He wishes old friends who contemplate a visit to the Pacific coast to write him for any information they desire as to country or exposition.

A COMMON DUTY

Write Your Representative in Congress to Vote for Good Roads.

Write Your Representative in Congress to Vote for Good Roads.
Every man, woman and child in the United States is interested in the question of improved bighways. The failure of a hundred years of local systems has shown, that the country can never have a system of good roads sexcept by the aid and co-operation of the general government. Bills were introduced in the last two Congresses providing for this very thing—the Brownlow-Lattmer bills; they will be introduced again this coming whiter, and the strongest effort will be made to enact them into a law.

The friends of good roads have a duty to perform just here and now, and we would address this article not alone to the farmer, but to the merchant, and all other citizens, not onlitting the minister. Use your influence with your senator and representative. This is the only way to get this national legislation. Write them personal letters. Where you can, tolk to them. Let them underetand that you know what you want. You must convence them by overwhelming demand, just as the datry interests convinced them in behalf of the pure butter law just as every interest that secures desired legislation convinces them.

Every argument is in favor of national did to good roads. The question of necessity has ional aid to good roads. The ques-tion of constitutionality has been set tied. The question of necessity has never been disputed. The existence of reciprocal obligation between the government and the people has never been an open one. The government belongs to the people. The money that gets into the treasury belongs to the people. The time has come for the people to make concerted demand for the return to them of some part of that which is their own. Good roads would do more for the country than would do more for the country than any other one thing that can be men tioned. It is a fact of history that no country ever built good roads withou the aid of the general government No country ever will, because the lo cal property simply cannot afford it, and never in all the history of the world has it been able to except in the centers of wealth. If the people want good roads they must wake up and get to work. Don't wait for somebo dy else to start. Get your demand tr on your own representatives and ser ators. If all who favor the Brownlow Latimer good-roads bills will do this favorable action may be expected. favorable action may be expected Without this concert of action Con gress will do nothing. Brownlow and Latimer can't do the work alone. It is the common duty of the people to flood the Representatives and Senators with letters, demanding this good-roads legislation.
