OLD PIONEER PASSES AWAY

Frederick Wiseman Passes Away Suddenly on Wednesday Afternoon.

Our citizens were shocked Wednesday evening to hear of the sudden death of Frederick Wiseman, one of the pioneers of this section. Mr. Wiseman had been out visiting all afternoon, and was apparently in excellent health and spirits. About 4 o'clock he left his old friend, Mr. Hubbard, and went home, where he expressed a desire that supper be hurried up, and while waiting for the repeat lay down on the couch in the sitting room.

Mrs. Wiseman, who was busy preparing the evening meal, noticed an unusual heavy breathing, and approaching her husband noticed that all was not as it should be. She immediately called for assistance on her neighbors and sent for Dr. Weidelt, but before the physician arrived Mr. Wiseman had breathed his last.

Coroner Taylor of Waukegan held an inquest over the remains yesterday and the verdict gave hemorrhage of the brain as the cause of death.

Mr. Wiseman was born in Hannover, Germany, in 1840, and at the age of ten years accompanied his parents to this country, settling at Palatine. He served four years in the Civil war, being a member of the 10th Illinois regiment.

In 1866 Mr. Wiseman was united in marriage to Mrs. Hannah Lisharke of Barrington, and they purchased a farm two miles west of Barrington, where they resided continuously until about ten years ago, when he retired from active life, and made their home in the village of Barrington.

Ten children blessed the union of Mr. and Mrs. Wiseman—nine daughters and one son. They are: Amelia, Henry Wulhausen; Julia, wife of Fred Benson of Ocean Springs, Miss; Edward, who is now engaged in the machine contracting business in this city; Lydia, wife of Fred Lageschulte of Randolph, Neb.; Misses Emma and Esther at home; Rhoda, wife of Albert Schultz of Dundee; Miss Lucella, who died in 1903; Miss Matilda, of Elgin, and Miss Irene, residing at home.

The deceased was a devout member of Zion's Evangelical church for the past fifty years or more, and an active member of the Grand Army of the Republic.

He was a gentleman who was respected and honored by all with whom he came in contact, and a Christian gentleman who believed and practiced the golden rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

The funeral services will take place at the family residence at 12:30 o'clock and a half hour later at Zion church, Rev. Kiest, of Chicago, the same minister who performed the marriage ceremony thirty nine years ago, will conduct the services. Interment will be in the Deer Grove cemetery.

Solo, "My Homeland," H. F. Gieske. Solo, "Alpine Rose," Ethel Austin. Reading—Selected—Prof. Banta. Vocal Duet, "Swallow, Happy Swallow," Emma Pomeroy and Louise Riche. Quartette, "Good Night, Beloved," Pour S. Quartette.

LECTURE OF A HIGH ORDER

Prof. Farr Pleases a Large Audience With "The Dignity of Labor."

The first number of the Entertainment Course, under the auspices of the High School, was a success. Prof. Chas. W. Farr delivered his interesting, instructive and entertaining lecture, "The Dignity of Labor," to an appreciative audience in the High School hall last Friday evening.

This lecture was illustrated throughout with excellent stereotyped views, showing up the Tuskegee School. These pictures were greatly appreciated by both old and young.

Prof. Farr in vigorous terms drove home the point, "The Saving Grace of Labor," using Booker T. Washington's school as an example of what can be done by the education of the head, heart and hand. The speaker held that such education educated the boys and girls back to the homes and not away from the homes, as some systems of education have a tendency to do.

How "The Saving Grace of Labor" brought Booker T. Washington from a bad under a sidewalk to the head of one of the greatest schools in the country is a lesson that all should learn.

While Prof. Farr stated that he did not aim to discuss the Southern question as such, yet his lecture well shows that the education of the head, heart and hand of those people is the salvation of the South.

Many were surprised to learn that the colored people have so great a school as the Tuskegee Institute, which has an enrollment of 1,200.

This lecture is one of high order—one of the very best ever delivered in Barrington. We all join in thanking Prof. Farr for the assistance he has given the Barrington High School in paying for his new plane.

MUCH MONEY WAS RAISED

Local Y. M. C. A. Holds Two Successful Meetings Sunday at Salem Church.

The union meetings conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association last Sunday afternoon and evening were more than a success and Dec. 3rd, 1905 will long be remembered as a red letter day by the members of that organization.

The purpose of the meetings was to bring before the people of Barrington the needs of a local Association; its merits and the benefit to be derived from it by the community in which it exists.

The afternoon meeting opened with song, scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Lapham and a song by the Y. M. C. A. quartet.

C. H. Giessebrecht, county secretary for McHenry county, was introduced and gave a very pleasant and spirited talk on the general work of the various Associations under his supervision; of how they are growing and the work they are doing, and how they are being received and supported by the people of the various localities.

At the close of the afternoon meeting Rev. Robert L. Kelley gave the young men a most encouraging heart to heart talk. At the evening meeting Rev. George T. Webb of Chicago, a former Y. M. C. A. district secretary, spoke with earnestness of the great need in the world of just such a force as the Young Men's Christian Association.

That the young men of our large cities might be brought together and held together under Christian influences, to keep them safe from the great maelstroms of vice and sin yawning for them at every hand.

He then spoke of the need for these organizations in country towns which are giving up their young men to furnish brawn and energy of commercial city life; that these men, familiar with the workings of the local association, might find familiar scenes congenial surroundings and companionable associates in similar institutions.

He urged upon the people of Barrington to do all in their power to keep the Young Men's Christian Association alive and growing, not alone for the young men who should go away but that the younger boys fast developing into manhood might grow up under its influence.

