ADDIE FILBERT, Secretary.

Our school has had a prosperous year and we would like to see the same corps of teachers in charge another year.

WANTS WHIPPING TO STOP.

Superintendent Tells Teachers to Avoid Corporal Punishment.

At the last regular meeting of the Cook County Teachers' association held in Chicago last Saturday, County Superintendent Nightingale urged the pedagogues to avoid corporal punishment.

"I would advise the teacher who cannot get the love of her pupils to quit the profession," said the superintendent, "and you certainly do not get that love if you use corporal punishment. Ninety-five per cent. of all corporal punishment inflicted is the result of the temper of the person who does the punishing."

One of the teachers present said he could not manage his pupils without inflicting corporal punishment.

"I have no patience with a teacher who cannot get along with pupils without whipping them or inflicting some other punishment," said Dr. Nightingale. "Don't you feel bad when you go home after having slapped the face of a pupil?"

Professor S. H. Clark, of the University of Chicago spoke on "Why We Teach Literature." He said in part:

"There should be one subject in the school curriculum which does not have as its object the silver dollar. I am glad that there is one thing which cannot be classed as eternally and infernally practical. The teaching of literature to children does not enable the child to make money and accumulate wealth."

"If one does not learn literature in the sense of getting the meaning from the text then they have failed. It is the purpose of the teacher to fit the mind of the child so that he will love to get the meaning from the beautiful in literature."

Woodmen Must Pay.

According to a decision of a circuit judge of Peoria the Modern Woodmen order is compelled to pay insurance on railroad employes who are members of the order. The decision was rendered on a demurrer. John Green, a T. P. & W. brakeman, was killed in a railroad accident and at the time of his death he held a policy in the Modern Woodmen of America. The Woodmen resisted payment on the ground that the plaintiff was engaged in a prohibitive employment and the subordinate lodge should not have taken his assessments. The court held that the camp which Green joined was the agent of the order and that the order must be held responsible for the acts of its agents.

Hopes to Rival Chicago.

The metropolis of Lake county located on the lake shore, aspires to equal Chicago as a shipping port and attract the marine of the great lakes. It's one thing to aspire and another to gain the coveted position.

The harbor appropriation will greatly aid in the development of Waukegan, but years of toil and millions of money must be expended at Waukegan before the shipping interests of the great lakes will make the Waukegan harbor a terminal. Still there is no harm in trying to rival Chicago. This is an age of miracles and the capital of Lake county may awake some morning and find that she is the only town of commercial importance on the map and Zion City a suburb.

Essay on Newspapers.

It was a country schoolboy who, upon being asked to write an essay on the newspaper, wrote: "Newspapers are called vehicles of information. Editors are men who know everything in the heavens above and the earth beneath. They are writers who don't write anything whatsoever. They are the biggest men you ever see. Printers devils is the most important persons in a printing office. They does the hardest work and gets the least pay. If ever I start a paper of my own, I'll call it the umbrella. Everybody will take it. A man was walking down the street with a little boy at his side when the little fellow cried out, 'Oh, pa, there goes the editor!' 'Hush, hush!' said the father. 'Don't make sport of the poor man. God only knows what you may come to yet.'"

Our citizens have had a banking experience they will not soon forget, and the only banking institution which will be able to do business here now will be a local stock company. Mr. Stroker, of Palatine, who has had several years experience in the banking business in Chicago, and is now employed in the Bank of Chicago, was here the first of the week discussing the proposition of a local stock company bank with our citizens. A Decided Curse.

Is it not a fact that the men really spend in treating amounts that they really would hesitate to give away, no matter how deserving the charity? It is a trait of human character that comes through this all-absorbing disposition to "hold your end up" when with a friend. Hundreds of men take thousands of drinks that they do not want and other hundreds pay for thousands that are not desired. Two men meet and one says: "Mighty glad to see you. Let's have something." Neither generally needs or even wants a drink. But the man who offers it wants to show that he is generous. He takes this method of proving that he is glad to meet his friend. The friend, after he has taken the drink that he did not want, to prove that he too is a good fellow, insists upon a second round. The German custom of entering a saloon, taking a drink and paying for it, and for no others, if adopted in America would prove a blessing. The American custom of treating is decidedly a curse. What we do for friendship's sake costs us many a dollar and many a pang.

CONVICT LABOR
LAW MAY BE VOID

Question of Its Validity Will Come Up on Omission of Word.

FIRST SIGNED, THEN AMENDED

After the Measure Has Been Sent to the Secretary of State by the Governor It Is Called Back and Corrected by Clerk.

JEALOUSY OVER GIRLS IS CAUSE OF MURDER

Young Man Is Shot While Returning From a Visit to His Sweetheart at Hemlock, Ind.

Kokomo, Ind., special: Bad blood, which long has existed between the boys of the towns of Oakford and Hemlock, largely resulting from jealousy over girls, is believed to be responsible for what are now supposed to be two cold-blooded murders.

The last victim is Louis Yager of Oakford, who was last seen alive by his sweetheart, Miss Myrtle Finley, who is a Hemlock girl. He drove away in his buggy, but when the horse arrived at Yager's home the young man, who was only 23 years old, was found Missing Amendment.

The missing amendment was the word "willfully" which the legislature had ordered inserted in line 3, section 26 of the printed bill, the penalty section. Without that word, carrying intent, violation of the act might not be an offense, thus leaving the law practically unenforceable.

The amendment, providing for the insertion of the word "willfully" undoubtedly was concurred in by the house after the bill went through the senate. The error was made when it went through the hands of the house enrolling and engrossing clerk for enrollment and presentation to the governor. Then the word "willfully" was left out.

Question of Validity.
The point on which the question of the bill's validity now hangs is this:

The incorrectly enrolled bill presented to and signed by the governor was not the bill passed by the general assembly. The corrected bill now on file in the secretary of state's office is the bill passed by the legislature, but not the bill actually signed by the governor. Lawyers say a difference of one word between copies of bills is the same in effect as a difference by the omission of a whole section from one of them.

Courts Must Decide.

Clerk Reeve justifies what has been done by citing the high license bill of years ago, which was taken to the Supreme Court on the point that verbal changes had been made in the bill after it had been presented to the governor. In that case, however, the changes were made before the bill had been actually signed and had left the governor's hands. In this case, as shown, the bill had been signed and filed before the missing amendment was inserted.

Outline of Bill.
The convict labor bill, broadly speaking, provides that all work by convicts on contract shall cease in Illinois after July 1, 1904. Thereafter the convicts must be employed only on making supplies for state institutions and for the political divisions of the state, and in the manufacture of such products as will not come upon the open market and will not enter into competition with free labor. This law, obviously, will deal a hard blow at the manufacturers who have had the favor of prison contracts and who will lose heavily by abolition of the system. It is usually their habit to fight a new law when they have such a point to hang a fight on as is presented in this instance.

SQUADRON IN PE-CHI-LI GULF

Czar's Forces Have Large Number of Guns and Provisions and Military
Stores Are Arriving in Quantities—
Soldiers Occupy River Forts.

Pekin cablegram: The Russians re-occupied New Chwang on Tuesday, May 5, in force. Simultaneously the Russian squadron has arrived in the gulf of Pe-Chi-Li. Japan to Occupy Korea.

It is hinted in diplomatic circles that Japan will occupy Korea, as an answer to Russia's coup in holding Manchuria.

Russia's coup has caused profound surprise here, as recent developments had led to the expectation that Russia would compromise her demands, since they had been revealed to the powers. The latest maneuver is interpreted as being intended as a reply to China's refusal to grant Russia's demands, to the protests of the powers, and as a declaration that she is ready to fight in order to maintain possession of Manchuria.

New "Drill Ground."

The foreign ministers discussed information to the effect that the Russians had taken a large tract of land across the river from New Chwang, commanding the terminus of the Shan-Hai-Kwan railroad. It was stated that the tract was needed for a Russian drill ground. The selection of the site seemed remarkable, because all the troops were then quartered on the opposite side of the river, several miles distant, where plenty of land was available.

DEPOSITORS FACE
LOSS THROUGH BANKS

Receiver for Two Indiana Institutions
Urges Creditors to Force Them
Into Bankruptcy.

Waterloo, Ind., special: The closing of the doors of the De Kalb bank of Waterloo and the McClellan bank of Auburn May 4 has developed into one of the largest failures that this county ever has known.

The closing was precipitated by Mrs. Elizabeth McClellan, widow of the late C. A. O. McClellan, filing complaint against her son-in-law, ex-Mayor Don A. Garwood of Auburn. She desired to have the interest of the estate in the banking business settled up so the heirs could have their shares and thereby dissolve the two banks. J. D. Leighty was made receiver and he gave out a statement that he believed the banks would pay 100 cents on the dollar.

Mr. Leighty now states that the creditors had better force the institutions into bankruptcy. Leighty said he had unearthed numerous irregularities. Mrs. McClellan, he said, over-drew her account at the Waterloo bank, for which she gave her note for $25,000, two years ago, and her son, Charles McClellan, had given a note for $80,000 for an overdraft at the Auburn bank. It appears now that there will be a shortage aggregating $80,000. The creditors' claims aggregate $130,000. Many people in this place had deposited their last dollar. It is affecting all lines of business.

PARROT'S ALARM SAVES LIFE

Cries of Bird Summon Neighbors to Relief of Injured Man.

Washington, N. J., dispatch: Attracted by cries of "murder," "help," "come quick," neighbors of George B. Andrews of this place ran to his home to find out the cause. They knew the cries were made by his parrot, but they had never heard it scream so loud before.

