Hudson Strait Navigation.

The Dominion government sent an expedition to Hudson Bay in the spring of 1904, under the auspices of the Northwest Mounted Police and the Marine Department, for the purpose of establishing police posts to enforce the jurisdiction of the Dominion and also to determine the feasibility of a route during which Hudson Strait can be safely navigated. The probability of the completion of railway construction to Hudson Bay within the next few years makes it especially important to ascertain how many months this route can be utilized by steamers for grain shipment.

Major Moodie, who was in charge of the police patrol, has just returned to Ottawa. He reports that in his judgment navigation of Hudson Strait is safe, so far as freedom from ice is concerned, for at least four months of the year, and that with the steam property charted and with light houses and beacons along the route there is nothing to prevent the successful operation of a steamship line. The expedition, led by Major M. to Liverpool, England, during the months of July, August, September and October.

Postal Profit and Loss.

According to the international post bureau, taking all the postoffices in the world into consideration, the heaviest loss from the management of its postal affairs and Great Britain the largest profit. Nineteen hundred and three is the last year for which figures for comparison are available and for that year we ran up a profit of $22,000,000, while Russia, Germany and France each ran up a profit of $14,000,000. Due to the large and rapid development of postal service since 1903 our deficit has grown to at least three times what it was then and there are other reasons for our unfavorable showing, the principal ones being the larger compensation we pay employees and the extensive area we have to cover which are thinly populated—Cincinnati Enquirer.

AWFUL PSORIASIS 35 YEARS.

Terrible Scaly Skin in Patches All Over the Body—Skin Cracked and Bleeding—Cured by Cuticura.

"I was afflicted with psoriasis for thirty-five years. It was in patches all over my body. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap six times a day, and in thirty days I was completely cured, and I think permanently, as it was about five years ago. The psoriasis first made its appearance in red spots, generally forming a circle, leaving in the center a spot about the size of a silver dollar of sound flesh. In a short time the affected circle would form a heavy dry scale of a white silvery appearance and would gradually drop off. To remove the scale I used Cuticura by bathing or using oil to soften them the flesh would be perfectly raw, and a light discharge of blood and pus would form again in twenty-four hours. It was worse on my arms and limbs, although it was in spots all over my body, also on my scalp. If I let the scales remain too long without removing by bath or otherwise, the skin would crack and bleed. I suffered intense itching, worse at night after getting warm in bed, or blood would pour by excretion when it would be almost unbearable. Mr. W. Childster, Hutchinson, Kan., April 20, 1905."

While in Moscow some time ago a correspondent of the London Times had his pocket picked of watch and all the money he carried. The timepiece was quite valuable and the newspaper made a good deal of noise about his misadventure. In a day or two just as he was leaving for home a young officer of the imperial guard directed the man to the robbery, had restored the governor of Moscow to recover the correspondent's property. It is reported that the governor sent for half a dozen known criminals and informed them that unless they found the watch and money he would send them to Siberia. The threat was sufficient.

D. B. HENDERSON DIES AT DUBUQUE

Former Speaker Succumbs to Paresis After Nine Months' Fight.

HAD A RUGGED CONSTITUTION

Wounded in Battle, He Lost a Leg, but Again Entered the Field as Colonel of the Forty-sixth Iowa, Serving with Distinction.

Dubuque, Ia., dispatch: Dr. Speaker David B. Henderson died at Mercy hospital here Sunday afternoon of paresis, which attacked him nine months ago.

Since a week ago last Friday Mr. Henderson had recognized no one except his wife. On that day he had a recurring stroke of paresis which left him totally blind. Last Friday he became unconscious, and so remained until his death. The funeral will be held next Thursday afternoon at the residence of the Grand Army of the Republic. Former Congressman George D. Perkins of St. Louis City will deliver the eulogy.

Mr. Henderson retired from Congress in 1902 as a result of a disagreement between himself and Republican party leaders on the question of tariff revision. His determination to sacrifice himself rather than his convictions was characteristic of the rugged courage of his nature. He refused a re-nomination, although it was his lot for the asking.

Last Day in Congress.

The last day of Speaker Henderson's career as speaker of the house strength, and love of right, six years thereafter came to America, settling in Illinois, and three years later in Iowa, opening a farm upon "Henderson Prairie." In the winter of 1860 the life of young David was one of isolation and toil of the pioneer farmer. But fortunately his parents, being eager for the intellectual development of their children, secured for them all the means within reach to secure for them educational privileges, and sent David, at the age of 19, to Upper Iowa university, a Methodist college.

Young Henderson was there but a couple of years when the civil war broke out. The little band of students at Fayette college was full of patriotism, and in the summer of 1861, when William B. Allison, now United States senator from Iowa, but then a young military aid to Gov. Kirkwood, was organizing the volunteers at Camp Franklin, Dubuque, young Henderson appeared at the camp at the head of a company of Fayette students and farmers, asking to be mustered into the United States service.

Gallant in Battle.

Three months afterwards he led his company—his captain being disabled on his return from the war—into the battle of the Marston, on which he was shot through the head, the ball breaking his jaw and making "whiff" all thought was a fatal wound. His magnificent strength and courage brought, however, speedy convalescence, and in the latter part of the same year, while again fighting at Corinth, he had a leg shattered, necessitating amputation. On his recovery he was made by the commission of the board of enrollment, on which he served for some months, and on the organization of the Forty-sixth Iowa, was appointed colonel, again entering the field.

