

THE BARRINGTON REVIEW.

VOL. 22. NO. 8.

BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, APRIL 20, 1906.

$1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

SAN FRANCISCO IS WIPE OUT

The Pride of the Pacific Coast is Visited by an Earthquake, Followed by Fire.

San Francisco, California, is in ruins. Early Wednesday morning the city of 412,000 souls was rocked like a cradle by an earthquake. Building after building collapsed, burying thousands. The fire which started wiped out three-fourths of the city, sparing neither the mansions of the rich or the hovels of the poor.

Three Barrington families are anxiously awaiting the time when telegraph messages can be sent to the stricken city. W. Welch's mother, sister, brother and other relatives reside in the ruined city. L. A. Jones has a son there, and Mrs. Geo. Wagner's brother was spending the winter there.

San Francisco, April 20.—Thursday night three districts fire were burning. One was on that portion that extends from Nob Hill down easterly towards the water front. It was traveling slowly northerly towards the Telegraph Hill section and may die out from lack of material or may again sweep towards the extreme water front.

The second center was in the Mission district. Here the fire had reached Eighteenth street, but was making its headway toward the hillsides to the west, where thousands of people are camped.

The third and most dangerous fire is that threatening the western section. This is really a continuation of the Nob Hill fire. It is wedge-shaped, with the apex pushing forward. This is the point against which the firemen are bending their greatest efforts. Dynamite was used for back-firing purposes with only fair success.

Chief of Police Dignan said he thought 250 would fully cover the number of deaths. About 50 bodies have thus far been found.

There was considerable shooting of looters Thursday, but the offenders were fortunate enough to escape with wounds.

Resumes Telegraphic Service. Thursday night for the first time direct telegraphic communication was reestablished between San Francisco and the outside world. By the most energetic efforts in the face of great obstacles the Postal Telegraphic company succeeded in restoring one of its shattered lines. The Postal office is located in a little wooden structure erected on piles at the water front shore.

San Francisco, April 20.—San Francisco is the city desolate. It seemed that the scene of its misery was reached at dusk, when flames burst from all sides of the beautiful hotel Fairmont, the palace that above every other structure was apparently most strongly entrenched against the attack of the all-consuming fire. And surrounding that lofty pinnacle of flame, as far as the eye could see to the south, to the east and far out to the west lay in cruel fantastic heaps charred and smoking all that remained of a progressive city. The metropolis of the western slope was its ashes.

After a few days have ground in to dust and ashes, despite the heroic perseverance of the firemen to limit the conflagration.

San Francisco, April 20.—All efforts to check the spread of the flames at Van Ness avenue by blowing up a mile of buildings on the east side of Van Ness avenue have proved fruitless. The fire has spread across the broad thoroughfare, and from present indications the entire western addition, which contains the homes of San Francisco's millionaires and people of the wealthier class, is now doomed. The destruction of the western addition of the city practically completes the work of the ravaging flames and marks the devastation of the entire city.

Everything south of Mission street is entirely gone, up to Van Ness avenue, and past Van Ness west of Golden Gate avenue up to Octavia street.

Chinatown and Nob Hill have been wiped out. The fire has crossed Van Ness avenue east of Union street, leaving only ruins in its wake.

Nothing is left in the business district.

Looking up Market street, the city is a smoldering mass of ruins. Great mercantile manufactories, mercantile houses, banks and railroad office buildings are nowhere to be seen, and only in spots is there so much as the tower

Basket Social

Miss Mae Dalry, teacher of the Flint Creek school, five miles north of Barrington, will give a basket social and entertainment, assisted by her pupils, in the school house on Friday evening, April 27th, at 7:45 o'clock. An excellent program has been prepared and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

The ladies are requested to bring baskets and the gentlemen, well, they know what is expected of them.

SALEM CHURCH NOTES.

The K. L. C. E. services in the evening, before preaching services, were largely attended.

Quite extensive improvements of the grounds around the Salem church have been decided upon for this spring.

The choir rendered an Easter anthem in the evening. For the use of this anthem we are particularly indebted to Prof. Stackman.

The "Necessity of Christ's Resurrection" was the theme of the pastor's address in the forenoon, and a large audience listened attentively.

Tuesday evening of each week is the regularly chosen time for prayer-meeting. Those exercising in the German meet on Wednesday evening.

"The Unreasonableness of Unbelief in the Resurrection" was the theme of the evening sermon. The attendance was very good. Glad to see so many strangers attend so regularly.

By a two-thirds vote the time of camping was changed from the last week in June to the last week in August. This will no doubt accommodate many of our farming communities who have found it almost impossible to leave their work in June.

A large number attended the Sunday school on Easter day. The church was decorated with plants and flowers. At the close of the Sunday school every person present was presented with a beautiful Easter card. Many of the teachers had given their scholars fitting presents in memory of the day.

The following program was rendered by Class A of the High School Friday last week:

Song—School.
"Signs and Omens"—Madge Bennett.
"Hurdle and the Religious Brakeman"—Arthur Boehmer.
"Mollie's Little Ram"—Lorel Bennett.

"As Heard on a Muskegon Street Car"—Vivian Lines.
"Experience With a Refractory Cow"—Emma Schaefer.

"Barbara Fritchley"—Amber Tuttle.
Quartet—"Roy Collins, Verne Hawley, Corwin Simpson, Earl Powers.

COSTELLO-SMITH NUPTIALS

Pretty Ceremony Occurred at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ryan on Wednesday.

A marriage of special interest in Barrington occurred Wednesday evening of this week when Edna Mary Costello, daughter of the late James Costello of St. Paul, became the wife of Arthur James Smith of Konora, Canada.

The wedding took place at five o'clock at the home of the bride's uncle, William Ryan, on Grove avenue, in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

Rev. Father E. J. Fox of St. Anne's church performed the ceremony. Miss Costello was a dainty bride in a gown of white silk mull over silk, carrying a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley fastened with wide white ribbon, while her maid of honor, Miss Nellie Donica, wore a similar gown and carried pink carnations tied with pink ribbons. Lawrence Donica accompanied Mr. Smith as best man.

The beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were played by Miss Anna Dolan, a cousin of Miss Costello's, and during the service she rendered softly "Serenade."

A pretty feature of the ceremony was the crowning of the bride with a wreath of white roses. The church choir, of which she had been such a leading member, gathered around her and sang the bridesmaid song from the opera, "Der Freischuetz," while Miss Marie Dolan, another cousin, placed the blossoms. The throwing of the bridal bouquet also made a pretty scene, all the young women were grouped at a distance from the bride, who tossed the flowers into their midst to determine who may be the next bride. Miss Nellie Donica caught the lilies.

At the wedding dinner which followed Father Fox served as toastmaster, and several toasts were given to the guests, which were full of joy, happiness, sadness and humor.

Mrs. Smith, who is also a niece of Thomas Dolan, of Cook street, has resided in Barrington just six years, coming from Spokane, Washington, where the death of her parents had left her alone. She is a young woman of superior education, having received a convent training in many branches, particularly that of music, of which she has made a long study, and has been a teacher of the piano in Barrington and Chicago for several years. She immediately assumed charge of the music in St. Anne's, and by her constant interest and good management has made Mr. Smith so necessary that she will be missed in church work beyond telling.

Mr. Smith is an eastern man, originally from Ontario, Canada, and is a railroad contractor and a prominent young man of the vicinity. They received many presents in cut glass and silver.

Those present were Wm. Ryan and family, Thomas Dolan and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Meyer, of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. W. Meyer, of N. Fond du Lac, Wis.; Mrs. S. L. Morrison and child, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. D. Lamey, Mr. E. J. Fox, Lawrence Donica, Misses Diana and Nellie Donica and Rose Volker.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on the 8:32 train for Chicago amid a storm of rice.

