Farm Renters Scarce.

The same old story is being repeated with reference to farms and renters. Land owners are looking for tenants as usual. This is the case each year, but it seems that tenants are scarcer this year than ever before. The trouble seems to be that those who run farms find it hard to keep help. In pioneer days farm laborers were compelled to give references before they could get employment on a farm, but things are different now. Times have changed and farm hands have changed. The cause for it is that most farm laborers are single fellows and they find city life more congenial, hence they leave the agricultural districts and go to the cities—Harvard Herald.

ENJOYABLE PARTY.

Charles Thies and Miss Anna Dix Entertain.

A most enjoyable party was given by Miss Anna Dix and Charles Thies, on South Hawley street, Tuesday evening. About twenty-eight young people were present. Games of various descriptions and vocal and instrumental music were indulged in. An elaborate menu was served during the evening.

It Snowed.

The first snow of the season made its appearance Monday night. However, there wasn't very much, and as soon as the sun made its appearance it disappeared.

Are Invited to Play.

The talent of the members of the Barrington Cornet Band is being appreciated not only at home, but foreign musical organizations are anxious to secure their service. They have just received an invitation to join the Northwestern University Band on their trip to St. Paul on the occasion of the football game between the Northwestern and Minnesota teams, which will come off in a few weeks.

Given a Surprise.

A number of Miss Louise Fox's friends gathered at the home of her parents Wednesday evening and tendered her a pleasant surprise party. Games, music, and a dainty luncheon were features, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

Bought a Barrington Gasoline Engine.

Louis Langenheim of Cuba township has installed an 8 horse power gasoline engine with which to do his feed cutting and grinding. Of course it is one of the best, and that means that it is one of Arnold Schaub's "Barrington" makes. There is no better made.

Notice—St. Andrew's sewing circle at taking orders for Apples of all kinds. Good work at low rates. Your orders are solicited.

AN INTERESTING PROGRAM.

Annual Meeting of the Y. M. C. S. at Salem Church.

The annual meeting of the Young People's Missionary Society of the Salem church, which was held in the church Sunday evening was attended by a large audience, and the program, as rendered, was ample compensation for those who braved the inclement weather.

The program was as follows: Song Service. Anthem by the choir. Scripture Reading and Prayer. Male Quartet. Missionary Colloquy given by five young ladies.

Song. Address by Mrs. Diran, President of the Illinois branch of Woman's Missionary Society. Offering.

Prize, "Her Mission" by ladies. Benediction. The talk on Missionary work by Mrs. Diran deserves special mention being very interesting and impressive and eloquently delivered.

He Did It.

If a traveling man offered you a Skirt or Suit, as cheap as he would sell it to a merchant, would you buy? We offer on these terms, this week, 350 Skirts and twice as many Suits. See page 18. C. F. HALL CO., Dundee.

SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY

Forn Robbers Are Given an Indeterminate Sentence at Woodstock.

Fred Brown and William Gooby who robbed the Forn brothers at Spring Lake, are now accused of having been the perpetrators of a number of Elgin robberies, before they committed the Forn outrage. At their trial in Woodstock for the Forn robbery they were given indeterminate sentences to the Joliet penitentiary.

Are You One of Them?

Why will people buy teas and coffees from street peddlers, or in other words wagon dealers, who are practically strangers to them, when they can purchase a better quality of teas and coffees from their reliable home merchants at the same price and often at a lower price? Have you ever given a thought to the injustice you are doing yourself, not to say anything of the unpatriotic spirit you are showing toward your neighbor?

In the first place it stands to reason that when any one offers you something for nothing he is either a fraud pure and simple or else a fool. There isn't anyone living today who is so generous as to give you anything unless he gets value received, unless he is a subject for the asylum. These traveling tea and coffee wagons are neither fool nor in business for their health. They have to charge you just as much as your local merchants for the same quality of goods, and as their expenses are higher they must make up the difference, and the only way they can do so is to cheapen the quality.

The next time you are in need of tea or coffee just take a traveling man's sample to your local grocer and see what he'll duplicate it for. That will be a good way to ascertain whether we are right.

Skip Another Assessment.

The Modern Woodmen will skip their November assessment, which will make three assessments skipped this year. The Woodmen now have on hand in the benefit fund more than $2,000,000, and it is estimated that there will be on hand at the close of the year about $1,500,000 in this fund with only nine assessments paid in by members during the year of 1905.