Andrews lay on the floor unconscious, bleeding from a great gash in his neck. He had been repairing the ceiling and had fallen from a step-ladder, striking a stove. A physician took six stitches to close the wound, and said that in only a few minutes Andrews would have been dead.

A few years ago this parrot's screams awakened Andrews in time to arouse his neighbors and save them from fire, which started in the house next door.

FIRE SWEEPS OTTAWA, ONT.

Damaged Water Mains Render Fire Apparatus of No Value.

HUNDREDS OF HOUSES BURN

Fifteen Million Feet of Lumber Is Destroyed—Every Dwelling in the Suburb of Rochesterville Is Devoured by the Flames.

Ottawa, Ont., dispatch: Fire, believed to have been started by a recently released convict who had been imprisoned for arson, swept over an area a mile long by a quarter of a mile wide here.

Several hundred houses and millions of feet of lumber were burned, and the flames were not checked until they had burned almost everything inflammable in reach.

The loss to dwellings, distributed among nearly 600 families, is about $300,000, and the loss to lumber firms is about the same amount, making a total of $600,000. All carried insurance to nearly the full amount of losses.

Water Mains Are Dry.
The lesson of the big Hull fire here in 1900 seems to have been lost upon the authorities, because for more than one hour the fire brigade stood by unable to work while the water mains were being made available.

The section burned over is almost identical with that swept in 1900 and on this occasion the fire started from the opposite direction.

The fire originated within a stone's throw of where the Hull fire was checked. The fire was confined to the following area:

The Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway on the south, Division street on the east, First avenue on the west, and the Richmond road on the north. From the Parry Sound road to the Richmond road is about one mile, and from First avenue to Division street is about one-quarter of a mile.

Every House Burns.
When the brigade arrived at the scene it was found that the water main had been damaged and no water could be obtained. When the brigade did get water the fire was utterly beyond its control.

From the lumber yards where they started the flames spread to a group of frame houses on the outskirts of the city, formerly known as Rochesterville, but which is now united to the city. Every house in the little settlement was destroyed.

After leaving the lumber piles the flames swept over Pine street, which runs east and west, down Willow, Poplar, Anderson, Eckles, Somersot, Spruce, Elm, Maple, Albert and on to the Richmond road, or, properly speaking, Wellington street, where it was stopped a short distance from the Canadian Pacific Railway depot.

Do Not Need Aid.
There is a large cliff which extends from the Ottawa river into the corner of Margaret and Preston streets. The fire area was on the flats below the cliff. At two or three points it came near getting over the cliff, and had it done so nothing would have saved the city.

Fifteen million feet of lumber was destroyed. It belonged chiefly to J. R. Booth, and was sold. The buildings burned were principally dwelling houses and stores. They were all built since the last great fire, and were either brick or brick veneered, as the city would not permit of any other kind being erected.

The mayor said the city would oppose any aid being asked from outside Canada and personally he thought that the city should grapple with the situation without any appeal for outside help.

From 1 o'clock until 4 o'clock Sunday morning the jail building was surrounded by the angry crowd calling upon Sheriff Mason to deliver the prisoners. For an hour or more the sheriff stood on the front steps of his residence and admonished the threatening crowd to be careful and quiet and not commit an act that would forever shame Fremont in the eyes of the world. Sheriff Mason said he had taken an oath to do his official duty and he said he would shoot the first man who made an attempt to break down the jail door and enter the building.

The negroes gave their names as Wheeler Kimbro, Walter Stratton and Lorenzo Martin. Martin and Stratton had loaded revolvers in their possession.

AMERICA TO RULE PACIFIC

President Says Greatest of All Oceans Must Feel Our Influence.

PLEADS FOR THE BIG TREES

Mr. Roosevelt Tells the Citizens of San Jose That Nature's Giants Should Not Be Defaced by Large and Ugly Placards.

San Jose, Cal., dispatch: That the Pacific, the greatest of all oceans, inevitably must pass under American influence during the present century was the declaration made by President Roosevelt in one of the brief speeches delivered during his trip north through California.

This statement was made in an impromptu talk at Watsonville, while the president was telling his hearers of the important part the people of the Pacific coast will play in the future of the nation. A number of brief stops were made during the day, and many points of interest were visited.

An ovation was tendered President Roosevelt on his arrival here. He was shown the most famous orchards and vineyards of this section of the state, and warmly expressed his appreciation of the Santa Clara valley. At Campbell, where a large number of fruit growers and farmers had assembled, the president spoke a few words. The school children of San Jose were reviewed by him in front of the McKinley monument.

After thanking the officers and men of the Fifteenth infantry for guarding his slumbers during his stay at Del Monte, the President boarded his special. At Santa Cruz he received a most hearty reception.

Children Wave Flags.
With a large reception committee the President was driven along the city's most sightly avenue, which were crowded with immense throngs, thousands having come from miles around. His carriage was driven through an avenue of thousands of school children with waving flags, who scattered flowers along his pathway. In carriages following that of President Roosevelt were Congressman Needham, Benjamin Ide Wheeler and President Butler of Columbia university. Flags were lavishly displayed.

For a Better Navy.
In a speech delivered in front of the courthouse the president spoke a word for the navy. "If there is one thing this country is alive to," said the president, "it is our navy. We must believe in a first-class navy. We already have a good navy, but we must have a better one. Not only should we have good guns, good conning towers and turrets, but men expert with them. We cannot afford to neglect our navy. We must build it up; we must have the best of fighting ships and the best of men to man them."

Cards Spoil Trees.
Boarding a special train, the president and his party reached the big trees in fifteen minutes and sat down to an al fresco luncheon. Twenty of Santa Cruz' prettiest young ladies waited on the tables. The naval reserves and officers acted as a guard. In returning thanks for these courtesies Mr. Roosevelt said: "Let me preach to you a moment. The giant trees should not be marred by placing cards of names on them. The cards give an air of ridicule to the solemn and majestic giants. They should be taken down. I ask you to keep all cards off the trees or any kind of signs that will mar them."

Urges Preservation.
"See to it that the trees are preserved; that the gift from nature is kept unmarred. You can never replace a tree. Oh, I am pleased to be here among these beautiful redwoods. I thank you for giving me this enjoyment."

The president requested that he be unaccompanied in his walk among the trees, and President Butler was his only companion. While he was away Secretary Loeb, President Wheeler and others acted on the president's suggestion by tearing down the cards from the trees amid great applause.

The Pioneers' society presented to the president a silver plate, and a tree was dedicated in his honor. The president expressed his thanks, but he objected to a big sign with his name on it.

BEING A GOOD FELLOW.

It Is a Losing Game in the Long Run For Most Men.

Any sensible young man ought to know that he can't be up late nights abusing his stomach and be in full possession of his faculties for business the next day, and he ought to know also that a man must be clear headed and in full possession of his faculties to hold his own in the keen competition of life. Your "good fellow" is popular for the time being, but when his money is gone and he has lost his job and is on his uppers the "good fellow" business doesn't get him anything. It's "poor fellow" then—another good man gone wrong, and "the boys" are ready to hall another "good fellow" who has the price.

We don't mean by this to say that "the boys" are mercenary. They don't altogether pass up a "good fellow" when he goes broke, but it isn't the same. They say he hit the booze too hard and couldn't stand the pace. They feel sorry for him, but he is out of it. His good fellowship doesn't excuse him even in the eyes of his friends for having thrown away his opportunity.

The young man who gets the sleep his system needs, is temperate in his habits, lives within his means and shows up for work in the morning with a clear eye and active brain—that's the man business men are looking for. They want employees whom they can trust. Having worked hard and laid by a competence, they want to throw some of the burdens off, and they won't throw them off on the employee who is too much of a "good fellow."

Cut it out, boys. There's nothing in it. There's a whole lot of nonsense in that "good fellow" business. You can't fool the public very long by living beyond your means and keeping up appearances. There must be a showdown some time or other, and that means a loss of self respect and many bitter experiences. Many a bright and promising business man has failed because he tried to travel in too swift a class, whereas had he lived within his means he might have become a highly successful merchant.

The world doesn't give up its treasures easily. It isn't in the cards for all of us to be millionaires, and mighty few of the "good fellows" get into that class. It's better to earn your way first and go hunting for good times when you have reached the point where you can spare both the time and the money. Then possibly you'll have more sense and have a different notion about what a good time is.—Toledo Bee.

An Enemy of Panics.

There is one enemy for which the pansy lover must watch like a lynx, and that is a little green worm that seems made on purpose to devour panics. Where he comes from or why he should exist at all is a mystery. But if you find your little plants stop growing and see the leaves perforated with small holes and your blossoms gnawed behold, your enemy is there. Eternal vigilance alone will save you. Your face must be brought to the surface of the ground. Kneel and turn up every leaf. Doubtless you will find the small green monster curled up and hiding, sucking out all the juices of the plant and so becoming exactly its color, which makes him so difficult to find, and if not checked he will utterly destroy it. He will devour it in a few days.

The Boy.

A boy is an odd piece of furniture, but he is the ground and chief ingredient of the man. Delude not yourself with the belief that the boy is not all he pretends to be, for he is a great deal more. He is an incomprehensible fellow to any one but another boy, and because he will presently grow into the awkward between hay and grass period that separates boyhood from manhood, and to a lumbering idiot then, don't signify that he is an idiot now. He never is. But his chrysalis state fetters him and makes him seem like one sometimes.

The boy is all right.

He Succeeded.

