There Ji. a bee runch with more than a million bees in the heart of one flas francisco. It is owned by Philip Fron, principal of a public school, and is not hell the beek yard of his home. For ten years he has kept his bees there, has harvested about a third of a ton of honey each season and has been at no expense for food for his Interesting and industrious pets.

Although it is a distance of two and one-half miles from the Prior bee ranch to Golden Gate park, the rifor bees make the trip there, collect loads of honey and get back to the hire in the making a built-like miles at home.

Mr. Prior has demonstrated this, by having an observer watching certain boe-favored places in the park and exactly timing the arrival there of bees he purposely sprinkled with flour as they issued from the hire. He has also kept time on the absence of the whitened bees.
