Looked Like---Harvelous Cure by Cutleurs.

"At four months old my baby's face and body were so covered with sorses and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her fanger nails fell off. It itched so she could not aleep, and for many weny rights we could get no reet. At last we got Cutteurs Soap and Ointment: The sores began to heal at once, and she could aleep at night, and in one month she had not one sore on her face or body—Mrs. Mary Banders, 709 Spring St., Camden, N. Milwaukee, Wis., dispatch: George Lines of the firm of Quaries, Spence & Quaries, who has charge of the suit instituted against the Wisconsill Ren-dering company by Charles F. Pfater, said: "The shoney was not used for purposes of bribery. That much can be stated absolutely."

George P. Miller, attorney for the Wisconsin Rendering company, said:
"It has been intimated that the transaction between Mr. Pfater and the Wisconsin Rendering company partook of the nature of bribery with a view to unduly influencing members of the common council at the time the costract for the disposal of garbage was under consideration. That can be denied aboutuely, of course. Of the suse insture of the transaction I have not yet been informed.

Pflater himself remembers the details of the transactions and he will doubtless have to gut hrough the stubs in hank book and other documents for definite information.

Inasmuch as the Wiscomin Rendering company admilts the claims made by Mr. Pflater in his suit, it is unlikely that there will be a content over it unless District Attorney McGovern unless District Attorney Huggers and the property of the propert

Grand Jury Criticised.

District Attorney McGovers declines to talk, He is about to go on a short vacation, but will remain in Milwankee until after the decision of Court Commissioner Schelber in the Schuliz-Strauss slander suit,

Persons close to the district attorney say the grand jury had no information to the effect that Mr. Pflater had withheld $14,000 from the Renderlag company, but that they supposed he had expended it at the time that the garbage contract was under the discussion and indicted him for embeziement in order to force him to explain.

The grand jury is being freely criticised for indicting Pflater on a false charge for the purpose of finding out somthing else.

"Why, yes, you did; but I didn't see anything come out. I have to every morning."

Grandpa langhed. "I didn't notice that I shook my shoes, Ned, but I got in the habit of shaking my shoes every time before putting them on when I was in India."

"Why did you do it there?"

"To shake out scorptons and centipedes, or other nuisances that might be hiding in them."

"But you don't need to do it here, for we don't have such things."

"I know, but I formed the habit, and now I do it without thinking."

The common of the caricaturing and the common of the caricaturing and the common of the caricaturing as well as good likenesses. This should prove a profitable as well as an amusing pastime with which to while away many a dreary parliamentary hour. Mr. Lowther has for years kept a particularly interesting diary—and it is pretty as for say that this will ultimately reach the public. In this case interesting reading matter will be undoubtedly more valuable if it is further enriched with original sketches and caricatures by Tae author.