A man arrested for murder bribed an Irishman on the jury with $200 to hang out for a verdict of manslaughter. The jury were out a long time and finally came in with a verdict of manslaughter. The man rushed up to the Irish juror and said: "I'm obliged to you, my friend. Did you have a hard time?"

"Yes," said the Irishman, "an awful time. The other eleven wanted to acquit yer."—London Answers.

The Last Dueling Clergymen.

"When did clergymen cease to fight duels?" is a startling inquiry in Notes and Queries. It will be news to many of us that they were ever fond of that exhilarating pastime. But, as a matter of fact, the Rev. Mr. Allan fought a duel with Lloyd Delany, Esq., and killed him in Hyde park in 1782. He was convicted of manslaughter and fined 1 shilling plus six months in Newgate.

MEN'S FIVE SENSES.

CURIOUS FACTS ABOUT THEM NOT GENERALLY KNOWN.

The Nerves of Taste Are Paralyzed by Either Very Hot or Very Cold Liquids—The Ear Is a Wonderful Organ—The Eyes Easily Deceived.

For some unknown reason different parts of the tongue are assigned for the perception of different tastes. With the tip we taste sweet substances and salts, with the back we taste bitter things and with the sides we taste acids. The middle part of the tongue's surface has scarcely any sense of taste at all.

The long named substance parabrombenzole sulphinate produces a most remarkable effect, for it gives a sense of sweetness to the point of the tongue and of bitterness to the back. Pure water tastes sweet after sulphate of magnesia.

We can only taste things in solution; hence if the tongue were perfectly dry it would not be affected by the strongest flavored substance in a dry state.

The taste nerves are paralyzed by very hot or very cold liquids. After drinking very hot or ice cold water we could not taste even such a substance as quinine. This fact supplies a useful hint for consumers of ill flavored medicines.

Smell, though the least useful, is the most delicate of all our senses. We can smell the three-hundred-millionth part of a grain of musk. No chemical analysis can detect such minute quantities. The most powerful microscope would not render a particle ten thousand times as large visible. We could not taste it were it many thousand times as large.

While we taste liquids, we can smell only gases. Fill your nostrils with eau de cologne, and you will experience no odor whatever. Fine as our sense of smell is, it has deteriorated immensely since the time when our forefathers were wild men. The Calmucks can smell an encampment twenty miles away; the Peruvians can distinguish all the South American races by their odor.

But smell is a sense highly susceptible of cultivation even by the modern white man. Dealers in tea, spices, perfumes and drugs, in consequence of their training, can distinguish the faintest differences in odors.

The organ of hearing is one of the most marvelous pieces of mechanism in the body. In animals the external ear acts as a trumpet to collect the sound waves; in man it is little more than an ornament, but the internal ear is alike in both. So wonderful is its construction that we can distinguish sounds varying from forty to 4,000 vibrations per second. This feat is performed by a portion of the ear called the organ of Corti. What a wonderful organ that is may be understood from the fact that it consists of 5,000 pieces of apparatus, each piece being made up of two rods, one inner hair cell and four outer hair cells—that is, 35,000 separate parts. In some mysterious manner the rods, with other things, are tuned to different notes, and when they vibrate they cause the hairs to transmit an impulse to the nerve of hearing. To be musical, therefore, is to have a good organ of Corti.

Why is it that scratching a piece of glass with metal causes such an unpleasant sound? Because it is what is called the fundamental tone of the ear, which is very high. What the fundamental tone exactly is would take too much space to explain, but if you blow across the mouth of a bottle, a hollow globe, etc., you get its fundamental tone.

The ear is a deceptive organ, and it is often a matter of guesswork to tell whence a sound comes. Indeed, if you place the open hands in front of your ears and curve them backward sounds produced in front will appear to come from behind.

Human beings and monkeys see most things with both eyes. Our whole field of vision extends over 180 degrees or half a circle. The middle half of this we see with both eyes together, but the quarter at each side is seen only with one eye.

All other animals see most things with one eye only. Scarcely ever can they fix both eyes on anything at the same time. But there are compensatory variations. A bulldog, for instance, somewhat closely approaches the condition of a monkey. The larger the pupil the greater the quantity of light which enters the eye. Large pupilled people, therefore, see the world in a brighter and more cheerful state than those with small pupils. They can see things better in the dusk or at night.

Lost Hair

"My hair came out by the handful, and the gray hairs began to creep in. I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor, and it stopped the hair from coming out and restored the color."—Mrs. M. D. Gray, No. Salem, Mass.

There's a pleasure in offering such a preparation as Ayer's Hair Vigor. It gives to all who use it such satisfaction. The hair becomes thicker, longer, softer, and more glossy. And you feel so secure in using such an old and reliable preparation.

As every one knows from the optical illusion pictures, the eyes are easily deceived. A white square on a black ground appears larger than a black square of the same size on a white ground. Red near green looks redder; blue near yellow looks bluer; white near black looks whiter.

Touch really includes several senses. Thus there are spots on the skin which feel heat only, spots which feel only cold, spots which feel only pain; spots which feel only pressure and spots which feel tickling. These spots are supplied with nerves capable of doing only one particular duty. The sensations of the skin are grouped by physiologists into three kinds—touch, pain and temperature. The skin which covers a scar has only one kind of sensation. It can feel neither pressure (touch proper) nor temperature, but perceives pain very acutely. The tongue is the most sensitive of all parts to touch, the forehead and elbow to heat or cold.

We only dream sights and sounds. We never dream tastes or smells. If we dream of a flower garden, we see the flowers, but do not smell them. If we dream of a dinner, we see the dishes, but do not taste them.

Didn't Patronize Her Father.

A young woman living in a suburban village turned her graceful talent for dancing to account by carrying on the instruction of the young folks in the neighborhood in that art. At the beginning of the term her class was attended by an awkward, overgrown girl who was much in need of such culture. She was the daughter of a local undertaker. After two lessons she discontinued attendance, and one of her acquaintances asked her why she had given up her lessons.

"Well," said she, "Miss Blank never patronizes my father, and so I won't patronize her school."—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE PERIPATETIC BEAR.

Summer Outing of a Mother Grizzly and Her Young Ones.

There is a deal of discussion among hunters after big game in the mountains concerning the sort of fathers and husbands grizzly bears make, says a writer in Outing. The consensus of opinion seems to be that bruin is an unfaithful, heartless spouse and a contemptible father. He will help Mme. Bruin seek a cave or an opening in the rocks or mountain side, where their cubs may be born, and he will carry a dainty morsel, such as a sheep, a calf or part of a cow's carcass there for his mate's food. However, a few days after the cubs are born in the family circle he will leave the home, probably never having any further acquaintance with his spouse and her offspring. Thereafter Mme. Bruin must make her own way and provide for her cubs. Unlike the black bear, which is a jolly, fun loving father that rolls and frolics with his baby children, the male grizzly will have nothing to do with the cubs. Mme. Grizzly and her children are companions for two summers, and they hibernate rolled together in a ball of fur for about 100 days, during the coldest days of winter.

The mother bear and her young travel far and wide, moving principally at night. Kit Carson said that the wide range of a family of healthy grizzlies in a summer season is almost incalculable. He had reason to know of a mother grizzly and her two cubs that once left their hibernating cave among the southern spurs of the Rocky mountains in New Mexico one spring in the forties, crossed the Colorado and Wyoming, were seen in the mountains in Montana and were back in New Mexico again for another winter before the following October.

It is stimulating to note that they cracked a bottle of native vintage on the cup defender as she took to the water.

MAYFLOWER CAMP.

Royal Neighbors Give Pleasing Entertainment to Large Audience.

There was a good attendance Monday evening at the Royal Neighbors ice cream social in the village hall.

True to its reputation, the lodge provided an entertainment program of its good house.

During the early evening a program was given which won the approbation of all present.

Miss Lulu Nicholas sang "The Holy City" in such a beautiful rendering that it was but a slight stretching of the imagination to think oneself in some great cathedral during song services.

A very humorous cutting from "The Birds' Christmas Carol," depicting the trials of the ambitious "Mrs. Ruggles" in training her large family of young children in "society manners" was read by Mrs. Manford Bennett with a ready ability to interpret the combined fun and pathos in the situation.

Mrs. Bennett further gave an encore concerning a child's opinion of the "Royal Neighbors" in general.

A sure cure for the "blues" are Miss Belle Gordon's readings. Her repertoire seems to be unlimited and her audiences never seem satiated.

The lady's extreme good nature in responding to continued encores is much appreciated.

Miss Sadie Block's violin selection received the accustomed attention given her and again she delighted her audience with skilled playing.

A hypnotic song by the well known name "Please Go Away, and Let Me Sleep" was acted as well as sung by L. H. Bennett, which cast a spell over the listeners and genuine signs of languor were visible.

"The Serenaders" a mandolin orchestra, from Chicago, played several numbers on the program, giving delight to all music lovers present, and deserve great credit for so cheerfully answering to the hearty applause accorded them. E. G. Strong, H. A. Abbott, S. H. Sullivan and O. H. Weichelt, brother of Dr. A. Weichelt, comprise the orchestra, and make a specialty of playing at dancing parties.

Following this program ice cream and cake were served at small tables decorated with lilacs and apple-blossoms. The patronage was good as was also the participation in the dance program which completed the evening's entertainment. The mandolin orchestra furnished excellent dance music.

The proceeds will be added to lodge funds.

Beautify the Village.

