

THE BARRINGTON REVIEW.

VOL. 22. NO. 26.

BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, AUG. 21, 1906

$1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

IS RELIEVED OF SUFFERING

Mrs. Otto Zimmerman Passes Away Sunday Morning.

Mrs. Otto Zimmerman died at the family home at Langenhelm on Sunday at 10 o'clock from consumption after an illness of about six months. Mrs. Zimmerman was born in 1863, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Todd of Dundee. She was married to Mr. Zimmerman in 1892, and they have made their home near Langenhelm for the past five years. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, and five children, namely, Earl, 12 years of age; Vernon, 10 years; Elmer, 6 years; Fred, 22 years; and Winnie, 19 years. The latter two being of a former marriage. Fred left a short time ago for Dakota, and it was found unable to notify him of his mother's death. All the rest of the children are at home with the grief-stricken father. The deceased besides the aged parents leaves three sisters and four brothers, as follows: James Todd, Dundee; John, living in Canada; Robert, of Nebraska; Daniel, of Dundee; Mrs. Jas. Miller, Chicago; Mrs. Ned Nelson, Iowa; Mrs. Robt. Sheppard, Dundee. The lady was a dutiful daughter, a loving mother and a helpmeet of the right kind to her husband. She had endeared herself to all who knew her, and her illness which caused her death was the result of catching a severe cold while attending her father some six months ago while he was ill. Funeral services were held Wednesday at Dundee, Rev. Tuttle of the M. E. church officiating.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to thank all the neighbors and friends who so kindly sympathized and assisted me during the illness and death of my beloved wife.

OTTO ZIMMERMAN.

HE IS BECOMING A COWBOY

Charles Winters' Presence In the Woolly West Causes Wild Game to Vanish.

A special to THE REVIEW from Wyoming, says: Charles O. Winters, whose beautiful home in Barrington is the evidence of his tireless industry and artistic taste, is now a guest of his sister, Mrs. Philatus W. Gates, at the latter's ranch on the Wood river, in Big Horn county, Wyoming. This being Mr. Winters' first experience west of the Missouri river, he is enjoying the novelty of ranch life in a log cottage at the foot of Shoshone mountains, in one of the most beautiful valleys in all Wyoming.

The Antlers' Land and Cattle Company is one of the most important companies of the state. It owns and leases many thousands of acres, and its leases of the public domain cover an area approximating a hundred thousand acres. The headquarters of this company are beautiful for situation, being at the junction of two mountain streams, within fifty miles of Yellowstone park.

Mr. Winters is reported to be greatly charmed with the country, and it is not impossible to conceive of his becoming an accomplished cowboy before his return. Unless the speckled trout that throng the streams in that region are unusually wary they will land in Mr. Winters' frying-pan. The prairie dogs, coyotes and jack rabbits, not to mention larger game, are said to be moving back into the remote wilds to avoid the deadly consequences of Mr. Winters' prowess as a nimrod. Though a mild-mannered man when treading his accustomed paths as a resident of Barrington, he is said already to have acquired that "spirit of the west" which thrives amid the matchless scenery of the Rocky mountains as nowhere else in the world.

Mrs. Philatus W. Gates has also another guest, her sister, Mrs. Veder, of Whitehall, Ill. The party will remain in Wyoming several weeks, while Mr. Gates devotes himself to his mining interests in the famous Keweenaw district, some twenty miles distant in the heart of the mountains.

Chautauque Assembly Meets.

The Cook County Chautauque Assembly will meet in Barrington September 15th, to the 23rd.

The following is the program:
Tuesday—Mrs. Florence D. Richards, Woman's Day.
Wednesday—Frank S. Regan.
Thursday—Meneley Quartette and Chester L. Ricketts.
Friday—Eugene W. Chaffin.
Sunday—Mr. Chaffin.

Col. C. J. Holt is the superintendent and the meetings will be held in a large tent.

Very Low Rate to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Via the North-Western Line. An excursion rate of one regular fare plus limited fare for round trip, to be in effect from all stations Sept. 3 to 14, inclusive, with favorable return limits, on account of National Baptist convention. Three fast trains through to California daily. "The Overland Limited," electric lighted throughout, less than three days to San Francisco. "The Los Angeles Limited," electric lighted throughout, via the new Salt Lake Route to Los Angeles, with drawing-room and tourist sleeping cars. Another fast daily train is "The China and Japan Fast Mail," with drawing-room and tourist sleeping cars to San Francisco and Los Angeles. For itineraries and full information apply to Agents Chicago and North Western Railway.

Try Our

25 CENT DINNER.

Served from 11 A. M. to 2 P. M.
If you try it once, you'll take another. It is the best meal to be had anywhere for the money. Prompt service and cleanliness is our motto.

Meals at all hours.

If you are hungry just step in, and we'll satisfy the inner man in a jiffy.

Barrington Cafe,

ED RHODES, PROP.

Cook St., near Depot, Barrington, Ill.

The Majestic.

The very successful inaugural opening of the regular Fall and Winter season at the Majestic Theatre last week is very conclusive evidence that high class vaudeville still retains its hold on public, and bids fair to become even more popular than heretofore.

This popularity can be ascribed to two factors: The one being the beautiful Majestic Theatre with its wealth of luxurious furnishings and conveniences for the public, as well as its adaptability to stage any kind of an act, or produce any desired effect. The other factor being ability to discern and select such a magnificent array of talent that always make up a Majestic program.

Out of town visitors can reserve seats two weeks in advance by mail, telephone or telegram (Central 6490).

Odd Fellows Take Notice.

Owing to the recent death of Brother Silas Robertson of our lodge the fourth anniversary celebration will be postponed until August 30, 1906.

L. H. BENNETT, Noble Grand.
S. L. LANDWEY, Secretary.

NO FUN TO BE A SOLDIER

Brother of Rev. Lapham Describes His Trip as Soldier.

Camp Benjamin Harrison, Lawrence, Ind., Aug. 10, 1906.

Dear Brother Frank and Sister Elizabeth:

We arrived here in camp O. K. Oh, I tell you, I can realize what war must be to just go and get it! You think it is impossible to go any more, then drop and rest a few minutes and go on.

We marched from fifteen to eighteen miles every day with a heavy pack, which A and B Companies were carrying to see if they were any good. The pack is called the Merriam pack. You may have seen some account of it in the papers. They are no good. We don't carry them back.

The people treated us fine along the route. All the little towns and cities had their flags out and gave us a welcome.

One place, Monticello, Ind., after we were camped, the ladies of the city invited us all up to an ice cream supper on the courthouse square. We went and were treated royally. That was fine. But the next day, oh, that weary march was a corker.

Then, one town had a big water tank about four feet high and six feet in diameter, full of lemonade, and when we halted they told us to dig in, and we certainly did. I believe it tasted the best of anything I have tasted since one of Elizabeth's cherry puddings.

When we camped near a river, it was fun to see us all swimming. Oh, how refreshing.

We have long marches and battles every day. From the front.

Your Soldier Brother,

CHAS. K. LAPHAM.

Big Air Ship Will Be Seen at the Fair.

Bodkins' big airship, which has excited the wonder and admiration of thousands of people in and about Chicago, will be at the coming McHenry Co. Fair, arrangements having been made by Secretary Hunt for this unique attraction. This flying machine has demonstrated its ability to ascend to a height of 2,000 feet and to sail onward in the face of an opposing wind current. An interesting account of this airship, the "Columbia," is given in the following article taken from the Inter Ocean of June 25, 1906:

Circling gracefully over Harvey, Ill., like a giant bird on the wing, and then darting on swiftly in the direction of Joliet, the airship Columbia made one of the most successful flights yesterday.

Made with a dirigible balloon in the west, and the builder, A. J. Bodkin, believes he has solved the problem of aerial navigation. An hour and a half after leaving the earth, F. L. Matterly, the aeronaut, descended near Franklin, having covered a distance of more than twenty miles. The ship was in excellent condition, and the engine was working perfectly. But owing to the darkness Matterly decided not to travel to Joliet and settled to the ground.

The time made by the airship was considered remarkably fast by both the aeronaut and the builder, in view of the wild circles made before starting off on a straight course and the heavy head winds against which the ship was compelled to battle.

Very Low Excursion Rates to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo.

Via the North-Western Line, will be in effect from all stations, Sept. 19 to 22, inclusive, with favorable return limits, on account of Pike's Peak Centennial celebration. For full information apply to Agents Chicago and North Western Railway.

CAMP-MEETING IS NOW ON

Excellent Speakers and Much Interest is Manifested.

Campmeeting will open this Friday evening.

Some few of the members of the Salem church including the pastor are hoping the Camp-meeting Association will issue more stock and build an auditorium to hold from 1500 to 2000 people.

Rev. W. Berbesch of Elgin, Ill., will preach on Saturday afternoon.

A larger number of persons will be present this year than ever before.

Saturday evening service will be in the English language.

The Presiding Elder Rev. M. C. Morlock will deliver the opening address.

There is no reason whatever why in the near future the Campmeeting grounds should not become a kind of Chautauque Assembly for the United Evangelical people of Northern Illinois. Chicago alone could furnish a vast throng.

Don't forget to attend Campmeeting. A good time is assured.

Sunday morning after preaching by the presiding Elder M. C. Morlock, communion services will be celebrated. This service will be in German. Rev. C. A. Fueselle, a former Presiding Elder of the Chicago District, will be present the first Sunday and it is likely he will preach on Sunday afternoon. It is expected that Rev. F. W. Landwer will preach on Sunday evening in the English language.

On Monday afternoon an interesting farewell meeting will be held for Miss Lolita Snyder, a newly appointed missionary to China, who is on her way from Reading, Pa., to join the forces in China. This service will be largely in the English language. Several of our Chicago pastors are expected to make short addresses on this important occasion.

WAS A SPLENDID AFFAIR

How the Grand Army Encampment Appeared to Barringtonians.

DEAR REVIEW:

You have been told in a general way of the greatness and grandeur of the G. A. R. National Encampment, recently held at Minneapolis, Minn.

Well, it was an immense and splendid affair, as Barrington eyes beheld it. The municipal management was excellent. Places for the various gatherings were ample and beautiful, the auditorium in the lead. Entertainment was abundant and first-class, with prices generally maximum. Car service was up-to-date, and resorts and places of interest almost innumerable. The parade, perhaps, was unprecedented, three miles in length, three hours and forty minutes in passing the review stand, with over 20,000 "vets" in line, was a sight we may not see again.

The "old boys," never before so old, tried to appear "never so young," but the ruse was quite transparent. Many sad incidents of death or physical failure mingled sorrow with the mirth and enthusiasm of the day. The Red Cross service here proved something wonderful. A space was kept open between the parade and sightseers, where automobiles were flying with lightning speed conveying the stricken ones to drug stores and hospitals for medical care and nursing. But it was over finally. Its memory, however, will linger long with those who witnessed it.

An account of the numerous scenes and incidents of special interest would fill a good sized volume. So we pass them by.

The reception on Tuesday evening at the auditorium, however, should be mentioned. That vast hall, handsomely decorated, was literally packed with people eager to see and hear the "big guns" who were announced on the program.

Hon. John A. Johnson, governor of Minnesota; Hon. David P. Jones, mayor of Minneapolis, and Levi Lofgren, deputy commander of Minnesota, delivered addresses of welcome, to which James Tanner, commander-in-chief, responded. Other speakers were R. B. Brown, incoming commander-in-chief G. A. R.; Joel M. Longenecker, Archbishop Ireland, Abbie A. Adams, national president of W. R. C.; Mary J. Hager, for ladies of the G. A. R.; Ida K. Martin, national president Daughters of Veterans, and John E. Gilman of Massachusetts. Music was rendered by an immense organ, also by Modoc Glee Club, Bryant Post Quartette and Cook's Band and Drum Corps of Denver. There was also a veteran drum corps composed of men from seventy to eighty-five years of age. Their bass drum had done service in the Revolutionary war.

Wife and I found delightful quarters at the hospitable home of Mrs. L. P. Sandberg, 305 Second street, N.E., that genial lady doing all possible to make our stay enjoyable.

We found our friend and comrade, J. C. Whitney, of Lake Zurich, next door to us visiting his niece, Mrs. J. M. Morgan.