Mr. Springer secretary of the Elgin Y. M. C. A. spoke of the work being done among the young men and boys in his city. He cited instances of clubs being forced to close their doors as a result of the depletion of the membership by his organization.

He spoke of maintaining a summer camp for the boys of Elgin at Wauconda during the summer months and of the most excellent prospects for the continued good work, and he expressed a hope that in the near future the Barrington Y. M. C. A. might be sufficiently prosperous to have a modern equipped building of its own.

Mr. Giessebrecht then spoke of the various lines along which an association might be useful both to its members and the community. He urged the need for every possible support.

George Lytle, the local secretary, then read a budget of the expenses facing the local Association for the coming year, amounting to a total of $300.00 and asked for investors to that amount.

Amid a stir of enthusiasm and good fellowship subscription after subscription was offered and at the close of the meeting he was able to report a total subscription of almost $350.00.

Money has continued to come in since this meeting until the Association now has placed with it for investment more than $400.

VILLAGE BOARD MEETS.

Routine Business Was Speedily Transacted.

The Village Board met in regular session Dec. 4th, 1905 and transacted regular routine business. Bills amounting to $341.45 were allowed and ordered paid.

The street committee reported the adding of 10 new lights to the street system, which was confirmed by the board.

In response to a petition to the board the Marshall was instructed to enforce the ordinance regarding the Sunday closing of the saloons.

Meeting adjourned.

L. H. BENNETT, Village Clerk.

THURSDAY CLUB PROSPEROUS

Programs Rendered at the Weekly Meetings Prove Interesting and Instructive.

The Woman's Thursday Club have been holding some very interesting and instructive meetings this year. The new studies have met with much favor and the ladies are entering into the work with zeal. Several speakers of note have been secured to address the club during the year and a Guest Day is also being arranged. The club met this week at the home of Mrs. J. Robertson on Main St. The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. Mae Lane Spunner, after which special music was enjoyed by the club and a very able address given on "The Essentials of Youth" by Mrs. W. S. Heffernan of Chicago, president of the Illinois Congress of Mothers. A large number of guests were present, to enjoy with the club, this very talented lady. All were greatly inspired by her words. After a half hour of "social chat" the ladies were invited to partake of an elaborate luncheon, served most daintily.

The next meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Margaret Dolan—subject, "Xmas Toys."

December 21st will be children's day at the home of Mrs. Maud Robertson. The entire afternoon will be devoted to entertaining the little folks, at the close of which light refreshments will be served.

CHAPTER XXIII—Continued.

The few days following the thrills and incidents narrated above were comparatively happy ones for Louis Lang. In the deal with Whalen he had been picked and cut a little; the wound in his head gave him slight pain and trouble. The strain on his nerves and his sensitive nature prostrated him temporarily. For a week or so he played the invalid. Perhaps he would have convalesced quicker or perhaps not at all if he had not been waited upon and tenderly nursed by Pearl Huntington and the good doctor, her father. There was something besides bodily sickness and pain that allied him, and that was love.

The lack of the care and encouragement of a loving companion was what had made out her devil-may-care sort of an individual such as he appeared when Jim Denver met him in the basement saloon when the twin formed the co-partnership of attempting to win fame and a million. And Louis had fallen in love with Pearl Huntington.

Pearl was Louis' ideal of a woman; beautiful, graceful and pure. He was not a frivolous youth, but sensible and staid; and she of a frank, lovable disposition, fearless yet of that variety of womanhood known as "tender and clinging," without not dependent nor weak.

Louis was sitting in an easy chair, while Pearl was busily herself tidying up the sitting-room. They had been having another chat of the nature similar to the one recorded before them on the evening of the duel.

"I do not delude myself, Miss Huntington," said Louis, looking at her earnestly, "into the belief that you really love me; it was gratitude, not love, that prompted you to say so."

She stopped her work and looked at him questioning, then said as if in excuse for having made the statement: "There are a thousand women in this place who would be pleased to marry you." Now that Louis was safe she was not about to allow him to draw her into a second admission of love without first finding out his true feelings in advance.

"But there is none here that I would care to marry," returned Louis. "Why not?" she asked.

"Because I do not love them—I do not consider them proper women." "Then you do not think there are many pure women here?"

"Just as many, if not more, here than men," he answered. "And there are 'pure' men here?" she asked.

"If you mean by 'pure' common, ordinary men who have never committed crime, yes," he replied. "There are no men here that I would care to marry," she retorted.

"Why?" he asked. "Well, I do not love—besides, they are criminals now!" was her rather incoherent reply.

"Then you do not believe that there may be honorable men here, men like your father, for instance?"

"Oh, that may be, but they are very few."

"Then you would not marry a criminal if you really loved him?" he asked.

"Not if it could help him," she said—basically checking herself as she was about to say that she would not marry a criminal if he was a dangerous and giving offense where none was intended, she added, "But please do not take my remarks as personal!"

Louis bit his lip and went on with the conversation as if the remark had not been made. "You do not believe in reforming the fallen by marriage and then teaching them how to be good by good example?"

"No! Let them reform first!" "You think it possible to reform? Don't you imagine that some of our so-called criminals have been made so through no fault of their own that they would not be here, for example, if not detailed by force?"

"Bad company sometimes makes weak-minded persons reckless!" "Would you call it murder to kill a man in self-defense? Take my fight in the arena, for example. Was that murder?" he asked.

"No," she replied quickly, "that was not murder."

"Then you would not marry a criminal if you really loved him?" he asked.

FORCE GIRLS TO MARRY. STRANGERS FOR MONEY

Foreigners in Western Canada Compel Daughters to go to the Altar and Priests Lead Their Aid.