At this season of the year the residents of the city should put forth a little effort to clean and beautify the property they own or occupy. We should all have enough local pride to do this. The keeping of the lawn, alley and street abutting your place of residence clean and neat requires only a few minutes each day and the change in the appearance is certainly worth the effort. Try and outdo your neighbor in this respect. It matters not how humble or how plain your home may be, it can be made to look clean and neat, if the people would abandon the habit of making a garbage box of the street and alley and put a little work on their premises.

COLORADO.

Summer Tourists Low Rates.

The various western lines are now announcing special low rates to Colorado points for the summer months. This presents a fine opportunity for visiting a picturesque and interesting section of the United States. The trip will afford a realization of the wonderful progress of the West in its commercial development and particularly in its railway service.

It was no longer ago than in the strenuous days of '61 that Colorado was first made a territory and its capital city named for Gen. J. W. Denver, a Kansas Governor. It was not until 1876 that the first Chicago, Union Pacific & North-Western Line train entered the city, and six years later, in the year of the Centennial Exposition, that Colorado was admitted to the Union.

Great changes have taken place since that time. Today Colorado is one of the brightest stars in the nation's galaxy, and thousands of visitors each year enter her borders as tourists or in pursuit of the agricultural, mining and industrial opportunities which the commonwealth affords in tempting profusion.

The passenger department of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway announces a summer tourist rate of $30.00 for the round trip from Chicago to Colorado points, and similarly low rates from all points East.

The Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern Railways maintain a double daily train service between Chicago and Denver, only one night en route from Chicago and the Central states and two nights from the Atlantic seaboard. The trains are equipped with buffet, smoking and library cars, Pullman drawing-room sleeping cars and free reclining-chair cars. Dining cars, meals a la carte. The best of everything.

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it is possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

WRESTLING WITH RUSSIAN.

The Traveler Wanted a Towel and Finally Got It.

A. H. Savage Landor, in his book of travel, "Across Coveted Lands," relates an amusing railway incident that occurred in Russia while he was en route to Persia.

"Unable to get at my towels packed in my registered baggage and ignorant of the Russian language," he says, "I inquired of a polyglot fellow passenger what was the Russian word for towel, so that I could ask the guard for one. 'Palatinski,' said he, and I repeated 'palatinski, palatinski, palatinski,' so as to impress the word well upon my memory. Having enjoyed a good wash and a shampoo and dripping all over with water, I rang for the guard, and, sure enough, when the man came I could not recollect the word. At last it dawned upon me that it was 'palatinski,' and 'palatinski!' I asked of the guard. To my surprise the guard smiled graciously, and, putting on a modest air, replied, 'Palatinski niet, paruski' ('I do not speak Latin, I speak only Russian'), and the more I repeated 'palatinski,' putting the inflection now on one syllable, then on the other, to make him understand, the more flattered the man seemed to be, and modestly gave the same answer.

"This was incomprehensible to me until my polyglot fellow passenger came to my assistance. 'Do you know what you are asking the guard?' he said in convulsions of laughter. 'Yes, I am asking for a palatinski—a towel.' 'No, you are not!' and he positively went into hysterics. 'Palatinski means 'Do you speak Latin?' How can you expect a Russian railway guard to speak Latin? Look how incensed the poor man is at being mistaken for a Latin scholar! Ask him for a palatinski, and he will run for a towel.'

"The man did run on the magic word being pronounced and duly returned with a nice clean palatinski, which, however, was of little use to me, for I had by this time got dry by the natural processes of dripping evaporation."

A HORSE IN BATTLE

HOW HE FEELS WHEN IN THE MIDST OF A FIERCE ONSLAUGHT.

A Writer of Horse Stories Describes the Experiences of an Arab Charger in the Ranks of Stuart's Cavalry—The Gallop to Battle.

Probably no one will ever know just how a horse feels when going into battle. There is no way of finding out. So it is likely that no one will dispute the correctness of the description which Sewell Ford gives in "Horses Nine," published by Scribners.

The horse in question is Pasha, a half blood Arab hunter that has been pressed into service in Stuart's Black Horse cavalry. The story runs:

Early the next morning Pasha was awakened by the distant growl of heavy guns. By daylight he was on the move, thousands of other horses with him. Nearer and nearer they rode to the place where the guns were growling. Sometimes they were on roads, sometimes they crossed fields, and again they plunged into the woods where the low branches struck one's eyes and scratched one's flanks. At last they broke clear of the trees to come suddenly upon such a scene as Pasha had never before witnessed.

Far across the open field he could see troop on troop of horses coming toward him. They seemed to be pouring over the crest of a low hill, as if driven onward by some unseen force behind. Instantly Pasha heard, rising from the throats of thousands of riders on either side and behind him, that fierce, wild yell which he had come to know meant the approach of trouble. High and shrill and menacing it rang as it was taken up and repeated by those in the rear. Next the bugles began to sound, and in quick obedience the horses formed in line just on the edge of the woods, a line which stretched and stretched on either flank until one could hardly see where it ended.

From the distant line came no answering cry, but Pasha could hear the bugles blowing, and he could see the fronts massing. Then came the order to charge at a gallop. This set Pasha to tugging eagerly at the bit, but for what reason he did not know. He knew only that he was part of a great and solid line of men and horses sweeping furiously across a field toward that other line which he had seen pouring over the hill crest.

He could scarcely see at all now. The thousands of hoofs had raised a cloud of dust that not only enveloped the on rushing line, but rolled before it. Nor could Pasha hear anything save the thunderous thud of many feet. Even the shrieking of the shells was drowned. But for the restraining bit Pasha would have leaped forward and cleared the line. Never had he been so stirred. The inherited memory of countless desert raids made by his Arab ancestors was doing its work. For what seemed a long time this continued, and then in the midst of the blind and frenzied race there loomed out of the thick air, as if it had appeared by magic, the opposing line.

Pasha caught a glimpse of something which seemed like a heaving wall of tossing heads and of foam whitened necks and shoulders. Here and there gleamed red, distended nostrils and straining eyes. Bending above was another wall—a wall of dusty blue coats, of grim faces and of dust powdered hats. Bristling above all was a threatening crest of waving blades.

What would happen when the lines met? Almost before the query was thought there came the answer. With an earth jarring crash they came together. The lines wavered back from the shock of impact, and then the whole struggle appeared to Pasha to center about him. Of course this was not so. But it was a fact that the most conspicuous figure in either line had been that of the cream white charger in the very center of the Black Horse regiment.

How Not to Get Old.

Once upon a time a young man who had a dread of growing old and having to give up the pleasures of youth preached the doctrine of good companionship and jolly living.

"Eat, drink and be merry," he said. "Seek gay companions and let wine and song keep your blood in motion, and you will never know what it is to be old."

He followed his own counsel and died in his youth.

THE LION'S WHELP

A Story of Cromwell's Time

BY AMELIA E. BARR

Author of "The Bow of Orange Ribbon," "I, Thou and the Other One," "The Maid of Maiden Lane," Etc.

"But, mother, when I look back to last August—"

"If you want to look happily forward never look backward. I have always found that one good hour brings on another." And Jane took the counsel into her heart and anon began to sing, when soon a loud, joyful voice joined her, and its owner came into the room singing them.

"Oh, Doctor Verity!" Jane cried, "how glad I am to see you."

"I had been here an hour ago, but I had to wait on the Lady Mary Cromwell. She has sent you a letter, and a coach is at your order, and you are bid to Whitehall. And you will be very welcome there."

Then Jane ran to her mother, and her box of fineries was quickly packed, and the girl came down for her visit glowing with hope and happiness.

As they drew near to Whitehall, Jane's spirits fell a little. She had not caught a glimpse of her lover, and she felt a sudden anxiety about her position. Sometimes prosperity is as fatal to friendship as adversity, and the girl tried in silence to prepare herself for any change in affection that change of fortune might have caused. But her fears were very transient; Mary and Frances Cromwell, full of the joy and pride of their great position, soon carried Jane all through their splendid apartments, and afterwards sat down together in Mary's room to talk over old times and the friends and occupations that had made them happy and memorable.

Their first inquiry was for Lady Matilda de Wick, and when Jane answered, "Her father is dead, and I know not exactly what has befallen her since his death," the girls were all silent a few minutes. After the pause, Mary Cromwell said:

"I remember her so well on her fine Barbary mare. How handsome she was! How proud! I wonder where she is."

"It was said she would live with

At this moment Lord Cluny Neville entered the room. He saw Jane on the instant, and his eyes gave her swift welcome, while in the decided exhilaration following his entrance Love found his opportunities. But among them was none that gave him free speech with Jane; they were not a moment alone. Cluny had a fund of pleasant talk and soon there was heard from a distant apartment the sound of music, low and sweet, and full of heavenly melody.

"That is Mr. Milton playing," said Mary Cromwell. "I would know his touch among a thousand." And then Cluny blushed a little, and held out a small roll which he carried in his hand. It contained three fair copies of his own hymn, and Mary delightedly hurried Jane and Frank away with her to the musician. He turned as they entered and bowed gravely, and the girls fell at once under the charm of his music. "Glory to God!" he sang, and the room rang with the lofty notes and seemed full of Presence, and of flame-like faces, sublime and tender, while the air vibrated to the final triumphant crescendo, "Glory to God! Glory to God! Glory to God in the Highest!" And in his beautiful face there was seen for a few moments that face of the soul wherein God shineth.

Then there was a short pause of spiritual sensitiveness which was broken by the opening of a door, and all eyes turning towards it beheld Cromwell standing on the threshold. Frances ran to him with a cry of delight. Mary looked at him with adoring pride, and then put into Mr. Milton's hand the roll of manuscript Lord Neville had given her. Jane left her companions and timidly advanced to meet the Lord General.