Next year's National Encampment is to be at Saratoga, N. Y., and R. B. Brown, of Ohio, was elected commander-in-chief of G. A. R. for 1907.

We failed to meet comrades Abbott and Runyon at the "dings," but understand they were there.

Patriotically yours,

H. H. HUBBARD.

Palatine Locals.

Miss Elmora Arps spent Wednesday at Elgin.

Elmer Weston left for Winnipeg Tuesday.

Miss Hazel Dean spent Wednesday at Lincoln Park.

Mrs. Tom Daniels and children were in Chicago Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Robertson left for their home at Carlisle, Arkansas, Wednesday.

Miss Cornelia Smith of Park Ridge is the guest of her brother, A. G. Smith.

Theresa and Robert Bradley were in Chicago Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Tucker spent a few days in Chicago recently.

Many from Palatine attended the picnic at Lake Zurich Sunday.

Miss Violet Ulitch of Barrington has been visiting her cousin, Miss Ethel Mosser.

Miss Elmora Arps plays her first engagement at the Vaucaud orchestra Saturday night.

Forty-one tickets were sold last Thursday for the excursion to Lake Geneva.

Twelve members of the I. O. O. F. attended the funeral of their former member, Silas Robertson. Mr. Robertson was a member of the Palatine Lodge for years and when the Lodge was started at Barrington he withdrew and joined his home lodge.

C. E. Dean will have three horses at the Woodstock Fair next week, some of them will race on Wednesday.

Miss Libbie French has been entertaining her friend Miss Alice Eckles of Chicago for a few weeks.

Mrs. G. Walters and children have returned home from their visit here with M. R. Reynolds and wife.

Mrs. C. D. Taylor visited her daughter at the Hannaman Hospital, Monday. She reported Clara was doing nicely.

The Reliable Dayton AUTOMOBILE

Built for city or country. Will travel ANY ROAD with its 22-inch road clearance. Any speed up to 25 miles per hour. Two cylinder, double acting motor, 10-12 H.P. No valves, gears, cams, springs or cam shaft. So simple anyone can run it AND KEEP IT RUNNING. Price complete with top, side curtains, storm front, lamps and full tool equipment.

$500.00.

Storeroys, with same equipment.

$600.00.

ED. THIES

BARRINGTON, ILL.

Telephone 302.

Grand Dance

Bicknase's New Pavilion on the Shores of Lake Zurich Saturday, Aug. 25th, Music by the Dimnas Orchestra of Joliet. Tickets, - 50 cents.

To Every Boy or Girl PURCHASING School Books, Pens, Pencils, Tablets, Or School Supplies of any Kind, we will give a Ticket entitling them to a Chance on our

$10.00 Watch and our $10.00 Doll,

The Doll for the Girls and the Watch for the Boys.

BARRINGTON PHARMACY

For BEAUTIFUL WALLS buy. ROMAN WALL PAINT

Finest thing for interiors of Homes, Schools, Hospitals, and all Public Buildings. Dries quickly without gloss, giving rich, velvety effect. Can be washed without injury. Greatly superior to all other wall finishes. Durable, Hygienic, Elegant and Inexpensive. Made by

THE CHICAGO WHITE-LEAD AND OIL CO. For Sample Card of 32 beautiful colors and general information, apply to PLAGGE & CO.

DEALERS IN

Paints, Flour, Feed, Coal, Lumber, Window Glass BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS

"The Barrington" GAS AND GASOLINE ENGINE

The Latest Improved and Best Gas or Gasoline Engine on the market.

Simple Construction. Guaranteed. Lowest Prices.

Made in all sizes from 2 to Horse Power, by A. SCHAUBLE & CO. Barrington, Illinois.

Dealers in: Shafting, Pulleys and Belting, Clusters and Tanks. Repairing of All Kinds of Machinery a Specialty.

Barrington Review.

M. T. LAMEY, Ed. and Pub.
BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS.

The Evil of Easy Credit.

That people of moderate resources are much given to living beyond their means in the effort to keep up with their richer contemporaries is a fact long established. The Washington bureau of labor statistics arrives at this old conclusion by a new route. In so doing, it suggests that to the extensive employment of credit and the installment system moral as well as economic unwisdom may attach. The bureau has gathered figures to show the uncollectible indebtedness of the people of the state. They are very large figures. A disregard is in evidence, amazing in the aggregate of its results, of the claims of butchers, grocers and other small tradesmen. It is implied in the report that to the spreading of the installment business to an extreme much of this evil is traceable. Credit has become so easy that the responsibilities of debt are more lightly regarded. As against traders, too, who merely keep books an immense advantage for collections rests with dealers who hold contracts with forfeiture of goods as penalty of the penalties of missing regular payments. The argument is not against the installment principle. More often than not the system of part payments is a great help. It is a special providence to many young people starting at housekeeping. It has assisted in the building of countless homes. These accomplishments justify its maintenance. But, remarks the New York Press, that the system is abused there can be no dispute. Extravagance loses its warning face when it is represented by a small sum per week or per month, instead of a large sum cash down.

Dangerous Anti-Fat Treatment.

Fat girls who are inclined to drink vinegar and eat pickles in the hope of reducing flesh may take warning from the fate of Annie Gross, a 25-year-old St. Louis woman. She was "stout" and had been declining to reduce her flesh. She ate no meat or heavy food and neighbors gave her information that she had made a practice of eating from a dozen to two dozen sour pickles a day and drinking from half a pint to a pint of vinegar every 24 hours. Sudden death came to her Sunday evening when she had let a party of friends to get a drink of water. At the autopsy physicians found the inner walls of the stomach almost completely eaten away. The cause of death was given as "hemorrhage of the stomach and acute poisoning," due to pickles and vinegar. It is easy, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, to see how such results would naturally come more quickly to a stomach that was deprived of other classes of food. A similar condition has often been found in the stomachs of men who were small eaters and habitual drinkers of large quantities of hard cider. The stomach is not a proper receptacle into which to pour quantities of strong acid.

Last week Mrs. Elizabeth Hunt traveled through Connecticut in a motor car. Nothing strange about that; an automobile excursion is without significance; but it happens the lady on this particular car was a centenarian. A very jolly one she must be, for she has gone five years above par, and yet says the motor is her favorite vehicle. But Mrs. Hunt is the "new woman." The newest woman, in fact, when at the age of 105 she enjoys life as though she were only 50. And who shall say this new note of the day, the woman of 105, is not to be the answer to Dr. Oiler's theory? One who doesn't weary of life will subscribe to it, for the promise of incalculable personal youth to the outlook would be, for the most part, an extreme. Mrs. Hunt, however, is a living example of the innocuousness of age.

With the promise this year of one of the largest grain crops the country has ever known there is room for interest in the reports from other localities. A fair yield is predicted in most of the wheat-growing regions of Europe, but as the output is never large enough for old-world consumption it is clear that the prospect is good for heavy importations as usual, and the United States will be the main source of supply. This is the general situation, and it should help to promote stability here, for big grain crops and large exports of breadstuffs are among the influences that guarantee prosperity.

The predictions on the wheat crop of 1905 range from 700,000,000 to 740,000,000 bushels. These are based on acreage and on condition at the present time, when a large part of the crop is harvested. In 1901 the crop was 748,000,000 bushels. This is the only time that wheat has passed the 700,000,000 mark. The year for 1904 is certain to be next to the largest ever gathered. As corn gives promise to break all records in magnitude, the American farmer continues to be in clover.

REVOLUTION NEAR END

TURNING POINT OF CUBAN MOVEMENT REACHED.

LEADERS ARE IMPRISONED

Inhabitants of Pinar del Rio Province Fear Attack by Rebels—Rumors of Fights in That Section Not Confirmed.

Havana. — The indications are that the revolution in western Cuba already has practically reached its maximum. The government and people generally believe the movement has received about all the accessions it will be liable to receive. The promptness of the government in arresting suspected leaders and plotters in Havana and elsewhere in sending reinforcements to the disturbed districts has had an excellent effect in strengthening public confidence and overawing sympathizers with the movement.

Rebels Concentrate. The fact that probably 1,000 insurgents are tending to concentrate in the province of Pinar del Rio upon towns inadequately guarded by small detachments of rural guards, mostly inexperienced in warfare, makes the situation grave, but as the insurgents have not assumed any strongly offensive attitude or interfered with trains carrying troops, horses and supplies, it is inferred that they are not prepared or lack the nerve to try for control of the territory.

An official of the Western railroad said that absolutely no trouble had been encountered anywhere along the line, which is the main artery of the province of Pinar del Rio.

Fear Night Attacks. There have been many rumors of fights at various points in the province of Pinar del Rio, but they have not been confirmed by government or press dispatches. However, night attacks on the city of Pinar del Rio and other towns continue to be regarded as a probability. The government wires are working freely. Pinar del Rio, Consolacion del Sur and San Juan del Mar were reinforced Tuesday by 200 troops. The local citizens are well equipped to repel invasion.

Skirmish Near Havana. There was some fighting Tuesday in Havana province and more is hourly expected. A detachment of rural guards encountered a portion of Bandera's band, with which shots were exchanged at close range. One insurgent was killed and the others scattered. Fifty rural guards are in pursuit of the main band. It is reported that the town of Guines, 20 miles south of Havana, was peacefully occupied Tuesday evening by a band of insurgents. Guines is the center of the American truck farming industry, but the farmers have not been molested.

A detachment of rural guards encountered a new party of insurgents near the town of Guines, 20 miles from Havana, and charged them, taking three prisoners, including the leader of the band, and capturing seven horses.

TAFT WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT
Secretary of War to Decline Place on Supreme Bench.
Washington.—William H. Taft, secretary of war, will formally communicate to the president in a short time that he does not desire the honor of an appointment to the supreme court bench. He will send notice in time for the president to make a selection before the fall term of the supreme court opens in October.
Mr. Taft's indecision for the presidency by the Ohio Republican state convention is practically assured. He has been considered one of the most prominent possibilities by Ohio Republicans, and in view of Speaker Cannon's reiterated declarations that he would not be known as a candidate, the secretary's plan of action is considered most significant at this time.
The Ohio Republicans have been quietly booming Mr. Taft for the presidency for months. By every possible method they have been advancing his cause, even going so far, it is understood, as to solicit a public expression from him on the subject of his candidacy. Mr. Taft has fought shy of the subject, but the latest development places him more conspicuously before the public.

COST OF RUNNING NATION

MONEY APPROPRIATED BY THE LAST CONGRESS.

Nearly a Billion Dollars Spent by Lawmakers—Big Sum for Penalties.

Washington.—According to a statement issued by Thomas P. Cleave and James C. Courie, chief clerks, respectively, of the senate and house committees on appropriations, congress, at its last session, appropriated for the fiscal year 1907, $579,559,185.16, representing an increase of $59,404,650.20 over the sum appropriated the last session of the Fifty-eighth congress for 1906. The largest item in the appropriation for the post office department, the amount allotted being $191,695,988.75. The next largest sum was given for pensions, the money appropriated amounting to $140,245,509, or nearly twice as much as was allowed for the support of the army and over four millions more than was granted for the naval establishment.

Of cost of living, the $150,450,200 for 1906, it is stated $142,447,201.06 was for the isthmian canal, the balance being accounted for through the appropriations for the carrying out of the canal law, the maintenance of contracts for river and harbor work, the reorganization of the diplomatic and consular service, and the extension of the rural free delivery service.

On the subject of new offices and employments, Messrs. Cleave and Courie say:
The new offices and employments authorized were 5,324 in number, at an annual compensation of $6,615,870; and those abolished or remitted are 5,285 in number, at an annual compensation of $1,010,109, a net increase of 1,541 offices and $2,605,761 in amount.

"Deducting from the net increase of 1,649 new salaries and employments, 1,636 additional employees for the postal service, there remain only 283 net increase in employments for all other departments and branches of the public service."

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT ENDS.
R. B. Brown is Elected Commander in Chief.
Minneapolis, Minn.—The Grand Army of the Republic completed its fortieth encampment late Friday and adjourned to meet in Saratoga, N. Y., in 1907. The encampment, after an exciting debate, decided that a protest against the erection of a statue to Henry Wirtz should be sent to Gen. S. D. Lee, the commander of the Southern Veterans' association.

