerly in the restaurant business in Decatur, was run down and killed by a horse at Bloomington.

Foreign Corporation Tax. Among the bills to be taken up by the legislature is a measure providing for the taxation of the capital stock of foreign corporations doing business in Illinois.

House Calendar. When the house meets next Wednesday it will take up bills on the order of third reading, except in instances where special orders have been made.

Nohe's bill, 206, providing for the taxation of the capital stock of foreign corporations doing business in Illinois, on second reading.

Child labor bill, on second reading. The following measures are special orders for Thursday:

To increase the salary of members of the general assembly to $2,000 per annum, on third reading.

To amend the Torrens land title act, on second reading.

To increase the salaries of Circuit and Superior court judges to $5,000 per annum, on third reading.

Limiting the powers of the Cook county board of review.

At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon memorial exercises in honor of the late President McKinley and Governor Tanner will be held in representatives hall.

Mr. Arnold Objects. Mr. Arnold, rising to a question of personal privilege, called attention to newspaper criticism ridiculing him in connection with the school text-book bill debated in the house and killed for its bad English, and which was credited to him in the press reports. The bill was Mr. Arrand's instead of Arnold's, the error in the press reports being due to a mistake in the official house synopsis.

Bundy Revenue Bill. The Bundy revenue bill, for changing the assessed valuation of property as amended from one-fifth to one-fourth of the full value, has been moved up to third reading in the house.

The proposed change is, of course, antagonistic to the purpose of the Juul law, secured two years ago by Chicago effort, which, by limiting the tax rate to 5 per cent on the assessed valuation of one-fifth, aims to hold taxation down to 1 per cent on the full value.

The Bundy bill stands as a sort of counter demand from the country to the Chicago demand for the charter resolution. It has been pushed to third reading, so that it can be reached at any time, or coincident with another effort for the charter resolution.

The Cook county members are practically a unit against the Bundy bill. They will fight it when it comes up for passage.

This proposed change, if the Juul law is left unchanged and taxing bodies go on taxing up to the limit, would mean a 25 per cent increase in taxes in Cook county and elsewhere.

Market Quotations. "Gus" Nohe drove one his pet bills into the arena and gave it "warming-up" exercise while having it amended so as to make it look more like a bill that might pass—his "anti-gambling" bill to prevent telegraphic transmission of market quotations to bucket-shops and of race results to pool-rooms.

He had it recalled to second reading and amended so as to cut out all applications to market quotations and leave it applicable only to race results. Then it went back to third reading. He has three other pet measures in the list of bills advanced from first to second reading which he may be expected to work forward soon. They are: To prohibit combinations of insurance underwriters for the purpose of fixing insurance rates; to tax the gross receipts of insurance companies; to abolish the state board of equalization and assign its functions to a board to be composed of the governor, secretary of state and auditor.

Delegation to Synod. The congregation of the Sixth Street Lutheran church of Beardstown held its quarterly meeting and elected H. C. Kell a delegate to the Lutheran synod, which will be held in Chicago in June. The annual missionary meeting was set for June.

Sailor Drowns. Charles Hammond, a sailor on the steamer City of Memphis, fell into the river at Cairo, while the boat lay at the wharf here, and was drowned.

Cash for Coal.

Alton coal dealers have announced that the price of coal in Alton will be 11 cents a bushel, an advance of 2 cents a bushel over what was charged last year. The dealers say the increase in price of coal was made necessary by an advance in the price charged by operators in car load lots. It is said by some of the local dealers that the margins of profit have become so close in consequence of the advance in prices that it may be necessary to form a combine of the Alton dealers, with the agreement that coal will be sold for cash only.

Victim of Exposure.

Peter Yoakley, aged 50 years, died of smallpox in the isolation hospital at Springfield. Yoakley is the patient who escaped from the hospital and eluded the guards for forty-eight hours. Physicians say that the exposure caused the patient to suffer a relapse, which resulted in death. The virulence of the disease as developed by Yoakley has aroused a feeling of alarm among the health officers, and the remainder of the smallpox patients in the hospital are being cautiously attended.

Feud is Settled.

All the warrants sworn out in the Bailey-Kelly feud at Alton have been withdrawn and an agreement of peace was made up. It developed that William Kelly, the young man whom Wade Bailey tried to kill because Kelly persisted in going with Bailey's 16-year-old daughter, was a married man, and that was the reason the father forbade his daughter to go with him.

CONDITION OF ILLINOIS CROPS.

Government Report for the Central and Southern Sections.

The government crop report for Illinois, after reviewing weather conditions in the state, concludes as follows relative to crops in central and southern Illinois:

"The wheat crop in the central district is in a most promising condition. A number of correspondents state that the outlook, at present, is the best in several years. No unfavorable statement has been received from the district. The reports are equally favorable with regard to the rye crop. But little progress has been made in the sowing of oats. The season is considered backward, on account of the wet condition of the soil. Meadows and pastures are beginning to look green, and have already started a vigorous growth. The general condition of clover is good. Corn remaining in fields is damaged to a considerable extent. Hauling has been impracticable, on account of the bad condition of the roads. Only a limited amount of plowing has been done. The good condition of stock and the absence of all disease is generally remarked. Hogs are reported to be very scarce. Some gardens have been made, and a few early potatoes planted. The prospect for fruit is not assuring. Peach buds nearly all have been killed. Apples and cherries are thought to be uninjured. The condition of wheat in the southern district is not so even. It ranges from fair to excellent. An unfavorable report is the exception. A limited acreage in bottom lands sustained injury from flooding. Some early sown fields are damaged by the hessian fly. While the weather has been favorable for plant growth, the soil remains sodden, and but little plowing has been done. The seeding of oats is backward, and what has been accomplished is confined mostly to high ground. Grasses and pastures are making a thrifty growth. Some fields of young clover were injured by the recent freeze. Feed is plentiful and stock has wintered well. Gardens are being made, and the planting of potatoes has begun. Apples appear to be uninjured. Peaches are mostly killed, while other fruits are damaged, but probably not to a serious extent."

There is no reliable method of preserving rubber except by keeping it in a damp place and away from the air. Exposure to the air and dry atmosphere will kill the best of rubber in time. Oil of any kind is its deadly enemy.

A Story of Cromwell's Time

CHAPTER I.

Swaffham and De Wick.

During the seventeenth century Swaffham Manor House was one of the most picturesque dwellings in Cambridgeshire. It was so old that it had a sort of personality. It was the history of the Swaffham family in stone and timber.

The central tower—built of the white stone of the neighborhood—was the fortress which Tonbert Swaffham erected A. D. 870, to defend his lands from an invasion of the Danes; and five generations of Tonbert's descendants dwelt in that tower, before William of Normandy took possession of the crown of England. The Swaffham of that date became a friend of the Conqueror; and the Manor House had the singular fortune to be identified with the stirring events of every dynasty.

In the middle of the seventeenth century it still retained this character. Puritan councils of offense and defense had been held in its great hall, and parliamentary soldiers drilled in its meadows. For Capt. Israel Swaffham was the friend of Gen. Cromwell, and at the time this story opens was with Cromwell in Scotland.

A great fighter, he had no parliamentary talent, and no respect for parliaments. He believed England's religious and civil liberties were to be saved by the sword, and when the King's fast-and-loose proposals had been discussed by the men of Cambridgeshire, in Swaffham, he had closed the argument with this passionate declaration:

"There is no longer disputing with such a double mind as the mind of Charles Stuart. The very oath of God would not bind him. Out, instantly, all of you who can!"

His three sons rose at his words and the rest of the council followed, for all felt that the work was but half done—there was to be a Second Civil War. Then home was again deserted for the battlefield, and Capt. Swaffham's wife and daughter were once more left alone in the old Manor House.

Mrs. Swaffham was the child of a Puritan minister, and she had strong principles, but there were hours when she had pitied the late king, excused his inexcusable treacheries, and regretted the pomps and ceremonies of royal state.

Jane Swaffham was of a different spirit. She had a soul of the highest mettle; and she had listened to those English mystics, who came out of the steel ranks or triumphant Puritanism, until she had caught their spirit and been filled through and through with their faith.

This was the maiden who was sitting, one sunny afternoon, at the open window of the household parlor in Swaffham. She was thinking of her father and brothers, of the unhappy condition of England, and of the unrest in their own household. For she knew that her mother was worried about many things, and the fret that was bred in the kitchen and the farm offices—in spite of all her efforts—insinuated itself into the still order of the handsome room in which she was sitting.

At this moment there was the sound of wheels and the tramp of horses, and Jane said, "It is Matilda de Wick. I know the roll of the carriage." Then Jane lifted her sewing, and the wheel began to hum, and the door opened swiftly and Matilda de Wick entered.

"I have just been at Ely," she said, "and if I live seven-and-fifty years longer in this sinful world, I shall not forget the visit. I have been visiting Lady Heneage, and I have heard so much of the Cromwell's full cup that, in faith, I think it has gone to my head."