They will return here tomorrow and leave Monday for their Canadian home, where a house is all prepared by Mr. Smith to receive the bride.

The whole countryside congratulates Mr. Smith and wishes the bride all happiness.

Des Plaines Gets Free Library.

Construction of the $8,000 library building in Des Plaines, Ill., may now begin. This announcement was made by the village board Monday evening after a communication had been received from James Hertram, private secretary to Andrew Carnegie, of New York.

"Responding to your communication on behalf of Des Plaines, if the city will agree by resolution of council to maintain a free public library at a cost of $400 a year and provide a suitable site for the building, Mr. Carnegie will be glad to give $4,000 to erect a free public library building for Des Plaines."

If the good citizens of Barrington will use a little of their superfluous energy possibly we could land a liberal donation from Carnegie for a free library here.

MAYOR OLMS BURNED OUT

Political Enemies May Have Taken Terrible Revenge.

The Chicago American says: An incendiary fire that may prove to have been the work of enemies destroyed the home of Dr. E. A. Olms, Mayor of South Elgin, Friday of last week. Mayor Olms and his wife escaped after Mrs. Olms had been overcome by smoke.

Mrs. Olms was awakened by the smell of smoke. She succeeded in arousing her husband and then fainted. The physician carried her to the street.

There is no fire department in South Elgin and the building was destroyed. All the household possessions and valuable surgical instruments were lost. The value of the ruined property was $5,000.

The flames broke out in a corner of the house near the sleeping apartments. The starting point precluded a theory of accident.

Threats are said to have been made to secure revenge on the Mayor. One theory is that tramps started the conflagration in order to rob the house.

Dr. Olms is a son of Druggist Olms of Alton.

PARKER JUDGMENT IS PAID

Village Board Orders That a Warrant Be Drawn for $540.73.

At an adjourned meeting of the village board of trustees held Thursday evening, with all members present, the returns of the recent election were canvassed. The following were declared elected: Clerk, L. H. Bennett; Trustees, John C. Piagge, Henry Donica and T. J. Dockery.

The judgement rendered in favor of Mrs. Ada Parker on February 24th, 1902 for $750 was ordered paid together with costs and interest, which amounts to a total of $949.73. This claim was allowed by the circuit court of Lake county on account of damage caused by the filling in of Main street in front of her property. The suit was begun in 1902 and carried to the Appellate and Supreme courts, the decision of the lower court being sustained. A. W. Meyer was also allowed damages to the amount of $500.

Trustee Willmarth moved that the president appoint a committee of three to act with himself to ascertain the approximate cost of making a survey of the drainage district of this village; motion carried. Trustees Piagge, Willmarth and Peters were appointed as such committee.

On motion board adjourned until Friday evening, April 27, 7:30 o'clock.

Ed Wichman is Branching Out.

E. F. Wichman has remodelled the interior of the building in the rear of his blacksmith shop, and turned it into a carriage painting establishment. He has secured the services of Fred L. Kunz, an expert carriage painter, and you can rest assured that if you favor Ed with a trial order you will be perfectly satisfied with the work turned out, as well as the price.

Health & Milligan colors are used, which is a guarantee that the material used is the best.

Weekly Weather Bulletin for the Week Ending April 16.

The highest temperatures were registered on the 12th, when maxima of 80 degrees and more were recorded in the central and southern districts. THE OLD BOARD GOES BACK Exciting Village Election Held in Barrington Tuesday Morning.

The election on Tuesday proved a most interesting one, and the result demonstrated the fact that some lively heading was done on that day, as well as previous to that time.

Good men were up on both tickets, but the old members were returned to office by the following vote:

PEOPLE'S NOMINATION TICKET.
For Village Clerk—Lewis H. Bennett, 21.
For Trustee—John C. Piagge, 193.
For Trustee—Henry Donica, 168.
For Trustee—T. J. Dockery, 149.
GOOD CITIZENSHIP TICKET.
For Trustee—George Lytle, 103.
For Trustee—H. J. Lageschulte, 128.

For Trustee—J. F. Gleske, 114. It was clearly a contest of those favoring granting license to sell liquor in the incorporation limits and thus keep them under village police jurisdiction and those opposed.

While Messrs. Piagge, Donica and Dockery are to be complimented on the fact that the people realized they were doing what was best for the community, and we believe any fair-minded citizen will give them credit for doing this, yet the gentlemen composing the Good Citizenship ticket have nothing to be ashamed of in being defeated. They ran for election for the principle of the thing, and they ran a good race. The result would indicate that the people of Barrington thought they had to choose between two good sets of men, and gave the experienced men the preference.

The Senate in Session.

When a motion is made and carried in the United States senate that the senate "proceed to the consideration of executive business," the galleries are cleared, the doors are closed, and a secret session begins. "Executive business" is that in which the assent of the senate is necessary to the acts of the president, the chief executive, such as treaties and nominations to office. It has become customary, states Youth's Companion, to call a secret session of the senate an executive session. Oddly enough, all sorts of societies and committees have adopted the phrase, and now almost any meeting behind closed doors is incorrectly called an "executive session." The wisdom of attempting secrecy in certain deliberations of the senate is apparent. In discussing the fitness of the president's selections for office, many facts can be brought out in private conference which should not be spread on the records and sent broadcast over the country. Senators should not speak as freely as they ought if these were the conditions. Whatever "leaks" out is unoficial. But it is in the consideration of treaties that the secret session is most necessary. A president often has reasons for the adoption of a foreign policy, which would be upset if all the world knew what these were. To this day the motives which were really behind the acquisition of Alaska remain somewhat in dispute. Even in the frankness characteristic of modern diplomacy, many nations might decline to continue a conspiracy if they had heard all the advantages to the United States that might be claimed for it in secret session. During the civil war both houses adopted a rule under which, on the president's request, communications in regard to military movements or the conduct of the war could be discussed in secret session. All the sessions of the senate in the first congress were secret, as were those of the convention which drafted the federal constitution. Much of the important committee work of congress is still done behind closed doors. Everybody has secrets. The humblest family and the most powerful nation alike possess information the wide diffusion of which would occasionally be unwise, and more often unkind.

Money Stringency.

A. B. Hepburn, formerly comptroller of the United States currency, and now president of the Chase National bank, New York, discusses in the North American Review the "Cause of the Recent Money Stringency." Mr. Hepburn thinks that the stringency was caused by the fact that, while we have grown rich rapidly of late, the growth of business has required added capital (which is different from currency) in volume exceeding our increased wealth. Says Mr. Hepburn: "Statistics show that for each cent of all the business consummated through banks is done by means of checks and drafts. This auxiliary currency possesses perfect elasticity, expands and contracts without let or hindrance, tax or supervision, and responds to the demands of trade completely and perfectly. It has certainly expanded to meet the demands of trade of the period under discussion. The only thing this auxiliary currency covers before is distrust, and it necessarily contracts when credit is curtailed. Optimism, and not distrust, has prevailed for several years past. Our currency, which at best does less than ten per cent of the business of the country, is blamed for these abnormally high rates and congress is appealed to for legislative remedy. It is difficult to see how our currency (consummating less than ten per cent of the business of the country) could be given sufficient elasticity to prevent a stringency in time of distrust under conditions recently prevailing. With our currency larger in volume and per capita than ever before, with universal optimism prevailing and our bank credits phenomenal in amount, are we not forced to acquit our currency system and seek elsewhere for the cause of recent high money rates? The answer is not the first occasion when our currency has been unjustly accused. The far west and southwest, surrounded by latent wealth, requiring only development to convert the same into actual tangible wealth, clamored for more currency, thinking that if the volume were increased it would somehow inure to their advantage. What they needed was more capital; what they thought they needed was more currency."