Minneapolis, Minn.—The following officers were elected Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic: Commander-in-Chief, R. B. Brown, Zanesville, O.; senior vice commander, William H. Armstrong, Indianapolis; junior vice commander, E. H. Penner, Detroit; chaplain-in-chief, Archbishop John Ireland, St. Paul; surgeon-general, W. H. Johnson, Lincoln, Neb.

The new commander-in-chief was born in 1845, and has always lived in Ohio. He enlisted in the Fifteenth Ohio infantry at the age of 16 years and served in the Fourteenth Army corps in the Army of the Cumberland until he was discharged in 1864. He then reenlisted as a veteran soldier and served as such until the end of the war. He was a private throughout the first three years of his service, and then became a noncommissioned officer. He has always been active and prominent in the work of the Grand Army. Mr. Brown is now editor of the Zanesville Courier.

MINERS KILLED IN EXPLOSION
Kerol Collier Meets Death Trying to Rescue His Corade.
Mahanoy City, Pa.—By an explosion of gas in the West Buck mountain gangway in the fifth level of the Vulcan colliery of the Mill Creek Coal company Tuesday, Charles Stankus, 25 years of age, John Myrka, aged 20 years, were instantly killed, five persons were probably fatally injured and about a dozen were overcome by after-damp. Stankus was killed by the first explosion and Myrka was killed as he was preparing to carry the body of Stankus to the gangway.

There were two explosions at intervals of ten minutes. Both did much damage, and in the first, a large section of the mine was blown away and timbers blown out along the gangway for a distance of several hundred yards. The fourth lift of the mine was completely wrecked.

HUNGRY PEOPLE BATTLE FOR FOOD IN VALPARAISO

Thousands of Homeless, Famished Refugees Fight in Effort to Get a Few Morsels to Stave Off Death by Starvation.

Valparaiso.—Chaos rules in Valparaiso and martial law is unable to keep order. The scores of thousands of homeless, famished refugees fight in the streets for food.

The army and navy officers are working heroically to bring order out of chaos, but they are fearfully handicapped. The injured are still without adequate medical care, in spite of the tireless energy of army, naval and private surgeons and nurses.

Food supplies are insufficient, but are increasing. The minister of the interior has ordered all ships in Chilean ports to proceed to Valparaiso with food and bring away refugees. A regular relief service has been established. Cattle shipments are on the way. Frontier train service has been established from Talca. Supplies of meat and milk are arriving regularly but not in quantities sufficient to prevent hunger.

Estimate Dead at 3,000.
Estimates of the number of dead still remain between 2,000 and 5,000. Twenty-eight bodies were found Wednesday under the stairway of the telegraph office.

When the work of clearing the streets begins it will be necessary to tear down many buildings on account of the danger of weakened walls falling.

A registration bureau has been established and people who escaped are enrolling their names.

Boundaries of Ruined Area.
From the Plaza de la Victoria as far as the plaza in the section called Las Delicias, four-fifths of the houses are completely destroyed and the remaining fifth are badly damaged.

From the Plaza de la Victoria down to the custom house shock about one-third of the houses sustained damage. The Alameda quarters have been entirely destroyed. The banks of the city and the customs warehouses were nearly leveled.

With the exception of Espritu Santo to all the churches in the city were destroyed, as were the hospitals and the theaters.

The number of dead is more than 2,000.

The first shock lasted four minutes and a half, and the second two minutes. Most of the houses were thrown down by the second shock.

The people are still camping on the surrounding hills and in the streets and plazas, and only to-day are calm and courage returning. "The declaration is made that 80,000 people will leave the city. The lack of food is not yet serious."

A number of steamers are engaged in moving the people of the city to points to the north and south.

The south wind Wednesday was not so strong as it has been most of the time since Thursday, but cold and rain are feared, as the entire population of Valparaiso is sleeping in the open air. Tents are scarce. Including the suburb of Vina del Mar, some 200,000 people form a colossal encampment.

Hundreds of corpses are carried daily to the Plaza Ancha cemetery.

Some 20 robbers and two or three incendiaries have been shot and their bodies exposed bearing the words, "For a Robber."

Earth Swallows 10,000.
Lima, Aug. 22.—It is reported that Quillota, a city of 10,000 population, about 20 miles from Valparaiso, was nearly entirely destroyed and that less than 100 of the inhabitants escaped.

There have been two heavy earthquake shocks in Valparaiso in the last 24 hours, the last one late Tuesday night, being so heavy that a panic broke out among the frightened inhabitants camping on the hills.

The number of dead and wounded in Valparaiso cannot be less than 5,000. There was a slight earthquake at three o'clock Tuesday morning and the inhabitants are getting alarmed. At Hicahcho there was an earthquake lasting five seconds and a bright sun was suddenly hidden by clouds and fogs. Dispatches from Lepu, Bolivia, state that the telegraph offices in that town are besieged by anxious persons who have friends in Valparaiso and Santiago. Many families have children in Chilean colleges and are awaiting news with great anxiety.

The statement that the fire which broke out in Santiago after the earthquake there on Friday night were extinguished by a torrential rain is confirmed.

Valparaiso, Aug. 22. The loss of life by the earthquake of August 15 probably was at least 3,000, while the property destroyed is estimated at $100,000,000 and possibly is far in excess of that sum.

Order is being maintained with the utmost severity by the military, police and armed citizens' patrols, who are empowered to shoot looters on the spot.

With the first terrible shock of the earthquake buildings collapsed, their walls falling with a tremendous noise. The inmates in many cases were unable to escape. The shock was followed almost immediately by a fierce storm, the wind prostrating walls that had been weakened by the earthquake, and these broke trolley wires, which flashed incessantly. The second shock was even heavier than the first.

Fire Loss Greatest.

Many buildings were destroyed by the earthquake. The destruction by fire, however, was infinitely larger, and probably 50 per cent of the commercial houses were ruined.

Slight earthquake shocks are continuing. The people have not yet returned to their homes, but are sleeping on the surrounding hills and in the streets and squares. The fire have all been extinguished. More than 100 men taken in the act of committing robberies have been shot.

Valparaiso—Valparaiso in ashes, like San Francisco, mourns its departed glory, but is looking hopefully to a new future.

There is no time to count the dead. The needs of 100,000 homeless people are the first consideration for the government.

Under beating rains, hungry, and without food or shelter, are too pressing to care for those who are past the need of food and whose only shelter must be the grave.

Estimates of the number of dead vary. Some police officials say it will reach 5,000. Others place the number at 3,000. In the municipal prison alone there are 250 bodies. In the morgue there are 50. In one church 60 more have been counted. But no systematic search for the dead has as yet been made.

It is possible now to look over the ruins and take an account of the destruction wrought by earthquake and fire.

Predicted Disaster.

It is a strange fact, commented on almost with awe, that the newspapers prognosticated the catastrophe here Thursday, only a few hours before the blow fell. The local astronomers based their prediction on the conjunction of Jupiter, the earth, and the moon.

Sets New Auto Record.

New York.—L. I. Whitman and E. S. Carris, who arrived at the Astor house here Friday at 11:55 o'clock in a 36-horsepower machine, thereby established a new cross continent automobile record.

Attempt to Kill Policeman.

This Russian attempt to assassinate Police Lieut. Solovyanoff was made in the public gardens where the would-be murderer who escaped, fired four shots, wounding Solovyanoff and killing a waiter.

NEWS OF ILLINOIS

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM ALL OVER THE STATE.

PEARLS IN AMBRAW RIVER

Regular Search Being Made Along the Stream for Valuable Shells—Many Fine Specimens Have Been Found.

Charleston.—That pearls abound in the Ambraw river two miles east of this city, in sufficient quantities to pay to organize a regular search for them, is the belief of the majority of people along the stream. Recently parties frequenting the river have found a number of fine specimens in the mussel shells that line the banks of the stream and are easily accessible to the low water. A stock company is being talked of to find and deal in these valuable products of the mussel shell.

Mrs. Catherine Corkins Dead.

Sullivan.—Mrs. Catherine Kilver Corkins died at the home of her husband, Mrs. J. R. McCure, aged 81 years and 20 days. She was married to Veranus C. Corkins March 29, 1844. She was the mother of seven children, three of whom have preceded her in death, as also has the husband. The surviving children are Frank Corkins of Clinton, John Corkins of Columbus, O.; Mrs. Clara Tassett of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. J. R. McCure of Sullivan.

Murdered by Insane Man.

Batavia.—Driven insane by the heat in which he had been working, Emil Berner arose early, killed his brother-in-law, Ernest Franzen, with a razor while he slept, fatally wounded his wife and then cut his own throat. Berner's daughter, Emma, and a boarder in the house jumped from windows, thus escaping the rush of the insane man.

Leaves Standard Oil Service.

Peoria.—Wellington A. Jones, city harbor master and city salesman of the Standard Oil company, has resigned his position with the Standard because the local manager demanded that he drop the prosecution against the Swain Packet company for non-payment of wharfage, "because the prosecution was in violation of the duties of the Standard with the packet company."

Old Settlers Gather in Whiteside.

Sterling.—The annual picnic of the old settlers of Whiteside county was attended by 6,000. The special attraction was an address by H. H. Walte, of Prophetstown, on the half game. Two thousand people of Ogle, Lee and Whiteside counties attended the first annual meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America of the three counties.

Severely Injured by Horse.

Girard.—Herbert H. Vanman, a prominent farmer living one and one-half miles north of this city, was severely injured by a horse. He went into the stall and the horse crowded him against the partition, tearing the ligaments of his right arm and severely injuring him about the head and shoulders.

Blow of Flat Fatal.

Lagoon.—In a saloon brawl at Varna, ten miles east of here, Nick Smith, a saloonkeeper, knocked John Parsons of Magnolia off the sidewalk. In falling Parsons broke his neck and died immediately. Parsons was about 35 years old, and is survived by a wife and family. The coroner's jury exonerated Smith.

Socialists in Jail and Out.

Peoria.—Rudolph Pfeiffer, candidate for congress on the Socialist ticket, and his associate, S. A. Knopf, were put into jail at Brimfield for creating a disturbance. They subsequently were released.

Death of Wealthy Farmer.

Litchfield.—John Slowman, a wealthy farmer living in Honey Point township, died. He was 75 years old and had been married 50 years on the farm where he died.

Bank Assessments Increased.

Chicago.—The banks of Cook county will be compelled to pay taxes on $12,000,000 more property this year than they did in 1905, because of the action taken by the board of review.

Died at Carlinville.

Carlinville.—Mrs. Anna L. Woodruff died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. M. Gardner, in this city, aged 85 years.

Mrs. John Finefrock Dead.

Pana.—Mrs. John Finefrock, who was formerly Miss Minnie Hatton, is dead at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hatton, in North Pana.

Death From Old Age.

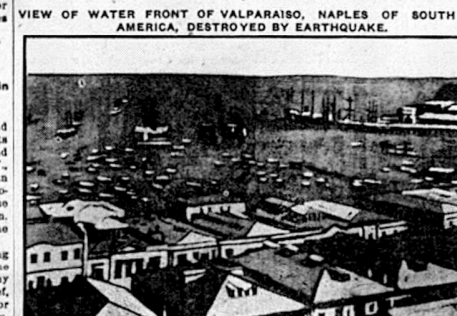

Bloomington.—The death of Michael Flynn, an old man, was announced at 1210 North Livingston street. The cause of his death was old age and its attendant debilities.

Aldo Woman Hanga Herself.

Aldo.—Mrs. Clay Glaney killed herself by hanging in an outhouse at their home. Her husband found the body.

The Broncho Paces Fast Mile.

Decatur.—In a trial against the track record and her own time The Broncho broke both when she paced a mile in 2:26. The previous track record was made by The Broncho last year, when she stepped a mile in 2:03. This was also her own record.

VIEW OF WATER FRONT OF VALPARAISO, NAPLES OF SOUTH AMERICA, DESTROYED BY EARTHQUAKE.

THE SPENDERS

A Tale of the Third Generation

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lorch Publishing Company.

CHAPTER XIII.—CONTINUED.

And so Mrs. Bines grew actually to feel an interest in the creature and his wretched affairs, and even fell into the deplorable habit of saying: "I must come to see you and your wife and Paul some pleasant day, Philippe," and Philippe, being a man of the world, thought none the less of her for believing that she did not mean it.