"Jane," he said tenderly, "Jane Swaffham, I got your message, and it did me good; it did indeed. And if ever I can help you or yours, Jane, come to me; I will be as good as my word—doubt not. Let us see what John Milton is going to play for us."

da's exacting temper and sharp tongue had wounded her often; but for all that she knew Matilda loved her. With her mind full of kindly thoughts towards Matilda, Jane returned to her home, and she was delighted to find a letter from her friend waiting for her.

"It came this very morning," said Mrs. Swaffham, "and I told the man who brought it you would be here to-day, and no doubt would answer it forthwith."

Jane laid aside her bonnet, and opened her letter. "She is at Lady Jevity's house, mother, and she longs to see me, and indeed I am in the same mind. We shall be sure to quarrel, but then—"

"You can both play at that game, and you hold your own very well. I would go to Jevity House in the morning. Whom did you see at the Cockpit?"

"I saw Lord Neville several times, but had no private speech with him; and I heard Mary Cromwell say there was a purpose of marriage between him and Alice Heneage."

"Tis very like."

"I do not think so. I am sure he loves me."

"Then he should say so, bold and outright."

"He said last night he was coming to see my father and you, and though he spoke the words as if they were mere courtesy, I read in his face the purpose of his visit. Mother, we shall need your good word with my father."

"I can't go against your father, Jane. I would as soon take hot coals in my naked hands. You will have to do as your father says, Jane; so make up your mind to that. Father may have a purpose already of marrying you to someone else."

"I will not marry anyone else."

"Your sister said the same thing, but she married Philip Armingford; and now there is no man in the world but Philip."

"I will marry Cluny Neville or remain a spinster."

"You will in the end do as your father and brothers say. There, now! say no more about your marriage. It is beforehand talk, and that kind of discussion amounts to nothing. It is mostly to go over again. I have been making inquiries about the Jevitys; they are what your father calls 'Trimmers'—neither one thing nor another."

In the morning Jane an hour before noon was on her way to Jevity House. It stood close by Drury Lane—a mansion nobly placed upon a stone balustraded terrace, and surrounded by a fine garden. In this garden the old knight was oftenest found; he was there when Jane's carriage stopped at the iron gates. She had been delayed and almost upset in Drury Lane by the deep mud, so that the noon hour was striking as Sir Thomas Jevity met and courteously walked with her to the entrance hall. Here there were a number of servants, and their chief ushered her into a stately cedar saloon, the walls of which were painted with the history of the Giants' war. Soon Della came hurriedly into the room with an exclamation of delight. "Oh, Miss Swaffham! Oh, Miss Jane!" she cried. "My lady is impatient to see you." She led Jane up a magnificent stairway lined with portraits, and they soon reached Matilda's apartment. As the door opened she rose and stretched out her arms.

"Baggage!" she cried with a weak, hysterical laugh. "You dear little baggage! You best, truest heart! How glad I am to see you!"

And Jane took her in her arms, and both girls cried a little before they could speak. Matilda was so weak, and Jane so shocked to see the change in her friend's appearance, that for a few moments tears were the only possible speech. At length Jane said:

"You have been ill, and you never sent for me. I would have stayed by you night and day. I would have been mother and sister both. Oh, indeed, my mother would have come to you, without doubt! Why did you not let us know?"

New Table Glass.

Never was an ambitious hostess who did not succumb to the charms of dainty glassware, let those who will try to harden their hearts against the beautiful fluted specimens of crystal that stand erect on the dining tables of the leading Parisiennes. With some sets of wine glasses the top edge of each cup opens out into no less than eight little flutes; but far more beautiful are the cups that are fashioned with only four, so that the impress of the top of one on paper would be something like a four-leaved shamrock.

The glasses are, of course, of the finest crystal, and take for ornament raised bands of rich gold, which give wonderful dignity. Touches of the exquisite French enamels come on some of the glasses as the blossom of a delicate spray of flowers traced in gold, or, on the more ornate cups of crystal, among the intricacies of monograms.

Rested on the Sun's Day.

In A. D. 313 the Emperor Constantine of Rome granted toleration to the Christians and in 321 he gave imperial sanction to the observance of the first day of the week. The edict which introduced a new era in Sunday observance runs: "On the venerable day of the sun let the magistrates and people residing in cities rest and let all workshops be closed. In the country, however, persons engaged in the work of cultivation may freely and lawfully continue their pursuits, because it often happens that another day is not so suitable for grain sowing or for vine planting, lest by neglecting the proper moment for such operations the bounty of Heaven should be lost."

PREPARE FOR TIGHT MONEY

Financial Legislation Is to Be Enacted at Extra Session of Congress.

EXTENDS LIST OF SECURITIES

One of the Provisions of the New Bill Includes the Deposit of All Government Receipts in National Banks of the Country.

Washington dispatch: Additional news from the Hot Springs conference of Republican senators and the President's intention to call an extraordinary session of Congress in the fall are taken as evidence that the first and most important business to be taken up will be financial legislation.

The apprehension of serious money stringency in the fall felt by bankers in all parts of the country is shared by many Washington officials, who believe that early legislation along the general lines of the Aldrich bill or the promise of early legislation would avert financial disaster or at least mitigate it. The fact that this apprehension of stringency is keenly felt is said by treasury officials to be found in the preparation which bankers are already making to meet it. On this account it is now thought that its result, if it comes, will not be far-reaching.

Adds to Securities.

The present intention is to include in this new bill provisions for the deposit of all government receipts in national banks and adding to the list of securities to be accepted, state, country and city bonds, and in addition a provision that the government shall have a lien on the current assets of such banks as additional security. Thus the Secretary of the Treasury could, in case of failure to realize the full amount on the securities, have the first call on the assets of a bank for the balance of its debt to the government.

Senators Aldrich, Allison and Spooner went over the details of the proposed measure at Hot Springs, and there is said to have been an agreement among these members of the finance committee that these features should be included in the bill. Another conference will be held in New York early in the summer, when, in addition to these senators, Senator Platt of Connecticut will also be present.

Allgood's Appointment.

Washington special: The Civil Service Commission has made public an explanation of the circumstances attending the appointment of John C. Allgood, the negro rural mail order carrier at Gallatin, Tenn., who has been forced to resign by armed and masked men under threats of death. The examiner reported that Allgood met all the requirements and that his character and reputation were good. No protests were filed prior to the date of his reappointment, and it was presumed that the choice was satisfactory to the patrons of the route.

Disturbs Army Officers.

Washington dispatch: Uneasiness bordering on panic pervades a large element of officers in the artillery. For several weeks the service papers have contained advertisements like this: "Wanted: First lieutenant of artillery, desires to exchange with a first lieutenant of cavalry or infantry. Will pay $500 bonus. Address," etc. Up to date few exchanges have been made, and now that the conditions which have made, artillery lieutenants to secure transfer to some other arm of the service have become generally known in the army, the exchange process has ceased almost entirely. The secret of the matter is the settled determination of General Randolph, chief of artillery, to increase efficiency notably by requiring a higher standard of expert knowledge among officers.

BULLDOGS ATTACK A WOMAN

Twenty Bites Reward Her Efforts to Separate the Brutes.

Syracuse, N. Y., dispatch: Mrs. Thomas B. Leonard was severely bitten by two bulldogs which were fighting on the front porch of her home about midnight. When she tried to separate the animals they sprang upon her, one burying his teeth in her throat and the other catching her by the arm. The dogs continued the attack until she was insensible. Mrs. Leonard bears twenty wounds, some on her face.

HUSBAND AND WIFE ARE DEAD

Gas Explosion Starts Fire in Which Former Legislator Perishes.

Buffalo, N. Y., special: Herman M. Blaisdell of North Collins, a former assemblyman from whom the town of Blaisdell, N. Y., is named, and his wife were so badly burned in a fire which started from an explosion and destroyed their home that they died a few hours later. An adopted son, the only other occupant of the house, was slightly burned.

To Approve Canal Treaty.

Panama cable: The convocation of the Colombian congress for June 20 is believed to mean that President Marroquin is confident of having sufficient support to assure the approval of the Panama canal treaty with the United States.

INSANE MEN ARE HELD TO POSTS WITH CHAIN

United States Marshal Discovers Prisoners Who Are Fed From a Trough Like Hogs.

Bay City, Mich., special: Deputy Marshal Tobias, while searching for a prisoner for the United States court in Cheboygan county, discovered two men chained in a shanty two miles from Patterson's mill on Mullet lake. Both men are under 30 years of age and are believed to be insane. They are kept shackled by the legs with chains about twelve feet long, fastened to a post in the center of the shanty, which is near a farmhouse. The chain permits them to get near a stove and a trough at one side of the room. Their food is thrown into this trough and the prisoners eat in much the same manner as pigs.

In the summer the men are chained to a tree. Nearby neighbors told the deputy that the men had been chained for several years and that they were generally docile. The deputy reported the matter to United States Marshal Bates, who said he would call the attention of Gov. Bliss to the case.

ALFRED KNAPP TRIAL JUNE 16

Accused Says He Made Confession to Get Rid of the Police.

Hamilton, Ohio, special: The trial of Alfred A. Knapp, the Indianapolis "Bluebeard," has been assigned for Tuesday, June 16. Knapp, who made a written confession of strangling five women and children, will be tried on a charge of choking his third wife, Hannah Goddard Knapp, and throwing her body in the river, whence it was recovered over two months later. Knapp has repudiated his confession and declares he wrote it only to get rid of the police and newspaper men who annoyed him by insisting on statements. He asserts that the police have no positive evidence against him, and apparently feels assured of acquittal.

