Courtey of Great Jurist.

A young woman, says a correspondent, who was passing the evening—with the family of Lord Coleridge, the eminent English jurist, was about to start for her home at 10 c'oleck when he offered to accompany her. She, with the respect due to his age and with the fearlessness of youth, due to ignorance of the dangers surrounding young women, said: "I thank you, sir, but I do not want to trouble you. Cannot the maid accompany me?" His answer showed the respect in which he held all women. He said: "My dear, the maid is a woman also." My dear, the maid is a woman also." My dear, the maid is a woman also. "My dear, the maid is a woman the part of women that they foo not receive the treatment they should receive from the opposite str.

Identifying British Cordage.

"Every rope used in the British nawal service, from heaving fine to hawser, and wherever it may be jused, on shipboard or in the dock yard," said a cordage manufacturer, has woven into one of its strands for purposes of identification a red thread.
The presumption is that any rope with the red thread found outside of such uses is in improper hands. This custom in the British may has prevailed since the days of Nelson, or since long before that, for Nelson, or since long before that, for neight is how. A like means of identifying rope is employed in this country to some extent commercially. Some railroads have their rope marked in this way, and this

SEEDING IN PROGRESS IN WEST-ERN CANADA.

ERN CANADA.

Mild Weather is Bringing Thousands of Sattierh.

The splendid yields of wheat, oats and barley produced by the farmers of Western Canada and the excellent prices received for the same, have been the means of giving an increased interest throughout the United States. As a result the laquirise made of the Agents of the Canadian Government have nearly doubled over those of the asme period hast year. Railrond companies are putting on increased carrying capacity to meet the demand made upon them for carrying passengers and freight. Everything points to a most prosperous splar. There is room for bundreds of thousands additional settlers, much new land having been opened up for settlement is the system.

Robert Hunter's powerful book, "Poverty," is a definition of poverty and an estimate of its extent at the present time. Mr. Edwin Markham, in review of this much-discussed book calls it 'the most impressive and important book of the year." Its statements as to the numbers who cannot possibly keep more than one remove from pauperism are of tremendous interest, as are its pictures drawn from first band knowledge of the conditions of children and of immigrants in our large cities. (The

Mr. Henry Wood, author of 'The Political Economy of Humanism,' states that "The general purpose of this volume is the outlining of a politheal economy which is antural and the common which is antural and theoretical, its aim being to be usefully suggestive to the popular mind." Mr. Wood certainly possesses the rare slift of making an admittedly dry subject not only instructive, but positively entertaining. It is a work which should be read by every eitze of our country. (Lee & Shepard, Boston)