Winnipeg, Man., dispatch: An alarming state of affairs in regard to marriage regulations exist in western Canada among foreigners, according to a statement made last night by Father Blosowski, editor of a Polish paper and priest of the Polish Independent Catholic church in this city.

He declares that parents sell their children to men for a consideration and that they are married at ages as low as 13. This statement was made when he was shown an interview given by a Galician priest, who denied the existence of such a condition of affairs as charged by Mrs. Chlambom of Winnipeg at the W. C. T. U. convention held at Hamilton. Father Blosowski said:

"I have known many cases of Polish and Galician girls of only 13 and 14 years of age being given by poor parents in return for money to be married to men they know nothing about and whatever to marry. Girls belonging to my own congregation have been married in this way, but not by me. If a man asks me to marry him to a child like that I tell him that it would be a crime and that I can not do it. There are priests in this city, however, who will marry them readily enough, making the bridegroom pay something like $50 for performing the ceremony because the girl is so young."

Small Towns Are Affected. The most important result of the reduction is the effect on the shippers of the smaller towns, which are now put on an equality with shippers in the larger cities. Springfield, Decatur and Danville are the only cities of consequence where a reduction will be of much effect. These cities have been enjoying the commodity rates given to some of the other cities and in common with the little towns have been paying the full tariff schedule.

Under the new ruling, which goes into effect Jan. 1, freight rates in Illinois will be slightly lower than the schedules of Iowa, Michigan and Ohio, but not so low as the actual rates given by the railroads voluntarily in these states and Indiana. There are local conditions in Indiana which make it a matter of interest to the railroads to give low rates.

The decision was given out after an all-day conference with Gov. Deneen. Isaac Elwood of De Kalb, who did not participate in the original hearing of the case and who also attended a meeting of the commission was present and his name appears in the original and the revised rates. There are rumors of bitter feeling over the freight rate matter, but nothing tangible can be learned. It is understood that Chairman James Neville of Bloomington was for forcing a reduction and that the figures agreed upon are a compromise.

Roads Will Not Buffer. Gov. Deneen said he did not regard the reduction as excessive or a hardship on the roads, for the reason that some of them had already made voluntary reductions to some of the cities. He said that at the present time the reduction would have the effect of crippling the business of the roads or causing a disturbance in the wage scale of employees.

Some of the railroad men who were at the hearing had said that it was not a matter that the roads would be seriously affected by the decision and some formidable figures based upon the average rates of the roads were given. The full tariffs under the old rates have been published. These, however, mean nothing, for in only a few instances have the rates been reduced. The rates for the reduction for lower freight rates was the action.

When the decision was announced formal protests were made by the attorneys for the railroads. Commissioners Neville and French said it was understood that the commission would be the same a year from now as it was to-day and that if the railroads hereafter show they can not do a profitable business under the revised schedule the commission will have the same course in raising it that it had in making the present order.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH VIEWS. Louisiana Doctors Angered by Jury Investigation of Fever Violation. New Orleans, La., dispatch: The Louisiana state board of health, Dr. Edmund Bauchon, president, has resigned in a body and the resignations of the entire body were forwarded to Baton Rouge. This action was precipitated by a personal demand of Gov. Blanchard that he wanted an investigation as to how yellow fever got into Louisiana and who was responsible and by his last action of calling upon the grand jury of Orleans parish to investigate. Although the resignation of certain members of the board has been rumored, it is said the grand jury is what incensed the members.

DEATH OF FORMER ALDERMAN. Dropsy Claims Charles Cooke, a Milwaukee Politician. Milwaukee, Wis., special: Charles Cooke, a former alderman of the city of Milwaukee, died last night after seven indictments for alleged grafting were returned by recent grand juries. died Sunday night of dropsy after a long illness. Cooke was at one time a power in politics in this city and was repeatedly elected to the common council from the fourth ward.

WILL NAME FOUR CARDINALS. Venetian, However, Will Not Be Nominated on Coming Consistory. Rome cables: The pope has expressed his intention to create Monsignore Cavallari, the patriarch of Venice, cardinal in pectore. His nomination, however, will not be published until a later consistory. Consequently the cardinals to be created at the consistory of Dec. 11 will be only the four already known—namely, Monsignore Capalini, De Azevedo, major domo of the Vatican; Archbishop Samassa of Flau, Hungary; Monsignore J. A. De Arcevedo, De Albuquerque Cavallari, archbishop of Rio Janeiro, and Archbishop Spinola of Seville.

PRICE OF SILVER IS GOING UP. Reaches 65 1/2 Cents, the Highest Figure Since 1896. San Francisco, Cal., special: Silver is jumping up in price. It is now 65 1/2 cents an ounce, the highest price since 1896. Two months ago the market price was 55 cents. The demand is greater than the supply, the brokers say, in accounting for the higher price. But they also say that in addition to a legitimate business demand there is also a speculative demand which must be taken into consideration.

WAGE WAR ON CHILD EMPLOYER. Many Warrants Served on Violators of Law in Toledo. Toledo, O., special: State Inspector of Workmen and his assistant, Col. Bryan, are serving many warrants in the fight being waged against the violations of the child labor laws. The list is not complete, but it is understood that at least twenty factories and stores will have a answer to the courts on the charge of employing children of less than the legal age in their establishments.

IN CONSTANT AGONY.

A West Virginian's Awful Distress Through Kidney Troubles.

W. L. Jackson, merchant, of Parkersburg, W. Va., says: "Driving about in broad daylight I suffered from kidney troubles on me, and I suffered 20 years with sharp, cramping pains in the back and urinary disorders. I often had to get up a dozen times at night to urinate. At last I was obliged to use the catheter. I took to my bed, and the doctors failing to help, began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The urine soon came freely again, and the pain gradually disappeared. I have been cured eight years, and though over 70, am as active as a boy."