"I trust Lady Heneage is well," said Mrs. Swaffham.

"She had need to be well. Her house is as full as the ark. Mrs. Elizabeth Hampden is there, and daughter Flambord, and daughter Clayton, and all their children and retainers. It is their last gathering before they go away. Do you wish to know where they are going? To London, of course."

"And they are going to London? Is it really so?" asked Jane.

"This is not very civil to doubt it. But that is not all of my news—I heard also that Jane Swaffham was going to London—a thing I would not believe without Jane's assurance."

"It is very uncertain," replied Mrs. Swaffham. "Jane has an invitation from Mary Cromwell, and if Doctor Verity comes here soon, he may find the time to take her to London with him. We know not assuredly, as yet."

"Jane must move mountains to go. The Cromwells are now living in the stately Cockpit. They will hold court there, and Jane Swaffham will be of it."

"I am sure of one thing," answered Jane. "Public honors please not Gen. Cromwell. He would thank God to escape them."

"I do not say that the wish to see him honored is universal," continued Matilda. "Father Sacy thinks there are a few thousand men still living in England who have not bowed the knee to this Baal."

"Children! Children! can you find nothing more lovely to talk about?"

Matilda, you know that you are baiting Jane's temper only that you may see her lose it."

Then Matilda laughed, and stooping to her friend, kissed her and said, "Come, little Jane, I will ask your pardon. Kiss and be friends, Jane. I came to get your receipt for lavender conserves, and this is nothing to it. Come, let us go to the still-room." She spoke with an unconscious air of authority, and Jane as unconsciously obeyed it, but there was a coldness in her manner which did not disappear until the royalist lady had talked with her for half an hour about the spices and the distilled waters.

When the electuary had been prepared, the girls became silent. They were as remarkably contrasted as were the tenets, religious and civil, for which they stood. But if mere physical ascendancy could have dominated Jane Swaffham, she was in its presence. Yet it was not Matilda, but Jane, who filled the cool, sweet place with a sense of power not to be disputed. Her pale hair was full of light and life; it seemed to shine in its waving order and crown-like coil. Her eyes had a steady glow in their depths that was invincible; her slight form was proudly poised; her whole manner resolute and a little cold, as of one who was putting down an offense only half-forgiven.

Matilda was conscious of Jane's influence, and she called all her own charms forth to rival it. Putting out of account her beautiful face and stately figure as not likely to affect Jane, she assumed the manner she had never known to fail—a manner half-serious and wholly affectionate and confidential. She knew that Swaffham was always a safe subject, and that a conversation set to that key went directly to Jane's heart. So turning slowly round to observe everything, she said,

"How cool and sweet is this place, Jane!"

"It is, Matilda. I often think that one might receive angels among these pure scents."

"Oh, I vow it is the rosemary! Let me put my hands through it," and she hastily pulled off her white embroidered gloves, and passed her hands, shining with gems, through the deliciously fragrant green leaves.

"I have a passion for rosemary," she continued. "It always perfumes good fortune to me. Sometimes if I wake in the night I smell it—I smell miles of it—and then I know my angel has been to see me, and that some good thing will tread in her footsteps."

Then she said with an attempt at indifference, "When did you hear from Cymlin? And pray in what place must I remember him now?"

"I know not particularly. Wherever the Captain-General is, there Cymlin Swaffham is like to be."

"Why do you not ask after Stephen's fortune—good or bad?"

"I did not at the moment think of Stephen. When Cromwell is in the mind 'tis impossible to find him fit company. It is he, and he only."

"Yet if ever Stephen de Wick gets a glimpse of home, it is not home to him until he has been at Swaffham." Jane made no answer, and they walked silently to the door where Matilda's carriage was waiting. Mrs. Swaffham joined them as Matilda was about to leave, and the girl said, "I had come near to forgetting something I wished to tell you. One of those men called Quakers was preaching his new religion at Squire Oliver Leder's last night. There was much disputing about him to-day."

"What said Lady Heneage of the preacher?" asked Mrs. Swaffham.

"She thought he ought to be put in the stocks; and her sister Isabel said that he was a good man, and had the root of the matter in him. I heard that he was to preach again at Deeping Den. Now, I must make what haste I can; my father will be angry at my delay. Good-by! faithful till we meet again."

"She says 'faithful,' yet knows not how to be faithful."

"She is much changed."

"It would be strange indeed if she was not changed. Before these troubles she was a girl living at her mother's knee, petted by her father, and the idol of her brothers. Two of her brothers fell fighting by the side of Prince Rupert, her mother went herself into the grace for them, her father is still nursing the wound he got at Naseby, and her only brother, Stephen, is with Charles Stuart, wherever he may be. If such troubles did not change a girl, she would be hewn from the very rock of selfishness."

On her way home Matilda sat erect, lost in thought, and her eyes had a look in them full of anxiety and sorrow. The sadness of an immense disillusion was over her. Her life had gone to ruin, but she trusted that some miracle would restore it. All her old friends had departed. The grave had some; others had taken different ways, or battle and exile had scattered them. By the side of her sick father she stood alone. Oppressed by such considerations, she felt like a child that suddenly realizes it has lost its way and is left alone in a wilderness.

Nothing in her surroundings offered her any help. The road was flat and dreary; a wide level intersected with deep drains and "doves"—a poor, rough, moist land, whose horizon was only broken by the towers of Ely, vast and gray in the distance. Large iron gates admitted her to de Wick park. The house was a quadrangular building of various dates, and gray walls rising from trim gardens with boxed flower plots and clipped yew hedges. An old-world sleepy air, lonely and apart and full of melancholy, pervaded the place.

The door stood open, and she passed without delay into the wide entrance hall, and went leisurely up the broad stairway. Her hat, with its moist drooping feathers, was in her hand; her hair hung limply about her brow and face; she was the very picture of a beauty that had suffered the touch of adverse nature, and the depression of unsympathetic humanity.

But the moment she entered her own room she had the sense of covert and refreshment. She put off her sense of alienation and unhappiness with her damp clothing, and as the comfort of renewal came to her outwardly, the inner woman also regained her authority; and the girl conscious of this potent personality, erected herself in its strength and individuality. She surveyed her freshly clad form in its gown of blue lustrous; she turned right and left to admire a fresh arrangement of her hair; she put around her neck, without pretense of secrecy or apology, the rosary of coral and gold; and admired the tint and shimmer of its beauty on her white throat. Then she asked—

"Was any stranger with the Earl at dinner, Delia?"

"My lady, he dined with Father Sacy alone."

"And pray what did they eat for dinner?"

"There was a sucking pig roasted with juniper wood and rosemary branches, and a jugged hare, and a pullet, and some clotted cream and a raspberry tart. All very good, my lady; will you please to eat something?"

"Yes. I will have some jugged hare, and some clotted cream, and a raspberry tart—and a glass of Sappish wine, Delia, and a pitcher of new milk. Have them served as soon as possible."

She took one comfortable glance at herself, and in the pleasure of its assurance went down-stairs. Her step was now firm and rapid, yet she paused a moment at the door of the room she wished to enter, and called up smiles to her face and a sort of cheerful bravado to her manner ere she lifted the steel hasp that admitted her. In a moment her quick eyes took a survey of its occupants. They were only two men—Earl de Wick, and his chaplain, Father Sacy. Both were reading; the Earl, Sir Philip Sidney's "Arcadia"; the chaplain, the evening service in the book of common prayer. Neither of them noticed her entrance, and she went straight to her father's side, and covering the open page with her hand, said in a merry tone—

"Here is a noble dwelling in Arcadia, while the great Captain-General Cromwell—"

"The devil!"

"Is going up and down and to and fro in the land, seeking whom he may devour. I have been at Ely and at Swaffham, gathering what news I can, and I assure you, sir, there is none to our comfort."

"What have you heard? Anything about the Scots?"

"Cromwell is in Scotland. What do you expect from that news?"

"That Leslie will be his match."

"Then you will be disappointed. 'There is a tide in the affairs of men,' and this tide of Cromwell and the Commonwealth is going to sweep all royalty and all nobility into the deep sea."

"Well, then, I may as well return to my 'Arcadia' and learn how to be rustic. We nobles may play at Canute if we like—but—"

"It is useless, while this man's star flames in the firmament. If he conquers the Scotch army, what more can they offer him but the crown?"

(To Be Continued.)

WOMAN NOT SO FRAGILE.

Think of the 43,000 Pounds of Bread and Meat She Eats.

"A young man of my acquaintance visits me occasionally," said Dr. Cynicus, "who is very much in love, but who wears me excessively by his ravings over his sweetheart, her angelic qualities, et cetera. She is too fragile for this world, he thinks."

"Fragile?" says I. "How fragile? Ever test her fragility? Let me give you some figures about her, and woman-kind in general, showing the extent of their fragility."

"We will suppose this piece of perfection is in moderately good health. She will live to, say, 60 years of age. Women do not like, any more than men do, to die—not so much, for women never grow old, you know. Listen to me? She will eat one pound of beef, mutton or some other meat every day. That's 365 pounds of flesh in a year. In sixty years it's 21,900 pounds. How's that for fragility?"