It Will Be Good.

The farces to be presented by the Rebekah lodge in Old Fellows hall on Thanksgiving eve, will be entitled "Thirty Minutes for Refreshments," and "Seems to be the Union Depot." A good time for those who attend is an assured fact.

For Rent—A 5 room cottage on Russell street. Apply to J. A. KIRSON, Barrington.

NO MORE "CHIVAREERING"

City Council Instructs Marshal to Make Arrests in Order to Abate the Nuisance.

The Village Board met in regular session Monday evening, transacting the usual routine business, with all members present. Bills amounting to about $450, which included one half the salaries for the members of the board and one President. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved—That the noise, shooting and general disturbance caused by the gathering of crowds for the purpose of serenading or chivareeing newly married couples, is a nuisance and the Marshal is instructed to disperse all such gatherings, peaceably if possible, and if necessary make arrests and prosecute such disturbers of the peace."

The Committee on Streets were instructed to look into the matter of needed street lights with power to act, and locate such as are necessary. The Fire and Water Committee were given power to act in regard to the supplies needed by the Fire Department.

Isn't Afraid of Mice.

Women as a rule, no matter how stern and fearless they may be with men, are afraid of mice, but in a country school not a thousand miles away from Barrington there is one fair teacher who has shown that the woman of today can even master the fear of a mouse.

It happened during school hours recently when boys and girls were studying hard—boys that are to be pillars of the soil, boys that were to fill our pulpits, boys that were to be governors of states and of our homes, and possibly one that would fill the presidential chair of this glorious United States creditably at some future time; girls that at some time would preside over homes, some future school teachers—girls, all of them, sweet as they could be.

The school marm is a strict disciplinarian, and as with all great leaders, her pupils adore her just the same. You can hear a pin drop at any time during school hours. On the day of which we write the teacher noticed a little commotion and while her hands were up as a signal for the pupils to keep their seats, her sharp eyes caught a glancing around for the cause. She soon discovered it—it was a MOUSE. With a quick movement she grabbed the broom and with a few strides and a quick movement of her right arm she had the little mouse covered, and with a stamp of her tiny foot crushed the life out of the little animal.

WAS AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR.

The Bazaar of St. Ann's Church a Decided Success.

The bazaar given by St. Ann's church in Old Fellows hall was a pronounced success, both financially and artistically. The hall was crowded the entire three evenings, and much good feeling prevailed. The booths were artistically and attractively gotten up, and ably managed by the ladies. Madame Sara, a card reader from Chicago, proved a great attraction, and won many friends by her pleasing personalities. Her readings were in constant demand. Music and readings were also features, and the menu served was especially tempting.

given an Overhauling.

H. C. Custard, representing the Erie City Iron Works, Erie City, Pa., was in the city the past week and treated the engine of the electric light plant to a thorough overhauling. However, no inconvenience was experienced by the patrons of the company during the repairing.

Will Preach at the Baptist Church.

Rev. W. A. Robinson of New Brunswick, Canada, and at present taking graduate work in the University of Chicago, will supply the Baptist church next Sunday. The Baptist people are fortunate in obtaining his services. He has been one of the most prominent leaders in Baptist work in Eastern Canada during the last few years, having last lately entered the University of Chicago for special work and study. Especially has he been prominent and successful as provincial secretary of the Good Templars. He speaks both morning and evening at the church—at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. He will lead the Y. M. C. A. meeting at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

Call at THE REVIEW office and see over 200 samples of calendars for 1906. Prices lower than ever.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Rev. Mr. Kelley spoke a few words of encouragement to the Y. M. C. A. members at their rooms last Monday evening. The gentleman is to speak to the association later.

The Y. M. C. A. met in their rooms Monday evening, the meeting being called to order by the president after a few songs.

Rev. Lapham offered prayer, after which the Rules and By-Laws of the Y. M. C. A. were read by the secretary, followed by the announcement of the new directory, as follows: George Stiefenhofer, Harrison Anand, Dr. Lytle, Dr. Shearer, F. A. Dollmeyer, Sam Edrick and H. F. Gieske.

An additional room, adjoining the present quarters, will be furnished by the boys. It will be the largest, one of them all—21430 feet—and will be used for indoor games.

The Social Committee will report at the next meeting, as will also the Finance Committee.

