An Ideat Day for Outdoor Sports Attendance Large; Fun Plenty.

It was a great picnic. Not only that but it was the greatest picnic ever given in this section; greatest in point of attendance, in quantity and quality of amusements; most successful in of attendance, in quantity and quality of amusements; most successful in every way.

When the management of the union please arranged by Woodmen Camp and District Court of Honor decided on the date for the affair they certainly showed wisdom in the selection. Had the weather been manufactured to order it could not have been more favorable for an outling.

The grounds were in excellent abuse and much more adaptable for please purposes than the north section of the grove.

At an early hour Wednesday morning co amilities were at work and at 10 eVoice the grove was ready for the big crowd which filled it to overflowing by 120, and remained until late.

Instrumental music was furnished by Sear's Barrington band. It was the first appearance of that organization at an outdoor affair. The gentlemen gave a very satisfactory program.

them sandwiches and coffee was in good demand and the Royal Neigh-bors smiled sweetly. The ball game—every player an ex-pert, was a scientific contest, such as is seldom witnessed and never to be forgotten. The batteries tore up the earth and fielders danced about and howled like Modoc Indians. The program at the grove closed at 2.50 and after supper the crowd assem-bled at Forbes' parillon where a gen-uine old-fashioned country dance was kept going until midnight. This part of the affair was successful beyond an-ticipation of the management.

THE COUNTRY EDITOR

There are some pleasant incidents in country journalism and there are many trials and tribulations. A. G. Cook of Louisiana recently read a paper before the press association of that state and among the many good points he advanced, we clip the folpoints are accountly editors dever make mistakes in their estimates of men and measures, and when the boune paper strongly intimates that General Bill Smith's motives in certain mat-

The outbreak there presents one of those cases in which the limitations of personal liberty are clearly defined. It is the right of the Dowlettes to have the smallpow or any other infectious disease if they choose to contract it, but it is the right of non-Dowlettes to protect themselves against it. If the denitens of Zion refuse to submit to vaccination the people of the country adjoining will have to baintain a right quarantine against them. Zion may have all the smallpow it wants but it has no right to force it upon other people.

Bre. Johnson's Habit.
A. B. Johnson publishes the Antioch
Ness and produces a very creditable paper. We find in last weeks issue, an original article published in the Reriew, the week before reproduced word for word, and no credit gives thus paper. It is not often that the minds of men run in the same channel as is shown in this case.
We appreciate the compilment Bro.
Johnson has bestowed upon us by icprinting our production, but it would lave only been an act of courtey had he added "Barrington Review."

Method For Trial Only.

It has been many moons since the republican voters of Lake county found themselves divided on any action of the leaders. The custom has been to follow the dictates of the central body without any show of fight. Harmony has been the watchword of Lake county republicans for so many years that the condition of affairs brought about by the action of the county central committee is something entirely new and has stirred up an animated discussion.

That all townships throughout the county entirely new and has stirred up an animated discussion.

That all townships throughout the county will hold primaries according to the rules (which appear on the 4th page of this issue) is questioned. That the action of the central committee will be hold, the main objection advanced is that the rules were arranged in the interests of certain candidates.

The Libértyville Independent publishes a circular, which is being sent out to voters, and says: "It gives an idea of the situation as viewed by the disgrantled republicans, and there are many in that class." Tye-circular is as follows:

The republicans are to make the state campaign one of the most active ever conducted in this state. Charles S. Deneen, nominee for governor, will endeavor to visit every county for at least one speech. Lawrence Y. Sherman, nominee for lieuteant governor, will be given enough dates to keep him busy until the night before election. William II. Stead, sommer for attorney general, will be booked for night and day apsectics. Secretary of State Rose also will fill many dates.

Government Engravings $1.

A cancelled postage stamp bearing the bead of Washington is all that a number of citizens in a Kentucky town have to show for dollars which have gone in answer to a cleverly written advertisemen in which this offer was made: "To close out a slightly damaged lot of engravings originally issued by the United States government, we will send you a peauliful! likeness of Washington for $1." Perhaps fity persons thoughtleasty enclosed $1 and were caught. After considerable delay each victim received a small envelop containing a regulary issued cancelled 2 ceut stamp, neatly wrapped in wax paper. The stamp may be the same one purchased at the local post-office and used in forwarding the dollar to the schemer.