The proprietor of a newly furnished New York hotel has given an order to a publishing house for 200 Bibles, which will be placed in the rooms for the use of guests. "It will surprise most persons to know," he says, "that a great many requests come to us from commercial travelers for a copy of the Bible. They say they like to read a chapter before going to bed. Just why they do not carry the book with them I don't know, but it is a fact this supposedly godless class of men often call for the Bible."

NOTABLE DIVORCE RULING

VALIDITY DEPENDS ON BOTH PARTIES BEING RESIDENTS.

Legitimacy of 20,000 Children Is Affected by Decision of United States Supreme Court.

Washington.—It is doubtful if a more momentous decision in the interest of American society has been delivered by the supreme court in recent years than when Monday, by a bench divided five to four, it held that divorces obtained in states which do not have jurisdiction over both parties to a marriage are not enforceable outside the state granting them. The decision is based on the clause of the constitution providing that each state shall give full faith and credit to the decrees of another state. The effect of the decision therefore is that divorces like those obtained in South Dakota by the acquisition of a temporary residence for that purpose are valid in the state in which the couple resided only so long as their legality is not attacked. It follows, therefore, that a divorce, in order to be beyond attack, must be obtained in the state of which both parties are residents. The effect of the decision will be to end the promises granting of divorces and undoubtedly is a long step towards minimizing an evil which it has been believed could only be corrected by a uniform divorce law enacted by the federal congress. The general belief is that divorces will become less frequent as, when the purpose of the decision becomes known generally, the movement in favor of national divorce laws will gain force as to compel the passage of the constitutional amendment needed to effect such legislation. It is estimated that at least 20,000 children are affected by this ruling. These are the offspring of marriages based on divorces granted where but one of the parties resided in the state issuing the decree of separation.

THREE RIOTERS KILLED.

Deputies Fire on Crowd of Striking Miners at Windsor, Pa., with Fatal Results.

Johnstown, Pa.—Three men have been shot dead, a boy fatally wounded, and a mining engineer, Eugene Delaney, taken to the hospital in a serious condition as the result of a riot at Windsor among the striking coal miners Monday night. Several rioters were slightly injured. The dead men and most of the injured are former members of the United Mine Workers of America. The foreign element had been celebrating Easter Monday in the mining section and much liquor had been used. A body of strikers were assembled in the town of Windsor, Pa., discussing the mass meeting that had been held during the afternoon, and which had been addressed by three Catholic priests. The discussion grew into argument and soon there was a free-for-all fight. Deputies made a number of arrests. All of the arrested men were union men and the deputies, in an effort to cry that they were being discriminated against and were imposed upon. The mob, growing more violent every minute, threatened the deputies until the officers fired.

To Establish Big Bank.

New York.—It was reported Friday that a proposition to establish a bank with a capital of $50,000,000 for the purpose of regulating money, and exchange rates during times of financial stringency, such as that recently experienced in Wall street, is under consideration by interested parties connected with the stock exchange and by the National City bank of this city.

University of Michigan Gains.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—The official enrollment figures of the University of Michigan for 1904-5 show a total of 4,771 students. This is a gain of 435 over last year.

REPUBLICANS OF INDIANA.

Convention Selects Fred Sims for Secretary of State and Others by Acclamation.

Indianapolis, Ind.—The Republican state convention nominated the following ticket by acclamation: For secretary of state, Fred Sims, of Frankfort; for attorney general, James Bingham, of Muncie; for state legislator, James E. Smith, of Indianapolis; for judge of the supreme court, First District, James H. Jordan, of Martinsville. John C. Billheimer, of Washington, was nominated for auditor of state.

Edward Fitzpatrick, of Portland, was nominated for clerk of the supreme court. Oscar Hadley, of Danville, was nominated for state treasurer on the second ballot. Fasset A. Cotton, of Indianapolis, was nominated for superintendent of public instruction; W. B. Blatchley, of Terre Haute, was nominated for state geologist; Leander J. Rabb, of Williamsport, and Frank Roby, of Auburn, were nominated for judges of the appellate court from the Second district.

MINERS MODIFY DEMANDS.

No Longer Insist on Recognition of Union—Operators May Reject New Proposal.

New York.—At the meeting of the subcommittee of the anthracite miners and operators Thursday, the representatives of the employees of the mine owners the choice of the operators in their endeavor to come to an amicable agreement, and the employers made an informal reply in which they intimated that they are not likely to accept either of the wage-workers' offers. The operators will make an official answer to the miners' latest proposition by letter, and there will be no further meetings until some time develops. While there is still hope that a peaceful solution of the controversy will be found the contending parties appear to have almost reached the limit of their negotiations. If the operators should decline to entertain either of the propositions submitted by the miners it is probable a convention of miners will be called at which the delegates will declare that a strike exists.

TAKE CHANCES ON POLICIES.

Northwestern Life Insurance Company Loans Money in Most Drastic Use.

Milwaukee.—The testimony taken before the committee Friday afternoon was of a technical but of a highly important character. Percy B. Sanborn's testimony brought out the fact that the assignment of the Northwestern's policy provides for the absolute forfeiture of policies used as collateral for loans upon default in the payments of principal, interest or premiums on the policy. This is declared by Actuary Miles M. Dawson to be the most severe assignment clause of any company.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

Mrs. A. A. Anderson, of New York, has given $100,000 to Columbia university to start a suitable endowment to establish a pure science course, leading to the degree of bachelor of science in Harvard college.

The teacher in Japan cost from $30 to $200 a year each for maintenance, against $600 to $2,000 anywhere in Europe. Tokio is a natural educational center for China, by reason of geographical proximity, language facility and economy.

Upon the nomination of the Prussian ministry of education the trustees of Columbia university have appointed Dr. Hermann Schumacher, professor of political economy in the University of Bonn, to be honorary professor in Columbia university for the year 1906-7. Rev. Dr. William Dawe has completed his work with Albion college, where he has been visiting the last six years and three months, having, in cooperation with President Samuel Dickie, successfully raised the debt of $100,000, and some $75,000 toward the endowment.

This burst of true American girl indignation was caused by the teacher saying that Grape-Nuts, the popular pre-digested food, was made of stale bread shipped in and sweetened.

The subject colored up and changed the subject.

There is quite an assortment of traveling and stay-at-home members of the tribe of Ananias who tell their falsehoods for a variety of reasons.

In the spring it is the custom on a cat-herdman to have a "round up," and brand the cattle, so we are going to have a "round up," and brand these cattle and place them in their proper pastures.

FIRST PASTURE.

Cooking school teachers—this includes "teachers" who have applied to us for a weekly pay if they would say "something nice" about Grape-Nuts and Postum, and when we have declined to let them to do this they get waxy and show their true colors.

This also includes "demonstrators" and "lecturers" sent out by a certain Sanitarium to sell food made there, and these people instruct by the small-bore wish-knuckled doctrine of the head of the institution—to tell these prevarications (you can speak the stronger word if you like). This same little doctor conducts a small magazine in which there is a department of "answers to correspondents."

In this column some time ago appeared the statement: "No, we cannot recommend the use of Grape-Nuts for it is nothing but bread with glucose poured over it." Right then he showed his badge as a member of the tribe of Ananias. He may have been a member for some time before, and so he has caused these "lecturers" to descend into the ways of the tribe wherever they go.

SECOND PASTURE.

Editors of "Trade" papers known as grocery papers.