GIRLS LEAP FROM THE FLAMES

Panic Among Workingwomen in Pittsburgh Factory.

Pittsburg, Pa., dispatch: During a fire in the Pittsburgh Bedstead and Bedspring company's building, 133 Water street, girls at work on the fourth floor became panic-stricken and three jumped from the window into a net held by the firemen. All were seriously injured and were taken to the Homeopathic hospital. Their names are Alice Pron, Clara Smith and Annie White. It was reported that a number of others were missing, but all have been accounted for. The damage to the building and stock was about $50,000.

BOLD ROBBERS MAKE BIG HAUL

Six Armed Men Secure $200 in Money and Jewelry.

Oshkosh, Wis., special: Six armed men, wearing no disguises, robbed a resort at the north end of town of about $2,000 in money and jewelry. The men spared no one in the place and made a thorough search of the premises before they left. A woman in charge of the place was compelled to open the safe and give up several hundred dollars in cash it contained. Then her diamond earrings were jerked from her ears, causing her serious injury.

RUNNER IS KILLED BY DISCUS

Fatal Accident Happens During Practice for Athletic Meet.

Dixon, Ill., special: Earle B. Smith died here as the result of being struck upon the head by a discus thrown by a companion. The students of the Dixon high school were practicing for the county field meet. Young Smith was in line for a running race, when the discus accidentally slipped from the hand of the thrower in another part of the field, striking the runner. A clot formed upon the brain and Smith was in a semi-conscious state until his death.

LIVE TWELVE DAYS ON PEA SOUP

Crew of American Schooner Reaches Port After Severe Hardships.

San Juan, Porto Rico, special: The American schooner James Slater of Port Jefferson, L. I., thirty-four days out from Savana-la-Mar, with logwood for New York, put in here, having been driven back from off Cape Hatteras April 24. The crew had been subsisting on pea soup for twelve days and was very weak. The steward, William Holcomb of Charleston, S. C., was in a comatose condition. The men had been working at the pumps at regular intervals for a month.

MOTHER AND CHILD ARE BURNED

Frankfort (Ind.) Woman and Little One Die in a Fire.

Frankfort, Ind., special: Mrs. Alfred Long and her 5-year-old daughter, Fanny, lie dead at the Palmer Hospital, the result of burns. Mrs. Long and her two children were asleep at their home when a coal oil lamp exploded, setting fire to the bedclothing. Passers-by heard their screams and, rushing in, extinguished the flames, but too late to save the lives of the mother and child. A 3-year-old boy escaped with slight burns.

Pick Maneuver Grounds.

Washington dispatch: Portland, Me., has been selected as the point of operations for the joint summer maneuvers, because if a European power were planning an attack upon the United States it would probably destroy Portland.

LOVES THE PRAIRIES.

Miss Anna Gray Is Delighted With Her Western Canada Home.

Anna C. Gray is a young lady formerly of Michigan. She is now a resident of Western Canada, and the following, published in the Brown City (Mich.) Banner are extracts from a friendship letter written about March 15 to one of her lady friends in that vicinity. In this letter is given some idea of the climate, social, educational and religious conditions of Alberta, the beautiful land of sunshine and happy homes. Over one hundred thousand Americans have made Western Canada their home within the past five years, and in this year upwards of 50,000 will take up homes there.

Miss Gray took her leave for Didsbury, Alberta, the home of her sister and other relatives and friends on Jan. 10 last, and after a two months' sojourn in her western prairie home, she writes of it as follows: "I know I shall grow to love the prairies. We have a beautiful view of the mountains and it seems wonderful to me to see home after home for miles, and it is becoming thickly settled all around us. With the exception of the last few days which have been cold and stormy, we have had beautiful spring weather ever since I came. The days are beautiful. I call this the 'land of the sun,' as it seems to be always shining; the nights are cold and frosty. On arriving here, I was so greatly surprised in every way. Didsbury is quite a business little town. All the people I meet are so pleasant and hospitable. They have four churches in Didsbury—the Baptist, Presbyterian, Evangelical and Methodist. The Evangelicals have just completed a handsome church, very large and finely furnished, costing $2,500. They have a nice literary society here, meets every two weeks. They have fine musical talent here. Your friend, Anna C. Gray."

Lord of a Vast Estate.

KILL BRAKEMAN IN TENNESSEE

Strike Breaker Is Murdered on the Tender of His Engine.

JOIN IN REQUEST FOR TROOPS

Strikers Urge the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Officials to Prepare a Writ Calling on the State to Send Militia to the Scene.

Jackson, Tenn., dispatch: As a result of the strike on the Mobile & Ohio railroad in this city one man was killed, two trains wrecked, and business is badly tied up. There are indications that the situation will become more serious and further trouble is feared.

Chief of Police T. C. Gaston and his force were called to the Union depot by the officials of the road on account of a wreck having occurred there, alleged to be the work of the strikers. A fish plate had been laid between the rails of a switch and a monster engine was derailed. The engine was placed again on the rails and returned to the shops, and when it returned to carry the train north the switch was thrown and another delay was occasioned.

Kill an Engineer.

Will Yarboro, a young man, was shot and killed on the tender of his engine. Yarboro boarded the train at Bethel Springs, south of here, made a trip to Okolona, Miss., as a brakeman, and returned to Jackson. The train on which he was killed was the same as that manned by Capt. Pringle, a bridge foreman, and his crew of negro hands. South of Jackson the negroes were run off the train and at Bethel Yarboro joined Pringle's train. The strikers say that they know nothing of the identity of the man or men who did the shooting and deprecate the act.

To Call for Troops.

At the request of the strikers the Mobile & Ohio Railroad company has prepared a writ, which will be filed in the Federal court, asking that the state militia be ordered to Jackson at once to protect the rights and property of the company.

The report that the engineers and firemen would join the strikers is said to be unfounded.

TIRED BACKS.

Come to all who overtax the kidneys. Don't neglect the aching back. Many dangerous kidney troubles follow in its wake.

Mrs. C. B. Pare of Columbia Avenue, Glasgow, Kentucky, wife of C. B. Pare, a prominent brick manufacturer of that city, says: When Doan's Kidney Pills were first brought to my attention I was suffering from a complication of kidney troubles. Besides the bad back which usually results from kidney complaints, I had a great deal of trouble with the secretions, which were exceedingly variable, sometimes excessive and at other times scanty. The color was high, and passages were accompanied with a scalding sensation. Doan's Kidney Pills soon regulated the kidney secretions, making their color normal and banished the inflammation which caused the scalding sensation. I can rest well, my back is strong and sound and I feel much better in every way.

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Pare will be mailed to any part of the United States on application. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Recommends That Postoffice Inspector Be Given Charge and That Bureau Be Transferred to His Jurisdiction—Deposed Man Courts Investigation.

Washington dispatch: August W. Machen, general superintendent of the free delivery system, has been dismissed by Postmaster General Payne, who directed that M. C. Folsnes, now a postoffice inspector, take charge of the department, which passes under control of the fourth assistant postmaster general. Heretofore, it has been under the jurisdiction of the first assistant.

"Leave of Absence."

This is the latest sensational development in the investigation of the postoffice department. Mr. Machen is one of the most widely known government officials in the United States. The action of the postmaster general was taken on the written recommendation of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, who is directing the investigation of the affairs of the department, that the transfer of Mr. Machen's bureau to his jurisdiction and its administration by a postoffice inspector would expedite the investigation.

In ordering the change recommended the postmaster general gave Mr. Machen "leave of absence until the investigation is concluded." Mr. Machen promptly acquiesced in the decision of the postmaster general, taking occasion to say in doing so that he courted the fullest investigation of his official conduct.

Charges Are Serious.

Mr. Machen has been under fire ever since the investigation began. Charges of various kinds have been preferred against the administration of the free delivery branch of the postal service. These included allegations of collusion with letter box manufacturers in the furnishing of boxes to postoffice patrons, particularly on rural mail routes, the furnishing of advance information regarding the selection of routes and the appointments of carriers, etc. There also has been a conflict between Mr. Machen and First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne ever since the latter assumed office. Mr. Wynne charges Mr. Machen with insubordination.

Intimidate Negroes.

Enough unofficial news has come to the postoffice officials to lead to the belief that there is in force a well organized attempt throughout the south to drive from the service, if possible, all negro officials who come in personal contact with the patrons of the mail service. Further news reaching this city shows that Allgood, the Tennessee carrier, was not only held up by a body of masked men, but was told by them that if he proceeded in his duties he would meet another body of men who would certainly kill him if he persisted in going on.

To Abolish Route.

The carrier was given time to resign and close up the affairs of his office at his own request. It is also learned that the organization formed to prevent Allgood from continuing in the service consisted of thirty-four men, all of whom agreed to take extreme measures unless the negro at once resigned. They took occasion to tell him that they had no personal objections to him, but that they were banded together to keep negroes out of the service.

Postmaster General Payne directed Inspector Conger at Nashville to make a thorough investigation of the Gallatin case. It is likely the route will be

INCREASES REICHLIN REWARD

Man Whose Name Is Withheld Adds $4,000 to Aid in Solving Mystery.

Lorain, O., special: A man whose name is withheld sent $4,000 to J. J. Mahoney of the Knights of Columbus of this city to be offered as a reward for the detection of the murderer of Agatha Reichlin. This sum will be added to the $1,000 already offered by the county. More money will be asked of the friends of the Reichlin family both in Lorain and elsewhere to make a larger fund, and thereby it is hoped to induce experienced detectives to work upon the case.