Yet it befell on an afternoon that Mrs. Bines found herself in a popular side-street, driving home from a visit to the rheumatic scrub-woman who had now to be supported by the papers her miserable offspring sold. Mrs. Bines had never seen so many children as flooded this street. She wondered if an orphan asylum were in the neighborhood. And though the day was pleasantly warm, she decided that there were about her at least a thousand cases of incipient pneumonia, for not one child in five had on a hat. They raged and dashed and rippled from curb to curb so that they might have made her think of a swift mountain torrent at the bottom of a gloomy canyon, but that the worthy woman was too literal-minded for such fancies, and only warned the man to drive slowly.

And then by a street sign she saw that she was near the home of Philippe. It was three o'clock, and she would be resting from his work. The man found the number. The waves parted and piled themselves on either side in hushed wonder as she entered the hallway and searched for the name on the cards as she used the bells. She had never known the surname, and on two of the cards "Ph." appeared. She rang one of the bells, the door mysteriously opened with a repeated click, and she began the toilsome climb. The waves of children fell together behind her in turbulent play again.

At the top she breathed a moment and then knocked at a door before her. A voice within called:

"Entrez!" and Mrs. Bines opened the door.

It was the tiny kitchen of Philippe. Philippe, himself, in shirt sleeves, sat in a chair tilted back close to the gas range, the Courier des Etats Unis in his hands and Paul on his lap. Celine stood by the backs of a gentleman's white shirt on a washboard, and supported by the backs of two chairs.

Hemmed in the corner by this board and by the gas range, seated at a table covered by the oilcloth that simulates the marble of Italy's most famous quarries, sat, undoubtedly, Baron Renault de Pallac. A steaming plate of spaghetti à la Italian was before him, to his left a large bowl of salad, to his right a bottle of red wine.

For a space of three seconds the entire party behaved as if it were being photographed under time-exposure. Philippe and the baby stared, motionless. Celine started, resting her slight weight on the hot flat-iron. Baron Renault de Pallac started, his fork poised in mid-air and festooned with gay little streamers of spaghetti.

Then came smoke, the smell of scorching linen, and a cry of horror from Celine.

"Ah, la seule chemise blanche de Monsieur le Baron!" cried Celine, and the spell was broken. Philippe was on his feet, bowing effusively.

"Ah! it is Madame Bines. Je suis tres honore—I am very honored to welcome you, madame. It is madame, ma femme, Celine, and—Monsieur le Baron de Pallac."

Philippe had turned with evident distress toward the latter. But Philippe was only a waiter, and had not behind him the centuries of servitude that enable a gentleman to remain a gentleman under adverse conditions.

Baron Renault de Pallac arose with unfeigned aplomb and bowed to the caller with his stateliest bow. He was at the moment a graceful and silencing rebuke to those who aver that manner and attire be interdependent. The baron's manner was dead, undiminished in its rare beauty, as to decorative qualities. One fitted to savor its exquisite finish would scarce have noted that above his waist the noble gentleman was clad in a single thread undergarment of revolutionary red.

Or, if such a one had observed this trifling circumstance, he would, assuredly, have treated it as of no value to the moment, something to note, perhaps, and then gracefully to forget.

The baron's own behavior would have served as a model. One swift glance had shown him there was no way of instant retreat. That being impossible, none other was to be considered. He permitted himself not even a glance at the shirt upon whose frail, defenseless bosom the iron of servitude Celine had burned its cruel brand so imprudently. Mrs. Bines had greeted him as he would have wished, unconscious, apparently, that there could be cause for embarrassment.

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Monsieur le Baron wishes to retire to his apartment," said Philippe, raising the ironing-board, as "Will madame be so good as to enter our petit salon at the front, n'est-ce pas?"

The baron stepped forth from his corner and bowed himself graciously out.

"Madame, my compliments—and to the adorable Mlle. Bines! An revoir, madame—to the sometime-avant peu—before little!"

On the farther side of his closed door Baron Renault de Pallac awaited once. But the oath was one of the most awful that a Frenchman may utter in his native tongue: "Sacred Name of a Name!"

"But the baron can't do anything," protested Mrs. Bines.

"Ah, yes, madame!" replied Philippe. "Monsieur le Baron has consumed enough for now. Paul, mon enfant, ne touche pas la robe de madame. Ne l'argue, he is not, madame, as I have told you? A monster, yes?"

Mrs. Bines, stooping, took the limp white-starched handkerchief in her whereupon he began to talk so fast to her in French that she set him quickly down again, with the slightly helpless air of one who had picked up an innocent-looking clock only to have the clanging alarm go soundly off.

"Madame will honor our little salon," urged Philippe, opening the door and bowing low.

"Quel dommage!" sighed Celine, moving after him. "La seule chemise blanche de Monsieur le Baron. Eh bien! il faut lui en acheter une autre!"

At dinner that evening Mrs. Bines related her adventure, to the unfeigned delight of her graceless son, and to the somewhat troubled amazement of her daughter.

"And, do you know," she ventured, "maybe he isn't a regular baron, after all?"

"Oh, I guess he's a regular one all right," said Percival; "only perhaps he hasn't worked at it much lately."

"But his attire there was in that—that shirt," said his sister.

"My dear young woman, even the nobility are prey to climatic rigors; they are obliged, like the wretched low-born such as ourselves, to wear pardon me—undergarments. Again, I understand from Mrs. Cadwallader here that the article in question was satisfactory and fit—red, I believe you say, Mr. Terwilliger."

"Awful red," said his mother—"and they call their parlor a salon."

"And of necessity, even the noble have their moments of deshabille."

"They needn't eat their lunch that way," declared his sister.

"Is deshabille French for underclothes?" asked Mrs. Bines, struck by the word.

"Fartily," answered her son.

"And that shirt of old of Philippe's jabbered French! It's wonderful how they can learn so young."

"They begin early, you know," Percival explained. "And as to our friend the baron, I'm going to make bold that he did not see him again, except at a distance."

Some time afterward he computed the round sum he might have won if any such man had been made; for his list of suitors, to adopt his own eloquent phrase, was thereafter "ah, a baron."

CHAPTER XIV.
THE SUMMER CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED.

Winter waxes and spring charmed the land into blossom. The city-pent, as we have intimated, must take this season largely on faith. If one can find a patch of ground naked of stone or asphalt, one may find the heat of the heat. But even now the shop windows are more inspiring. At least they copy the outer show. Tender-bud shirt-waists first push up their aprons, and then, for the first time, their waists and waists, quite as the first violets out in the woodland thrust themselves up through the brown carpet of leaves. Then every window becomes a summer scene of lawn, lake, and children, more lavish of tints, shades and combinations, indeed, than ever nature dared to be.

Outside, where the unspotted earth affords the blossoms are clouded the dress with a mist of pink and white, and the city dweller knows it from the bloom and foliage of these same windows.

Then it is that the spring "get away" urge is felt by each prisoner, by those who like to obey it, and by those, alike, who must wear it down in the groomed and sophisticated wilderness of the city.

On a morning late in May Mrs. Bines and her daughter were at breakfast.

"Isn't Percival coming?" asked his mother. "Everything will be cold."

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Monsieur le Baron wishes to retire to his apartment," said Philippe, raising the ironing-board, as "Will madame be so good as to enter our petit salon at the front, n'est-ce pas?"

The baron stepped forth from his corner and bowed himself graciously out.

"Madame, my compliments—and to the adorable Mlle. Bines! An revoir, madame—to the sometime-avant peu—before little!"

On the farther side of his closed door Baron Renault de Pallac awaited once. But the oath was one of the most awful that a Frenchman may utter in his native tongue: "Sacred Name of a Name!"

"But the baron can't do anything," protested Mrs. Bines.

"Ah, yes, madame!" replied Philippe. "Monsieur le Baron has consumed enough for now. Paul, mon enfant, ne touche pas la robe de madame. Ne l'argue, he is not, madame, as I have told you? A monster, yes?"

Mrs. Bines, stooping, took the limp white-starched handkerchief in her whereupon he began to talk so fast to her in French that she set him quickly down again, with the slightly helpless air of one who had picked up an innocent-looking clock only to have the clanging alarm go soundly off.

"Madame will honor our little salon," urged Philippe, opening the door and bowing low.

"Quel dommage!" sighed Celine, moving after him. "La seule chemise blanche de Monsieur le Baron. Eh bien! il faut lui en acheter une autre!"

At dinner that evening Mrs. Bines related her adventure, to the unfeigned delight of her graceless son, and to the somewhat troubled amazement of her daughter.

"And, do you know," she ventured, "maybe he isn't a regular baron, after all?"

"Oh, I guess he's a regular one all right," said Percival; "only perhaps he hasn't worked at it much lately."

"But his attire there was in that—that shirt," said his sister.

"My dear young woman, even the nobility are prey to climatic rigors; they are obliged, like the wretched low-born such as ourselves, to wear pardon me—undergarments. Again, I understand from Mrs. Cadwallader here that the article in question was satisfactory and fit—red, I believe you say, Mr. Terwilliger."

"Awful red," said his mother—"and they call their parlor a salon."

"And of necessity, even the noble have their moments of deshabille."

"They needn't eat their lunch that way," declared his sister.

"Is deshabille French for underclothes?" asked Mrs. Bines, struck by the word.

"Fartily," answered her son.

"And that shirt of old of Philippe's jabbered French! It's wonderful how they can learn so young."

"They begin early, you know," Percival explained. "And as to our friend the baron, I'm going to make bold that he did not see him again, except at a distance."

Some time afterward he computed the round sum he might have won if any such man had been made; for his list of suitors, to adopt his own eloquent phrase, was thereafter "ah, a baron."

CHAPTER XIV.
THE SUMMER CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED.

Winter waxes and spring charmed the land into blossom. The city-pent, as we have intimated, must take this season largely on faith. If one can find a patch of ground naked of stone or asphalt, one may find the heat of the heat. But even now the shop windows are more inspiring. At least they copy the outer show. Tender-bud shirt-waists first push up their aprons, and then, for the first time, their waists and waists, quite as the first violets out in the woodland thrust themselves up through the brown carpet of leaves. Then every window becomes a summer scene of lawn, lake, and children, more lavish of tints, shades and combinations, indeed, than ever nature dared to be.

Outside, where the unspotted earth affords the blossoms are clouded the dress with a mist of pink and white, and the city dweller knows it from the bloom and foliage of these same windows.

Then it is that the spring "get away" urge is felt by each prisoner, by those who like to obey it, and by those, alike, who must wear it down in the groomed and sophisticated wilderness of the city.

On a morning late in May Mrs. Bines and her daughter were at breakfast.

"Isn't Percival coming?" asked his mother. "Everything will be cold."

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Monsieur le Baron wishes to retire to his apartment," said Philippe, raising the ironing-board, as "Will madame be so good as to enter our petit salon at the front, n'est-ce pas?"

The baron stepped forth from his corner and bowed himself graciously out.

"Madame, my compliments—and to the adorable Mlle. Bines! An revoir, madame—to the sometime-avant peu—before little!"

On the farther side of his closed door Baron Renault de Pallac awaited once. But the oath was one of the most awful that a Frenchman may utter in his native tongue: "Sacred Name of a Name!"

"But the baron can't do anything," protested Mrs. Bines.

"Ah, yes, madame!" replied Philippe. "Monsieur le Baron has consumed enough for now. Paul, mon enfant, ne touche pas la robe de madame. Ne l'argue, he is not, madame, as I have told you? A monster, yes?"

Mrs. Bines, stooping, took the limp white-starched handkerchief in her whereupon he began to talk so fast to her in French that she set him quickly down again, with the slightly helpless air of one who had picked up an innocent-looking clock only to have the clanging alarm go soundly off.

"Madame will honor our little salon," urged Philippe, opening the door and bowing low.

"Quel dommage!" sighed Celine, moving after him. "La seule chemise blanche de Monsieur le Baron. Eh bien! il faut lui en acheter une autre!"

At dinner that evening Mrs. Bines related her adventure, to the unfeigned delight of her graceless son, and to the somewhat troubled amazement of her daughter.

"And, do you know," she ventured, "maybe he isn't a regular baron, after all?"