Remember, we don't put the brand on all, by any means. Only those who require it. These men of the tribe have demanded that we carry advertising in their papers and when we do not consider it advisable they institute a campaign of vituperation and slander, printing from time to time manufactured lies about Postum or Grape-Nuts.

When they go far enough with their lies they get waxy and show their true colors. If the pace has been hot enough to throw some of these "cattle" over on their backs, feet tied and "bellying," do you think we should be blamed? They gambol around with tails held high and jump full-legged with a very "cocky" air while they have full range, but when the rope is thrown over them "it's different."

Should we untie them because they blink and howl? Or should we let them out, so that people will know the brand? Let's keep them in this pasture, anyhow.

THIRD PASTURE.

Now we come to a frisky lot, the "Labor Union" editors. You know down in Texas a weed called "Loco" is sometimes eaten by a steer and produces a derangement of the brain that makes the steer "batty" or crazy. Many of these editors are "Locos" from hale of day and are instantly obey the "demands" of a labor union, and it is the universal habit of such writers to go straight into a system of personal vilification, manufacturing any sort of falsehood through which to vent their spleen. We assert that the common citizen, without asking permission of the labor trust and this has brought down on us the hate of these editors. When they go far enough to vent their illiberal, it is hard for us to get judgment against them and they are so cleverly concocted for chance to attack money due them from others? (For they are usually irresponsible.)

Keep your eye out for the "Loco" editor.

A girl's school at Singora, Siam, has 47 pupils, a number which has since increased to 62. Apart from the missionary school this is the first school for girls to be started in Siam outside Bangkok. There is no prejudice in Siam against education and there is plenty of evidence that all over the country officials and others in good positions would welcome any provision of education for their daughters. The great difficulty, of course, is also in the case of boys, is the want of trained teachers.—Bangkok Times.

A Young Girl said to a Cooking School Teacher in New York: "If You make One Statement as False as That, All You have said about Foods is Absolutely Unreliable."

This burst of true American girl indignation was caused by the teacher saying that Grape-Nuts, the popular pre-digested food, was made of stale bread shipped in and sweetened.

The subject colored up and changed the subject.

There is quite an assortment of traveling and stay-at-home members of the tribe of Ananias who tell their falsehoods for a variety of reasons.

In the spring it is the custom on a cat-herdman to have a "round up," and brand the cattle, so we are going to have a "round up," and brand these cattle and place them in their proper pastures.

THE LOVE OF THE GYPSY QUEEN.

Stars are swiftly falling - the gypsy camp is fair to see -
Frogs cry in a tenor note while blue-bells whisper to me -
Whisper, as steals the gypsy maid at lover's call,
Of a gilded cage with bars of love's own thrall.

Gnomes proud in the forest and sprites dance round the oak.

For Donald, the stager, is coming and naught may blast our hopes.

My fortune beads I'm telling and wishes fair as snow

Are rising as the stars fall and gaily forth I go.

Two other's are sleeping, the friendly wind grows fierce and shrill.

I hold my heart in the moon light as Donald comes 'er the hill.

To spangles, and horses, and Roman, a farewell forever!

Away in the dark as stroke of car on flowing river.

Saul will swear and tear his hair in frenzy wild,

And Nurse Ester weep not days but years for her child

The tribe in their wrath will search the world for the gems I wear;

A ransom for the Spanish King the jewels in my hair.

But joyful as the sea when he kisses the lighthouse crags

And laughs fondling in secret his treasure bags;

Or as sapling due on the heels of the forest king

Thrills with the joy of life at sound of bugle ring -

As the pearl in its oyster bed to beauty grows -

The gypsy maid in her lover's arms when winds are blowing.

His cloak is long and loose like a granade's falling dew.

His step free and swinging as sound of music divine.

Lightly I'll spring upon him when he reaches the brow of the glade,

And he'll laugh and kiss the brown hands of the truant gypsy maid.

His frame is welded and knit, his eye like an eagle's keen,

His touch soft as a babe's caress and his voice like silver sheen

O fleet blackfoot will miss me and little dog Carl as well.

But the day'll come when they'll forget and love another gypsy belle.

Something is gleaming in Donald's cloak; his hat is dark and wide;

Like a brigand truly he looks instead of lover to greet his bride.

But two forms are wrapped by the swirling wind,

One neath the willows to the westward, the other yards behind.

Both are stalwart - one is Donald and one is Saul!

Donald's in the brush-path - the other's in the shadow of the ruined wall.

I'm to each his queen and each will death upon the green

Ere his rival looks in the sweet love of the gypsy queen.

Nearer they come and nearer, the great oak's branches wave to me!

A child of nature truly, a haven becomes from the aged tree.

My body is lithe and strong, my sinews supple and steel,

And soft in its branches I swing like concealed.

My green leaf robe will hide me for could one so wild and weak

Brave the fury of mortal hate, whose blaze will vengeance wreak?

Is Donald's voice with muttered oath I fain would not recall,

"The siren luzz's fooled me for that booby, Saul!"

I lie trembling with rage and hate and curses deep unsaid,

Till on the green sward, soft as camelion's tread,

Lurks Gypsy Saul. His voice my hate-burnt eyelids cheer:

"Were surely the maid I love I saw & but shortly here."

There's a swirl of a silk cloak, snap of a trigger - a cry of pain!
But I will kill the singer Donald for the lover he has slain.

Above we publish a poem from the gifted writer Miss Elizabeth Fanning, second daughter of Mrs. John Fanning, of Chicago. Miss Fanning passes the summer months on Shetland farm two miles north of this village.

Human Blood Lacks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Racine, Ky. He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained cured ever since." It cures hemorrhages, chronic coughs, settled colds and bronchitis, and is the only cure for weak lungs. Every bottle is guaranteed by Harrington Pharmacy, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

THOUSANDS FLEE STRICKEN CITY

SAN FRANCISCO RESIDENTS SEEK PLACES OF SAFETY.

THEY SILENTLY ACCEPT FATE

People Do Not Complain of Misfortunes, But Calmly Move on Before the Unrelenting Tongue of Flame.

San Francisco, April 20 - Thousands upon thousands of people are fleeing from the fire. They are fleeing to the ferries, to the parks, to the military reservation and to the suburbs.

Residents of the hillside in the central portion of the city Thursday seemingly were safe from the roaring furnace that was consuming the business section. They watched the towering mounds of flame and realized as to the extent of the territory that was doomed.

Suddenly there was a whisper alarm up and down the long line of watchmen and they hurried away to drag clothing, cooking utensils and scant provisions through the streets. From Grant avenue the procession moved westward. Men and women dragged trunks, packed bundles of blankets, boxes of provisions, everything.

Wagons could not be hired except by paying the most extortionate rates. But there was no panic. The people were calm, stunned. They seem not to realize the extent of the calamity. They hear that the city is destroyed in so far as business plants are concerned; they tell each other in the most natural tone that their residences were destroyed by the flames, but there is no hysteria, no outcry, no criticism.

Mayor Schmitz and Chief of Police Dinan have been forced from place to place by the on-rushing flames.

Resolve on Heroic Action.

Daybreak Thursday found them directing the municipal council which is a committee of safety from the Fairmont hotel, the beautiful structure that stood on top of Nob hill. But that caught fire, and they retreated to the building in Larkin and Butler streets, then to the north end police station, in Sacramento street. Here the council, composed of the financial leaders of the city, met in the morning and decided to resort to the most heroic measures yet undertaken since the city has been in the path of devastation. This decision was to bombard the entire section of the city lying along the outside of Yonkers avenue from Golden Gate avenue to Pacific avenue, 16 blocks in all, containing the homes of many millionaires and apartment buildings.

Military Lends a Hand.