"She will eat as much bread and as much vegetables per diem, and there you have in 60 years 43,800 pounds of bread and meat."

"If she is not too angelic she will drink daily no less than two quarts of coffee, tea, wine or beer. And by the time she is ready to have a monument she will have consumed 175 hog-heads of liquids. Fragile?"

"Now," says I to this young man, "these figures do not include the 40 or 50 lambs she will worry down with mint sauce. Does not take into consideration her ice cream, her oysters, her clams and such. All this means about 45 tons."

"Fragile? Think of your affinity in connection with these figures and then rave over her being fragile. Young man, you're a fool. Bah!"—New York Times.

UTTERS PRAISE FOR COAL BOARD

President Extols Work of Coal Commission in Speech at Sioux Falls.

ASKS FOR MODEL LABOR LAWS

Would Like to See Congress Set the Example by Furnishing the District of Columbia With Wise Legislation on the Subject.

Edgeley, N. D., special: President Roosevelt retired after having traveled across the state of South Dakota and having made more speeches than any other day during his present trip. In all, the President spoke twelve times. The addresses, with one exception, followed closely the lines of the former speeches on the tariff and the general prosperity of the country.

The exception was the speech delivered at Sioux Falls on "The Tillers of Soil and Wage Workers." This address was the most notable of the day and was delivered at the Auditorium. During his speech snow began to fall, but the President was clad in a heavy overcoat and was well protected. He said he was glad to be again in the "banana belt" which created laughter.

thing, because a standard would thereby be set for the country as a whole."

Children Attract Notice. The President was accorded a cordial welcome at the different stopping places, and at many stations where the train did not stop the crowds gathered and cheered as the special train sped by. One feature of the day was the large number of children in the various audiences, and the President referred to them several times, saying that he was glad to see that the stock was not dying out.

The President had as his guests during the day Senators Kittredge and Gamble and Representatives Martin and Burke, the South Dakota delegation in Congress. They left the train at Aberdeen.

Yankton was the first stop after the train left Sioux Falls. To the multitude at Yankton the President spoke on the tariff and the qualities of good citizenship.

Delivers Long Speech.

At Mitchell the President made the longest address of the day. His audience was large and his speech was frequently interrupted by applause. Here he discussed the work of individuals and the important part they play in the upbuilding of the nation.

The other stops of the day were made at Woonsocket, Scotland, Tripp, Parkston, Alpena and Redfield.

There is a possibility of the President's spending a day in Deadwood, S. D. He has made a conditional promise to Captain Seth Bullock, who will travel with him as far as Billings, Mont., that if the snow is too deep in Yellowstone park he will leave there one day earlier than he had intended and will spend a day at Austria Mobilizes Three Army Corps for Occupation of Mitrovitz.

NOT FIT FOR MOUNTAIN WORK

Troops Are Not Accustomed to the Hard Campaigning Necessary in the Balkans and Franz Joseph's Officials Are Embarrassed Thereby.

London cable: Austria has mobilized three army corps at Agram, Tarrago, and Temesvar, and is holding them in readiness for the occupation of Mitrovitz, in European Turkey.

The Austrian officials are embarrassed, however, because these troops are not fitted for mountain campaigning, such as would be inevitable in the event of their being required in the Balkans.

The Bosnian and Tyrolean regiments would be suitable for such purposes, but the former consists mainly of Mohammedans, therefore cannot be used, and the latter cannot be moved eastward without the alarm which it would cause the Mohammedan populace.

In concluding his address the President said:

"When we deal with such a subject we are fortunate in having before us an admirable object lesson in the work that has just been closed by the anthracite coal strike commission. Their report was made just before the Senate adjourned at the special session, and no government document of recent years marks a more important piece of work better done, and there is none which teaches sounder social morality to our people."

"Of course, the national government has but a small field in which it can work in labor matters. Something it can do, however, and that something ought to be done. Among other things, should like to see the District of Columbia, which is completely under the control of the national government, receive a set of model labor laws. Wise labor legislation for the city of Washington would be a good thing in itself, and it would be a far better

Many Are Wounded in Riot.

A telegram from Belgrade, capital of Serbia, reports that rioting has taken place there as the outcome of a demonstration against an objectionable police regulation, and many persons were wounded in the course of the disorders.

The rumor of the death of M. It is reported that the Albanian soldier who shot him has been sentenced to fifteen years' hard labor.

Improvement in Export Trade.

Figures furnished by the bureau of statistics at Washington indicate that the export trade of the United States is rapidly resuming its normal conditions.

In the short month of February alone our exports amounted to $125,502,105, which is $12,000,000 in excess of any preceding February and more than double the figures of February, 1893, in which month the total exports were $59,931,984. Taking the three months ending with February, the total exports are $407,526,200 against $215,151,471 in the three months ending with February, 1893. Thus, considering either the month of February or the three months ending with February, 1903, the total exports are not only larger than in that period of any preceding year, but practically double those of a decade ago.

These large export figures are due in part to the fact that the new corn crop is rapidly entering the markets of the world, to which the United States was able to make but slight contributions last year, the corn exportations in February, 1903, having been 13,000,000 bushels against a little over 1,000,000 bushels in February last year.

Cotton exports also show a marked gain over those of last year, the value of cotton exported in February, 1903, being $37,423,317 against $24,768,762 in February last year. Both in quantity and price the cotton exports of February exceed those of February, 1902, the number of pounds exported in February, 1903, being 401,594,799 against 296,814,507 in February last year, while the average price per pound was 9.3 cents in February, 1903, against 8.3 cents in February, 1902.

The figures are gratifying as showing that our export trade is on the up turn and is not only recovering from the falling off of the past year or two, but showing conspicuous gains over previous records. The figures for the eight months ending with February suggest that the export trade of the United States for the fiscal year 1903 may exceed $1,400,000,000, while the imports will probably aggregate $1,000,000,000.

Abating a Nuisance of Travel.

A circular recently issued by the New York Central railway requires the employees in charge of trains and stations to suppress as far as possible the noises at the various stations during the night hours. It is rather singular that no systematic effort has hitherto been made to lessen one of the most disagreeable and annoying things about night travel. Regardless of the rights of night travelers, the operators of switch engines, the baggagemen, the oilers, the conductors and the brakemen have been permitted to make a veritable din at every stop. Nineteenths of this noise is wholly unnecessary.

Anything like restful sleep while traveling is hard enough for most people to get under the most favorable conditions, and it is a positive nuisance to be awakened half a dozen times during the night by needless noises.

It is to be hoped that other lines will follow the example of the New York Central in doing away with superfluous station noises. It is not a matter of additional outlay, but merely one of management and discipline.

After serving five weeks of a sentence of two years' imprisonment for killing a civilian in a duel Emperor William has pardoned Lieutenant Werner von Grawert of the German army. The man who was killed left a widow and five children. This is the second pardon of the kind in a comparatively short time and gives added evidence of the insincerity of the kaiser's anti-dueling protestations. If he were really opposed to dueling, he would see to it that men who engage in duels were properly punished.

The result of the investigation of American railroads by English experts was a report to the effect that "while American methods of railroading are interesting, there is nothing to commend them to England." However, if there should ever come a desire to reduce the population of England they might find American railroad methods effective.

A Long Island magistrate has decided that a man has a legal right to spank his wife when she stays out after 10 o'clock at night. This may be good law, but some men are likely to find it rather dangerous when put into practice.

The board of estimate of the city of New York has voted in favor of asking the legislature for authority to build a municipal electric light plant. This decision follows a report by Commissioner Monroe of the department of water, gas and electricity to the effect that the city appears to be in the hands of a monopoly and that it is being charged prices which are excessive when compared with what other cities pay.

The Waterbury Troubles.

If labor troubles can be remedied by legal processes, the turmoil which has for some time existed in Waterbury, Conn., ought within a reasonable time to be ended. It would appear that all the law that could be brought to bear on the situation has been invoked. Not only has the most sweeping injunction on record been issued against the strikers, their abettors and sympathizers, but civil suits for damages have been brought by the Connecticut Railway company against the union of street car employees and other unions that have aided the strikers by fining members who have ridden on the cars since the strike began.

Without going into any discussion of the merits of the situation at Waterbury, it is apparent that the community has been in a state bordering on anarchy. Whether the present application of legal remedies will suffice to restore peace and tranquillity to this hitherto prosperous and progressive manufacturing town remains to be seen.

The injunction issued by Judge Elmer of the superior court of Connecticut and made returnable three weeks from the date of issuance is unquestionably the most sweeping that has ever been issued by the courts of this country. The order names seventeen labor organizations, their officers and more than 100 individual members, all of whom, as well as "all whom it may concern," are forbidden to further interfere with the operation of the Connecticut Railway company's car service either by picketing, boycotting, intimidation of employees or otherwise.