"Oh, I guess he's a regular one all right," said Percival; "only perhaps he hasn't worked at it much lately."

"But his attire there was in that—that shirt," said his sister.

"My dear young woman, even the nobility are prey to climatic rigors; they are obliged, like the wretched low-born such as ourselves, to wear pardon me—undergarments. Again, I understand from Mrs. Cadwallader here that the article in question was satisfactory and fit—red, I believe you say, Mr. Terwilliger."

"Awful red," said his mother—"and they call their parlor a salon."

"And of necessity, even the noble have their moments of deshabille."

"They needn't eat their lunch that way," declared his sister.

"Is deshabille French for underclothes?" asked Mrs. Bines, struck by the word.

"Fartily," answered her son.

"And that shirt of old of Philippe's jabbered French! It's wonderful how they can learn so young."

"They begin early, you know," Percival explained. "And as to our friend the baron, I'm going to make bold that he did not see him again, except at a distance."

Some time afterward he computed the round sum he might have won if any such man had been made; for his list of suitors, to adopt his own eloquent phrase, was thereafter "ah, a baron."

CHAPTER XIV.
THE SUMMER CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED.

Winter waxes and spring charmed the land into blossom. The city-pent, as we have intimated, must take this season largely on faith. If one can find a patch of ground naked of stone or asphalt, one may find the heat of the heat. But even now the shop windows are more inspiring. At least they copy the outer show. Tender-bud shirt-waists first push up their aprons, and then, for the first time, their waists and waists, quite as the first violets out in the woodland thrust themselves up through the brown carpet of leaves. Then every window becomes a summer scene of lawn, lake, and children, more lavish of tints, shades and combinations, indeed, than ever nature dared to be.

Outside, where the unspotted earth affords the blossoms are clouded the dress with a mist of pink and white, and the city dweller knows it from the bloom and foliage of these same windows.

Then it is that the spring "get away" urge is felt by each prisoner, by those who like to obey it, and by those, alike, who must wear it down in the groomed and sophisticated wilderness of the city.

On a morning late in May Mrs. Bines and her daughter were at breakfast.

"Isn't Percival coming?" asked his mother. "Everything will be cold."

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Monsieur le Baron wishes to retire to his apartment," said Philippe, raising the ironing-board, as "Will madame be so good as to enter our petit salon at the front, n'est-ce pas?"

The baron stepped forth from his corner and bowed himself graciously out.

"Madame, my compliments—and to the adorable Mlle. Bines! An revoir, madame—to the sometime-avant peu—before little!"

On the farther side of his closed door Baron Renault de Pallac awaited once. But the oath was one of the most awful that a Frenchman may utter in his native tongue: "Sacred Name of a Name!"

"But the baron can't do anything," protested Mrs. Bines.

"Ah, yes, madame!" replied Philippe. "Monsieur le Baron has consumed enough for now. Paul, mon enfant, ne touche pas la robe de madame. Ne l'argue, he is not, madame, as I have told you? A monster, yes?"

Mrs. Bines, stooping, took the limp white-starched handkerchief in her whereupon he began to talk so fast to her in French that she set him quickly down again, with the slightly helpless air of one who had picked up an innocent-looking clock only to have the clanging alarm go soundly off.

"Madame will honor our little salon," urged Philippe, opening the door and bowing low.

"Quel dommage!" sighed Celine, moving after him. "La seule chemise blanche de Monsieur le Baron. Eh bien! il faut lui en acheter une autre!"

At dinner that evening Mrs. Bines related her adventure, to the unfeigned delight of her graceless son, and to the somewhat troubled amazement of her daughter.

"And, do you know," she ventured, "maybe he isn't a regular baron, after all?"

"Oh, I guess he's a regular one all right," said Percival; "only perhaps he hasn't worked at it much lately."

"But his attire there was in that—that shirt," said his sister.

"My dear young woman, even the nobility are prey to climatic rigors; they are obliged, like the wretched low-born such as ourselves, to wear pardon me—undergarments. Again, I understand from Mrs. Cadwallader here that the article in question was satisfactory and fit—red, I believe you say, Mr. Terwilliger."

"Awful red," said his mother—"and they call their parlor a salon."

"And of necessity, even the noble have their moments of deshabille."

"They needn't eat their lunch that way," declared his sister.

"Is deshabille French for underclothes?" asked Mrs. Bines, struck by the word.

"Fartily," answered her son.

"And that shirt of old of Philippe's jabbered French! It's wonderful how they can learn so young."

"They begin early, you know," Percival explained. "And as to our friend the baron, I'm going to make bold that he did not see him again, except at a distance."

Some time afterward he computed the round sum he might have won if any such man had been made; for his list of suitors, to adopt his own eloquent phrase, was thereafter "ah, a baron."

CHAPTER XIV.
THE SUMMER CAMPAIGN IS PLANNED.

Winter waxes and spring charmed the land into blossom. The city-pent, as we have intimated, must take this season largely on faith. If one can find a patch of ground naked of stone or asphalt, one may find the heat of the heat. But even now the shop windows are more inspiring. At least they copy the outer show. Tender-bud shirt-waists first push up their aprons, and then, for the first time, their waists and waists, quite as the first violets out in the woodland thrust themselves up through the brown carpet of leaves. Then every window becomes a summer scene of lawn, lake, and children, more lavish of tints, shades and combinations, indeed, than ever nature dared to be.

Outside, where the unspotted earth affords the blossoms are clouded the dress with a mist of pink and white, and the city dweller knows it from the bloom and foliage of these same windows.

Then it is that the spring "get away" urge is felt by each prisoner, by those who like to obey it, and by those, alike, who must wear it down in the groomed and sophisticated wilderness of the city.

On a morning late in May Mrs. Bines and her daughter were at breakfast.

"Isn't Percival coming?" asked his mother. "Everything will be cold."

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Ah! madame, I am glad, handsome for you see me here, I have envy of the simple life. I am content of to do it—à la mode—as that you see you," waving in the direction of his unfinished repast. "All that magnificence of your grand hotel, there is not the why of it, the most big of the world, and such stupor, but of its 'infernal racket' as you say. And of more—what droll of ideas, enough curious, by example to dwell with the good Philippe and his femme amiable. Their heads of the most little, but I rest here very voluntarily since long time. Is it that one can to comprehend liking the vast hotel American?"

"Monsieur le Baron lodges with us; we have so much of the chambers," ventured Celine.

"Monsieur le Baron wishes to retire to his apartment," said Philippe, raising the ironing-board, as "Will madame be so good as to enter our petit salon at the front, n'est-ce pas?"

The baron stepped forth from his corner and bowed himself graciously out.

"Madame, my compliments—and to the adorable Mlle. Bines! An revoir, madame—to the sometime-avant peu—before little!"

On the farther side of his closed door Baron Renault de Pallac awaited once. But the oath was one of the most awful that a Frenchman may utter in his native tongue: "Sacred Name of a Name!"

"But the baron can't do anything," protested Mrs. Bines.

"Ah, yes, madame!" replied Philippe. "Monsieur le Baron has consumed enough for now. Paul, mon enfant, ne touche pas la robe de madame. Ne l'argue, he is not, madame, as I have told you? A monster, yes?"

Mrs. Bines, stooping, took the limp white-starched handkerchief in her whereupon he began to talk so fast to her in French that she set him quickly down again, with the slightly helpless air of one who had picked up an innocent-looking clock only to have the clanging alarm go soundly off.

THE REVIEW

Entered as Second-Class Matter.

W. T. LAMLEY, Editor and Publisher.

Friday, August 24, 1906

PALATINE LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Fenton returned home the first of the week from a visit with their grand-daughter in Chicago.

W. C. Williams, Sr., has returned home from his Eastern trip. It has been years since he visited these familiar places. In some ways they were not familiar owing to so many changes.

A ball game Sunday scored another victory for Palatine. The Merchants Loan and Trust band was defeated by a score of 10 to 3.

G. H. Arps attended the Agent's Meeting in Chicago Tuesday. Messrs. Cairns and Taylor addressed the agents and gave suggestions in their line of work.

Barrington Locals.

Mrs. Charles Lytle visited a few days in Chicago this week.

Miss Nancy Jenks is enjoying a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sears have returned home after a trip East.

Mrs. E. M. Fletcher returned home Sunday after a visit at Sharon, Wis.

Roy Colten returned home today after an extended visit in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Ann Donlea is confined to the house with an attack of a facial disorder.

E. R. Clark of Colorado Springs, Colo., attended the funeral of Mr. Silas Robertson Sunday.

Premium lists of the McHenry County Fair may be had at THE REVIEW office or by addressing the secretary, Geo. A. Hunt, Woodstock, Ill.

Look out for the big doll in our window next week. If you win it you will need a wagon to get it home.

BARRINGTON-PHARMACY.

Miss Mabel Jones, who has been visiting with friends at Warren, Ill., will arrive home Monday.

Mrs. P. Packleman and daughter returned home the first of the week after spending a few months in Wisconsin.

A hay-rick filled with young folks that are camping at Lake Zurich enjoyed a trip down here Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kampert and daughter Esther and R. D. Wells took a trip to South Haven Thursday.

Mrs. Burkitt of Michigan, formerly of this place, visited with her sister, Mrs. Sanford Peck this week.

Miss Polly Clinge recently gave up her position at the laundry after seven years' service there.

P. A. Hawley and wife and Wm. Peters and wife took a lake trip Wednesday.

Mrs. Gates of Elgin has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. S. Seebert, for a week. Her son, Father Gates of the Mercy hospital, Chicago, spent Wednesday here.

Miss Cora Peterson of Austin spent a few days here the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kiehle of Chicago visited Wednesday with Mrs. Kiehle's sister, Mrs. John Westphal.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Weinschenk and family of Chicago are guests of Lake Zurich and Palatine friends.

Mrs. Bartholomae and Miss Froda Tink of Austin spent a few days at the home of her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Plagge and other relatives.

Elmer Robertson of Carlisle, Ark., attended the funeral of his brother, Silas, Sunday. Mr. Robertson was accompanied by Lloyd, a son of the deceased.

Henry Rohlmeier, who lives on South Hawley street, has been seriously ill for ten days, but is reported to be a trifle better today.

Mrs. Ward of St. Charles returned home Monday, after visiting three weeks with her sister, Mrs. Ann Donlea.

FOR SALE.—A rubber-tired Studebaker trap. Can be used as single or double rig. With top. No reasonable offer refused. Apply to

WELCH'S MARKING.

The funeral of Alderman Silas Robertson was held from the residence at 10 o'clock last Sunday. Rev. T. T. Phelps of the Baptist church officiating. A large number of out-of-town friends of the deceased attended, and the floral offerings were many and beautiful. The funeral was in charge of the Odd Fellows, and the Rebekahs also attended in a body, as well as the city officials and business men, all of whom loved and respected Mr. Robertson. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery.

A persistent report is current in real estate circles that the plans of the Northwestern road contemplate the establishment of a new suburban station at State street. This is said to explain the quiet purchase of property on the north side of the river by the road, and the purpose of the move is said to be to bring the patrons of the road nearer to the center of the city. A similar report was current three or four months ago, but there is a general disposition to discredit it, for the reason that it is believed the road will consolidate its suburban with its general passenger business in its proposed new depot in Madison street.

A Mystery Solved.

"How to keep off periodic attacks of biliousness and habitual constipation was a mystery that Dr. King's New Life Pills solved for me," writes John N. Pleasant, Magnolia, Ind. The only pills that are guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to everybody or money refunded. Only 25c at Barrington Pharmacy.

Cut Canada Thistles.

This is the time of year you should cut Canada thistles, if any are found on your property. If you do not attend to this matter yourself I am obliged to do so, and the costs will be assessed against the property.

E. W. RILEY,
Thistle Commissioner.

Do you want Hay?

If you do, now is your chance. I have for sale sixty tons of choice timothy hay which was cut in season and put up without rain.

A. W. LANDWEBER,
Barrington, Ill.

Subscribe for THE REVIEW.

Queen Victoria of Spain.

