

There is a good deal of lamb served at our hotels and restaurants which reminds one of the old maid of forty who passed herself off as a sweet young thing of nineteen.

The heavy draft horse is just as much in demand today as though there was not a steam engine or an auto-mobile hause. We do not believe the lorse will ever be displaced by any machine.

As a general thing the trolley roads are showing up well so far as return-ing a fair interest on the money in-vested. These roads create lots of new business. The cheaper the fare, the mere people ride.

If business men would collect what is due them with the same degree of promptness which marks the boy who mows your lawn, there would be fewer business failures. The boy is always Johnay on the spot for his pay.

Wherever sheep and hogs are kept rape is one of the most valuable for-age plants which can be raised on the farm, and yet not one man in ten raises it. The very best use to make of last season's hog yard is to sow it to rape.

A lawyer whose mind become unset-tied took the queer notion of going out into the country and bired out as a farmhand. If this thing should spread it might help solve the problem of help on the farm and would not hurt the cities any, either.

If a pasture is to be kept in good heart and free from weed growth there should always seem to be room for more stock in it, a surplus of grass. Just as soon a pasture is fed bare the grass roots are weekened, and every chance is given for the weeds to get a good start.

If you have a farm and wish to keep it as an investment and not work it yourself the worst possible way in which to handle it is to rent you may be from year to year to Tom, like and Harry to skin. A good farm deserves better treatment than this. Make a long lease with a good man.

We are asked how large a silo should be built to meet the needs of an aver-age eighty are farm. We would try one about twent feet high and skyteen feet in diameter to start with. This will hold the product of about ten acres of corn, which converted into sligo will make an immease amount of most valuable and paintable food.

Ply time is bere and with it almost untold misery for the dairy cow unless some steps are taken to protect her. Some dairymen are following the pian of keeping their cows in a darkmed basement barn from about 920 a. m. until sundown and then giving them the run of the pasture during the night and early morning. While in the barn they are fed liberally with some green soiling crop, such as clover, slinger, sweet corn, with the result that so cared for there is no shrinkage in the mitted of the day and a seasible cow will run a dividend paying milk factory unifer such constitutions.

On general principles it is always make to hire a tramp for a farm thank. In the first place, they will not turn them into a pasture, good or bad, as the case may be, and let them standbunched on some knoll or in some pond half subnerged all though the best of the day, and no seasible cow will run a dividend paying milk factory unifer such as a position on the visition.

Canada possesses almost unlimited water power, which is bound to prove a most important factor in the future development of that country.

Almost every community has some dear, good woman who will feel every tramp that comes along for the privi-lege of giving him a lecture on mo-rality.

The cheapest pork can be made from corn and alfalfa, and lacky the man whose farm will produce these two crops, for he will not only make cheap pork, but will have healthy hogs.

The hired man on the farm has to be treated and fed right, but there is no reason why he should be taken into the boson of the family. While treat as an equal, he should be made to keep his place.

It is telling a very old story, but there is nothing which is worth so much in August for the dairy cow as a patch, of sweet corn upon which she can draw liberally during the dry dog days. So fed, she will hold up her flow of milk instead of shrinking.

The black currant is seldom grown in this country. In Bagland it is considered the best of all the currants and the jam made from it is considered a standard delicary. We do not know that there is any reason why it cannot be raised just as well as the other varieties, though it is a somewhat shy beaver.

It has one thing to mise a big crop of clover, and another and much harder one to becure it in good shape. Where the writer lives one of the biggest crops of clove ever raised has been damaged 50 per cent by the almost daily raips and by the rotting of the clover before cutting by its forming a mat on the ground.

sheep business, how to get started, best breed to get and where to buy. It is not a good time now to go into the business on anything like a large scale, for the sheep and its products are high priced, and, then, any man not used in the price than the same price than string with a big flock. No one animal on the farm varies more in price than sheep. One year they may be worth $5 a head and the next a dollar and a half. The time to buy them is when every man who has them wants to get rid of them. Again, not all farms are adapted to sheep. Level and welf farms are not suited to them. They like the hills and the realing land. They must be specially fenced against or be herded under a sheepherd, and they cannot be successfully pastured with other stock. For a large part of the prairie country there is no better way than for three or four farmers to co-operate and buy a flock of sheep and keep them under the care of a shepherd all through the graning season. In this way each man gets the benefit derived from the sheep as a weed exterminator and land ferdilizer, and they can be run anywhere where there is good feed for them. This plan saves all bother about foncing and prevents many losses which occur when they are not under the countant eye of a shepherd. Thousands of sheep could be kept all over the northwest and kept very largely on get to the part of the prairies of the product, THAT FIELD OF ALFALPA.

Mourning doves, meadow larks and robins, which are protected by law at all seasons in the northern states where they breed, are common game birds for the southern states where they winder. This is unfair. If it is right to slaughter these birds for fool in the south, the north, which raises them, should have the same right. As a matter of fact, it is all wrong to kill there at all, as each variety does most valuable work as either weed seed or insect destroyers.