Miss Helen Gould's Many Charities. Miss Helen Gould, with the intelligent assistance of her sister, Elizabeth Altman, annually disburses $500,000 in charity. Probably Miss Gould supports directly and indirectly more charities than any person living. While it does not seem that she gives away such sums as are recorded of the Rockefeller and Carnegie charities, on the best authority her donations annually reach $500 or more beneficiaries.

Miss Gould is a Vassar graduate and first met her present employer some seven years ago, when Miss Gould was visiting the college. Since then she has been very active in giving away nearly $4,000,000.

MILK CRUST ON BABY. Lost All His Hair—Scatched Till Blood Ran—Grateful Mother Tells of His Cure by Cuticura for Itch.

"When our baby, boy was three months old he had the milk crust very bad on his head, so that all the hair came out, and it itched so bad he would scratch until the blood ran. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I applied the Cuticura soap to a thin cap on his head, and before I had used half of the box it was entirely cured, his hair commenced to grow out nicely again, and he has had no return of the trouble. (Signed) Mrs. H. P. Holmes, Ashland, Or."

Youth is Seizing the World. Fred Ottob, the young son of a Chicago dentist now practicing in Manila, has just started from San Francisco on his second trip around the world. He is still a very early teen, but is not the ordinary run-of-the-mill type, but a keen, wide-awake Chicago lad, whose father knows he is very well able to take care of himself and letting him have his fill of travel for a year or so.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. The only reliable and permanent cure is by the use of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, it causes deafness. The only reliable and permanent cure is by the use of the Eustachian tube. Uruguay Offers Post to American. D. E. Salmon, who resigned as chief of the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture, has been offered a place by the government of Uruguay, which proposes establishing a system of beef inspection and desires Dr. Salmon to take charge. The salary will be large and he will probably accept.

Submarine Cables. There are 275 submarine cables in the world, the length of which amount to 173,919 miles. Most of these belong to private parties, only 25,000 miles being owned by the various governments. All, however, bring daily orders from every land on the globe, for Pilibury's Vitos, the all-day food.

Cheap. "Dr. Wray's charges $10 a visit and he's been at my house ten times this month."

"Gee! Where are you going to get the $100?"

"I only owe him ten. The last nine visits were to collect it."

Swapping Ideas With Germany.
At a time when the tide of American students flowing to Germany is falling off the founding of a professorship of American history and institutions in the University of Berlin is important and significant. The step is not merely a formal compliment, rather a recognition of the needs of the people. Taken in connection with the appointment of German lecturers at Columbia and Harvard, the matter signifies that the two nations expect to meet on the exchange of ideas. No great nation can now dominate another great nation, and neither can one nation get on under present conditions without being affected by the civilization of other lands.

Social and political desires alike in the main are common to all peoples. Backward Russia is in the throes of an upheaval caused largely by the penetration of political ideas from without her borders, and had Witte studied America ten years ago as he studied it on his flying trip to the peace conference the knowledge gained and at the command of his master might have accelerated progress in Russia for years. The world has studied Russia through her savants, Kropotkin, Pushkin and Tolstol, and the ferment at work there has been spread by the writings from the outside sungied by the people. Conservative and revolutionary lectures have an advantage in interpreting one country to another. They will read the nation's deepest thought and declare it fearlessly. In this way senseless antagonism stirred up by irresponsible propagandists may be headed off and dangerous international friction avoided.

Growth of the Referendum.
Voters of several states and communities were called upon at the recent election to exercise the direct legislative power by means of the referendum, and it is interesting to recall the occasions as evidences of the growing popularity of that feature of American politics. In Maryland a franchise amendment was submitted to the people, and in New York there were several amendments relating to the judiciary, internal improvements and the regulation of labor on the public works. In Ohio the question of longer terms for state and county officials was decided by the referendum, and in Rhode Island the citizens voted upon an amendment changing the representation in the lower legislature. Voters in Chicago expressed their will as to a new ballot law, and Toledo submitted to popular vote a proposal to erect a municipal lighting plant. Some of the amendments and measures submitted to voters passed with approval, and others were rejected. As a rule, decisions by referendum are free from bias, and the principle is an advance in orderly government.

It is of interest to know what community will claim to have produced the original of the heroine of the "Girl of the Golden West" play, which has captured theater goers. She is described as beautiful, passionate, virginal, the soul of innocence, the incarnation of virtue and the blooming rose of vigorous health. Yet she keeps a drinking shop, is adored by all her patrons, shoots to kill, plays cards and swears like a pirate. Art has stood sponsor for many sins against the proprieties and will doubtless have to father this one.

A British voice has been raised against the encouragement of big families except where the persons responsible are able to maintain them. This argument in favor of race suicide will probably be as efficacious as the crusade against it. Neither law nor sentiment can arrest or boom the birth rate in any country. The wise men of Rome believed that it was regulated wholly by the price of corn.

The recent death of Robert W. H. who performed the self-propelling naval torpedo bearing his name, terminated the career of a man who was supposed to have revolutionized warfare on the sea. But in the Russo-Japanese war torpedoes added very little to the destructiveness among the contending fleets.

HE LED A BUSY LIFE.

A Short Biography of William G. Waterman, Deceased.

William G. Waterman was born at North Adams, Mass., Jan. 22, 1816, and died at Elgin, Ill., Nov. 25, 1905. In 1836 he came west to work at the country and for a time taught school in Kane County. Subsequently he returned to Massachusetts and resumed teaching there. He later engaged in merchandising for some years, after which he taught a private school at Chelmsford.

