BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 19, 1906

$1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

NEW FACTORY PROJECTED

Chicago Canning Company Wants to Establish Canning Factory in Barrington.

The second collector of a canvassing company, who has headquarters in Chicago, visited our town yesterday and is attempting to interest our business men in establishing a canning factory.

O'Project, as outlined to one of our local business men by the gentleman, is as follows:

The company expects to erect a factory at a cost of $100,000, providing they can sell 120 shares of stock at $100 each. The stockholders would own the factory. The company would operate the same, paying the stockholders 5 per cent. on their investment, after that they would make the usual charge for canning the goods, and the farmer would receive sweet corn and tomatoes, etc., which would balance the balance of whatever the canned goods brought in the market.

About 500 acres of sweet corn and tomatoes would be required to supply the factory. The company would be willing to take the stock, and it is expected by the company that 100 farmers in this section would be willing to sell the acreage, the receipts of which the company expects would average $50 an acre.

The factory would employ in the line of about 100 hands, mostly girls and boys.

Up to the time of going to press we have not been able to ascertain whether the gentleman mentioned is serious.

IT IS A SUCCESS.

The Big Store's Clothing Revolution Is Commanded By Its Customers.

There was talk that The Big Store (A. W. Meyer) made an announcement in its Review that it would close on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week at 6 o'clock p. m. in order to give its clerks a rest on the ladies' wardrobe. This story was taken by Mr. Meyer because he would like to see his clerks have a rest and that he and his wife would benefit materially by the change. The Review watched the outcome with interest. By careful observation on its part it could not discover that Mr. Meyer had a single transaction, but in order to prove its observations correct it called on Mr. Meyer and asked him confidentially how the "scheme" worked.

He replied: "I have been unable to take a single complaint from any customers. I have been commended for the stand I have taken and all my customers have been telling me that they are glad I am affording my clerks, and I know it is a success, extra business they are deriving."

This Review would not be surprised to see the store close, but allowing said before long, and certainly it is that their clerks would have such a rest. The Review's observations certainly find it convenient to their shopping before six o'clock three times a week.

From SALE—A few standard food products, such as flour, sugar, rice, etc., are sold. Edmunds & Jones, Barrington, Ill.

When in need of canned goods of all kinds, canned vegetables that can be masticated without teeth, Kirkline that will keep the dirt out of the clothes without rubbing, syrup that is sweeter than sugar, Saratoga chips that will melt in your mouth, Cod Fish that is COD Fish, and dried fruits of all kinds. Also dried goods of all kinds and discretion, just call at the store of

FIRES FIRE THE YEAR

It Occurred at the Home of Wm. Hager Monday Morning But Did Little Damage.

The first fire to occur in Barrington this year was discovered by the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hager in their home Monday morning about 3 o'clock, when smoke issuing from an adjoining room awoke it. It began to crack and thereby awakened the rest of the family.

The fire was caused by an electric light bulb falling into bedclothes and setting fire to the same.

prompt work by the fire department held the fire down so as to only cost a property loss of $10.

No Right to Live in Marriage.

Ministers not regularly ordained and in regular standing in the church or society to which they belong have no power to celebrate marriage ceremonies. This is the substance of an opinion rendered by Attorney General Stead. The significance of the opinion is apparent when another Illinois statute regulating the solemnization of marriages, is taken into consideration. The consequence is likely to precipitate a number of serious legal angles over property rights, many weddings in this church having been performed in the last year.

The rules of the Methodist Episcopal church, according to young ministers not regularly ordained but having a regular charge, to perform marriage ceremonies, is in violation of general doctrine that section 4 of the marriage law was amended by the act, general assembly in a way that makes such ceremonies illegal.—Wagon Gazette.

Telephone and its intricacies.

A most instructive and interesting lecture on "Telephone" was given Thursday a week ago at C. A. Schenck's place of local interest.

The lecture was given by the wife of Mrs. Mark Haines, at a meeting of the Woman's Club. It was an excellent and interesting presentation of the telephone, and it was a most timely and useful one.

Merchants Take Action

Leading Business Men to Charge

Interest On Accounts Running Over Thirty Days

Some of our leading business men are contemplating establishing a law in which they will charge 6 per cent. interest on all credit accounts running over thirty days.

This move is not intended to work a hardship on anyone, but simply to protect themselves from the loss of money into which some of their customers have allowed themselves to drift.

Our business men are on a small margin and as business is now conducted people who buy for cash demand and are entitled to buy a credit, but those who buy on credit demand the same privilege.

To make a distinction would cause some unpleasantness for the business men, and the thought of the loss of money would mean a financial loss to them which their business does not warrant.

The business men figure that thirty days' grace should be all they should expect to give, and look at it from every standpoint the position seems to be very fair.

A complete list of the business men has not yet been completed, but we hope to publish the same in the near future.