Gen. Funston is cooperating with Mayor Schmitz, whose orders to all officers are to kill without warning all malefactors. When men have been ordered to carry out the plan of rescue, they have been pressed into service. In only a few instances was it necessary to resort to the cooked revolver and drawn sword, after which there was no hesitation.

The Predito reservation, the vast Richmond district of thousands of acres, Golden Gate park and the surrounding hills, resemble one vast pile of mounds. Tents and improvised coverings have been erected everywhere, fireplaces built in the streets, beds and mattresses thrown down all over the section. The people, thus situated are philosophical.

There is only one danger, and that is that the food supply will run out. Every grocery in San Francisco has been taken by the authorities and each family is being sold only one article at a time. Although the fire did not jump military prohibitions, Gen. Funston announced Thursday morning that rations would soon reach the city and then the people will be supplied from the Predito. Bakeries have already been built within the reservation, and the bread supply therefore has not failed completely.

Aid People to Flee.

The government also has begun to aid in the progress of the people out of the city to Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. Tugboats and steamers are being pressed into service for this purpose, and there is a vast army on the way to the ferries.

From the water front the burned city can be seen to-day in all its smoky nakedness.

From the Pacific Mail dock to Vallejo street, on the west side, a distance of two miles, wreckage and ruin is the rule. Although the fire did not jump East street, the damage has been enormous. The filled-in land facing the ferry building is a succession of little valleys, some four, others six feet deep. The ferry tower itself is out of plumb, and the big building is badly twisted by the earthquake.

Suffer from Thirst.

There is scarcely any water to relieve the thirst of the suffering. The heat is threatening danger, for the dead, in many instances, are lying in the streets and ruins. The authorities are doing all in their power to remove the bodies in order that a pestilence may be prevented. It has been necessary repeatedly to move the injured from places where they had sought refuge, for the fire kept increasing with alarming rapidity. Water is the incessant cry of the people, and the people want it to fight, the others to drink, but there is only a scant drinking supply.

THE WELD THAT HELD

Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

This is the modern method of construction. Years of file are added through the elimination of serious fence defects.

A WRAP holds moisture, cracks the galvanizing and allows the water to attack the bare wire. A small amount of displaced galvanizing. "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" REINFORCES THE PROTECTION AGAINST RUST AT THE ELECTRICALLY WELDED JOINT, examine the joint. STAYS AGAINST SLIP. They are always just where they were put. Stay and strand wires become one piece when the weld is made. The fence is like a solid sheet of perforated steel.

Every Rod is Guaranteed Perfect.

Don't allow your prejudice in favor of the rapidly declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known, to warp your good judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires would be welded by electricity.

You will find electrically welded hoops on ice cream freezers and many other machines. Examine them. "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

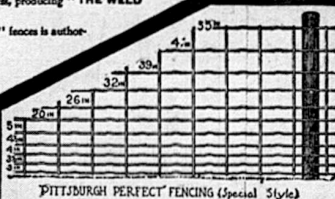

MR. FARMER: LISTEN, NOW. Every agent handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:

- That the wires are not injured at the joints.
- That the fence is perfectly adjustable in uneven ground.
- That the steps will not separate from the strands.
- That the fence is all right in every particular.

Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.

PRESIDENT SCORES VICIOUS WRITERS

Welcomes Honest Criticism of Public Officials, But Declares Tactics Adopted by Sensation Mongers Detrimental to Public Welfare.

Washington—The Saturday of slander, muckraking and libel which is being carried on in the guise of moral reform was mercilessly exposed and condemned by President Roosevelt Saturday.

The cordial, reckless, irresponsible contributors, writers and editors who have been devoting their evil talents to indiscriminate attacks upon men in business and in public life, were rebuked in a manner that is likely to render their unworthy and menacing occupation less profitable in the future than it has been in the past.

The president delivered the address on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the new office building of the house of representatives. The senate and house of representatives were present and also a great assemblage of public officials who live in Washington and visitors.

Cannon Introduces President.

President Roosevelt was introduced by Speaker Cannon, who as chairman of the commission on the subject of the office building is being constructed for the house of representatives, was official master of ceremonies.

The address in part follows:

"Over a century ago Washington laid the corner stone of the capitol in what was then little more than a tract of wooded wilderness here beside the Potomac. We have since then endeavored to provide by great additional buildings for the business of the government. This growth in the need for the housing of the government is but a proof and a sample of the way in which the nation has grown and the sphere of action of the national government has grown.

"The material problems that face us to-day are not such as were in Washington's time, but the underlying facts of human nature are the same now as they were then. Under altered external form we war with the same tendencies toward evil that were evident in Washington's time, and are helped by the same tendencies toward good. It is about some of these that I wish to say a word to-day.

Rakes Filth to Himself.

"In Bunyan's 'Pilgrim's Progress' you may recall the story of the man with the muck rake, the man who could look no way but downward, with the muck rake in his hands, who was offered a celestial crown for his muck rake, but who would not look up nor regard the crown he was offered, but continued to rake to himself the filth of the floor.

"In 'Pilgrim's Progress' the man with the muck rake is set forth as an example of him whose vision is fixed on carnal instead of on spiritual things. Yet he also typifies the man who in this life consistently refuses to see such that is lofty and true. He looks up with solemn intensity only on that which is vile and debasing. Now, it is very necessary that we should not flinch from seeing what is vile and debasing.

"There is filth on the floor and it must be scraped up with the muck rake, and there are times and places where this service is the most needed of all the services that can be performed. But the man who never does anything else, who never thinks or speaks or writes, save of his filth with the muck rake, speedily becomes not a help to society, but an incumbrance to good, and the most potent force for evil."

Admits Existence of Evil.

"There are in the body politic, economic and social, many and grave evils, and there is urgent necessity for the sternest war against them. We should be relentless in exposing the evil and attacking upon every evil man, whether politician or business man, every evil practice, whether in politics, in business or in social life. I shall be a benefactor every writer or speaker, every man who on the platform or in book, magazine or newspaper with merciless severity makes such attack, provided always that he be not a slanderer, and that the attack is of use only if it is absolutely truthful. The liar is no whit better than the thief, and if his mendacity takes the form of slander he may be worse than the thief.

"One of the chief causes against those who make indiscriminate assault upon men in business or men in public life is that they invite a reaction which is sure to tell powerfully in favor of the unscrupulous scoundrel who really ought to be attacked, who ought to be exposed, who ought if possible to be put in the penitentiary. If Aristotle is right, the only cure is just people get tired of hearing it, and overexposure of the unjust finally and from similar reasons results in their favor.

Untold Injury Is Done.

The effort to make financial or political effort out of the destruction of character can only result in public calamity and reckless assaults on character, whether on the stump or in newspaper, magazine or book, create a morbid and vicious public sentiment and at the same time as a profound deterrent to able men of normal sensitiveness and tend to prevent them from entering the public service at any price.

Damage to Whole Country.

"To assault the great and admitted evils of our political and industrial life with such crude and sweeping generalizations as to include decent men in the general condemnation, means the searing of the public conscience. There results a general attitude of either cynical belief and indifference to public corruption or else a distrust of inability to make moral distinctions between the good and the bad. Either attitude is fraught with untold damage to the country as a whole.

"In his ecclesiastical polity that fine old Elizabethan statesman, Bishop Hooker, wrote: 'He that goeth about to persuade a multitude that they are not so well-governed as they ought to be shall never want attention and a favorable hearing; for they know the manifold defects whereunto every kind of regimen is subject, but the secret let and difficulties, which in public proceedings are innumerable and inevitable, that he ordinarily the judgment to consider.'