The civil suits against the unions or their members for damages are similar in character to the famous Taff Vale railroad case, recently decided in England, in which the employees' union was obliged to pay about $150,000 for damages caused by a strike. The Connecticut Railway company will undoubtedly be able to show that its earnings have been seriously interfered with by reason of the strike, since very few people, either from sympathy with the strikers or fear of boycott, have lately patronized the road, but whether the company will be able to obtain judgments and make collections thereon are other matters.

In view of the widespread attention attracted by the deplorable situation in Waterbury, the public will watch with keen interest the pending legal proceedings, though it is hardly to be expected that this wholesale application of law will bring about complete industrial peace.

Effects of the Elkins Law.

It now appears that the Elkins anti-robate law is a more effective measure than many of the railroad managers thought it to be when it passed congress.

At least it has just saved the government a large sum in the transportation of military and naval parties between Chicago and the Pacific coast. Before the passage of the bill an agreement or "understanding" was in process of formation among western railroads as to the rates to be charged the government for this work.

The Elkins law scared some of the railroads out of the "arrangement," and as a result the bids are away below existing prices, and in some instances are less than it was at first proposed to exact for the service. These low bids followed the supreme court decision in the Missouri Pacific case, which indirectly affirmed the constitutionality of the law.

The sultan of Turkey is one of the very few managers to keep out of trouble by keeping in debt. He has lately borrowed another large sum from European financiers, evidently with the idea that as long as he owes them enough the other European nations are going to see to it that nothing happens to him.

Consumption

The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."

People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.

At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.

The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.

Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.

Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

FORTUNES FOR TWO.

The Way Russell Sage Paid a Doctor Who Refused a Fee.

A former Baltimorean who was a close friend of a Philadelphia physician whose specialty was kidney diseases relates the following as the method by which Russell Sage paid the doctor a bill:

The physician was on a visit to a friend in New York. Mr. Sage was very ill at his home from a diseased kidney. Hearing that the Philadelphia doctor was in New York, Mr. Sage requested him to call. The doctor did so, and within ten days Mr. Sage was a well man. A check, signed by Mr. Sage, with the amount left blank, was handed the doctor, who declined it, stating that he could not break his inviolable rule of confining his practice strictly to office work. When he visited people who were too poor or physically unable to get to his office he never accepted pay for his services.

During his visits to Mr. Sage's home the doctor was accompanied by his daughter, a winsome miss of ten years. About a month after the occurrence the doctor's little daughter received a telegram from a Wall street broker which read: "By order of Mr. Russell Sage, I have bought for your account — shares of — stock." As soon as the doctor read the dispatch he hurried to a Philadelphia friend, who was a broker, and ordered him to buy — shares of the stock mentioned for his (the doctor's) account. The stock fluctuated, and when it was selling at a price which would pay a good profit the broker advised the doctor to sell, but the doctor did not take the advice. Later a dispatch came from the New York broker to the little girl. It read: "Have sold for your account — shares of — stock." The doctor immediately unloaded his holdings. These transactions were repeated several times and not only made the doctor a small fortune, but won for him a reputation as a shrewd financier. A final telegram came from New York for the little girl: "Have closed out your holdings and mail you a check for — thousands." The doctor unloaded and dropped out of the stock market as suddenly as he had entered it, much to the mystification of his broker and friends, who had heard of his successes, but never knew whether to attribute them to a "Henrietta" luck or to careful study of the stock dealt in.—Baltimore Sun.

CARRARA QUARRIES.

How the Men Set About to Lower the Fragments of Marble.

As soon as a great fragment of marble detached by the blast has stopped rolling it is more or less roughly squared into a block weighing, say, forty tons.

Then the men set about getting it down. Along certain lines of descent offering the least resistance to a body descending by force of gravitation a succession of stout posts has been firmly driven into the loose stones and marble waste. The men by means of crowbars and screw jacks raise the block on to a soaped skid of hard beech wood, of which they have several at hand. Before doing this they secure the block by means of three long three to five inch hempen cables, with which they take turns around the posts and pay out sufficient rope only to allow of the ponderous mass sliding over the soaped skids by its own weight and the angle of the incline, but not to allow of its gaining too much momentum.

During this descent, besides the men trailing on to the ropes, two or more men are seated on the block. A man following closely in its wake hands them up the skid just passed over, which they resoop and hand down to a man, who keeps just in front of the moving mass, to put down in its path and so provide a continuous slipway. This last mentioned worker has the most perilous task. If one of the cables part at a critical moment or if a mistake be made in paying out or slackening them, he must inevitably be crushed.

It is a fine sight to see the men at the last pinch, near the railhead, hand levering the marble over rollers on to the truck. At this stage all hands are yelling like demons at their work, but the moment their burden is safely entrained every man flings down his tool, and all bolt for the osteria, or wine-shop.—Pearson's Magazine.

Baldness Not Due to Modern Flour.

The human race was afflicted with baldness and toothlessness centuries before white flour was known. It is possible that both these afflictions are less prevalent now than in the olden times. At the open time pictures and statues of the dead races showed up a good percentage of bald heads, and tooth pulling and filling and even artificial toothmaking were practiced away back in history. Out of the ruins of Pompeii and Herculaneum are taken whole sets of false teeth along with loaves of bran bread.

The Ideal and the Real.

Uncle Joe—This is a queer world. City Man—What makes you think so? Uncle Joe—Well, a painter feller came down to my place last summer and while he was loafing about painted a picture of my dog. I heard afterward that he sold it for $50, so I brought up the dog, thinking I could get at least a cool $100 for him; but, by jingo, I can't even give him away!

Strenuous Society Life.

Dorothy—Six luncheons in one week! Did your gowns hold out? Isabel—Yes, indeed. But I hadn't any conversation for the last two days.—Puck.

In the course of a century an acre of constantly cultivated land loses no less than 12,000 pounds of alkalis.

There is one thing that can be said for March weather—it is of more different kinds than any other brand.

The appearance of openwork hosiery on the streets may be regarded as an unflattering harbinger of spring.

Advice to the Widow.

Widow (tearfully)—Yes, my daughters are now my only resources. Friend—Take my advice and husband your resources well.—Princeton Tiger.

In a few weeks the weather will be such that the storage of wads of money in stoves will begin again.

CURIOSITIES OF SOUND.

Every Noise Has Its Corresponding Note on the Musical Scale.

In very high or mountainous regions sounds become diminished in loudness so that a conversation cannot be carried on in an ordinary tone of voice. In mines or in a diving bell the reverse of this is the case. Speech becomes so startling that it must be carried on in whispers to be at all endurable to the ear. Sounds of all kinds become musical if the vibrations of air are uniform and rapid enough. It is said that the puffs of an engine would make a tremendous organ peal of music if they could be made to attain the rapidity of fifty or sixty a second. Everything in nature has its keynote, as it were, and attuned to one particular musical sound. This fact can be very easily verified in everyday life. Stand near an open piano and speak in an ordinary tone. While speaking you will suddenly hear a string within reverberate to your voice. The tick of a watch, the sound of every human voice, the bark of a dog, the mew of a cat, the noise of a wagon, the roll of thunder, the fall of rain, the running of water—in fact, everything about us can easily be placed by an attentive ear on its proper musical note, one of the sounds of the scale. This is a most interesting experiment and easily verified.

It is said that the ear can distinguish eleven octaves of sound; but, as a rule, those made by quick, short vibrations are more easily conveyed. For instance, the whirr of a locust makes a more distinct impression than the sighing of the wind through the trees. A whirlwind in its approach is noiseless. It is only when it strikes some obstacle that the volume of sound becomes terrific to us. Then we receive the secondary shorter waves from the destruction of this obstacle. Tyndall says all friction is rhythmic. Flames are notoriously sensitive to sound. They will bend and flicker and even respond with a leap of quivering light to a high, shrill sound. This is another interesting experiment. If we use a glass tube with a small jet of gas, by lowering or raising it to certain points we can cause it to shriek out shrilly or to answer sympathetically to its own keynote when sung or spoken by the voice.

If we could only hear the roll of the vast oceans in harmony all around us in our everyday life, we could say with truth, indeed, what the poet only imagined: "There's not the smallest orb which thou beholdest but in its orbit like an angel sings, still quiring to the young eyed cherubim."—Baltimore American.

The Shepherd and His Flock.

A certain good bishop was in Italy for his health, and while walking in the country one day he met a small girl who was tending some pigs. The animals were giving her a great deal of trouble, and the good bishop offered to stay and watch the ones that were grunting and rooting in a ditch while the little shepherdess went to catch two runaways that had strayed from the fold. When she came back, the reverend gentleman stroked the unkempt curly head of the child and asked her how much she earned by her hard work and was told that she received 4 soldi a day.

"Do you know," said he, "that I, too, am a shepherd? But I earn much more than you."

"Ah, yes," answered the little peasant, "but, no doubt, you tend many more pigs than I do."

Arthur Simms, of McHenry, representing the Milwaukee Harvester Company, was here the first of the week setting up machines for their agent H. L. Prehm.