Something more than a mere love match, interesting solely because it is a real kind of the place in this practical age, is the alliance of the royal houses of Spain and England in the estimation of the London Outlook. This authority thinks that the new queen may be fated to do a service for England worthy of the granddaughter and namesake of the great Victoria. Says the Outlook:

To link the friendship of Spain and England is henceforward the task of our royal ambassadors, and it is earnestly to be hoped that real success will attend efforts conducted so much to British interests. There may be those in this country who are loath to place a low value on the friendship of Spain, but no them: Nothing could be more mischievous than to estimate Spain's whole power by the dross she can bring to our alliance. Granting that in this arena, men, ships, finances and prestige is at the highest rank, the equation does not end here. Spain has her geographic conditions, the assets which almost inevitably prove of surpassing value to a friend. There is no country in the world, farther more, whose interests clash less with ours. Nor would the advantages of a mutual understanding be limited to the actual resources of the country. The Spain of tomorrow will, it is probable, be very different from the Spain of today. The Spaniards are not a disgraced and coward people suddenly ascending in their fall; they are a race of extraordinary potentialities. In the mass they may dash into the sea as madly as the Spanish steamers burst from cold indifference into fervid eloquence. From Texas to Cape Horn the empire of republics still maintains a constant interchange of thought with the peninsula. Upon this field what might not be the influence of a re-awakened Spain? The question is at least worth noting that there is a definite probability of that influence taking an English tinge.

When an air of purest romance has been given to this whole proceeding of marrying a girl of eighteen to a youth of twenty, it is for all that quite probable that the English crown has been as farjighted as the editor of the Outlook. It has been declared that the Princess Ena only consented to become the spouse of King Alfonso because King Edward, after the manner of other jealous monarchs we read about, insisted that she give up her English lover and renounce her religion in order to unite the houses of England and Spain. The view that ideas from the Spanish peninsula may ultimately dominate the Spanish communities of South America is not new, and if Queen Victoria gives them "an English tinge," as the Outlook suggests, this country will be between two powerful centers of British influence, Anglo-Spanish South America and British North America. If this Victoria holds the stage as long as did her grandmother she may see some things happen this side the world that no prophet dreams of now.

Torturing Witaness.

The tortuous procedure of the New York police authorities in the effort to force the aged mother of a woman recently murdered in the suburbs to reveal her secrets is repugnant not only to the spirit of the laws of the state, but to the whole American people. The foundation of our criminal jurisprudence is that a suspect is supposed to be innocent until proved guilty and that no one shall be compelled to incriminate himself.

In the case of Mrs. Steuton, whose daughter was murdered at her own door, the police for hours subjected her to torture in order to make her say something that would reveal her own complicity or guilty knowledge in the matter. In other words, they tried for hours by browbeating and trickery to get the old woman to do the very thing which the law expressly declares she must not be made to do—that is, incriminate herself. Fortunately a trial court has power to exclude evidence of guilt illegally secured, but our laws should either define the limits of torture or fix the methods by which it shall be applied.

The deck of the old flagship Niagara, on which Perry wrote that immortal phrase, "We have met the enemy, and they are ours," lies half buried in sand on the shore of Misery bay. Twenty thousand dollars, it is estimated, will insure the preservation of this noble relic for all time, a small sum for so glorious a purpose, as things go in these days.

John Burns, promoted workman, who is after bad food in England, says that canned meat is responsible for the infant mortality in London. Perhaps he was reported wrong in the dispatches and really said canned milk, the stuff which thousands of city children are fed to death on.

Very Low Rates to Boise City, Idaho, Via the North-Western Line. Excursion tickets will be sold August 30, 31, and September 1, with favorable return limits on account of National Irrigation Congress. Apply to agents Chicago and North-Western Railway.

Gwendolyn Waltzes.

By Pieta Del Hartley. Very pretty and catchy. Elegant for concert use. Five pages. Price 25c. Also "Chromatic Two-Step and March," "St. George Commandery March," "Old Fellows Grand March." 25c each. Three for 50c each. In two-cent stamps when ordered from Isaac Doles, publisher, Indianapolis, Ind.

For Sale.

Corn and oats. Corn, 50 cents a bushel; oats, 30 cents a bushel for the best quality. JOHN BALMER, Cuba, Ill. R.F.D. Barrington Route No. 1.

Lincoln's Mule "Train."

Things are changed of course since 1862, and it is not to be expected that the presidents of the United States shall now get around the country as did Lincoln on one of the most important of his official journeys. The preliminary proclamation of emancipation was issued Sept. 22, 1862, just three days after the close of the battle of Antietam and one day after Lincoln's memorable visit to the battlefield to see how the work had been done. The president had vowed some weeks previously that as soon as the army gained some substantial advantage he would issue the proclamation. The battle of Antietam ended with the retreat of Lee's army from Maryland back to Virginia on the 19th of September. On the 21st Lincoln appeared on the field, having traveled from the railway station, some miles distant, in an old farm carriage drawn by a pair of mules.

This little journey of the president was one of his own appointing and not done to please the people of the region visited, but nevertheless lots of the farmer folk of all ages and conditions dug themselves out of their cellars and caves when the news went round that "Old Abe" was in McClellan's camp. The men and women shook the president's hands and brought their children and babes to get a look at him. Then he turned to the army and the business in hand, getting points for the act which will live as long as history. The trip had been taken on impulse when news of Lee's retreat from Maryland reached the White House by wire. The single railway running out of Washington was clogged with military trains, and one of these Lincoln boarded. When he reached the point of debarcation the only conveyance to be found was a rickety farmer's carriage to which was hitched a pair of mules taken from the army baggage train. A truly simple outfit for a mighty occasion.

Coming Into Uncle Sam's Family. July 4, 1907, if all goes well, the forty-sixth star may be added to the flag of the Union, for by that time, and possibly a little earlier, the president will have proclaimed Oklahoma a state. It is best to go slow in organizing a new state out of territories which have enjoyed a certain degree of political independence.

The first step for the formation of a state out of the territories of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory is the appointment into election districts. When the appointment is done the proper officials must order an election of delegates to a convention, which will adopt the United States constitution and also prepare a state constitution, to be submitted to the people for ratification or rejection. State officers will be elected at the same time with the vote on the state constitution. The state constitution must conform to the United States constitution and in the case of Oklahoma must also contain certain special provisions called for by the enabling act. When the election canvassers have certified the results, the president, if the law has been complied with, will proclaim the election, and thereupon the proposed state of Oklahoma shall be deemed admitted to the Union on an equal footing with the original states.

The citizens of the new state will be found to need little schooling in political affairs. The whites, as a rule, were originally citizens of organized states, accustomed to political duties. Many of the Indian tribal leaders are men of ability and will doubtless rise to importance in the state councils.

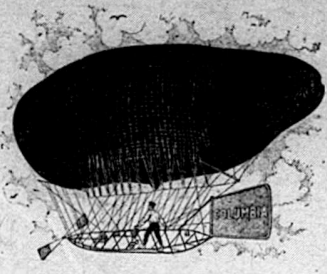

A college which teaches novel reading has existed at Backworth, a mining center in England, for four years with such good results that the London Chronicle thinks the idea should be extended. The paper's suggestion that there be established professorships of novel reading shows the trend of the movement, which was started on the basis of a union.

Anyway, food product which the hen packs in her little white cans needs no government inspector or label to tell when it is below the standard of usefulness as an article of diet. Even the small boy gets wise to the fact and delights in spreading broadcast the wisdom along with the rest of it.

General Corbin told the graduating cadets at West Point that for the next five years they would receive as foot officers $3.50 a day, the modest officers getting $4.17. This is about $2 a day less than the average bricklayer receives. However, the bricklayer doesn't stand any chance of glory.

The attempt to popularize the American play "The Old Homestead," which recently brought down the house with Jers in England, by adapting it to the coast of Cornwall was about as sensible as trying to graft the Declaration of Independence on the English social system.

Dr. Erastus Holt has decided that a laborer who has reached the age of seventy years is worth but $11.18. In his younger days the doctor must have been employed in marking down shop worn goods.

BODKIN'S

Mammoth Air Ship

"COLUMBIA"

WILL FLY AT THE

McHenry County Fair

WHICH WILL BE HELD AT

WOODSTOCK, ILLINOIS,

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday,

Thursday and Friday,

August 27th to 31st, 1906.

CAPTAIN MATTERLY, Expert Aeronaut and Navigator

Will attempt the daring feat to the amazement of the multitudes who attend. He is an experienced aviator, and this novelty of these days of wonderful advancement in aerial navigation should prove a pleasing attraction to the thousands of interested visitors.

Band Concerts given every day during the Fair. Exciting

Speed Contests, Automobile Parade and Races, Live Stock Parades, Athletics and Acrobatic Events and many other novel attractions. THIS YEAR'S FAIR will surpass all other previous Exhibitions.

Wm. DESMOND,

President.

GEO. A. HUNT,

Secretary

SHAME ON YOU

If you let your women folk sizzle over a coal range or wood stove these hot summer days.

We will connect free

Your gas range or water heater if you will put in your application for service and meter.

NOW IT'S UP TO YOU

Northwestern Gas Light & Coke Co.

EVANSTON, ILL.

McAVOY'S MALT MARROW

FOR SALE BY THE BOTTLE OR DOZEN

BY

GEO. FOREMAN
BARRINGTON, ILL.

The Lake County Fair.

Libertyville, Sept. 4-5-6-7.

Racing Events with $3350.00 in Purses. - $150.00 Purse for Ball Games.

BALLOON ASCENSION

With Parachute Drop Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Afternoons.

The association has purchased three and a-half acres additional ground and is erecting new buildings and providing accommodations such as heretofore been impossible.

The Best Half Mile Track in Illinois, and this year will be Witnessed the Best Racing Events Ever Started at the Track

Special arrangements with the Electric and Steam Roads have been made for adequate transportation facilities. There will be Special Rates during Fair Week.

Convention at Springfield Adopts Declaration of Principles—Favors Policy of Protection of American Industries—Cannon Strongly Recommended for President.

A daily newspaper for women is now published in Peking, and has awakened a widespread desire on the part of Chinese women to learn to read. It is called the Peking Woman's Journal, and is the outcome of the intellectual awakening that followed the Boxer uprising and the occupation of the country by the allies.

in the attempt to assimilate western learning which followed these troubles, the leaders of the nation realized that their women must be educated, and the paper was one of the means adopted to this end. Paragraphs against foot binding appear frequently in the paper, and among the subjects of recent articles are "Evils of Obtaining Evidence by Torture," "Proof That the World is Round," "Proof That the World Moves," "Cure of Children," "Kindness to Animals," "Evils of Opium Taking."

"Although we started to make it, we all felt sure we would be sick if we missed our strong coffee, but we were forced to try Postum and were surprised to find it delicious. "We read the statements on the pkg. got more and in a month and a half I sure wouldn't have known us. We were all able to digest our food without any trouble, each one's skin became clear, tongues cleaned off and nerves in fine condition. We never use anything now but Postum. There is nothing like it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book "The Road to Republican Legislation Denounced by the State Convention—Tariff Reform Demanded—Favor William Jennings Bryan for President.

HAD HEARD PAPA SAY IT.

Toby's Somewhat Unconventional Remark at Party.

When nine-year-old Toby went to his first unchaperoned party he was given minute instructions upon his behavior. For one thing, he was not to help himself to anything more than twice, and—well, if at any time he should feel at a loss as to the correct thing for small guests to do, he was just to think of dear papa and do as he thought he would under the same circumstances. So Toby departed and returned.

To a fondly questioning mamma he reported that all had gone quite as she would have it. He had helped himself to cake only twice, and when a pretty temptress had passed it to him for a third time—though he wanted a piece "awfully"—he had remembered mamma's warning, had thought of dear papa, and had remarked emphatically: "Damn it, no!"

DAIRYMEN

Let us send you Free Book and Illustrated Map of the BIG RED CLOVER COUNTRY, located midway between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior. Showing its best farms, dairies, etc. Farmer's Land & Cattle Co., St. Paul, Minn.

CATTLE

Wild and improved land for sale in quarter, half and full section blocks, in the Custer National Forest, Valley at reasonable prices and on easy terms. Now is the time to locate and secure a home in the best wheat country in the west, where the crop averages from 30 to 40 bushels to the acre. Homesteads located. For particulars address, J. H. H. Co., St. Paul, Minn.