"This truth should be kept constantly in mind by every free people desiring to govern itself. It is not so impossible to the permanent success of self-government. Yet, on the other hand, it is vital not to permit this spirit of sanity and self-command to degenerate into mere mental stagnation. Had though a state of hysterical excitement and evil though the results are which come from the violent oscillations such excitement invariably produces, yet sudden acquiescence in evil is even worse.

Preachers of Unrest.

"At this moment we are passing through a period of great unrest—social, political, industrial. It is of the utmost importance for our future that this should prove to be not the unrest of mere rebelliousness against life, or of mere dissimulation and degeneracy, but the unrest of a resolute and eager ambition to secure the betterment of the individual and the nation.

Progressive Tax on Wealth.

"It is important to this people to grapple with the problems connected with the amassing of enormous fortunes, and the inevitable inequality of status, both corporate and individual, in business. We should discriminate in the sharpest way between fortunes well won and fortunes ill won, between those gained as an incentive to performing great services to the community as a whole and those gained in evil fashion by keeping just within the limits of mere law honesty.

Must Control Corporations.

"Again, the national government must in some form exercise supervision over corporations engaged in interstate business—and all large corporations are engaged in interstate business—whether by license or otherwise, so as to permit us to deal with the far-reaching evils of overcapitalization.

"The men of wealth who to-day are trying to prevent the regulation and control of their business in the interest of the public by the proper government, and who are not without many judgments, in checking the progress of the movement. But if they did succeed they would find that they had sown the wind and would surely reap the whirlwind, for they would ultimately provoke the violent excesses which accompany a reform coming by convulsion instead of by steady and natural growth.

"We can no more and no less afford to condone evil in the man of capital than evil in the man of no capital. The wealthy man who exults because there is a failure of justice in the effort to bring about a more equal distribution for his misdeeds is as bad and no worse than the so-called labor leader who clamorously strives to excite a foul class feeling on behalf of some petty grievance, or who is implicated in murder. One attitude is as bad as the other and no worse; in each case the accused is entitled to exact justice, and in neither case is there need of acquiescence by others. While we are engaged in an expression of sympathy for crime.

Negro Methodists Change Plans.

Nashville, Tenn.—Bishop Phillips, of the colored Methodist church, announced the general conference will meet May 2 at Memphis, Tenn. Inability to secure accommodations at that place is the reason for the change.

Many Horses Cremated.

Baltimore, Md.—About 300 horses and mules were burned to death in a fire of an unknown origin which completely destroyed the stock stable of Moses Mox. The damage is estimated at $65,000.

THE SCHOOLGIRLS

THE HAUNTING PERSONALITY OF THE CLASS.

A Composite Photograph of Schoolgirls Has a Distinct Personality—Contact With Other Girls Rubs Away One's Self—Members of Same Class Generally Acquire Characteristics in Common—The Misfortune of Being Taught at Home—The Personal Unit in the Class—Room—Great Colleges Put Their Own Hall-Marks on Their Graduates.

By MARGARET E. SANBOSTER.

(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Bowles.) I have always been a great admirer of composite photographs. The view not so much of an individual as of a group merged into an individual, has features that awaken thought. Looking over the class-room at the meeting, the bright faces of 25 girls, each as different from the other as if she belonged to another species, and still each has a likeness to the other as marked as the likeness of peas in a pod.

Josephine, Katherine, Barbara, Agnes, Mary, Evelyn, run through the names of the girls, and names, and match them with their sweet personal traits, and you are impressed with the variations in type. Let a composite photograph of the class present itself to you, and you will see a single type, and that type taken one year will not be in the least the type of another year, or of seven years to come. Girls of the same general appearance and are well attending school seven years hence, yet a composite photograph taken of them will not be a repetition of the one taken of your class this year. Shadowy, elusive, fittingly resolute, one sees in the class photograph to this and the other girl, but on the whole, a new and charming character attracts you, and you see not a single personality, but the personality of a class.

As I sometimes stand on a school platform, or behind the desk in a chapel where rows of schoolgirls, or college students, make a beautiful picture, I am often tempted to get the thought of a composite photograph. One of the very best things your school life and work are doing for you, girls, is not the training of your minds and memories, not the giving you acquaintance with facts and theories, but the formation in you of a strong and noble womanhood. Your angles and roughnesses are being rubbed away and smoothed by contact with others. Katherine, for instance, though charming, is naturally imperious and self-absorbed. She is the only daughter and her parents and brothers have come to love her capricious and spoil her by their readiness to grant her every wish. She needs fully as much some lessons in yielding, in accepting, in conceding, and then the second place instead of the first, and in gentleness and amiability, as she needs training in algebra and physics.

Agnes is too unselfish. She runs her feet off at home on errands for everybody. She gives up her own will so readily that people forget to thank her for daily sacrifices, and she is in danger of losing her own individuality and her own sense of self. She needs fully as much some lessons in holding her own, or in being pushed aside. At school her teachers appreciate her true worth and are very ready to see that others treat her fairly. She is not permitted to efface herself on every possible occasion.

Mary is deficient in sympathy. She has no sense of putting herself in the place of a friend. Barbara is contented. She is given to exaggeration and gush, but is extremely superficial. Each girl has in herself some quality that is very desirable, but no girl has all the qualities that go to make a woman.

"The perfect woman, nobly planned, To warn, to comfort and to command— If for this reason, if for no other, It is a misfortune for most girls to be taught at home, as is the fashion in a few exclusive families. A governess in the house is a constant reminder to the mother and a great help in the training of the nursery brood. But when girls have arrived at their teens, masters coming and going and teachers who give the hours of careful coaching are not half so good for them as are the contact and the friction of the classroom.

Whether the school be public or private, whether on a city street or in a country road, is not the all important thing. The essential is that girls shall be thrown into the society of their peers and prepared in the schoolroom for the affairs of the larger world, into which they must enter before many years pass.

Of course, in the schoolroom you are taught how to study, how to use your powers, how to appear without confusion and with credit in the company of others, and how to bear yourself as a unit in the mass composed of units. The power of the personal equation is not undervalued in the schoolroom. Every unit counts one. If one girl is careless, slovenly in her work, tardy, irregular in attendance, and untidy, she harms not only herself only, but brings down the average standing of her class. I hear girls complain of this as if it were unfair. It is not unfair. It is really the fairest thing that can happen, and it emphasizes the power of the unit. What right have you to infringe the dignity of your class and lower its average? Think of it! Little as you will comprehend that the strength of any chain is in the strength of its links. Every one of you has read with what telling effect the weak link will break. Do you not remember the "Law of the Jungle"?

Perhaps you will look it up, not that I am comparing you for a minute to the wolves and the bears and the wild creatures of the jungle. But there are few days in my life when I do not see in home life, in town life, and wherever else people live in communities, the same old, old, old truth: the truth the stanza I am about to quote: "Now this is the law of the jungle—as old and as true as the sky: And the weak shall be the prey, but the wolf that shall break it must die. As the creeper that girdles the tree-trunk the law runneth forward and back— For the strength of the pack is the wolf, and the strength of the wolf is the pack."

I think I will make a parody of this for you, with apologies to Mr. Kipling: Now this is the law of the schoolroom—as old and as true as the sun: And the student who keeps it shall prosper, for the tanks of their days will be done.

The law runneth onward forever, as surely as the happy years pass, and the strength of the class is the girl, and the strength of the girl is the class. Schools set their stamp on their pupils, and they in turn stamp on the glance by certain slight characteristics or certain more definite ones, from which school a girl has been graduated. As every great college in the land puts its own hall-mark on its graduates, the preparatory school stamps its pupils for all time. Girls in the formative period of their lives come beneath the moulding hand of the school, and the stamp of a teacher's personality, inasmuch, they take on something they would never have had but for her. Years ago, in New York city, there was a principal who presided over what was known as the Twelfth street grammar school. To this day Miss Wadleigh's pupils bear something of her strong and beautiful character in their faces and lives. Mount Holyoke college carries on all time the impression made by its great founder, Mary Lyon. In a southern city there is a famous school where young women have for years been trained to great usefulness. Miss Baldwin is no longer on earth, but the Mary Baldwin school will be hers for generations.

