Statute Warranta Arresta.

At the department of justice it is contended, in oppeation to the views of the district attoracy, that this section is warrant enough for arresting the brokers and their employes.

It is upon this section that the secretary expects the attoracy general to direct the making of arrests. There are so many sections of the statutes that appear to apply to the employes of the department concerned that the secretary regards it certain that Attoracy General Moody will have no cause the arrons of Holmes and other implications.

Does Not Fear Suit.

Secretary Wilson smiles when a libel suit is mentioned and declares that he would welcome action of this character, as it would develop facts which the department has not yet been able to get. So far as Secretary Wilson is concerned the matter is a closed incident, but there is grave danger of Mr. Wilson being forced from his position. Secretary Wilson said that if other evidence implicating any other official in the department should be presented to him he would order an investigation.

Minot Savage as a Prophet.

Away back in the forties the village school at Norridgewock, Me, was kept one winter by Solomos Bisty, a rêd-headed and very nervous young man, who used the furule very freely, and often unjustly. Among the scholars that winter were the now Rev. Minot Bavage, William Bisward, a clever bluedering, and forever calling under dicipline, and the present writer. It seemed to us as though the teacher was never so happy as when punishing the Steward boy.

One morning the teacher came in a little late, finding the scholars all in their places, but as he hurried in he tripped, and came very near sprawling on the floor. He was tremendously featurated as he gathered himself up, and holded very red in the face and Young Savage, then should 12 years.

Considering that Mrs. Davison only took two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.