The Y. M. C. A. has a large membership in Barrington, and its local members are making strenuous efforts to increase it. There is no question but what there is a good field here for them to work in, and as the boys are hustlers, we expect to see a great deal of good accomplished in the future.

The latest rumor locally is to the effect that the village is to be bonded for a period of five years and cement walks constructed on every street in our burg. This is a very sensible project, and we hope to see it go through.

MADE A GOOD SHOWING

The Lake County Fair Association is Prosperous.

The annual report of the Lake Co. Fair association has just been given out by Treasurer Parkhurst, of Libertyville. It shows that the total receipts were $11,484.78; total expenditures, $8,262.65; balance on hand, $3,222.13.

The expenditure of $1,523.00 for permanent improvements, such as the addition of a grand stand, etc., if added to the balance on hand would better indicate the financial prosperity of 1905 Fair. The amount turned over by Sup't. of Privileges Smith, $1,502.37 is the record for income from that source, but it is the general opinion the directors should another year "clean up" the midway though at expense the very substantial receipts, received from "privileges" thereon, and this will doubtless be done as complaints were last year vigorous and numerous from all quarters.

The annual election of the society will take place on December 6th, at which only those having paid a dollar membership previous to the last day of the fair are entitled to vote.

OBITUARY.

Miss Elmore Fay Hunt was born Rochester, N. Y., March 29, 1828 and died Wednesday Nov. 1, 1905, aged 77 years six months and two days.

She lived in Rochester till three years of age when she removed with her parents to Loain County, Ohio where she was married on the 26th of March in the year of 1848 to Elton H. Hunt. On March 1850 they left the friends and relatives of their younger days and removed to Illinois where they have since resided. Four children were born to them, three sons and one daughter, Andrie, Plum and Riley (now deceased) and Alva Arps. She with her husband and family resided on a farm in McHenry County until about thirteen years ago, when she removed to Palatine, where they have since made their home with their daughter, Mrs. Alma Arps. Mr. Hunt died about ten years ago, leaving her to live her last years in loneliness. She was a member of the Sutherland Women's Relief Corps, and delighted in their work, having during the early war times been an ardent and faithful worker for the aid of the sick and wounded among the soldiers and since those times she was one whom when anyone called upon her for help was never turned away being always willing to lend a helping hand, especially in illness or in going for miles into the country on a cold stormy night to give assistance in relieving some suffering one. She leaves nine grand-children and great grand-children, besides brothers and sister, nieces and nephews, and other relatives by the score.

The funeral was held Sunday from the M. E. church and the remains were laid to rest at the side of her husband in the Palatine cemetery, services being conducted by the Sutherland Women's Relief Corps. Many beautiful floral designs were to be seen as tokens of sympathy from relatives and friends.

IS GAINING IN POPULARITY

Interesting and Profitable Meetings Are Held by the Barrington Woman's Club.

The Woman's Club has opened the year's program in a very auspicious manner, and for the past six weeks fine programs have been given which have not only proven interesting but very instructive. The Art and Literature Department under the leadership of Mrs. W. Welch has instituted chorus singing at the meetings which adds much to the pleasure of the programs.

The Department of Philanthropy have entered into their work with zeal, and under their direction flowers will be sent to the Monument, Fund and the work of establishing a kindergarten takes up. Last Thursday the club had the pleasure of entertaining Mrs. Whitworth of the Woodstock Woman's Club. Mrs. Whitworth read a paper on philanthropic work which was most interesting and proved an inspiration to the Barrington club.

On yesterday afternoon the Domestic Science Department served a "health food" luncheon at the home of Mrs. E. Cannon. After the luncheon each member was called upon to tell why her contribution to the luncheon was considered a health food. A domestic program was given by Mrs. Schenck, Mrs. Carmichael and Mrs. Stott, assisted by special music numbers by Mrs. Welch and Miss Fletcher.

A "German Day" and a "Japanese Day" have been arranged by the social department, and on Dec. 14th, "Educational Day" will be observed and a lecture will be given to the club members and friends by Dr. D. H. Richardson. The club now has forty members, and the four departments are working in regular order with much interest and a bright outlook for a most pleasant year's work.

Barred From the Hall of Fame.

