Weather Favors Spread of Disease in Southern Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., dispatch: The state board of health is becoming exercised over reports of smallpox. Several cases have appeared in Jersey, Greene and Macoupin counties in the southern district and now come reports of the appearance of the disease at Galesburg and Spring Valley. It is feared it will become prevalent again, as the weather favors the spread of the disease.

Both men were in Washington last week and called on the president.

Two great departments of public life will appear side by side in "McClure's" for months—politics and commerce— Carl Schurz and his Reminiscences, the railroads and their owners. The the railroads and their owners. The first will be an intimate account of his own life by a man important in public affairs for over half a century. The other will be an account written by a trained investigator of the great-est commercial institution the world has ever known—the vehicle of the food supply, the railroad.