GOV. SCOFIELD LOSES BY FIRE

Sawmill Belonging to Wisconsin's Former Executive Is Destroyed.

West Superior, Wis., dispatch: The saw mill of former Governor Scofield was burned, entailing a loss of $75,000, with insurance of $66,000. A hot band-saw started the fire soon after the mill closed its night run. The flames destroyed the building and ruined the machinery almost before an alarm was turned in. Three hundred men are thrown out of employment. The plant may not be rebuilt, as timber is going fast.

Gould Buying Coal Tracts.

New York special: By the purchase of 57,000 acres of coal lands in West Virginia by the Little Kanawha syndicate, the Gould interests are said to have stolen a march on the Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania railroad interests.

QUIPS OF RIVAL EDITORS.

Younger Journal Had Somewhat the Best of the Exchange.

It was Heine, wasn't it, who declared that the ass was chiefly created for the purpose of comparison. From Wales, then, comes the report that a new weekly paper has just made its appearance, and that among other advertisements was this one: "Bassinette for Sale. Apply this office." A bassinette is a species of cradle. In a rival newspaper this advertisement was reproduced in a bantering article, which pointed out that the new paper had come to stay. "When the parents of a journalistic infant," said the article, "sell their bassinette, they adopt tactics similar to those old-time adventurers who, deciding that for them there was no turning back, burned their boats to prevent the possibility of retreat."

But the same issue of this joking journal containing the following advertisement:

"For Sale—An ass; very strong and quiet. Apply at this office."

It was now the younger journal's turn to reproduce, and it unkindly added, "Comment is needless."

A Tight Squeeze.

Brazils, Ark., May 11th.—To be snatched from the very brink of the grave is a somewhat thrilling experience and one which Mrs. M. O. Garrett of this place has just passed through.

Mrs. Garrett suffered with a Cerebro-Spinal affection, and had been treated by the best physicians, but without the slightest improvement.

For the last twelve months two doctors were in constant attendance, but she could only grow worse and worse, till she could not walk, and did not have any power to move at all.

She was so low that for the greater part of the time she was perfectly unconscious of what was going on about her, and her heart-broken husband and friends were hourly expecting her death.

The doctors had given up all hope and no one thought she could possibly live. In this extremity Mr. Garrett sent for a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. It was a last hope, but happily it did not fail.

Mrs. Garrett used in all six boxes of the remedy, and is completely cured. She says:

"I am doing my own work now and feel as well as ever I did. Dodd's Kidney Pills certainly saved me from death."

Mrs. Tupman, a prominent lady of Richmond, Va., a great sufferer with woman's troubles, tells how she was cured.

"For some years I suffered with backache, severe bearing-down pains, leucorrhoea, and falling of the womb. I tried many remedies, but nothing gave any positive relief."

"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in June, 1901. When I had taken the first half bottle, I felt a vast improvement, and have now taken ten bottles with the result that I feel like a new woman."

When I commenced taking the Vegetable Compound I felt all worn out and was fast approaching complete nervous collapse. I weighed only 98 pounds. Now I weigh 109 1/2 pounds and am improving every day. I gladly testify to the benefits received."—MRS. B. C. TUPMAN, 423 West 30th St., Richmond, Va.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

DOCTOR ENSOR SUPT. SOUTH CAROLINA STATE INSTITUTION

Endorses the Catarrhal Tonic Pe-ru-na—A Congressman's Letter.

Dr. J. F. Ensor, Postmaster of Columbia, S. C., late Superintendent and Physician in charge of State Insane Asylum at Columbia, S. C., writes:

"After using your Peruna myself for a short period, and my family having used and are now using the same with good results, and upon the information of others who have been benefited by it as a cure for catarrh and an invigorating tonic, I can cheerfully recommend it to all persons requiring so effective a remedy."—Dr. J. F. Ensor.

Hon. C. W. Butts, ex-Member of Congress from North Dakota, in a letter from Washington, D. C., says:

"That Peruna is not only a vigorous, as well as an effective tonic, but also a cure of catarrh is beyond controversy. It is already established by its use by the thousands who have been benefited by it. I cannot too highly express my appreciation of its excellence."—C. W. Butts.

Dr. R. Robbins, Muskogee, I. T., writes:

"Peruna is the best medicine I know of for coughs and to strengthen a weak stomach and to give appetite. Beside prescribing it for catarrh, I have ordered it for weak and debilitated people, and have not had a patient but said it helped him. It is an excellent medicine and it fits so many cases."

"I have a large practice and have a chance to prescribe your Peruna. I hope you may live long to do good to the sick and suffering."

Only the weak need a tonic. People are never weak except from some good cause. One of the obscure causes of weakness and the one often overlooked is catarrh.

Catarrh inflames the mucous membrane and causes the blood plasma to escape through the mucous membrane in the form of mucus. This discharge of mucus is the same as the loss of blood. It produces weakness.

Peruna stops the catarrh and prevents the discharge of mucus. This is why Peruna is called a tonic. Peruna does not give strength by stimulating the nervous system a little.

It gives strength by preserving the mucous membranes against leakage. It gives strength by converting the blood fluids and preventing their draining away in mucous discharges.

Constant spitting, and blowing the nose will finally produce extreme weakness from the loss of mucus.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Potted plants for sale at F. W. Stott's. 2t

John P. Brushingham will deliver the address here Memorial Day.

The Zimmerman property will be sold to the highest bidder for cash May 27.

Posters are out announcing Memorial Day observance by the G. A. R. post of this village.

The interior of the C. & N. W. R'y depot has received its semi-annual cleaning and decorating.

Have you signed the paper being circulated to raise a bonus to attract the Bowman Dairy Co.'s plant to this village? If not, why not?

The Masons and Woodmen have added a handsome piano to their lodge room. It is said that the Odd Fellows propose to purchase an instrument for their hall.

New comes an Eastern crank professor who has discovered that "all well formed women of to-day weigh 245 pounds." We don't believe it.

The Wauconda minstrels will appear in McHenry to-night. Their failure to appear in Barrington is the loss of much amusement to this village.

The big picnic of the Modern Woodmen of Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin will be held at Janesville, Wis., Thursday, June 4. It promises to be a great affair.

A new time card went into effect on the C. & N. W. R'y Sunday. The new schedule includes an extra Barrington train which leaves Chicago at 1:25 p. m. and arrived here at 2:35 p. m.

The Young Ladies' Band was heard on the downtown streets last Friday afternoon. A practice march was being held preparatory to the band's participation in the coming Memorial Day exercises.

The business streets of the village should be sprinkled this summer, and the merchants should bear the expense. The expense would call for but a small contribution from each business house, and the benefit to be derived would be great.

Well, what is the village board of trustees going to do about enforcing the ordinance requiring that the doors of all halls and churches, or public assembly rooms, be made to open out? Why not start on the village hall and then enforce the law?

It would be well for a certain set of hoodlums to understand that no boisterous actions or indecent language will be tolerated on the streets of Barrington. Such exhibitions as were in evidence here Saturday night must cease. Extra officers will be on hand hereafter and the village ordinance strictly enforced.

Some people will keep a pretty decent looking front yard, but the back yard of the premises will be a terror. As a matter of fact, there should be no back yard to any home—that is, a dump lot for all the rubbish of the place. Such a place always puts us in mind of a finely dressed lady wearing a dirty petticoat.

A blue print of the village should be prepared, given to the committee on sidewalks and that committee should make a personal inspection of the walks in every spot within the village limits, note the condition, and order immediate repair. There are street crossings and sidewalks in Barrington which are a disgrace to a civilized community. Put them in repair.

A dollar spent with a mail-order house in a big city goes behind the iron door safe and never gets back into your pocket or your vicinity. The dollar spent with your home merchant will ninety-nine cases out of a hundred more or better goods than when sent to the mail-order house. Besides your home merchant helps you to educate your children. Buy your goods of home merchants.

Oakland hall, Wauconda, was the scene of a pretty dancing May festival Tuesday evening. A small colony of Barrington young people migrated to that village for the evening, and the general enjoyment was noticeable. Among those present from here were: Messrs. and Mesdames L. H. Bennett and M. T. Lamey; Misses Wagoner, B. Otis, Olcott, A. Olcott, Nicholai, M. Robertson and A. Powers; Messrs. Graham, Meyer, Dalton, Albright, Martin, L. Bennett, Wichm an, Page, K. Volker and A. Lines.

The Barrington Roller Mills will grind feed only the last three days in the week after May 23. 2t

C. B. McGee will occupy the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday, morning and evening. He will also conduct the prayer meeting Saturday evening at 7:30. Subject: Morning: "Jesus, the Teacher." Evening: "Bearing Witness to the Truth."

At the Methodist church, next Sunday evening, the Epworth League will observe the fourteenth anniversary of their organization by the installation of officers for the Epworth and Junior Epworth Leagues. The services will begin at 6:45 in the league room, in the basement, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

A birthday party was given Thursday afternoon at the home of Robert Purcell in honor of the fifth birthday of Geraldine Purcell. About eighteen children between four and six years of age were present. Luncheon was served in the yard, after which games and other amusements were enjoyed.

The Woman's Relief Corps No. 85, will give a musical and literary entertainment in the M. E. church on decoration night. A very interesting program has been prepared, a soloist and elocutionist from Chicago is expected to take part. The corps will serve dinner as usual to the veterans, and during the afternoon and evening ice cream and cake will be sold.