The committee appointed to put out Americans into the Hall of Fame seems to be especially busy in keeping famous persons out of it. At a recent session James Russell Lowell and General Sherman were given full credentials for pedestals, and Whittier got in by a small margin, and another session John Quincy Adams, James Madison, Agassiz, Alexander Hamilton, Paul Jones, Mary Lyon, Emma Willard and Maria Mitchell pulled the regular fifty-one votes and were awarded ordinarily famous.

Poe was found to lack eight votes in the committee who would overlook certain phases of his life and declare that the phenomenal fame his works have won for him the world over is authentic. Oliver Wendell Holmes was joined to the discredited class along with Poe because he lacked three votes of being truly famous. Horace Greeley is also outside of the Pantheon, and Nathaniel Hale is only 19 votes short of being a member of the hall of fame, since he got a meager ten votes where 100 Americans, good and true, had a chance to extend the glad hand and pull him into the sacred column. To what limits famous Americans of the class of Davy Crockett will be assigned is a matter for reflection. Perhaps the committee will graciously establish an annex or two with a roomy vestibule for the storage of lesser barred at present, but entered on the waiting list to see how their alleged fame will pan out. And Holmes, Poe and Hale will not be lonely outside, as will be seen by the list of brilliant Americans besides whom the lefty tribunal by its latest decree has debarred the imprimatur of its approval: Nathaniel Greene, James Peabody, Cooper, William Cullen Bryant, George Bancroft, John Lothrop Motley, Francis Parkman, Mark Hopkins, Phillips Brooks, Rufus Choate, Patrick Henry, John C. Calhoun, Charles Sumner and Andrew Jackson.

A Cry For More Wool.

Figures given by the United States Investor show that the price of native wool in this country has increased in ten years three and in some cases four times over what it was ten years ago. Quotations in London and in the South American markets show a corresponding advance. This rise of prices may stimulate the growth of wool in Australia and in South America, and also affect the sheep growing industry in this country to some extent.

Of late years sheep raising in the United States has rested upon a mistaken basis—that is, the value of the meat has been considered rather than the value of the fleece. For the past fifteen years the number of sheep has not increased with the growth of population. One reason is that land, with the exception of certain districts, has been too valuable for other purposes. But if the crops are to rot on the ground because of lavish abundance or for the lack of harvesters or the means of hauling them to market farmers may conclude that there is money in raising sheep for the wool. The prospect will be improved if science finds some way to stop the sheep disease which has fastened its blight upon some of the old wool growing sections.

The death of Sir Henry Irving removes almost the last link between the modern and the classic days of English speaking stage. When Irving began he had for his models at home the two Keans, Ellen Tree, Charles and Frances Anne Kemble and Macready. In this country the elder Booth had just passed away, but Forrest and Davenport were at the height of their fame. Edwin Booth, Barrett, Adams, Bangs, Lester Wallack, Warren, Gilbert and Mrs. Gilbert were his chief American contemporaries and have all departed before him.

The De Wet whom the Germans recently arrested in Southern Africa for plotting rebellion is a nephew of the distinguished Boer general, but should not be identified with the young De Wet who visited this country during the Boer war. This last De Wet claimed to be a nephew of the general whose name he bore. He was killed about a year ago in South Africa.

International Live Stock Exposition, Dec. 2 to 9, 1905.

Prof. Jas. W. Wilson, of the South Dakota Agricultural College, says: "The International Live Stock Exposition held annually in Chicago is probably the greatest institution of its kind in the world. It is great on account of its educational value, not only to the enterprising student of the West, but the packer, the speculator and the exporter of fancy stock in the East. Here is the place they come to a common center and observe with their own eyes the best in the land. The careful admirer of good stock receives at this time enough information to keep him thinking for an entire year."

"It is impossible for one to describe in detail the numerous classes of stock or the number that has been on exhibition in the past, but it is safe to predict that on account of the prosperous condition of the country at large, the show this fall will be greater than ever."

"Every farmer can well afford to attend this show, to make comparisons for himself."

Low rates over the North-Western Line from all points west will be announced soon.

Impoverished Soil

Impoverished soil, like impoverished blood, needs a proper fertilizer. A chemist by analyzing the soil can tell you what fertilizer to use for different purposes.

If your blood is impoverished your doctor will tell you what you need to fertilize it and give it the rich, red corpuscles that are lacking in it. It may be you need a tonic, but more likely you need a concentrated fat food, and fat is the element lacking in your system.