STONE & CO., Regina, Sask., Can. P. O. BOX 412

CAPTURE CUBAN CITY

REBEL BANDS ATTACK TOWN IN PINAR DEL RIO PROVINCE.

BELITTLES THE UPRISING

Commander of Rural Guard Says He Has Enough Men to Suppress the Rebellious Elements Now on the Island.

Havana.—The insurgents in the province of Pinar del Rio captured their first city there Wednesday. At nine o'clock in the morning the forces led by Pico Guerra, an ex-congressman and an influential man, who was thought to be many miles eastward, and sundry other insurgent bands attacked San Luis, which is situated on the railroad, about ten miles west of Pinar del Rio City. A sharp and decisive engagement followed during which a number of men were killed or wounded. The town was defended by less than 100 rural guards, 50 of whom surrendered to the insurgents and were held as prisoners. The insurgent forces are in possession of the railroad station and of the town, which is resuming its normal condition. By the capture of San Luis, which has about 10,000 inhabitants, the insurgents have obtained an important base for future operations.

Gen. Rodriguez, commander of the rural guard Wednesday, after relating the incidents of the day, said: "You can tell the American people that Cuba is entirely competent to cope with the insurrection. The flood of rumors in all directions about the organization of insurrectionary bands in great numbers are not borne out by our reports, or so far as can be learned, by the facts."

"The much talked of movement in Santa Clara province has not been encountered, and no insurrectionists have been seen there by our troops. "We have today equipped and sent out in various directions 300 volunteers under competent officers. We have plenty of rifles and ammunition for all who enlist at present and more has been ordered from the United States. We believe the loyal people are taking up arms for the government faster than the insurgents are increasing."

AMERICAN NETS ARE DESTROYED

Fishermen Complain of Action of Canadian Cruiser in Lake Erie.

Washington.—Capt. Ross, chief of the revenue cutter service of the treasury department, Wednesday reported to Acting Secretary Murray of the department of commerce and labor, that he had received advice that the Canadian cruiser Vigilant was destroying the nets of American fishermen in Lake Erie.

The reports of the fishermen indicate that the nets were set well within American waters.

Complaints were filed by the fishermen with the American authorities. The matter will be reported to the state department and probably will constitute the subject of an exchange between the American and Canadian governments.

STUDIES FARMING IN AMERICA

South African Agent Will Report on Agricultural Conditions.

Washington.—William MacDonald, a representative of the agricultural department of the Transvaal, South Africa, called on Acting Secretary Hays of the agricultural department, Wednesday.

Mr. MacDonald is traveling through this country studying agricultural conditions and methods. He will spend several weeks in the United States.

He will submit to his government an elaborate report of his observations, with recommendations as may be suggested by the agricultural conditions of America.

MORE THAN MONEY.

Hold-up Men Fall in Purpose.

Duluth, Minn.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to hold up a gang of laborers on the Northern Pacific train which left Duluth at eight o'clock Tuesday night. Before the train reached Brainerd two men drew revolvers and attempted to make the laborers give up their money. They were attacked by Conductor O'Brien, who was assisted by some of the passengers.

Death of Hanna's Brother-in-Law.

Cleveland, O.—Jay C. Moppe, at one time president of the Illinois Steel company and brother-in-law of the late Senator M. A. Hanna, died here Wednesday of a complication of diseases. Mr. Moppe was associated with the late Col. C. M. Pickands in an immense iron ore and coal business, and he amassed a large fortune.

To Unveil McKinley Monument.

Cincinnati—Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wife of Congressman Longworth and daughter of President Roosevelt, accepted an invitation to unveil the monument to William McKinley at Columbus, O., September 14.

Brokers Quit Business.

New York.—M. J. Sage & Co., brokers of No. 1 Montgomery street, Jersey City, and No. 37 Broadway, this city, Wednesday posted a notice at their Jersey City office that they had discontinued business.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20th.—A determined effort will be made at the next session of congress to prevent another appropriation for the free distribution of common garden seeds. Congress now expends $142,000 a year in giving away the commonest varieties of peas, beans, turnips, squashes and pumpkin seeds. They are divided into 40,000,000 packets so that the packets cost about half a cent each. But as a large part of the appropriation is expended in clerical hire, packing the seed, etc., the actual value of the seed in a packet is much less than half a cent. These packets are put up in packages of five packets, the total cost of the packages being about two cents each; and they are purchasable anywhere at five cents. Each member of congress gets 12,000 such packages, which he distributes to the voters of his district.

The farmers say that these packages contain so little seed as to be of no value to them, while the total appropriation, if expended in sending out really good seed, would be of great value in maintaining a national agricultural college, or divided among the state agricultural colleges, would be of immense value to the farming interests. They threaten to protest against the waste of public money. The seedsmen claim that as congress has already expended $5,000,000 in giving away turnip and watermelon seed, it is time it should give away seeds of peas and beans and give the seed a rest. Those who believe that congress should cut off this perquisite of its members now used for political purposes, are setting their senators and representatives, urging them to abolish the free seed distribution, and the National Grange, many state and local granges, horticultural, agricultural and other societies are adopting resolutions condemning it. Mr. William Wolf Smith, of Washington, D. C., has been selected to represent the opposition to the congressional free seed distribution, and is personally answering all inquiries concerning the same.

PUTTING IT RATHER ROUGHLY.

Leading Question Asked of Methodical Writer.

There is a certain writer in Boston—a man of remarkable versatility—who once gave a friend in the publishing business in New York a resume of the details of his average day's work.

"I am as methodical in my work," said the Boston writer, "as any business man. My daily tasks are so diversified and so arranged that I am able to afford myself considerable variety during the 12 hours per diem that I employ in authorship. For instance, from eight in the morning to ten I do my verse; from ten to 12 my criticisms; from three to five I am engaged upon a history of the world intended for perusal by children." And so he continued to give his visitor the whole scheme. When he had concluded the day's work, he was exceedingly blunt individual, rather unkindly inclined:

"And when, sir, do you think?"

GAS USED UNDER LIME KILNS.

Innovation by Connecticut Company Is a Success.

The New England Lime company, of Winsted, Conn., asserts that it is the first to introduce gas as fuel for lime burning. The method is pronounced an entire success. The growing scarcity of wood fuel led to the discovery of gas as a substitute for wood, and the company no longer considers the gas method an experiment. The efficacy and reliability of gas have been demonstrated beyond a doubt. Had it been impossible to find a substitute for wood, said a member of the company, it would have meant the restriction and perhaps the total abandonment of the business. Gas fires are absolutely clean at all times. The daily output of the company's kilns is increased from 80 barrels per kiln to 100 barrels, or a total of 700 barrels daily.

A Minister Talks About Grape-Nuts.

"My first stomach trouble began back in 1881," writes a minister in Nebraska, "resulting from hearty eating and eating too much. I found no relief from medicine and grew so bad that all food gave me great distress. "It was that sore, gnawing, hungry feeling in my stomach that was so distressing and I became a sick man. Grape-Nuts was recommended as a food that could be easily digested. "Leaving the old diet that had given me so much trouble, I began to eat Grape-Nuts with a little cream and sugar. The change effected in 24 hours was truly remarkable, and in a few weeks I was back to health again. "My work as a minister calls me away from home a great deal, and recently I drifted back to fat meat and indigestible foods, which put me again on the sick list. "So I went back to Grape-Nuts and cream. And in four days I was put right again. The old dull headaches are gone, stomach comfortable, head clear, and it is a delight to pursue my studies and work."

"Grape-Nuts food is worth more than money to me, and I hope this may induce some sufferer to follow the same course I have."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

COULD NOT KEEP UP.

Broken Down, Like Many Another Woman, with Exhausting Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. A. Taylor, of Wharton, N. J., says: "I had kidney trouble in its most painful and severe form, and the torture I went through now seems to have been almost unbearable. I had back-ache, pains in the side and loins, dizzy spells and hot, feverish flashes. There were bearing-down pains, and the kidney secretions passed too frequently, and with a burning sensation. They showed no improvement. I became discouraged, weak, languid and depressed, so sick and weak that I could not keep up. As doctors did not cure me I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and with such success that my troubles were all gone after using eight boxes, and my strength, ambition and general health is fine."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Butler's Stolen Fee.

The late Hon. Joseph Q. Hoyt, formerly of Boston, when he had attended a circus and his silver watch was stolen. The supposed thief was arrested, and was defended by Benjamin F. Butler, who proved he did not take the watch, and never was at the circus.

During the civil war Hoyt was introduced to Butler at a dinner at the Astor house, in New York, and the latter remarked: "This is the first time I have had the pleasure of meeting you."

"Oh, no," said Hoyt, who then related the circus incident.

"What you Hoyt?" asked Butler, and, being answered in the affirmative, Butler laughed and said: "That was an awful good watch, Hoyt. That is all I got for defending the thief."

"A Remarkable Trip."

Would you like to take a trip through the mountains by steamer? It sounds peculiar, does it not? Of course you have often read of traversing streams through mountains by means of a birch-bark canoe, or probably by a flat-bottomed boat of very limited dimensions. But to take a trip through the mountains in a big, comfortable, up-to-date steamer is an entirely different proposition.

If you have a desire for such a trip it is not necessary for you to go farther than the Province of Quebec, within that province is the Saguenay, running through the Laurentian Mountains, and navigated by the fine, large steamers of the Richelieu and Saguenay companies. It is now believed that this river was formed by a cleft in the Laurentian Mountains, caused probably by a gigantic earthquake. It certainly must have been all that could be desired in the way of earthquakes, for the Saguenay River is so deep that in many places it is impossible to find bottom. Nature must have been in a very fanciful mood when she created the Saguenay, for this magnificent river embraces all the scenic grandeur for which one could possibly wish.

For illustrated Guide, "Niagara to the Sea," send 6 cents. Postage free. Thos. Henry, Traffic Manager, Richelieu & Saguenay Navigation Co., Montreal, Can.

Another Dig at Powers.

A few days ago Gov. Cobb, of Maine, and Hon. W. R. Pattangall, prominent in politics in the same state, were together on a train. Mr. Pattangall is lawyer and an editor, the writer of the humorous "Muddy bumps Letters" appearing in his paper, the Machias Union.

In the course of conversation, Gov. Cobb remarked to Mr. Pattangall: "I don't see why you and Lowell Powers should be so extremely antagonistic to each other. Neither of you ever falls to give the other a rap when there is opportunity."

At this point an interested listener in the car leaned toward their chairs and asked: "Is it really true that ex-Gov. Powers is of Indian descent?" "Well, the Indians deny it," Mr. Pattangall answered, in his inimitable manner.

DOCTOR CURED OF ECZEMA.

Maryland Physician Cures Himself—Dr. Fisher Says: "Cuticura Remedies Possess True Merit."

"My face was afflicted with eczema in the year 1897. I used the Cuticura Remedies, and was entirely cured. I am a practicing physician, and very often prescribe Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Soap in cases of eczema, and they have cured where other formulas have failed. I am not in the habit of endorsing patent medicines, but when I find remedies possessing true merit, such as the Cuticura Remedies, I am broad-minded enough to proclaim their virtues to the world. I have been practicing medicine for sixteen years, and must say I find your Remedies A No. 1. You are at liberty to publish this letter. O. N. Fisher, M. D., Big Pond, Md., May 24, 1905."

After a man has tackled three or four enterprises and failed to succeed in any of them, he usually sets himself up as a pessimist.

Lewis' Single Binder straight 5c. Many smokers prefer them to 10c cigars. Your dealer or Lewis' Factory, Florida, Ill.

The school of experience is open 24 hours each day.

POTNAM FADELESS DYES color

more brightly, brighter colors, with less work than others.

When the average man does you a favor he never lets you forget it.

Mrs. Wheeler's Soothing Syrup. For children teething, cures croup, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures whooping cough, cures colic. Be a bottle.

A man never realizes the goodness of his neighbors until he is sick.

Lewis' Single Binder straight 5c. Made of rich, mellow tobacco. Your dealer or Lewis' Factory, Florida, Ill.

Even at this stage of the game there are men who deny that George Washington ever owned a hatchet.