The proposition authorizing a special gravel tax was carried by 76 votes. The voters are jubilant over the large majority in which this proposition was carried, and it will, as a result, get in line with adjoining towns in improving roads.

The village caucus was held Saturday evening at the village hall and was largely attended. The following nominations were made: President of the board of trustees, E. A. Ficke, was nominated by acclamation; Wm Buesching, Herman Helfer and Fred Hoeft were nominated to succeed themselves. For village clerk, H. L. Prehm was renominated.

The township election held Tuesday brought out a large vote, 225 votes being cast with only 3 defective. The result was as follows: Town clerk, H. L. Prehm; assessor, August Froelich; collector, Emil Frank; commissioner of highways, Robert Schneible; school trustee, Fred Thies. The only opposition was for the office of assessor, August Schwerman being defeated by 14 votes.

Tonne-Holle Wedding.

The following account of the Tonne-Holle nuptials was received too late for publication last week:

Miss Sophie Holle and Wm. Tonne were united in marriage at the Lake Zurich church by Rev. Heinrich Tuesday evening, March 31. After the ceremony, one of the largest receptions Lake Zurich has known for years occurred at the Lake Zurich Golf club house under the management of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ficke. Most everybody in the village attended the reception, besides relatives from out of town. A splendid supper was indulged in about 10 o'clock, after which Hapke and Hicks, of Wauconda, furnished music for a dance in which almost everybody present took part till early in the morning. A general good time was had by all. Presents of all kinds were given to the happy young couple. The bridesmaids were Misses Anna Scholz and Minnie Buesching. Chas. Weitzer and Fred Buesching acted as best men. The young couple need no introduction to the public, both being well known. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Holle of this place, and is respected by all, young and old. The groom is an honest, upright young man, having been employed by the Lake Zurich Golf club for the last three years, and is liked by the public as well as by his employers. Mr. and Mrs. Tonne will hereafter have the management of the club house, where they will be at home to their friends.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me. It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. The third grade was recently given the subject, "How Butter is Made," upon which to write a composition. Wonderful indeed were some of the results. Why, the daughter of one of our prominent farmers really informed us that we must churn the "butter" for half an hour, when it becomes yellow.

The photographs of our school taken by Mr. Tuttle are completed and already disposed of. They are handsomely finished and good pictures as all testify, and general satisfaction has been expressed by all purchasers. It is our intention to frame one and present it to the school in the near future.

Those pupils whose names will be placed upon the roll of honor for March are Eddie, Befa, Elsie and Theodore Bourkland, Gertrude and Irving Hager, Almeida, Hermie and Leopold Hawk, Edna, Chester, Vernon, Warren and Lester Hollister, Myrtle Leonard, Raymond and Reuben Rieke and Fred Smith.

Some thirty odd books have been added to our library. We are quite proud of our collection, which consists of sixty-two volumes, and we know that we are justified in feeling thus. All of our new books are large, strongly bound and plainly printed. Most of them are noted stories of fiction. Among these are works of Irving, Hawthorne, Alcott, Dickens, Kipling, Lytton, Cooper, Sienkiewicz and many other prominent authors.

We have at least one bright 3-year-old in our school. He actually fooled a grown man on the 1st day of April. How? Oh, he only went to the well-informed storekeeper at Chicago Highlands early in the morning of that day, and said he wanted two ounces of mosquito fat for a sore throat. The gentleman drew himself up, looked very wise and said he was sorry but they were all out of it. He thought, however, that it could be bought at the drug store in Barrington.

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a women's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels—health—is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure-all, but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get this reliable remedy at H. T. Abbott's. Price 25c and 75c.

CARPENTERSVILLE.

James Bumsted is slowly recovering. Roy Miller has been quite ill with chills and fever this week.

Mrs. Roy Gering has been entertaining Miss Laura Sholes of Ely.

Dwight Bailey has employment in Chicago, and will soon move to that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bryant will occupy the house vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison.

The little son of Wm. Copes, who has been very ill of pneumonia, is slowly recovering.

Mike Kelley has moved his family and household goods to Racine, Wis., where he has employment.

Will Disbrow has left the employ of the Milk Condensing company and expects soon to leave for California to reside.

Mrs. Mary Hubbard, of Nunda, is here this week, getting her home ready for A. E. Arvedson, who has rented it.

Mrs. Hawkinson, who lives on the West Side, was genuinely surprised by a number of her lady friends Tuesday afternoon. Light refreshments were served.

Raymond Harrison has bought the Larson home on Washington street and will move into it soon. Mr. Larson will occupy the house vacated by Chas. Harvey and owned by Miss S. M. Eggleston.

Rev. E. D. Wyckoff was taken wholly by surprise Tuesday evening at the parsonage by a host of parishioners and friends, who came to pay their respects to himself and family. Ice cream and cake was served and a delightful evening was passed.

To Colorado in 1903. The passenger department of the Chicago & Northwestern railway has issued a very interesting folder, giving information as to reduced rates and sleeping car service, with a short description of the various points of interest in Colorado usually visited by tourists, these excursion rates applying on account of the Christian Endeavor meeting to be held at Denver, July 9 to 13. Send 2-cent stamp for copy, to W. B. Kniskern, Passenger Traffic Manager, Chicago.

ELECTIONS HELD IN MANY STATES

Returns Indicate That Siebecker Is Elected to Wisconsin Supreme Bench.

MAYOR STEPHENS IS DEFEATED

Official Who Held the Position in East St. Louis for Fourteen Years and Was Looked Upon as Invincible Is Retired by Reform Element.

City elections were held Tuesday in Wisconsin, Nebraska, Colorado, Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri, West Virginia and Kansas and the results generally were victorious, or substantial gains for the Republicans. In Wisconsin there was also an election for a justice of the supreme court to succeed Charles V. Bardeen, deceased, of Robert G. Siebecker. In St. Louis the election was exciting on account of the vigorous efforts made to overthrow the members of the municipal assembly in the boodle exposure and prosecutions.

Reform Wins.

In East St. Louis the independent municipal ticket swept the field, all the candidates but one alderman being elected. On the issues of municipal reform and compensation for franchisee Silas Cook defeated Mayor Stephens, who had held the office for fourteen years, and was deemed by his friends to be invincible. At Belleville Fred J. Kern, former congressman, was elected mayor. At Rock Island William McConochie, Republican, was elected mayor and the entire Republican ticket, except one alderman, was successful. Quincy re-elected Mayor Steinbach, Democrat, by 1,000 majority; two Republican aldermanic candidates were successful, the Democrats capturing everything else. At Galesburg the citizens' ticket elected the mayor, treasurer, assessor and one alderman; the Liberals elected clerk, attorney, three supervisors, and six aldermen. Moline elected Charles F. Skinner and most of the Republican ticket.

Township Results.

Township and municipal elections were held throughout Illinois. At Joliet the Republicans won, there being no opposition. The entire Democratic ticket, except road commissioner, was elected in Empire township. The Democrats were successful also at Chenoa, Minonk, Ramsey, Hurricane, and Otis. At Sheldon the Republicans elected assessor and school trustee, and the Democrats the remainder of the ticket. At Aurora E. J. Raymond, labor candidate, was elected town clerk over W. J. Pfrangle, who has held the office twelve years.

Republicans elected their tickets at Maros, Robinson, Carson, Bowling Green, Paw Paw, Waukegan, Tuscola, February, Union.

Clinton Is Republican.

At Clinton the Republicans elected their entire ticket, except collector. At Lockport the Republicans elected assistant supervisor, town clerk, assessor and school trustee, while the Democrats elected supervisors, collector and highway commissioner. At Carbondale the entire Republican ticket was elected, and in Jackson county the board of supervisors probably will be Republican by one majority. Democrats elected the entire ticket at Moweaqua. At Bement the Democrats elected the assessor, while the Republicans elected the rest of the ticket.

WOMAN IS THRICE WOUNDED

Wisconsin Man Tries to Kill Companion and Commits Suicide. Fond du Lac, Wis., dispatch: Samuel Clark shot May Mitchell three times, causing three serious but not necessarily fatal wounds. The woman then got away and ran screaming into the street. As soon as he realized what he had done Clark shot himself through the heart, death being almost instantaneous. May Mitchell formerly had lived with Clark, but left him about two weeks ago.

At Other Illinois Points.

Republicans were victorious in Centralia and Brookside townships and in North Litchfield elected five out of six candidates. In Wenona four Republicans and three Democrats were elected. At Assumption four Republicans and two Democrats were elected. Republicans elected all except the collector at Kewanee, and at Henry elected four and the Democrats elected two. Three Republicans and three Democrats were elected in Patton township. In Bloomington township the Republicans elected their entire ticket. In Lisle and Naperville townships the Republicans elected the larger number of candidates.

Wisconsin Results.

Comparatively few mayors were elected in Wisconsin and there were few political changes in the cities which chose an executive. Oshkosh re-elected Mayor Mulva, Democrat, and the indications are that La Crosse has defeated the Republican candidate, who suffered most heavily in the aristocratic wards.

