Consumption Not elereditary. At a recent concention the American Antituber-culods lengue summed up its creed as follows:

A meeting will be held at the vil-lage half on Thursday evening, May 18, to perfect plans for a Fourth of July celebration and to appoint com-nities. All are cordially invited to attend this meeting. That thereuvoir is communicable, not inherited, though it is possible to not inherited, though it is possible to inherited, though it is possible to inherited, there is not inherited to be destroyed when discovered we sentish in the prosense of the maintenance of the normal to the presence of the principle of the yer man of lawer conditions fee it—normal favor conditions for it—normal favor condition

The dread disease has often been neglected because it was looked upon as inherited and therefore incurable, it has no pre-empired rights and should be fought tooth and mil wherever it appears.

The explosion of a gun on the battle-ship lows at the one hundred and third round leads to the conclusion among round leads to the conclusion among some naval experts that the life of a heavy gun is in the meighborhood of 160 rounds. Several pieces have ex-ploded after being field about that number of times. It is said that the Japanese ships engaged at Port Ar-tur have been supplied with new guns in the sheller that weapons may be worn out by firing.

When an inventive genius trains his lofty mind upon such a triding thing as dy paper blankind is to be congratu-lated. The latest thing in fy catchers is a paper that the pests will side to all right but the paper will find stick to the furniture, carpets and so ob-when it happens to fall upside down.