These are the thoughts that come to me as I look on a class photograph.

A USEFUL WRITING-CASE. This Receptacle Has Advantages Over the Ordinary Blotting-Pad in Keeping Stationery Clean.

The chief feature of this writing case is that it is attached on either side are two roomy pockets to hold envelopes, post cards, paper and stamps; they are made to fold over and enclose the case when it is not in use, and this is an advantage over an ordinary blotting pad, and keeps the stationery and blotting paper free from dust. For the board holding the blotting paper a piece of fine canvas or mullin is used, and each corner is covered with leather and glued firmly to the back. A piece of dark green art serge or any other material we fancy must then be glued on the back of the board with pieces left on either side of sufficient length to fold over and tie across the pad; on these the pockets are sewed. The little loops are attached on either side of the board where indicated in the sketch, and the one is for holding a pen, the other a pencil. Monograms may be worked on the leather, and the corners may be edged with cord or bound with ribbon they will look well. The blotting paper on the pad is fixed by merely slipping the corners under the loops. The words, "envelopes, post cards, paper and stamps" may be worked in silk in ornamental lettering.

VERY CONVENIENT.

Water at Meals.

Water taken with meals should be sipped as well as taken sparingly. Ice water should be taken as seldom as possible; never would be a better habit than the use of putting chilled ice in the drinking water to be avoided, as one never knows what may be taken into the stomach through the medium of the water. The water should be kept in a bottle with water and allow them to stand beside ice to chill.

For Chapped Hands.

To cure chapped hands, always carefully dry the hands after washing, never allow the moisture to evaporate; this is a cause of the trouble. Before going to bed rub hands well with the juice of the personal equation is not undervalued in the schoolroom. Every unit counts one. If one girl is careless, slovenly in her work, tardy, irregular in attendance, and untidy, she harms not only herself only, but brings down the average standing of her class. I hear girls complain of this as if it were unfair. It is not unfair. It is really the fairest thing that can happen, and it emphasizes the power of the unit. ILLINOIS STATE NEWS

IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS IN MANY TOWNS.

YOUNG COUPLE IS MISSING

Left Hillsboro on Wedding Tour Four Months Ago and Have Not Been Heard From Since—Vice-Crusade in Dixon.

Litchfield.—R. J. Wilson, of Hillsboro, is trying to locate his son and the latter's wife, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Wilson, who left this county last December for a trip through Missouri and Kansas. The couple had been married a short time before they disappeared and were on their wedding tour.

They went to St. Louis, where they spent several days, going from there to Mexico, Mo. Letters were received by relatives at Hillsboro from both cities and the last letter was written December 16. Since that date nothing has been heard from them, though they were expected to return to this city to reside.

The last letter was written by the bride and stated that they were at the Gem hotel in Mexico. Investigation revealed that there is no such hotel in that city.

She stated in the letter that they had made no plans for the future, and since that time they have disappeared and every effort to locate them has proved futile.

The friends and relatives in this community have become alarmed and fear they have been the victims of foul play. Mr. Wilson, the father of the groom, states that he fears they were deceived to some place and robbed and murdered. Young Wilson was known to have had $200 when they left on the trip.

They have failed to reach any of their relatives in either Missouri or Kansas whom they intended to visit. The couple took only a very little baggage as they were not intending to be absent from home very long.

Legislators Assemble.

Springfield.—The special session of the legislature called by Gov. Deneen to enact a new primary law was convened, with practically a full attendance. Gov. Deneen delivered a message in brief. It contained a rehearsal of the causes necessitating the extra session, a resume of the supreme court decision and urged the passage of a comprehensive law which would take account of the demands of the people of Illinois, in accordance with the Republican platform, and at the same time preclude the danger of another adverse action by the supreme court.

The message also asks for an appropriation of $10,000 for the civil service department, appropriations for the continuance of the Illinois Central investigation committee and other matters of the present session of the legislature. A new primary election bill, avoiding the features of the old bill declared unconstitutional, has been introduced.

Sues for Less Than One Cent.

Paris.—Charles Curtis has brought suit against the Chicago and North Western railroad company in the circuit court, asking $1,999.99 damages for the loss of his leg at Robinson while employed as brakeman on the Cairo division of the defendant company's railroad. The suit was first brought for $10,000 in the federal court at Danville and was dismissed in anticipation of a ruling of the court that the railroad company was not liable. The suit is now brought for just one cent less than $2,000, to keep it out of the federal court.

Meets Death in Wheels.

Sycamore.—Frank Rollins, engineer of the DeKalb-Sycamore Electric company, was adjusting the oil cup on a big waterworks pump when his sleeve was caught and his arm drawn into the cog wheels, where it was ground so that it hung to his body by fragments. He was alone, and to free himself he sawed his arm off, where he died from loss of blood.

Stockyards Man Falls.

Chicago.—Speculation in stocks and bonds, it is declared, brought about a condition in the affairs of James J. Farrelly, stockyards commission man, that resulted in his appointment as a receiver by Judge S. H. Betha. Farrelly's liabilities are said to have reached $60,000. His assets are estimated at $40,000. Some years ago Farrelly cleared up about $100,000 by a corner on ribs.

Deny Beheading Gift.

Kankakee.—It is not true that the trustees of St. Viateur's college, recently destroyed by fire, have received donations to the amount of $150,000 for reconstruction. The insurance money will be used for this purpose, together with such subscriptions as may be received. The college buildings are to be erected at Bourbonnais, Ill., two miles north of Kankakee.

Engineer Killed.

Chicago.—One man, an engineer, was killed, and a number of persons were injured in a collision between a passenger train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad and a freight train on the Panhandle road at Elmhurst. A schoolboy, Jim Singleton fell face downward and his companion fell upon him. The former received injuries which will not permit him being removed to his home. He has been in a coma for several days. The latter's injuries while not painful, are less severe. The men are candidates for aldermen from the Third and Second wards, respectively.

DANVILLE HAS A MYSTERY

Charred Remains of Aged Woman Found in Ruins of Barn.

THE MYSTERY SURROUNDING THE CREMATION OF MRS. MARGARET DOWRY, A WIDOW 60 YEARS OLD, WHOSE CHARRIED BODY WAS FOUND IN THE RUINS OF HER SON'S BARN, NEAR ARANSTRONG, REMAINS UNSOLVED.

Mrs. Dowry resided with her son, Frank Lowrey, a family of her son had started to a neighbor's home to a short visit, leaving the aged woman alone. When a short distance from the house one of the members of the family looked back and saw the barn in flames. There is belief here that she was murdered and that she was placed in the barn and the building burned in an attempt to hide the crime. Others think the woman had become suddenly insane, set fire to the building, and was caught in the conflagration.

There were two mules and a horse, all valuable animals, consumed in the fire.

DIXON ANTI-VIOLENCE CRUSADE

Grand Jury Issues Subpoenas for Over 200 People.

Dixon.—As a result of information filed with State's Attorney Woodford, the grand jury has issued subpoenas for more than 200 persons. Fifty of the most important of these witnesses have left the city.

The charges were preferred by the Rev. C. C. McLean, the Rev. W. L. Rutherford, the Rev. Joseph F. Nelson, and several other members of the Law and Order league, which is conducting the anti-violence crusade.