For three years previous to locating permanently in Illinois he was book-keeper and general manager of a large establishment for the manufacture of cotton goods.

January 12, 1841, Mr. Waterman was joined in wedlock to Miss Phoebe A. Foster and in 1845 they came to Illinois and located on a farm in Barrington township, where he resided until 1903, when he removed to Elgin.

He is survived by one son, John A. Waterman, of Elgin. Mrs. Waterman died Nov. 23, 1894. A daughter, Augusta, died in 1860, aged 21 years, and a son, Robert Morris, aged 26 years, died in 1871; another son, Dwight, having died in infancy. Mr. Waterman was a great reader, and was always thoroughly posted on the leading topics of the day and was a man of remarkable memory. He led a busy and useful life and was especially interested in educational affairs, and a few years ago donated $25,000 to Lombard University and was given a free ticket to Elgin Academy and to churches. In his political views he was a Republican, and was at one time a member of the Massachusetts legislature with Gen. Benj. F. Butler, and had also held various public offices in this state. He was always true to every trust, whether public or private, and a well spent life has won for him the high regard of all with whom he came in contact.

ACCOMPLISH MUCH WORK.

Woman's Missionary Society. Members of Salem Church Arrive.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Salem church now numbers 72 members. On Wednesday afternoon they had their annual business meeting. It was reported that with the balance of $19.10 on hand at the beginning of the year $129.25 were collected during the year. Of this amount $50.00 was appropriated for home missions, $25.00 for the local church society, $15.00 for a church at Lake Mills, Wis., and $15.00 for China mission. That is a splendid record for these busy women. The officers elected for the coming year are: Mrs. B. H. Solt, president; Mrs. A. H. Bachner, vice-president; Mrs. Hannah Solt, secretary, and Mrs. H. S. Meier, treasurer; Miss Luella Plagge was elected president of the Mission Band, and Miss Rose Lageschulte, assistant leader.

For Thin Babies

Fat is of great account to a baby; that is why babies are fat. If your baby is scrawny, Scott's Emulsion is what he wants. The healthy baby stores as fat what it does not need immediately for bone and muscle. Fat babies are happy; they do not cry; they are rich; their fat is laid up for time of need. They are happy because they are comfortable. The fat surrounds their little nerves and cushions them. When they are scrawny those nerves are hurt at every ungentle touch. They delight in Scott's Emulsion. It is as sweet as wholesome to them.

GATHERED IN THE "MITES."

Y. P. M. S. Netted a Neat Sum For Missions.

The Young People's Missionary Society of the Salem Evangelical church on last Tuesday evening gathered in their thanksgiving boxes and after an interesting missionary program, opened the same. These boxes contained the small of pieces of grativale during the past year. Each person gave as he or she pleased. About half of the boxes were collected. These contained amounts varying from 25c to $2.50. The whole amount paid was $26.77. When the other boxes make their appearance this sum will be greatly enlarged. All this will be used to support a mission in China. The officers of this society are: George Lageschulte, president; Fred Grabenkort, vice-president; Miss Amanda Schroeder, secretary; Miss Rose Lageschulte, treasurer; Miss Nora Plagge and Miss Olive Haebele, organists.

WAUCONDA MENTION.

Santa Claus is next on the program. H. E. Malmus transacted business at Barrington Tuesday.

J. F. Grosvenor, of Chicago, ate turkey with local friends.

The surface of the lake is entirely frozen, and skating is fine.

J. W. Cooke still leads the cribbage players with a good margin.

Miss Nettie Murray, of Chicago, spent Thanksgiving at her home here.

Geo. Block, of Chicago was the guest of Miss Lilah Gidding last Thursday.

Miss Della Hammond visited with Chicago relatives Saturday and Sunday.

Messrs. H. T. Fuller and J. S. Haas transacted business in the city Monday.

Mrs. Andrews, and daughter, Miss Lucy, are numbered with the sick in the van.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham and Miss Fern Hutchinson spent Thanksgiving day with Barrington relatives.

Chas. Wigham, of Grayslake, is writing insurance for the Connecticut General Life Ins. Co., in our community.

H. T. Fuller & Co. have installed a 3 light Pittner gasoline system in their store, and now they look upon the bright side of things.

Dr. C. W. Sowles spent Sunday with Grayslake relatives. He was accompanied by his mother and sister who remained for a week's visit.

A local brass band of about ten pieces has been organized under the leadership of Wm. Tidmarsh, and will furnish concerts for the natives and resorters next summer.

The Thanksgiving ball in the Oakland hall attracted about 50 couples. C. A. Hank's orchestra furnished the brand of music which has made it famous. Everyone enjoyed a very pleasant evening and gave thanks in the proper manner at the supper table.

My Rights In Regard to Hallie

By INA WRIGHT HANSON

Copyright, 1911, by Helen Dugdale

It is not etiquette in Grass Valley to arrive on certain days of the year. The weather man says the rule. When the mercury stands at 100 degrees on the shady north porch and you are sure that something will be the thermometer or it will be higher, you obey fashion's dictates without any question.

It was something after 6 when I joined Hallie at her aunt's gate on the evening before she was to return to her eastern home. She was bareheaded, bare necked, bare arms, and her dress was white. My throat tightened as I saw in perspective other nights when I shouldn't care what I did because blithe, beautiful Hallie would be only a memory.

"I've saved only the best for the last, Dan," she smiled, giving me her hand. "Come on the porch and see. Every day I've stood here and looked over at it, my beautiful castle, and would allow no one to tell me about it because I wanted you to. I've made more romances about that castle than you can count."