Fox Lake, Waukesha and Marinette went Republican. The Democrats carried Neenah, Menasha, Amherst, Berlin, Portage and Beaver Dam.

License carried in Lake Mills, Glenwood, Stoughton, Sparta, Deerfield, Richland Center, Sturgeon Bay, and Broadhead. Viroqua voted against license.

Organized labor swept Beloit in the election of aldermen.

The congregation of Christ Lutheran church was singing this hymn as the body of Gottlieb Strecker was brought into the church. Mrs. Kohler, Stracker's stepdaughter, whispered to a relative that her own end might not be far off. At the last words of the hymn died away Mrs. Kohler fell, dying almost instantly.

THE IMPRESSIONS OF A WOMAN.

What a Woman Says About Western Canada.

Although many men have written to this paper regarding the prospects of Western Canada and its great possibilities, it may not be uninteresting to give the experience of a woman settler, written to Mr. M. V. McInnes, the agent of the government at Detroit, Mich. If the reader wishes to get further information regarding Western Canada it may be obtained by writing any of the agents of the Government whose name is attached to the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this paper.

The following is the letter referred to:

Hilldown, Alberta, Feb. 5, '03.

Dear Sir—I have been here now nearly five years, and thought I would write you a woman's impression of Western Canada—in Alberta. There are several ranchers in this district who, in addition to taking care of their cattle, carry on farming as well; their herds of cattle number from 100 to 200 or 300 head, and live out all winter without any shelter than the poplar bluffs, and they come in in the spring in good order. Most of the ranchers feed their cattle part of the time, about this time of the year, but I have seen the finest fat cattle I ever saw that never got a peck of grain—only fattened on the grass. You see I have learned to talk farm since I came here—farming is the great business here. I know several in this district who never worked a day on the farm till they came here, and have done well and are getting well off.

I think this will be the garden of the Northwest some day, and that day not very far distant. There has been a great change since we came here, and there will be a greater change in the next five years. The winters are all anyone could wish for. We have very little snow, and the climate is fine and healthy. Last summer was wet, but not to an extent to damage crops, which were a large average yield and the hay was immense—and farmers wore a broad smile accordingly.

We have good schools, the government pays 70 per cent of the expense of education, which is a great boon in a new country. Of course churches of different denominations follow the settlements. Summer picnics and winter concerts are all well attended, and as much, or more, enjoyed as in the East. Who would not prefer the pure air of this climate with its broad acres of fine farms, its rippling streams, its beautiful lakes, its millions of wild flowers, its groves of wild fruit of exquisite flavor, its streams and lakes teeming with fish and its prairies and bluffs with game, to the crowded and stiff state of society in the East. I would like to go home for a visit some time, but not to go there to live, even if presented with the best farm in Michigan. Beautiful Alberta, I will never leave it. And my verdict is only a repetition of all who have settled in this country. This year I believe will add many thousands to our population. And if the young men, and old men also, knew how easy they could make a home free of all incumbrance in this country, thousands more would have settled here. I would sooner have 160 acres here than any farm where I came from in Michigan, but the people in the East are coming to a knowledge of this country, and as they do, they will come West in thousands. All winter people have been arriving in Alberta, and I suppose in other parts as well, which is unusual, so we expect a great rush when the weather gets warmer.

We have no coal famine here. Coal can be bought in the towns for $2 to $3, according to distance from the mines, and many haul their own coal from the mines, getting it there for 50 cents to a dollar a ton. Very truly yours, (Signed) Mrs. John McLachlan.

Mr. Blaine's Advice.

About the latest Carnegie story: One evening at a reception Mr. Blaine said to a friend: "Do you know Mr. Carnegie has put a strange question to me—whether he should accept the offer of a seat in the house of commons or one of an election to the house of representatives?" "And what advice did you give him, Mr. Blaine?" the friend asked. "Oh, I told him," Blaine answered, "that if he accepted a seat in the house of commons he would be a greater man in America, but if he took an election to the house of representatives he would be a greater man in England."

ECZEMA

Psoriasis, Scalded Head, Milk Crust, Tetter, Ringworm, etc.

Speedily, Permanently and Economically Cured, when All Else Fails, by

Cuticura

The agonizing, itching, and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair, and crusting of the scalp, as in scalded head; the facial disfigurements, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford immediate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy have made them the standard skin cures, blood purifiers and humor remedies of the civilized world.

Complete External and Internal Treatment

Bathe the affected parts with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation, and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and, lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent to cool and cleanse the blood. This complete treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning, and scaly humors of the skin, scalp and blood, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure when all other remedies and the best physicians fail. As evidence of the wonderful curative properties of Cuticura Remedies and of their worldwide sale, we quote from

The Hon. Mr. Justice Finnemore's Letter.

"I desire to give my voluntary testimony to the beneficial effects of your Cuticura Remedies. I have suffered for some time from an excess of uric acid in the blood; and since the middle of last year, from a severe attack of Eczema, chiefly on the scalp, face, ears and neck, and on one limb. I was for several months under professional treatment, but the remedies prescribed were of no avail, and I was gradually becoming worse, my face was dreadfully disfigured, and I lost nearly all my hair. At last, my wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I gave them a thorough trial with the most satisfactory results. The disease soon began to disappear, and my hair commenced to grow again. A fresh growth of hair is covering my head, and my limb (although not yet quite cured) is gradually improving. My wife thinks so highly of your remedies that she has been purchasing them in order to make presents to other persons suffering from similar complaints, and, as President of the Bible Women's Society, has told the Bible women to report if any case should come under her notice when a poor person is so afflicted, so that your remedies may be resorted to." ROBERT ISAAC FINNEMORE, (Judge of the Natal Supreme Court.)

Pietermaritzburg, Natal, Oct. 29, 1901. CUTICURA REMEDIES are sold throughout the civilized world. PRICES: Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. per bottle (in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60); Cuticura Ointment, 50c. per box, and Cuticura Soap, 25c. per tablet. THE FAST TRAINS TO CHICAGO.

New York Central's Express Service Added To.

George H. Daniels, General Passenger Agent of the New York Central Road, talking yesterday of the company's fast train service, said that, in addition to the new twenty-hour train there are now four twenty-four-hour trains to Chicago and two Empire State expresses daily.

The Twentieth Century Limited, twenty-hour train, leaves New York every day at 2:45 p. m. and arrives at Chicago the next morning at 9:45. The Lake Shore Limited leaves New York at 5:30 every afternoon, arriving in Chicago the next afternoon at 4:30. The Fast Mail, a fine twenty-four-hour train, leaves New York at 8:45 a. m. every day, reaching Chicago the next morning at 7:50, by both the Lake Shore and the Michigan Central. The noonday Chicago Limited leaves New York at 1 p. m., reaching Chicago by the Lake Shore the next morning at 11:50, a twenty-four-hour train, really twenty-three hours and fifty minutes. The Detroit and Chicago Limited leaves New York at 4 p. m., reaching Chicago the next afternoon, a fourth twenty-four-hour train. — From the New York Times.

Note—The New York Central also has 15 trains a day between New York and Buffalo and Niagara Falls; 5 trains a day between New York and St. Louis and Cincinnati; 4 trains a day between New York and Montreal and by its Boston and Albany Division 4 trains a day between New York and Boston via Springfield.

Growth of Pacific Trade. With the exception of the Empresses, built for the Canadian Pacific railroad, there was not until the Spanish-American war a first-class steamer on the Northern Pacific. Now the largest steamers ever constructed in American waters, and with one exception, the Cedric, the largest steamers ever built, have been ordered for the Pacific ocean traffic.

The Production of Silk. Silk is known to be the secretion of two glands of the silkworm alongside of the digestive canal. These glands, which consist of tubes in numerous coils, terminate in the spinning wart and open in a common orifice from which the secretion, of the consistency of honey, issues forth, promptly hardening into a thread on exposure to air.

BISHOP LEADS BAND OF REBELS

One Thousand Men Are Slain or Wounded in Battle in Okhrida.

AUSTRIA MAY OCCUPY DISTRICT

Has Right Under Treaty of Berlin to Take Possession of Novi Bazar and Vicinity—Revolutionary Committee Is Keeping Busy.

Constantinople cable: News has been received here of a desperate battle between Bulgarian and Turkish troops in the Okhrida district, in which 1,000 men were killed or wounded. The events in the past few days have made a great impression on the Sultan, and there have been many prolonged conferences at the palace.

Meager details of the battle show that the inhabitants of thirty villages, numbering 3,000 men, and supported by the Bishop and a number of revolutionary bands, rose against the Turks. They surrounded a detachment of the Turkish troops in the mountains to the north of Okhrida, but the troops finally made their way out.

The recent uprising in northern Albania has surprised no one here who is conversant with the situation.

Fear Austrian Occupation. The Turkish garrison at Mitrovitza has been reinforced by four battalions of troops, and although affairs of that point and at Prispine are reported to be calmer, the situation in those districts causes intense concern, not only at the palace, but among the ministers and at the embassies.