The charges have been made to secure the return of the private detective who secured the evidence for the league, but up to the present time he has failed to appear.

The charges have been preferred by the pastors are against the proprietors of hotels and cigar stores, many of the charges being sensational in the extreme.

High School Boys in Raid.

Jacksonville.—Fifteen high school seniors raided the home of Supt. Farr and attempted to remove the refreshments prepared for the junior class, which was being entertained by the superintendent. The police were summoned and three of the seniors captured after a hot chase. Supt. Farr followed them to the police station and swore out a warrant. One of the culprits pleaded so eloquently that the superintendent relented, and all three were released. The other seniors purchased a large supply of ice cream and cake, carried it to the superintendent's home, and the junior banquet proceeded.

Pekin Bankers Arrested.

Peoria.—The five partners of the failed Ties Smith bank of Pekin, D. C. Smith, president; Conrad Luppe, cashier; Habbe Veide, Henry Black and E. F. Unland, have been arrested and bound over to the grand jury which meets in May. The bankers are the wealthiest and most prominent citizens of Peoria and practically every business man in Pekin is related by intermarriage to one or another of the families. The failure of the bank, which had four railroad companies in the circuit court, asking $1,999.99 damages for the loss of his leg at Robinson while employed as brakeman on the Cairo division of the defendant company's railroad. The suit was first brought for $10,000 in the federal court at Danville and was dismissed in anticipation of a ruling of the court that the railroad company was not liable. The suit is now brought for just one cent less than $2,000, to keep it out of the federal court.

Deaf Mutes to Be Sent.

Jacksonville.—At a meeting of the board of trustees of the school for the deaf in this city it was voted to send a class from the school to the meeting of the American Association to Promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf, to be held at Pittsburgh June 27 to July 3, to demonstrate the work in arithmetic. The class will be accompanied by Superintendent Gillette and the arithmetic teacher, Miss Lyde Kent. One of the best and most experienced teachers in this branch in the state, Members W. Watson, of Barry, P. H. Wemple, of Waverly and Col. J. R. Robertson, of this city, were present.

Wheaton College Gets Gift.

Wheaton.—Wheaton college has just received a contribution of $1,000 toward the new fund of $75,000 to be raised to secure a gift of $25,000 from Andrew Carnegie as an additional endowment for the institution. Mr. Carnegie will pay over the $25,000 as well as $75,000 is secured in cash or marketable securities. It is expected to obtain the necessary contributions from men and women throughout the country who are familiar with the work at Wheaton.

Ground Under Wheels.

Bloomington.—Dennis McCarthy beneath the wheels of a Big Four freight train here and was instantly killed. The body was mangled beyond recognition. It was shown that he had received money from an insurance company in Peoria, leads to the belief that he lived in that city. There was also a membership card in a Bloomington and Waukegan union found on his person.

Mason City Men Hurt.

Mason City.—While working in and building a cistern at the home of Frank Dare, west of town, B. J. Singleton and Jerome Silvernail were precipitated to the bottom of the cistern by a scaffold. Mr. Singleton fell face downward and his companion fell upon him. The former received injuries which will not permit him being removed to his home. He has been in a coma for several days. The latter's injuries while not painful, are less severe. The men are candidates for aldermen from the Third and Second wards, respectively.

Two Killed in Collision.

Charlestown, W. Va.—Two men were killed and 11 were probably fatally injured in a collision between a passenger train and a coal train at the Terry mine of the Stonewall Coal company, in the New River field. The men who were killed were riding in the cars when the collision occurred, both cars going over the embankment.

No Peace Conference.

The Hague.—It is stated here on good authority that the peace conference will not meet here this summer.

An Excellent Showing.

The annual report of the financial condition of Zion church was read Easter morning. The report shows that the membership of Zion church is 98 members, including Miller's Grove. The total amount collected for the past year was $2,021.34, of which $222.10 was expended for missions, $1,113.81 for home work, and $600.93 went towards benevolent causes. The average amount contributed was $20.62 2/3 cents per member.

The Peak Sisters Entertain.

The Peak Sisters entertainment given by ten members of the W. R. C. Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Soldiers' monument fund was a grand success. Each sister did herself credit and Miss Alta Powers, the pianist, deserves special mention.

The characters were represented by the following: The leader, Mrs. Robbie Brockway, "Sister Kerkiah"; Mrs. George Topping, "Sister Jemima"; Mrs. Comstock and Mrs. Laura Page, "Twins"; Miss Addie Linea, "Dorothy"; Miss Beatrice Bennett, "Sister Bethia"; Mrs. Lizzie Fletcher, "Sister Betsey"; Mrs. Ethel Bennett, "Sister Maria"; Mrs. Carmichael, "Sister Alvina"; and Mrs. Myrtle Bennett, "Sister Sophia."

From the time they marched in with their handboxes in hand, tall white peaked hats, etc., the audience was kept in a roar of laughter. Sister Bebezy was very entertaining even if she was deaf and dumb.

While the Peaks were arranging their toilet the audience was entertained by a recitation by Miss Frances Dolan, piano solo, Verne Hawley; recitation, Miss Constance Porcell; and a cornet duet by Masters Newton Piagge and Valley Hill, accompanied Miss Almida Piagge.

The merits of the entertainment afforded, however, deserved a more liberal attendance, and should the "Peak Sisters" give a repetition performance, a packed house would undoubtedly be the result.

ARE YOU ONE OF THEM?

During the course of a year there is more or less grumbling and "Kicking" on the part of the residents of a community towards school trustees for the way in which school business is conducted, yet these same "Kickers" would not take the trouble to attend a school election. Last Saturday an election was held in Township 43 to elect a school trustee. Messrs. Porter, Waterman and Freeman sat for hours, but no one showed up to cast his ballot. Just three ballots were cast, and that was by these three gentlemen. W. S. Freeman of Cary received all three ballots and was declared elected. Yet the same school board has the handling of over $5,000 yearly. On Saturday our school election for Barrington takes place. How many votes will be cast? Women have a right to vote for their choice in this election. However, the people are not altogether to blame. School boards should make it a point to notify the people when an election is to come off and the place and time where ballots can be deposited. Heretofore it has been the tendency to ignore this. Thus columns of True Harvest are always at the disposal of school boards for any and all business transacted by them. Too little interest is taken in school matters. If you cannot take enough interest in the school elections quit your "Kicking" for you have none coming.

Observed "Patriotic Day."

The Harrington Woman's club observed "Patriotic Day" Thursday at the home of Mrs. F. N. Lapham, Mrs. L. Elvidge being hostess. A very interesting meeting was enjoyed by members and guests present. Geo. W. Hubbard addressed the club in a very able manner, and also read a patriotic poem which was his own composition. Mrs. M. T. Lamey gave a history of the Barrington G. A. R. Post, and Mrs. M. A. Bennett gave some remarks relative to the W. R. C. and the work done by that organization. Mrs. G. Arps read a patriotic poem and presented each club member and guest with a tiny flag as a souvenir of the day. At the conclusion of the program frappe and water were served and a social hour enjoyed. Next Thursday the social department of the club will give a parlor drama at the residence of Mrs. C. Kendall.

Put a Bull Behind the Bars

We call especial attention to the hinge joint at each intersection of stay with main bars.

This is the essential of every good wire fence. Unless the stay has a hinge joint the fence cannot receive pressure from contact and right itself. All rigid stay fences have been unsatisfactory and disappointing, as they crush down and when once down, remain so.

AMERICAN FENCE

is made with a hinge joint, by which the maximum of elasticity is secured and the fence if properly stretched, remains in place indefinitely. With the hinge joint, no amount of strain on the bars can effect the connection of stay and bar, while the opposite is true of all rigid stay fences.