"Castle?" I repeated, following her to the east porch. "I don't know of any castle in this town."

In obedience to her pointing finger I looked across the hillside to the hill beyond, red soil and green with cultivation, having a background of pines and bearing on its breast ruins of gray stone.

"Oh, that," I said; "that is Deacon's Polly. It is."

"Wait. Don't tell me till we are there. We shall see the sun go down while I listen to the story."

So we went through the streets of the town out, into a country road and through a veritable forest lane, with the twitter of birds somewhere beyond the willows on either side, with the purpling of a little stream at our feet and the tinkle of bells behind us. We halted on a rude bridge.

"Hallie, dear, let's stay here in the peace and quiet for a while," I whispered. She put her hand on my arm. "I have decided that I will marry you, Dan," she said softly.

"Oh, Hallie!" I cried and captured the little hand. "Oh, Hallie, you said I said no, and I am sure it never interfered with my work. I can't bear to go away and leave you, and you would as soon live in the desert as the west, wouldn't you, Dan?"

The expression of her face was eager and sweet and shy all at once, but frowning. I released her hand and started on.

"You were criticizing this town the other day," I began slowly. "You said your uncle owned only half his home because he has title to only the surface right, while Mr. Brown owns the mining right. You said that if you owned a piece of property you should want to own half-way down to China; that it must be all or nothing with you."

Hallie flushed, but made no reply. "It is so with me, I want you, Hallie, but I want all of you—your mind as well as your beautiful body. If you are to be my wife you must give me the Heaton Charles or any other newspaper a mining right to take the gold of your brightest thoughts away from me."

"But I am the best girl reporter in the state," they said, "she protested, with sweet, unassuming egotism. 'I can't give up my work, Dan. I love it.'"

"No one can serve two masters, Hallie."

"We walked a little while in silence. When I turned to assist her up the hill I saw that her eyes were wet, but she was brave and proud, was Hallie. She looked up at me, laughing.

"Thus ended the first chapter," she said mockingly.

"So be it," I answered, holding open the great gate that she might pass through.

We went through a pear orchard, and presently we stood among the gray stone ruins. In the inclosure were pine trees and maples waving their great leaves mournfully; near the front entrance some stones had fallen from the wall, and among them grew poison oak; in one corner masses of blooming cacti and in the center six dandelion stems.

"Rich man, poor man, beggar man, chief, doctor, lawyer"—chanted Hallie, bending over them. "Tell my fortune, dandelion. I pray you." She puffed out her pretty red lips and blew desperately at each one, but their time was not yet ended. They refused to be blown away. Laughing, she went over to the cacti corner and sat down on a stone.

"Tell me about it, Dan," she commanded, beginning to gather the scarlet blossoms.

"Many years ago a good deacon owned a gold mine," I began, looking down at her glowing, "and in the foothills of his heart he thought the yield would never grow less. He said: 'I will not live in houses like other men. I will build me a castle such as this country has never beheld.' So his workers laid these foundations and built these walls. Then one day the deacon went to his mine, but there was no more gold. His castle was never completed; his foundations never splashed in the sunlight nor did his electric lights ever shine down on the town below. He died, but his 'folly' remains. It has many applications. You, Hallie, are squandering the gold of an honest man's love. You are building for yourself a castle of fame. Beware, lest it crumble in ruins about your feet."

"You are tragic tonight, Dan," she remarked as she finished her bright hood crown and placed it on her dark hair.

"The sun is setting," I said, turning angrily away from her beauty. "You have no business to be working among men anyway. You are too pretty."

It was a beautiful scene she threw back at me as she climbed the rock pile to look toward the west.

"I didn't think that of you," she said quietly, but her tone made me flush with shame.

"Forgive me, Hallie," I cried, springing up beside her. "I don't know what I'm saying."

"Dear old Dan," she whispered, with a faint sob, "don't forget me quite when I'm gone."

Forget her! The sun disappeared behind the fringe of pines, and the cathedral bell began to ring slowly, each chime a knell to my dead hopes. Hallie shivered.

"We had better go. It will be dark now when we get back."

I pined for five minutes more so that I might say my real goodby to scarlet crowned, red lips, misty eyes; Hallie, then, hand in hand, we went down the hill, along the country road, through forest lane and back to the town square.

It was summer when Hallie went away, and it was summer again when she came back. One evening I was passing the house which she had gloried for so short a time, when her aunt beckoned to me.

"Go to the east porch," she whispered as I went up the walk.

I thought of the time Hallie had shown me her castle from the east porch, and my heart was like lead as I went round the house and looked up to see—Hallie! Not round and rosy as she had been, but white, with great eyes unutterably bright; Hallie, with her pale lips trembling and her thin little arms outstretched toward me.

"What have they done to my darling?" I cried hoarsely as I sprang forward.

"I'm tired, Dan," she whispered, laying her dear head on my shoulder. "You said no one could serve two masters, and I have failed in serving one. I went out one stormy night to get details of a horrible murder case. I caught cold and couldn't seem to get over it. They said I must come back to California. And, Dan, I was glad, for California held you. My castle has fallen, as you said it might, but I don't seem to care."

"Hallie," I answered joyously, "love is better than fame and quietness far more to be desired than great riches. After you left I bought the pear orchard, and often have I sat among the castle ruins longing for my little girl. Tomorrow I will begin to build our house, and when it is finished I shall like you there. The pure winds and the bloom of the pines will give you back your health. Oh, Hallie, Hallie!"

And looking into her dear eyes I saw sweet preceptor of happy days to come.

