Wires, Wind and Weather.

To the goosehoue, the unuskrit skin, the appearance of the moon, corns and rheumatic Joints has been added a new standard of popular weather prognostication found in the alleged close connection between the varying notes of humaing telegraph and teleghone wires and the weather of the following few ddys... This discovery was made by Herr Bock, a German whose title of professor gives to his anonuncement a certain degree of credibility. The humming of the wires, the professor explains, is influenced by the strength of the wind, the tension of the wires and "various causes which are in turn affected by temperature and other at mospheric conditions." Of course the official forecasters treat Herr Bock's method of observation with derision, as they do all attempts to forceight the weather from phenomena within the sight and bearing of the common herd. Nevertheless the weather bureaus are very the form in failible. While their professor form in failible with the standard of the signal with the our over the putting of in making affairs of great pith and moment hang upon his own weather predictions, but it may be worth while to pay some attention to the simple signals which our forefathers found so useful.

The Jury In German Law.

To say that trial by Jury is itself on trial in some parts of this country is not wide of the mark. A very prominent leader at the bar recently declared that if all the cases in which he had been a participant had been decided by a throw of dice instead of by Jury verdict more substantial justice would have been secured.

a throw of dice instead of by jury vericities more substantial justice would have been secured.

Trial by jury is a feature of criminal procedure in Germany and in one or two important points bears upon reforms proposed in some of the states. In addition to the twelve who constitute the regular jury in Germany one or, more supplementary jurors are drawn. These alternates take part in the trial, says a writer in the current issue of the Political Science Quarterly, and have the same right in proposing motions as the regular jurors. They do not retire with the jury nor participate in the verdict, but should one of the regular jurors be incapacitated at any stage an alternate takes his place. For the affirmative of guit is majority of two-thirds is necessary. It takes eight to couvrict, but only five to acquit. In questions of "mitigating circumstances" a simple majority may decide its decial. At the in such a quescion is held to be an answer in the affirmative.

tion is held to be an answer in the affirmative.

In Germany a jury may amend its verdict up to the very point where the court pronounces judgment. The court pronounces judgment. The court on its own motion may refer the case for a new trial, but the jury's verdict on this second trial must stand.

An automatic sambler has beat the famous bank at Monte Carlo. If gam-biling must be, there is reason in back-ing a machine against human nature. It is all a matter of chance, and a cold blooded automaton will play on and on and never get rattled over gains and losses.

not to state policy. He owes it to the care.

Nicholas II., whose realm runs overforty degrees of latitude and who is considered the sole representative of his subjects of God upon earth, is himself a Tolstoist. The care is a kindly, overwheld, which was not been considered to the subject of God upon earth. It is the considered with the drawn jove of humanity and woke in him aspirations for peace on earth and the fulfillment of the earty Christians' dreams of fraternity and equality in love.