It is felt that a continuance of the troubles in the vicinity of Novi Bazar is liable to lead at any moment to an extension of Austrian occupation over the entire district, and as far as Mitrovitza, although it is believed that nothing, short of absolute necessity will induce Austria to take advantage of this right, which is reserved to her by the treaty of Berlin.

Attempt to Wreck Express. Another dynamite outrage at the town of Mustapha Pacha has led to the discovery that the revolutionary committee is supposed to be responsible for the attempt to wreck the Oriental express early in the morning of March 31, when the bridge of the Turkish Oriental railroad between Adrianople and Mustapha Pacha was blown up by an infernal machine.

The railroad bridge over the river, thirty miles from Seres, Macedonia, was blown up by Bulgarians during the night of April 1. All the telegraph wires in the vicinity have been cut.

Mission to Albanians. The Sultan has dispatched a special mission to Albania, consisting of a Mullah, a General, and three Albanian officials. They are instructed to try to calm the Albanian ferment and if they do not succeed to issue an ultimatum. It is doubtful, however, whether the Albanians will receive them.

It is stated that 18,000 Albanians from Diakhova and Ipek are preparing to advance on Mitrovitza to avenge their slain countrymen.

TALE OF A CORNED BEEF MINE

Berlin Newspaper Asserts Great Deposits Exist in Yellowstone Park.

Berlin cable: The Neueste Nachrichten announces that a big pressed corned beef mine has been discovered in Yellowstone Park. It says: "Evidently enormous droves of cattle have, during the triocene period, been caught by a revolution of the earth and buried by the thrown down masses. Extensive saline deposits in the district preserved and seasoned the meat. The ice period kept it, and under the influence of immense pressure it has been transformed into a kind of salt meat, not inferior to corned beef. The deposits would be able to furnish meat food to the world for a long time."

HAD SNAKES IN HIS STOMACH

Iowa Farmer Vomits Two Reptiles of the Bull Variety.

Des Moines, Ia., special: J. C. Bicklin, a farmer residing near Waterloo, has recovered suddenly by his own agency from an ailment that had baffled the skill of the best physicians for fifteen years. In desperation he swallowed an emetic, enough to even endanger life. The result was that after going through terrible agony two large bull snakes were ejected from his stomach; one was three feet three inches long and seven-eighths of an inch in diameter. The physicians believed Bicklin insane when he produced the snakes.

Papermakers Are Dissatisfied

Appleton, Wis., special: The United Brotherhood of Papermakers has served a demand upon the manufacturers for fewer hours, and it is said a strike is probable. Three thousand men in Wisconsin, employed in fifteen mills, will be affected.

Birmingham Has $225,000 Fire. Birmingham, Ala., special: The immense storage house of the Birmingham Fertilizer Company, in East Birmingham, said to be operated in the interests of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, was completely destroyed by fire, the loss being estimated at $225,000.

DIPPED IN THE ICY WATER.

Bath in Frigid Weather Not as Unpleasant as Many Suppose.

It is the common impression that one suffers keenly from cold if suddenly immersed in a lake or stream covered with thin ice. Such does not appear to be the case of the experience of a Philadelphian who got such a wetting the other day when skating. He said: "I was skating on ice that kept cracking, and then—smash!—all of a sudden I was overboards. I was in the water, holding on to the jagged edges of the ice. My first thought was a feeling of surprise at the water's warmth. I had gone clean under, head and all, and now I was immersed save for my head, arms and shoulders; yet I wasn't cold; the water actually felt a little warmer than the air. I guess that I was in for six or seven minutes. A plank had to be brought before I could get out. During those minutes the only part of me that suffered was my poor wet hands that clutched the ice. After a minute or two they began to ache with the cold. My body in the water gave me no discomfort and perhaps if I had kept my wet hands in the water they wouldn't have troubled me either. But I couldn't do that or I'd have been carried under the ice."

A Farmer's Good Story.

Velpen, Ind., April 6th.—Wm. O'B. Sullivan, a highly respected farmer of this place, tells a personal experience to show that there is still some genuineness and honest worth to be met with in this age in which so many frauds are reported.

"Yes, I have been humbugged," said Mr. Sullivan, "and when I was so ill with the Rheumatism, Kidney and Heart Trouble, I used a good deal of stuff that claimed to be remedies for these diseases only to find them worthless."

"But, as you know, I did find the genuine remedy after all and I had not been taking Dodd's Kidney Pills very long before I knew that they were an honest remedy that would do all and more than was claimed for them. They cured me, made a well man of me and I am now as sound as I ever was."

"I can testify that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a genuine remedy for Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble."

HOW A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN ESCAPED SPRING CATARRH BY USE OF PERUNA.

Nothing Robs One of Strength Like Spring Catarrh—Spring Fever is Spring Catarrh.

MISS HELEN WHITMAN.

Miss Helen Whitman, 308 1/2 Grand avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "There is nothing like Peruna for that tired feeling, which gives you no ambition for work or play. After a prolonged illness, about a year ago I felt unable to regain my health, but four bottles of Peruna made a wonderful change and restored me to perfect health. As long as you keep your blood in good condition you are all right, and Peruna seems to fill the veins with pure, healthful blood. I thoroughly endorse it."

How to Get Strong Nerves. First, repair the injury already done to your nerves. The way to do this is to do exactly as did Mattie B. Curtis, Secretary of Legion of Loyal Women, Hotel Salem, Boston, Mass. She said in a recent letter: "I suffered for over a year with general weakness and debility manifested in severe headache and backache. I took four bottles of Peruna, and for two months have been entirely free from these maladies."

Nervous Prostration. Thousands of cases might be quoted in which Peruna has been used to restore people from the perdition of damaged nerves, and put them on the good, solid foundation of health. The County Auditor of Erie County, New York, Hon. John W. Neff, in a recent letter written at Buffalo, New York, stated: "I was persuaded by a friend to try a bottle of your great nerve tonic, Peruna, and the results were so gratifying that I am more than pleased to recommend it."

A Spring Tonic. Almost everybody needs a tonic in the spring. Something to brace the nerves, invigorate the brain and cleanse the blood. That Peruna will do this is beyond all question. Everyone who has tried it has had the same experience as Mrs. D. W. Timberlake, of Lynchburg, Va., who in a recent letter, made use of the following words: "I always take a dose of Peruna after business hours, as it is a great thing for the nerves. There is no better spring tonic, and I have used about all of them."

Catarrh in Spring. The spring is the best time to treat catarrh. Nature renews herself every spring. The system is rejuvenated by spring weather. This renders medicines more effective. A short course of Peruna, assisted by the balmy air of spring, will cure old, stubborn cases of catarrh that have resisted treatment for years. Everybody should have a copy of Dr. Hartman's latest book on catarrh. Address the Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Lulu Larmer, Stoughton, Wis., says: "For two years I suffered with nervous trouble and stomach disorders until it seemed that there was nothing to me but a bundle of nerves. I was very irritable, could not sleep, rest or compose myself, and was certainly unfit to take care of a household. I took nerve tonics and pills without benefit. When I began taking Peruna I grew steadily better, my nerves grew stronger, my rest was no longer fitful, and to-day I consider myself in perfect health and strength. My recovery was slow but sure, but I persevered and was rewarded by perfect health." Mrs. Lulu Larmer.

There are two things that we must have in this country, let it cost what it may. They are good roads and good schools. Most everything else will take care of itself, but these we must push from morning till night year in and year out.

Spring has arrived and the time is now opportune to clean up door yards and streets. Let each one make a special effort to aid in cleaning up and beautifying the village. Don't confine your work to the lawn, but pay special attention to the rear of the property.

A preacher riding down a ravine came upon an old mountaineer hiding in the bushes with his rifle. "What are you doing there, my friend?" "Ride on, stranger," was the easy answer, "I'm a-waitin' fer Jim Johnson, and, with the help of the Lawd, I'm goin' to blow his damn head off."

The confirmation exercises at St. Paul's church, Sunday, were conducted by the pastor, Rey. Menzel, and were largely attended by the church members and friends from other churches. The house of worship was prettily decorated with plants and flowers and the ceremony solemn and instructive.

An exchange says: "The grip is tearing its way through the country like a circular saw through a soft pine log. Its onset everywhere is attended with much wailing and gnashing of teeth. Where is the benefactor of the human race who will discover an effective anti-toxin for the distressing malady?"

A Wauconda girl was caught kissing her sweetheart a few days ago. Her mother took her to task for such actions, but the girl silenced her by this quotation: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them." The old lady wilted. Memories of old were brought forcibly to mind.

The prize offered to members of the Thursday Club by Mrs. Ada McIntosh, for the correct answers of a number of historical questions, has been awarded to Mrs. Jennie Powers. The questions pertained to both ancient and modern history and required an amount of research by those who entered the contest. Mrs. Powers deserves just praise for her work.