PALATINE LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolf are rejoicing over the arrival of a little girl at their home. They had a large family gathering at their home Thanksgiving and christened their baby naming her Elsie.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hagen and children, who have spent the summer at the home of J. Palmer, moved back to Chicago Sunday. They would like to make Palatine their home, but the train service is not convenient for Mr. Hagen.

Heath & Milligan's paint train of twenty-five cars stopped and distributed "Sunshine" in Palatine Monday. During their stop a large crowd gathered to hear the music from a large phonograph and while looking pleasant they had their picture taken.

J. F. Allen, dairy agent of the Chicago and North Western Railway company was in town Saturday with representatives of the Bowman Dairy Co. to select a sight for a bottling factory. Engineers are expected to be out within a few days to make surveys for side tracks.

The I. O. O. F. admitted two young men in the mysteries of that Order Wednesday night. Seven brother members from Barrington were in attendance. After the work refreshments were served and then a "concert" was rendered until after the midnight train. Adolph Goldknecht and Alex Wilson were the candidates.

The dance given by the Big Five Orchestra was a grand success, socially and financially. Fifty-three tickets were sold. The music proved to be of the very best. The orchestra certainly deserves great credit for its work. They played all the latest music and will continue to keep the latest music on hand ready for engagements. They hope to make many appearances during the winter. Their next party will be New Years. Don't make any other engagements.

The football game held here Thursday was the last game of the season. The Palatine played the Morgan Tigers, but the Tigers were not in it. Palatine won by a score 10 to 6. Palatine was defeated only once this season. That is a record to be proud of. They were unable to have a game every Saturday, for many of the teams were afraid of Palatine and would not play them. A good crowd was in attendance, which was appreciated by the boys.

Torture of a Preacher.

The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies, because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep setting up in bed. I tried many remedies without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At Barrington Pharmacy; price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

LAKE ZURICH NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shennung of Minnesota, have been visiting their brother the past week.

Louis Seip and two of his friends were here on a hunt Saturday.

Wm. Buesching, who was hit by a train last Friday morning, is slowly recovering. He was badly shaken up and his shoulder was dislocated. The injury was nearly demolished, and the gentleman is very fortunate in escaping more serious injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seip of Palatine visited at the home of W. H. Algrin Sunday.

Many attended the dance at the Gikmer factory Thursday evening, which was held to dedicate the building.

The services at the St. Paul church, in honor of the fifth anniversary, was well attended.

Kohl Bros. have sold a car of potatoes at Grayslake.

William Armstrong entertained a friend from Morton Grove last Sunday.

Mr. Weber has been entertaining his father from Grand Rapids, Mich., the past week.

Miss Edith Seip has returned from a trip to Chicago.

The telephone men were here arranging for a new and larger switchboard at Franks, which will enable more people to have private phones.

Santa Claus has left a fine line of Christmas toys at W. H. Algrin & Co.'s. Don't forget to give them a call and leave your order.

Monday Evening Lectures.

The Lectures for the Popular Monday evening Lectures in the Methodist church will be as follows:

Dec. 11th—"Be a Man Like Your Mother Was"—Rev. Wm. H. Pierce, D. D.

the sugar and tobacco plantations in the islands. The best friends of the Filipino people and the people themselves are utterly opposed to the admission of Chinese coolie labor. Hence the only solution is the training of Filipino labor, reeducated, so that it does not now correspond either to the importance of the service to be rendered and the degree of ability and experience required in the different positions, or to the differences in the cost of living. In many cases the salaries are quite inadequate.

The State Board of Equalization fixed the rate of equalization on assessment of property in Lake county Tuesday. The only change made on the returns from the county heard was on city and village lots, which were increased ten per cent. The same change in valuation was made last year.

A stereopticon lecture on the "Passion Play of Oberammergau," will be given in St. Ann's church December 27th, by Rev. E. J. Fox. Tickets are only 25 cents, and it certainly is an entertainment that will be worth more in an educational sense than ten times the admission price. Attend.

A. C. Schroeder, manager of District No. 2 for the Chicago Telephone Co., has been appointed manager for the City exchange also. Mr. C. S. Barnes of Austin, Ill., has been appointed assistant, and will make his headquarters at Barrington.

On Friday evening, Dec. 15, Lounsbury Chapter No. 494, Order of Eastern Star, will entertain the Masons, their wives and sweet-hearts with a banquet and the very laughable farce, "Female Masonry." This bids fair to be one of the events of the season.

The lecture on "Africa" on last Monday evening in the Methodist church was listened to with great interest by all present. The past and present conditions of Africa were graphically portrayed by the Rev. Morton C. Hazen, who believed that these conditions were a prophecy of a great future for the Dark continent.

The play which was to have been given by the Ladies' Cadet band on Wednesday evening, December 12th, has been postponed to New Year's evening. Make arrangements to attend.

The Wauconda Mining Company, in which many Lake county people own stock, has announced to be planning to erect a 50 ton cyanide mill shortly at its mine in the Black Hills—Waukegan Sun.

The Ladies' Cadet band furnished music for the occasion of the opening of the Wheeling bridge, which took place Saturday a week ago. According to our exchange they made a big hit. Our people should encourage them by attending the play to be given by them on New Year's evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Thies entertained a party of relatives and friends on Thanksgiving day. Covers were laid for twenty, and the afternoon was spent in enjoying music, social games, etc. Among those from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. John Metcalf, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kraemer and children; Carl and Elmer Wagner, O. Kraemer, all of Chicago. The guests returned home Thursday evening.