There is no fat food that is so easily digested and assimilated as

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil

Not long ago a certain clergyman from the west was called to a church in Jersey City. Soon after his arrival the divine's wife made the usual visit to the members of the parish. One of these, a plumber's wife, was asked by the good lady whether the family were regular churchgoers, whereupon the wife of the plumber replied that, while she and her children were attendants at divine service quite regularly, her husband was not.

"Dear me," said the minister's wife, "that's too bad! Those your husband never go to church?"

"Well, I wouldn't say that he never went," was the reply. "Occasionally Will goes to the Vatican, now and then to the Methodist, and I have known him to attend the Catholic church."

A book of perplexity came to the face of the visitor. "Perhaps your husband is an agnostic," suggested she.

"Not at all," hastily answered the other; "he's a plumber. When there is nothing for him to do at our church there is very likely something for him at one of the others."—Harper's Weekly.

Where the Sea Disappears.

A girl was recently overtaken and drowned by the incoming tide on the west coast of France. A translated Breton said of this fatality:

"Can you, who see your own tides crawl in at the rate of ten feet of sea an hour, imagine tides racing like white horses up the flat sands at the rate of half a mile a minute? The extraordinary flatness of our Breton coasts gives us these phenomenal tides. The sea does not rise and fall. It appears and disappears. There are no waves and flat plains of sand. At a set hour, the sea rushes in, white, wild, submerging this vast plain. At a set hour it unspools back under the waters—back thirty, forty, fifty miles—nothing is visible but the plain of pale sand, and the sea is back on its usual level. It is a marvelous thing on this desolate plain when the tides begin to rise, for they must drown. Nothing can save them."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Short Cut in Print.

Or late the everyday habit which some people have of using initials to express the names of people in the public eye has crept into the English press, probably as a freak of "yellow" journalism. It is not very audacious, but it is eccentric to run day after day the initials C. B. to designate Campbell-Bannerman and T. P. when Thomas Power O'Connor is meant. One London newspaper is addressed formally as M. A. P. and quoted as M. A. P. The full name of the publication is "The Daily Telegraph" becomes D. T. in the hands of the abbreviator, and it is not rare to find a bunch of initials, T. P. and D. T. and M. A. P. for instance, also together in one short paragraph.

In this country at one time the initials H. G. were known far and wide among newspaper readers to be the synonym for Horace Greeley, he himself instituting the abbreviation by signing Tribune editorials in that way. We have a host of notable just now whose names, as Mr. Dooley would say, "tap on the lips of every man in town." Perhaps to the interest of brevity we shall adopt the English manner and make J. D. and J. P., with others that will occur to mind, short cuts to Rockefeller, Morgan, and so on. Then as the list grows, printers will be in demand for the first correct guess as to who is meant in a particular connection.

Food Reform and Sentiment.

In the work of reform in dietetics is everything, and the ruling high price of food has made the past season favorable for the agitation of a vegetable diet. The argument of the pocket-book is often effective when all other pleas fail. During the summer food reformers, who were usually women, have agitated and demonstrated the claims of strict vegetable diet from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The claims were not all valued in the same way, and it seems that the pocket-book argument was not emphasized. Perhaps that was taken for granted.

One argument of the vegetarians—some of them at least—is that they are engaged in abolishing "the war of a life animal." This was not an accident of the hour, for the reformers have all along allied themselves with the elements of society which deplore cruelty to animals. The butcher's shambles are the inevitable corollary of the human appetite for meat. In the long run, however, such necessities, and their supposed necessities, dictate the daily bill of fare. He eats to keep up steam to carry his part in life. Whatever diet will do most effectively will in the long run get his vote. More attention to the preparation of vegetables all along the line from the ground to the table, might demonstrate that meat is a superfluous article as a strength builder. That proved, either meat or high prices will have to go.

Brains and Drudgery.

Vacation is long enough past for average tollers to feel settled down to the routine of drudgery. If that is the view they take of life's serious tasks. Most all will say that the annual outing gave them a taste of the joy of living, and if the theory of President Eliot of Harvard, as given in a recent address, is true there is an end to joy for a twelvemonth at least. President Eliot says that people who live by the exercise of the intellectual powers on joy life of this sort better than those who work with their hands. It is drudgery which robs life of its joy, and drudgery is not confined to any particular phase of activity.