One year ago this month Edward Warren Stees was flying about here like a feather in a cyclone, seeking franchises, location for depot and tracks for his electric railway. The road was to be in operation between here and Wauconda by Oct. 1, 1902. The village board gave Mr. Stees a franchise, paid $28 to publish it, and told him that any time before Oct. 1, 1903, to bring his railroad here. Maybe he will, but we doubt it.

The quadrennial weighing of mails in the western district, comprising most of the middle states, begun March 4, came to an end at midnight Tuesday, and from now until the middle of June the heads of United States postal divisions in this territory will be busy tabulating the figures on which the compensation of the mail-carrying railroads is to be fixed for a period of four years.

There is sure to be an accident at the Main street crossing of the E. J. & E. road one of these days. Although a flagman is stationed there the crossing is only kept partly open—barely room for a vehicle to pass between the cars. Switching is going on about the yards almost constantly and some one is going to get caught when they least expect it. The crossing should be kept clear the entire width of the street.

Everybody knows that a merchant keeps a line of goods to sell, which is his stock in trade. We also keep to sell to advertisers, which is our stock in trade. Therefore, do not expect us to give away our stock in trade any more than the grocers or other business men do theirs, for we, like other tradesmen, are not in this kind of business merely for the honor or glory that is in it.

The school year was completed Tuesday at the Pomeroy school, northeast of Barrington, and the programme arranged by Miss May Daily, teacher, was satisfactory and showed good training. The singing at this school is excellent. Miss Daily will preside over the instruction of the district's children another year. The Misses Olcott, Mrs. Harry Olcott and Mrs. Miles Lamey from here attended the entertainment.

Dusty Roads Bill from Chicago dropped into Geo. W. Foreman's place Monday morning and announced that he would show 'em a new trick. He would turn a bottle of beer into a human form. Jimmy Rourke, who has been adjusting movable alphabets for the Review for some four weeks, bet Dusty he could not do the act. The way Dusty turned the badwaiser into him so affected Jimmy that he imitated his example, got well filled and flew the town. Jimmy said Barrington was too tame for his likin' for excitement.

Professor Fred E. Smith, superintendent of our schools, has accepted a position in Des Plaines and will have charge of the entire grammar school. Many points of advantage have been gained by Mr. Smith upon which he is to be cordially congratulated, and while all Barrington extends the best wishes for his advancement a general expression of regret at the departure of himself and family from our village is prevalent. Under the Professor's management our school system, in grammar and high school work, has greatly improved and attained a high standard of proficiency. During his ten school years of conscientious instruction he has acquired and retained the friendship of all classes regardless of age and creed. While no definite plans have been decided, in all probability the family will remain in Barrington this summer.

Against Majority Rule.

A paper published at Waukegan (not the Sun) does not like the way the late state convention of Modern Woodmen of Illinois was conducted, and charges "machine rule."

For consistency that paper takes the bakery. Read what it says and then recall its unqualified support of the same kind of tactics in Waukegan this spring and its approval of Speaker Miller in following machine dictates and endeavoring to saddle upon the people of Chicago legislation which that city objected to.

The paper referred to is evidently sore because Mr. Heydecker of Waukegan was not endorsed by the convention for head consul.

It would have pleased many Lake county Woodmen had Mr. Heydecker showed strength in the convention, but because he did not is no reason that "dictatorial rulings and machine practices" should be charged against those in control. But the paper feels bad and vents the following:

"The state meeting of the Modern Woodmen held Wednesday at Bloomington proved an exemplification of the same methods for dictatorial ruling upon the part of the administrative machine as have been employed for the past eighteen months by that machine to force upon the membership of the order legislation to which the masses are violently opposed. The fight was waged largely along the line of readjustment of rates, against which the Illinois Woodmen Protective Association, of which C. T. Heydecker is president, has striven earnestly. The work of the protective association prevailed to the extent that the original plan of readjustment will no doubt be abandoned. Beyond this point the machine, with its admirably tuned and judiciously lubricated parts, carried everything before it.

"The test vote in the situation came in the matter of endorsement of a candidate for head consul. The contest was between Judge Fred White of Pontiac, and J. G. Johnson of Peabody, Kan. White won handily, and with this showing of strength the machine in total disregard of caucus promises gaveled through their entire program.

"C. T. Heydecker was elected to represent Lake County in the head

Camp at Indianapolis in June, but whatever of further fight might be carried to the national meeting by this warrior against the wiles and purposes of the orders' executives will probably be made ineffective by the overshadowing of the machine's control of a majority of Illinois' 89 delegates, who go to the national meeting "instructed" through the medium of the machine gavel."

What is the difference, in principle, between a "machine" composed of politicians and a "machine" composed of members of a fraternal organization? Why cannot you approve of tactics which you adopted and put in execution? It is very bad taste for people who live in glass houses to throw rocks.

The fishing season has opened in the lake district and along Fox river. The lies used last year are being revised to suit 1903.

All women are born equal, but some spoil it by getting married.

Treat your wife, says a philosopher, as you fancy you would have treated the first girl you ever loved, who married—not you, but the other man.

Knowledge embraces many subjects, but after all, there is only one subject that is really worth embracing—woman.

The two Evanston girls who met in fistie encounter to decide which was entitled to the mutual lover have established a precedent which will be hard to follow in all such cases. In Evanston, too, the town Rev. Frank Crane calls "the ante-room to heaven."

Never in the history of the country has ordinary labor been so scarce as now. It is almost impossible for manufacturers, construction companies, and other corporations to hire the needed laborers to carry on the work. Even farmers are brought face to face with a serious problem. Still the wage scale remains about the same and the price of living advances.

In "Hints to Mothers," a writer suggests the best method to raise children, prescribing a certain food. If they get up any more new fangled ideas about how to feed and raise babies the first thing they know they will turn out to be something else than babies.

Mayor A. S. Olms, who has served Palatine faithfully several years, received only $24 for his last year's salary barely enough to buy a cheap suit of clothes; still a patriotic man wouldn't care, if the people would only appreciate his services and speak a cheering word occasionally, says the Palatine Enterprise.

A writer in "The Oaks" thinks Yates a well meaning man, but attributes his failures to his mental makeup. As a woman, at the head of clubs, social and reformatory, he would have been a stunning success, but in a position requiring all the attributes of a stalwart thinker and actor, he is a conspicuous failure. That's not so bad, if it isn't very complimentary.

The saloonkeepers at Grayslake have formed a sort of union, insofar that they have decided among themselves to hereafter refuse to sell "pony" whiskeys, that is, 5-cent glasses. And the anti-ten cent drinkers are going to boycott the trust. Now the cause of prohibition will boom at Grayslake.

MEMORIAL OBSERVANCE.

Commander-in-Chief Stewart Issues Order for Appropriate Exercises.

Commander-in-Chief Thos. J. Stewart, of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued a general order to veterans of the Civil war to observe Memorial day, May 30, by decorating the graves of soldiers and sailors all over the United States with flowers, hold patriotic exercises in the public schools and to attend divine services at the churches the Sunday preceding Memorial day. Commander Stewart's order on the subject reads in part as follows:

"The passing days bring us again to Memorial day, when we garland the resting places of our heroic dead with the flowers of budding springtime and droop above them the flag for whose purity and glory they offered their lives. In days bygone they were our comrades in that mighty host whose daring, doing and dying continued the republic and made possible our present glory and greatness as a nation. In the retrospect of Memorial day we refresh and renew the memories of the past and intensify the comradeship of the present. Let us, their comrades, gather at their graves as at an altar, and whilst there voice a prayer of thankfulness that our lives have been spared to enjoy the fruitage of their toil and sacrifice.

"Let us not forget those who rest beneath the daisy-spangled soil in graves marked 'unknown,' and who made the greater sacrifice of giving not only their life, but their name for their country. Strew flowers upon the waters in tribute to those of our comrades who sleep peacefully in the gardens of the sea. Let us tell rising generations of their glorious deeds and by word and act do our part to continue to the memory of the patriotic dead and reverence of the ever-increasing millions living in security and peace in the land saved by the matchless devotion of the Union soldier and sailor.

"Let our tribute of love, affection and comradeship be characterized by a sincerity and faithfulness that shall render the tribute sacred, and keep Memorial day devoted to the lofty purposes for which it was designed."

Mrs. Powers Entertains.

The ladies of the Thursday club were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Lyman Powers Thursday afternoon. A very fine program was rendered, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and select reading, also two interesting papers, one by Mrs. Emily Hawley, subject: "James Whitcomb Riley;" "James Russell Lowell" was the subject of Mrs. Otis' paper. At the conclusion of the program the ladies were invited to the dining-room, where a long table was spread with inviting eatables, and prettily decorated with early spring blossoms. A very pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent by the ladies. Mrs. Seebert will entertain the club next week.

Married.

At the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. V. Perry, Saturday evening, May 9, occurred the marriage of Miss Lilah Hungerford and William Shoup, Rev. W. H. Tuttle officiating. Only immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony, after which a bountiful wedding dinner was served.

The bride had been a "hello girl" at the telephone exchange for some time past, and Mr. Shoup is an employee of the American Malleable Iron Co., at Chicago Highlands. They have the best wishes of all for a happy future.

Change of Location.

The Chicago Telephone Co., has removed the local exchange from the residence of W. V. Perry on Main street to the Lamey building, corner of Elm and Main streets. The location is a very convenient one and will please the patrons of the toll lines, and all having business with "central." An operator from Palatine has temporary charge of the exchange. It is to be hoped subscribers will be given as good service under the new management as given by Mr. Perry and his assistants.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at H. T. Abbott's. Price 25c and 75c.