After Rev. W. H. Pierce lectured in Hinckley the following article appeared in the paper. "Our lecture (under the auspices of the Sugar Grove Normal and Industrial School) by Mr. W. H. Pierce on the subject, 'Be a Man like your Mother was,' was most truly a success. It seldom happens that we hear a lecturer combine wit, fun and drollery with the sublime and beautiful in such a way as to please, entertain and instruct all classes, and at the same time implant a true desire in each hearer to be more of a man or woman."—Hinckley Review.

This lecture will be given in the Methodist church next Monday evening by Rev. W. H. Pierce. Everybody is most cordially invited.

Masonic Fraternity Sends Silver Tronell on Long Journey.

To spread the cement of brotherly love and affection among the Masons, a silver trowel, after being dedicated and consecrated in the Masonic Temple of New York with elaborate ceremony in the presence of many of the most distinguished men of the craft, has been started on a long journey. Before the trowel returns to the New York lodge it will have been in every Masonic lodge in the United States. Its travels, which will be recorded in a magnificently bound volume which accompanies it, may consume ten years. On its return it will be placed with the record of its travels in the archives of the grand lodge of the state of New York.

A Fearful Fate.

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of Piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson, of Massillon, Ind., "that for blood-bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, is the best cure I have used. It has cured me, and I can recommend it to all who are afflicted with this painful and dangerous ailment."—Barrington Pharmacy.

There will be quarterly meeting services at the Salem Evangelical church beginning Friday evening. Rev. J. G. Fidler, the preaching elder, will be present and have charge of the services. Communion services on Sunday morning. On Sunday evening Rev. J. G. Fidler will preach in the English language. For the past year all Sunday evening services have been conducted in English.

The meanest fraud that has ever been heard of is a man who has been operating in neighboring counties. His game is a dental one, no accident. He goes to a farm house and extracts teeth without cost, when a new set is to go in. He calls again in a few days and gets half the pay for a new set of teeth and fails to appear again, leaving the victim minus teeth and cash. There is waiting and weeping, but owing to circumstances, no gnashing of teeth. There is however, a terrible chewing of gums.

Fire destroyed the Long Lake hotel last Friday morning, together with a large barn in which was stored a winter's supply of hay, corn and oats. The proprietors of the place, Edward Graham and his sister, Anna, and a Chicago travelling salesman narrowly escaped being burned. The hotel was one of the popular summer resorts of western Lake county, and accommodated a large number of guests. The total loss is estimated at $20,000.

A young man fond of dancing recently took a pedometer with him to a ball and found that in the course of the evening he had covered thirteen and a half miles. The average length of a waltz was half a mile, of a polka three-quarters of a mile, of a gallop or schottische a mile, and of lancers a quarter of a mile. A girl usually dances more than a man, and is calculated to cover more than sixteen miles in a single evening. Just think what would happen if the average girl were compelled to cover that much territory in one day while engaged in some useful household duty. Wouldn't her limbs ache—Grayslake Times.

One of the most enthusiastic meetings of the Y. M. C. A. ever held in a small town, we believe, will be the verdict of all who attended the meeting at Salem church last Sunday evening. The church was fairly filled and the hour of 7:30 p. m. a short song service was held under the proficient leadership of Frank Plagge. The meeting was addressed by able young men, who are actively engaged in the work of the Association at Elgin and Woodstock, the principal speaker of the evening being Rev. Webb of Chicago. We must not forget our home representative, Dr. G. A. Lytle, who addressed the audience on the need of the Y. M. C. A. here, and in response to the clean, business like manner, in which the "Investment" policy was handled the coffers of our little home organization were enriched by a princely sum. At the close of the meeting proper, there was a men's meeting at which in fitting prayer, and thanksgiving, the blessing of an Almighty was asked to follow this work. "I am not a member, but shout Amen."

WILL COME TO BARRINGTON.

Tronell on Long Journey.

To spread the cement of brotherly love and affection among the Masons, a silver trowel, after being dedicated and consecrated in the Masonic Temple of New York with elaborate ceremony in the presence of many of the most distinguished men of the craft, has been started on a long journey. Before the trowel returns to the New York lodge it will have been in every Masonic lodge in the United States. Its travels, which will be recorded in a magnificently bound volume which accompanies it, may consume ten years. On its return it will be placed with the record of its travels in the archives of the grand lodge of the state of New York.

A Fearful Fate.

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of Piles. "I can truthfully say," writes Harry Colson, of Massillon, Ind., "that for blood-bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, Bucklen's Arnica Salve, is the best cure I have used. It has cured me, and I can recommend it to all who are afflicted with this painful and dangerous ailment."—Barrington Pharmacy.

Miss Helee Lage, G. Wulenberg and Mr. Marsh were guests at the home of Rose Holoff Sunday.

There will be quarterly meeting services at the Salem Evangelical church beginning Friday evening. Rev. J. G. Fidler, the preaching elder, will be present and have charge of the services. Communion services on Sunday morning. On Sunday evening Rev. J. G. Fidler will preach in the English language. For the past year all Sunday evening services have been conducted in English.

The meanest fraud that has ever been heard of is a man who has been operating in neighboring counties. His game is a dental one, no accident. He goes to a farm house and extracts teeth without cost, when a new set is to go in. He calls again in a few days and gets half the pay for a new set of teeth and fails to appear again, leaving the victim minus teeth and cash. There is waiting and weeping, but owing to circumstances, no gnashing of teeth. There is however, a terrible chewing of gums.

Fire destroyed the Long Lake hotel last Friday morning, together with a large barn in which was stored a winter's supply of hay, corn and oats. The proprietors of the place, Edward Graham and his sister, Anna, and a Chicago travelling salesman narrowly escaped being burned.