The Illinois Amalgamated Farm Hands' Union is the newest thing in organized labor. An exchange says that the hands will demand a general increase. General hands who work all the year around will demand, it is stated, $35 a month and board. The usual wages for service in Illinois is $20 a month. The wage scale is said to include thrashers, corn huskers, plowmen, binders, stock laborers and all men employed about the farms.

The man who participates in a primary and refuses to support the ticket nominated is simply dishonorable. Had his friend or friends been nominated, he would have justly demanded the support of all who took part in the primary. The man who thus repudiates his obligations has no right to complain of bossism or unfairness, for his is simply the boss spirit. "If I can't have my way I won't play."

W. R. Hearst, it is said, has chartered a special train to take fifty or sixty members of congress through the territories of Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma for the purpose of investigating the qualifications for those territories for statehood. If Mr. Hearst is going to introduce his newspaper methods of doing things—bringing things to pass—we may expect a lively session when that body meets.

FOR VILLAGE OFFICERS.

Representative Ticket Nominated at Caucus Saturday Night.

The following is the ticket to be voted for at the coming village election:

President—Miles T. Lamey.
Clerk—L. H. Bennett.
Trustees—Silas Robertson, J. F. Gieske, Herman Schwemm.

The caucus called last Saturday evening for the purpose of placing in nomination a president, clerk and three trustees to serve the village during the coming year, proved a most harmonious meeting. If there was any opposition it did not materialize.

The caucus broke all records as a clean cut, well-managed affair, only 22 minutes of time being consumed in making the nominations.

L. H. Bennett called the meeting to order, when M. C. McIntosh was named for chairman and C. H. Morrison as secretary.

Lyman Powers and J. E. Heise were appointed as tellers.

Nominations being in order. G. H. Comstock named Miles T. Lamey for president and the nomination was generously seconded. F. L. Waterman was also placed in nomination.

The ballot resulted as follows: M. T. Lamey, 100; F. L. Waterman, 22.

For clerk, E. F. Wichman named L. H. Bennett, and there being no other candidate mentioned, Mr. Bennett was chosen by acclamation.

Nominations for trustees were made as follows: Silas Robertson, J. F. Gieske and Herman Schwemm. A. H. Boehmer was also named, but withdrew his name before a ballot was taken. The result was the unanimous nomination of Silas Robertson, J. F. Gieske and Herman Schwemm.

The caucus then adjourned. The ticket is a good one, and will meet with the same hearty support at the polls as it did in the primary.

The renomination of President Lamey for a third term guarantees a progressive administration of village affairs on a line with that which has characterized the past two terms of his incumbency of the office.

L. H. Bennett has filled the duties of the clerk's office in a manner satisfactory to the board and the people. His renomination was deserved.

In the selection of Silas Robertson, Frank Gieske and Herman Schwemm for trustees, the people are assured of a safe and economical management of public affairs, the gentlemen named being conservative and enterprising.

The Review predicts that the ticket as chosen will receive unanimous support as it should.

Pronounced Varioloid.

The home of John C. Plagge on Cook street is quarantined as is also the cottage occupied by Mrs. Brinkamp on Liberty street. At each of those places there is a case of modified smallpox or, as medical men term it, varioloid. Exaggerated reports are in circulation regarding those cases.

There is no danger of an epidemic. The health of the people of this village is good.

To Divide the District.

The Chicago Highlands association have petitioned the board of trustees of school district 90 for a division of the district, that the association may erect a school building at the Highlands.

The petition was presented and arguments heard Monday afternoon. Taxpayers of No. 90 are adverse to having the district divided at the present time, for the simple and good reason, made plain by them, that it is not necessary for the interests of the district.

Again they protest against the petition which does not contain the name of one single taxpayer and very few bona fide residents, that is residents who propose to make that vicinity a permanent home.

District No. 90, known as the White district, is now maintaining an excellent school and providing for all pupils who come into the district. It is said that to now make the division asked will cripple the district financially, and place a barrier in the way of the progress of pupils in that district.

A Home Wedding.

At the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Niemeier, Tuesday evening, April 7, Ida C. Niemeier and Almo C. Sinnett were united in marriage, Rev. W. H. Tuttle officiating.

The affair was strictly a private wedding, only the immediate relatives and friends being present. The service that made them one was spoken at 8 o'clock, and immediately afterwards the company sat down to a bountiful feast of good things.

Mr. and Mrs. Sinnett will at once be "at home" on the Justin Fellows farm, a few miles northwest of Barrington.

The Zimmerman estate, which has dragged through the courts for some time, has had a final hearing and will soon be offered for sale to comply with the decree of the court. Monday the appraisers, C. H. Morrison, Fred Kirschner and D. H. Richardson viewed the property and placed the values upon the lots and houses. The appraisal reaches a total of $6,275. A decree of the court apportioned the property as follows: Jacob Zimmerman, one-fifth undivided portion; Margartha Starck, one-fifth undivided portion; Mary Dornbusch, one-fifth undivided portion; Clarence J. Fisher, four-thirtieths undivided portion; Theresa Zimmerman, one-tenth undivided portion; Cosmos Zimmerman, one-tenth undivided portion; Clarence J. Fisher, Sr., two-thirtieths undivided portion.

Wedding Anniversary.

The 20th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Catlow was celebrated at their home, Saturday April 4. Nearly 200 invitations were issued for the event and about 150 relatives and friends responded.

The affair proved a most enjoyable one in every respect, and all tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Catlow best wishes for many years more of happy wedded life.

Carter H. Harrison was on Tuesday elected for the fourth time as mayor of Chicago. In the campaign he was opposed for the coveted honor by Graeme Stewart, a leading business man and well-known republican politician, who was ably supported by the press of Chicago and a great number of influential men outside of his party, but Mr. Stewart was regarded as a Lorimer candidate, and the people of Chicago will not swallow Billy Lorimer or men of his selection. That is why Carter H. is in power.

The editor of the Williamsville (Ill.) Index composed and published a five-column article describing the dedicatory services of their new and costly church, and printed 100 extra copies, thinking that extra copies would be in demand. To the editor's surprise, he sold only one copy and that was to a member of no church. Is this an argument for yellow papers? Had the editor devoted the same space to sporting or scandal he would have had different results. This is a sad but true condition of affairs which newspaper men are facing every day.

WEDDED FIFTY YEARS.

Former Barrington Couple Celebrates Golden Wedding Anniversary in Nebraska Home.

From the Chester (Neb.) Herald we clip the following, which will be read with interest by the many friends of the parties in this vicinity:

Fifty years ago today, April 3, 1853, Ernest Rieke, one of our oldest and respected German citizens, married the girl of his choice, Miss Sophie Schrader, in that far-away country, Australia, and today, April 3, 1903, at their comfortable home in this city, they are holding a family reunion in honor of that most happy event.

Ernest Rieke was born in Lippe, department Mott, Germany, March 16, 1830; left that country in 1848 or '49 landing in Australia.

Sophia Schrader was born in Mecklenburg, Germany, September 15, 1836, left there in 1848, and went to Australia, where she met and was married to Ernest Rieke April 3, 1853.

Together they left Australia in 1855, and after a long and stormy passage by land and sea, they arrived at Chicago in the fall of the same year. They then moved to Barrington, Ill., and settled on a farm now owned by Fred Kampert, where they resided for twenty-six years; leaving there they lived on a farm of Hawley Brothers for one year, then purchased the Wheaton farm where they lived five years.

Then they decided to move to Nebraska, and purchased three-quarters of a section of land just west of Chester, where they lived for twelve years, and then moved onto a smaller farm just north of town, and in the fall of 1902 they moved to Chester, where they live at the present time.

This happy union was blessed with thirteen children, four boys and nine girls, all are married, and all were present at their golden wedding anniversary.

Newspaper Proverbs.

S. W. Gillian, the funny man of the Baltimore American and secretary of the recently-organized Association of Newspaper Versifiers and Humorists, has coined the following proverbs out of twenty years' experience:

The chap who tries hardest to work a newspaper for special favors is the one who never spends a cent with it and is not even a subscriber.

The one who demands the highest excellence in typography, subject matter and quantity of contents does the least to help the cause along.

The man who kicks most about the inaccuracy of newspapers in general is the one who does least to assist in getting the facts accurately when he has an opportunity to do so.

The man who has it in for newspapers in general has had the bitter truth told about him once by some unusually frank reporter and has a big sore spot.

The man who brings in the longest obituary of the late deceased was not a model husband always.

The woman who declares it's none of the public's business and she "won't talk, so there," always winds up by giving the reporter a rattling good story so fast that he can't take it down in shorthand.

The man who begs that his name be left out of the list of drunks for fear it will hurt his mother's feelings never considered that good lady's sensibilities before in his life.

The men who spend the most money with the paper kick the least.

If you expect a man to find a compliment about himself, you must put it on the front page in boldface type. If you put in a one line roast in nonpareil between two patent medicine ads. on the steenth page, he'll find it and come hunting the man who write the piece.