On the conclusion of his military service he took up the study of law, and subsequently was admitted to the bar at Dubuque, Iowa, and practiced law until 1880.

He then moved to Chicago, Ill., and practiced law until 1880, when he returned to Iowa and practiced law until 1880.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

Disappears When Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Purify the Blood and Heat Inflammation.

Rheumatism is a disease of the blood, caused by the failure of the body to cast off certain poisons. In such applications are of use only in securing temporary relief from pain—the cure for rheumatism lies in purifying and enriching the blood.

Mrs. Frederick Brown, of 86 Sumner street, Salem, Mass., writes: "I have suffered from rheumatism for many years, then in my hips and waist. It became a regular thing that I would be laid up all winter. The rheumatism attacked mostly my hands, hips, feet and shoulders. My hands were all puffed up and my feet became deformed. I lost my appetite, couldn't sleep and sometimes was compelled to cry out, the pain was so intense."

"For several winters I was under the doctor's care and while his medicines relieved the pain for a little, they seemed no prospect for a permanent cure. I was compelled to stay in bed and on, for weeks at a time. My limbs swelled dreadfully at times and I was reduced almost to a skeleton."

"In the spring of 1904, upon the advice of a friend, I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At first I was very much disappointed, as I was not able to do anything and could scarcely get up to go to bed. I felt a change for the better, however, and I began to eat heartily and I suffered no more. Of course I kept on the treatment, using one or two pills in about three months I was cured. I am entirely well today and do all my own work."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Brown by purifying the blood and removing her rheumatism. But you must get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, sold by all druggists and by mail order, Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Bombastic Youth Rebuked.

One of Pittsburgh bank presidents is a friend and most unassuming benefactor of ambitious young men. He is sympathetic when he hears of cases which merit encouragement, but can also dismiss an interview with admirable abruptness. A youth on one occasion entered the banker's office and joyfully announced that he intended going to college. He intimated that a little assistance in the matter of obtaining a recommendation would be a most convenient asset with which to start on his career. "Won't give up," asserted the young man, "until I am privileged to place after my name the letters D. D. L. D." The banker turned in his chair and intimated that the interview was at an end. He spoke tersely: "A capital idea, sir, but one entirely beyond the resources of this bank."

No Moral Standard for Money.

The Pastor's union of La Crosse, Wis., has practically decided that money is itself has no moral standard and therefore has forfeited the acceptance of tainted money for religious and educational purposes. It was stipulated at a meeting of the union that the acceptance of the money would be in any case an infirmity of the method by which it fell into the donor's hands. It was pointed out that all money at one time or another passes in shady business deals and is handled by crooks.

Opposed Him as Agnostic.

One of President Roosevelt's western friends applied to him for a job. The President was willing and sought to find him a place. He had about settled on one when there came a great protest from the western frontier's state. "They discovered," said the president, "that he had killed four men and had been in prison. Still, the homicide record did not form the basis of the protest. The people who opposed my friend's appointment were taking on the killing people but because they said he was an agnostic."

FOOD AND STUDY

A College Man's Experience.

"All through my high school course and first year in college I wrote an ambitious young man. I struggled with my studies on a diet of greasy, party foods, being especially fond of cakes and fried things. My system got into a state of general disorder and it was difficult for me to apply myself to school work with any degree of satisfaction. I tried different medicines and food preparations but did not seem able to correct the difficulty."

"Then my attention was called to Grape-Nuts food and I sampled it. I had to do something, so I just tried it down to a right conclusion. I was in less than no time began to feel better. In a few weeks my weight increased, I had a clearer head and felt better in every particular. My work was simply a snap to what it had been before."

"My sister's health was badly run down and she had become so nervous that she could not attend to her music. She went on Grape-Nuts and had the same remarkable experience that I had. Then my brother, Frank, who is the police officer at Washington city and had been trying to do brain work on greasy foods, cakes and all that, joined the Grape-Nuts. He showed me that the way was and could do and from a broken-down condition he had developed into a hearty and efficient man."

"Besides this I could give account of numbers of my fellow-students who have made visible improvement mentally and physically by eating this food." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pink.

COLONEL DAVID B. HENDERSON.

was one long to be remembered. After the gavel had fallen for the last time members crowded about the speaker's desk to grasp his hand. Meanwhile, he is usual on the closing days in the house, the members of congress began singing "The Star Spangled Banner," and "America" were sung, followed by "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," "Good Night, Ladies," and others in lighter vein.

Then, as if by common consent, the singers gathered about the speaker as he was bidding the members goodbye, and began to sing "God Bless You Till We Meet Again." In an instant the push and shove ceased and all eyes were turned upon the singer, and one after another on the floor, and in the galleries took up the song.

The speaker was deeply touched by the closing scenes. After retiring to his room at the rear of the house chamber, he said: "That song was new to me, and I want it to preserve. It affected me much, and as I looked at the singers I could not but be moved. There was Jim Tawney, that man of iron, from whose eyes I have seen the fire flash more than once. As he sang I saw the tears were coming down his cheeks, and he wasn't alone, either. There were others whose eyes were sufficed, and my eyes got moist before the song ended."