There is drudgery in every routine of labor unless the end in view lifts it to a higher plane. Hunting, fishing, boating and mountain climbing are drudgery to those doomed to this life with no compensating blessing in view to look on to the promised land. Athletics are drudgery; writing and painting are drudgery; everything to which one must buckle down in order to get any where is drudgery. Gilson, the great artist, has quit making pictures in black and white because the end he had in view—the accumulation of a fortune—is accomplished. To continue at it would indeed be drudgery unbearable. He would have drudged at painting in colors just to win glory and will not be a whit happier at the task.

Drudgery must enter into every life that is to count for anything and experience the true joy of living. The story of the spider mounting a thread innumerable times to get over a wall used to appear in every schoolbook as a lesson in perseverance. Spinning would be drudgery if the spider could not see the web at the finish. Human beings should have as much brain to the atom as a spider and find exercise for all of it in everything they do. That is exercising intellectual power in a way that never misses fire. Vastly more of the so-called intellectual class find life not worth living than of the hand toilers.

It is the dull monotony of any work which makes it drudgery, and the play of intellect can dispel monotony from the humblest task. The housewife who gets through her Monday's washing an hour earlier than usual or gets it on the line five minutes ahead of her busy next door neighbor or finds the linen pure white where it was dull gray the last time will not look back upon the long hours over the washbasin as intolerable drudgery. She scores a point by the invention of time saving expedients and in that way brings many a thrill of joy to ease the tired bones and muscles. Brains and toil are a good team. Brains make the work go quicker and truer and yield full results. They put a glad edge upon drudgery.

A Terror of the Sea.

The arrival of the American schooner Berwind in her home port with three negro mutineers in irons and a gap in the ranks of the crew shows that there is still a possibility of murderous affairs at sea. In the recent mutiny the captain and four sailors lost their lives. Tragedies of the kind have been rare of late years, but in the early days of the merchant marine, when men were subjugated on board and compelled to serve at the pistol's point, mutinies were far more common.

One of the most famous mutinies in the history of modern seafaring was that of the crew of the British ship Bounty, the fate of which was a mystery for half a century. The mutineers of the Bounty hid themselves from the vengeance of the law by settling upon Pitcairn Island, in the south Pacific ocean, and from an island participant in the tragedy the story of the mutiny was learned. The laws of today offer more protection than formerly to the rights of sailors, and there is less incentive to mutiny. The chances of escape for mutineers are also fewer now, owing to the close surveillance of vessels on the high seas.

The soldiers of the regular army have "settled" away $20,000,000 in the safe keeping of the government. Many a king of the old style would have rejoiced in an army so thrifty, and in an emergency confident the pile to reinforce his war chest. But Uncle Sam is so pleased with the boys that he has added to their monthly wages.

Latest advices from the Pacific show that the typhoon which swept over the region of the Philippines in September was a terror of the old style. While islands were depopulated at the mouth of the Yangtze, in China, the loss of life being estimated at 100,000, and the damage to shipping was ghastly.

The tobacco growers of the south are lining up against the tobacco trust the same as the cotton planters have lined up against the Wall street "bears." Will they, like them, follow the price of the raw stuff?

One of the insurance presidents under fire says there are two sides to the life insurance business. Premium payers have long had a view at one side and are glad for a peep at the other.

General Williams thinks that no officer above the age of forty should hold rank of captain in the army. All the captains will vote for that, especially if the jump is to brigadier general.

The most problem in Germany has assumed an acute form. Horses have risen in price, and dogflesh is no longer obtainable. Some municipalities are buying up fish in large quantities to relieve the distress among the poor.

The latest dictum of science is, "Give a woman nothing to do and she will find the cat and dog and she will go to the dogs as fast as she can." That's because father or husband or brother has taught her to "be one of the boys."

John Ruskin said that in matters of criticism one should never come to particulars, for authors are apt to come down upon you with "authorities," there being an authority for almost every absurdity that can be committed, either in literary or practical matters.

In a letter to a college friend Ruskin wrote: "The object in all art is not to inform, but to suggest; not to add to the knowledge, but to kindle the imagination. He is the best artist who can by the fewest words touch the greatest number of secret chords of thought in his reader's own mind and set them to work in their own way. To put plain text into rhyme and meter is easy; not so to write a passage which every time it is remembered shall suggest a new train of thought, a new subject of delightful dream. It is this mystic secret of beauty which is the seal of the highest art, which only opens itself to close observation and long study."
