Epworth League Social.

The literary and social departments of the Egworth League of the M. E. tharch, gave a free cutertainment and social in the church last Wednesday evening, which was larger attended and bugely enjoyed. After a short, but good program, in the audience room, the company repaired to the basement, and were treated to something unique in the way of refreshments. The first course—for it was served in courses—for the purpose of being fashlomable, we suppose—was a "toothsome" little sandwich to bread and butter and tongue, and tiny little areen pickle; the second course was a cracker and a nice little square of cheese; the third course consisted of fruit and cake, one grape and delicious little doughnut; one chocolate fudge and a tooth-pick, was the fourth and final course of this unique and very enjoyable repast; for after the audience "caught on" there was a "bushed of fun" in guessing what was to come next.

Afterwards there were toasts and