Superb Service, Splendid Scenery en route to Niagara Falls, Muskoka and Kawartha Lakes, Georgian Bay and Temagami Region, St. Lawrence River and Rapids, Thousand Islands, Algonquin National Park, White Mountains and Atlantic Seaside resorts, via Grand Trunk Railway System. Don't track Chicago to Montreal and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

For copies of tourist publications and descriptive pamphlets apply to Geo. W. Vaux, A. G. P. & T. A., 115 Adams St., Chicago.

Rice Eaters.

In China and its dependencies, with a population of 400,000,000, or 75 per cent. of the total population of the world, rice is the principal food supply. The same may be said also of India, with its population of 275,000,000, and Japan, with its 40,000,000. In addition to these it is a chief article of diet with other peoples of Asia and Africa, whose population is estimated at 100,000,000. The total reaches 815,000,000, or 80 per cent. of the total population of the earth.—Boston Globe.

How Emperor William is Battling Against a Dangerous Heredity.

Emperor William's father died of cancer of the throat. Emperor William himself had infantile paralysis, and has had to struggle with many infirmities. It has been whispered that he himself is troubled with the same malady which carried off his father. Royal blood is unfortunately most generally deteriorated blood. Emperor William knows this as well as anybody, and is doing his best to eradicate the bad blood from himself and his family by the adoption of simple life principles.

Through the visit of a countryman of his to Battle Creek, Michigan, while in the country, he learned of the health of a man in 1882, Emperor William became acquainted with the Battle Creek idea of simple living and has to a large extent adopted the methods in his family. His wife and children live the simple life and take Battle Creek light baths. Their uncle, King Edward, also has these baths installed in his Windsor and Buckingham Palaces for the use of himself and Queen Alexandra.

Among other things GOOD HEALTH, the oldest health journal in the world, tells about Battle Creek idea and its simple life. Every number is brimful of up-to-date ideas. Sample copy 10 cents. One dollar a year.

If you will cut this out and send to GOOD HEALTH PUBLISHING CO., Battle Creek, Mich., with your name you will receive a trial three months' subscription to this handsome illustrated monthly health magazine. Write today.

Striking Advice.

Mrs. Anzions (mother of two marriageable daughters)—Really, I don't know whether to send Grace and Ethel to the seashore or the mountains this summer. What do you advise? Mrs. Knowling—Well, I would advise Sulphur Springs for a change. "Sulphur, you know, is one of the principal requisites in matchmaking."

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children
Boars The Signature Of Use For Over Thirty Years
The Kind You Have Always Bought
THE CASTORIA COMPANY, 17 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE PASSES NEW RULE.

This rule permits as to money orders, on either a new or old basis, to be cashed at the board of trade. It also permits as to money orders, on either a new or old basis, to be cashed at the board of trade. It also permits as to money orders, on either a new or old basis, to be cashed at the board of trade.

SICK HEADACHE

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. Positively cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve troubles from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Heartily Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Headaches, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. Regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable. SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

Young Men Wanted FOR THE NAVY

Refuse substitutes. Gemino Must Bear Face-Simile Signature.

Call or write NAVY RECRUITING STATION, Post Office Building, Chicago, Ill.

DO YOU WANT A JOB?

Structural steel and iron work of all kinds. Estimates and specifications. Plans and drawings. Estimates and specifications. Plans and drawings. Estimates and specifications. Plans and drawings.

60 BUS. Winter Weather Per Acre

Send in stamps for free sample of same as shown on page 10. Send in stamps for free sample of same as shown on page 10. Send in stamps for free sample of same as shown on page 10.

SALESMEN WANTED.

We want live, active and thoroughly experienced men to sell our new and improved... Send in stamps for free sample of same as shown on page 10.

PORTRAITS AND FRAMES

Send in stamps for free sample of same as shown on page 10. Send in stamps for free sample of same as shown on page 10. Send in stamps for free sample of same as shown on page 10.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies; those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting harshly, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome California blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character. There are two classes of purchasers; those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy. To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and in order to buy the genuine article and to get its beneficial effects, one has only to note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package. Price, 50c. per bottle. One size only.

Genuine—Syrup of Figs

C. F. HALL CO.
ASH DEPARTMENT STORE
DUNDEE, ILLINOIS

CLEAN SWEEP SALES.

School Soon Begins.

Boy's good, dark, well-made three-piece Suits, especially adapted for school wear. Sizes 14 to 16 2.69
Boy's two-piece School Suits, plain and mixed colors. Sizes 8 to 15 $1.98, 1.79, 1.59, 1.49

School Supplies.

5c and 10c and no more. Biggest values of the season in tablets, slates, pencils, etc., etc., in our 5c and 10c Department.

Big Reductions Here.

Ladies' White Duck Coats, half price
Girls' Fancy White Dresses. Big cut in price. 66c, 73c and 98c
Men's Drawers. Sizes 32 and 30. 10c
Men's Regular 70c Work Pants. 49c
Boys' Shirt Waist values. 10c
One to three yards Print Remnants.
Per yard 3c
Men's fine quality Night Shirts. 49c
Ladies' Summer Skirts. Former prices greatly reduced in order to close them out. $3.98, $4.99 and $2.98 Skirts
now on sale at $1.98
Ladies' Skirts, of best 121c Percale, 49c
Fifty Fine Dress Skirts. Cut price $1.49

Vests Free.

At our former sale prices of $4.95 and $7.95, we still offer our Men's Two-Piece Suits, and, in addition, a Fancy Vest free with every suit.

Remember Dinner Ticket,
Horse Ticket. Introduction
Ticket and Refunded Car
Fare Offer.

(Show round trip R. R. tickets if you come by train.)

C. F. HALL CO.
Dundee, Ill.

ISAAC B. FOX, J. P.
Real Estate and Insurance.
Farm Lands and Village Lots.

PHONE—Office 423.
Residence 504.
BARRINGTON, ILL.

M. C. McINTOSH,
LAWYER.

Suite 420 Ashland Bldg., Chicago
Residence: Barrington.
(CENTRAL 602)
PHONES: (CENTRAL 208)
(110) BARRINGTON 211.

Whitewashing and Painting Wanted.

Will be here in due time to do all whitewashing and painting by machine.
Address me at Barrington,
Illinois. ADOLPH PFUND.

L. H. Bennett,
LAWYER.
With Jackson & Bennett.

Do a General Law Business. Practice in all State and Federal Courts.

Real Estate and Loans.
Office in Grunwald Bldg.

Phone Office 223 Residence 2011.
BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS.

A. C. Gieske, M.D.C.
Veterinarian

Graduate of Chicago Veterinary College

Phone 323 Barrington, Ill.

Barrington Local Happenings Told in Short Paragraphs

Henry Rohlfmeier is quite ill.

Dudley Smith of Irving Park is visiting George Comstock and family.
Miss Violet Ullrich has been visiting her cousin Miss Ethel Mosser at Palatine.

FOR SALE—A blue and white porcelain chamber set. Inquire at this office.

Mrs. John Sizer of Chicago is spending her vacation with her mother-in-law, Mrs. A. Sizer.

David Runge of Ziegler, South
Dakota, visited at the home of Henry
Frey this week.

F. W. Elfrink of Highmore, South
Dakota, spent Monday and Tuesday with his sister, Miss Mildred Elfrink.

Miss Mary E. Glynn of Wauconda, Ill., conveyed to H. Walter Smith of Culchaster, Ill., the flat property in Cornelia street, 219 feet west of Evanston avenue, Chicago, with 22 x 137 feet of ground, south front, for $20,000, with incumbency of $10,400. Mr.
Smith bought from Joseph E. Glynn.

the flat property in Cornelia street,
270 feet west of Evans-ton avenue, Chicago, with 48 x 137 feet of ground, south front, for $25,000, with incumbrance of $12,000.

GIRL WANTED—For general housekeeping. Apply to
MRS. WEICHELZ,
Barrington.

A Brooklyn magistrate declares that a man who contemplates matrimony on a week ought to be sent to jail.
But suppose the lady in the case is able to support him?

Services at the Baptist Church,
Friday at 7:30, "Sunday School Round
Table;" Saturday, 7:30 p. m., "Prayer and Praise Service;" Sunday, 10:30
a. m., "What Jesus Taught," Sunday school at 11:45 a. m. Evening preaching at 7:30, subject "Young and Old People Who See Visions;" Young People's meeting at 6:45. You are cordially invited to all of these services.

V. V. and T. T. PHELPS,
Pastors.

Mrs. Geo. Banks and family spent
Monday with Wauconda relatives.

Miss Rose Kampert visited with her sister Mrs. R. Spruue of Nunda this week.

FOR SALE—Gas, practically new, or sale cheap. Inquire at Review
office.

Leo Malmann of Wauconda assisted
L. A. Jones at the Barrington Pharmacy, Tuesday.

Attorney G. W. Spunner left on Thursday for a business trip to Salt
Lake City and the coast.

Call on Lamey & Co. for lime, tile, cement, paint, etc.

Miss Mabel Wagner returned from a two-week's vacation with friends at Sycamore and Burlington, Ill.

NOTICE—The price of rough, dry family washing will be raised one cent a pound after September 1.
BARRINGTON STEAM LAUNDRY.

Miss Edith Wagner returned home
Saturday after a week's visit with Mr.
and Mrs. L. A. Kerper, of Beloit,
Wis., formerly of this place.

Thompson & Field's ice cream at the Barrington Pharmacy.

WANTED—Girl for general housework and able to answer telephone well. Wages $4.00. Inquire at Review Office.

Charles Gotschalk is suffering from a severe case of blood poisoning, with chances in his favor at present.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Abbott and Dudley Smith took a trip to Michigan
City on the steamer Theodore Roosevelt, Tuesday.

A slight railway wreck on the North-Western near Cary Saturday held several passenger trains at Barrington for a few hours. No serious damage was done.

FOR SALE—Gasoline stove; cheap if taken at once. Inquire at this office.

The Woodstock and Barrington Y.
M. C. A. baseball team will cross hats
Saturday afternoon in this place.
Everybody turn out and give the boys
the encouragement they deserve. It will be a good game.

WANTED—Three or four acres near Barrington. Address, stating price,
S. C. HENRY.

2670 North 44th Ave., Chicago.

Dimas Orchestra of Joliet will give a grand dance at Bicknese's new pavilion, on the shores of Lake Zurich, Saturday evening, Aug. 25th. Tickets are 50 cents. A good time is anticipated.

Schwenn Bros. had the misfortune to lose one of their most valuable horses Tuesday. On arriving at the barn in the morning it was found with a broken leg and had to be shot. It was one used on the horse.

FOR SALE—An excellent gun for sale cheap. Inquire of this office.

Winnie had been very naughty and her mamma said: "Don't you know you will never go to heaven if you are so naughty?" After thinking a moment she said: "Oh, well, I have been to the circus once, and Uncle Tom's Cabin twice. I can't expect to go everywhere."

WANTED—Man to work on farm
Must understand milking. Apply to
B. F. FANNING,
Barrington.

The Dundee W. R. C. have invited the Barrington W. R. C. to meet with them September 14th at their regular meeting. All ladies that will go, please let secretary, Mrs. Manford Bennett, know as soon as possible, so she can write them.

Ed Peters is erecting a two-story frame building next to Comstock & Nagata's livery, and will rent the same to Prouty & Jenks, the implement dealers, for their store. It is said that a new handsome brick block will be erected on the site now occupied by the frame building now occupied by Prouty & Jenks' store, by Mr.
Groff of the firm of Alverson & Groff,
the meat market men.

Heath & Milligan's Climax buggy balist and their wagon and implement paint is the best paint for the purpose manufactured. Sold by Lamey & Co.

FOR RENT—House with large garden, pasture for cow, plenty of stable room, and an ideal place to raise chickens. For particulars inquire of
A. W. LANDWEH, Barrington, Ill.

The Y. M. C. A. gave a most delicious lawn social Saturday evening of last week. It was one of the most enjoyable affairs of its kind ever held in Barrington and was the source of considerable revenue to that noble organization.

The 11-month and 27 days old child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lagaschulte past away Monday. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery Thursday, after funeral services were held at the house, Rev. Stanger of the St. Paul's church officiating.

DAIRY FARM FOR SALE—One hundred and thirty acres, four and a-half miles from Dundee, about the same from Barrington. A Good 10-room house, barn 32x40, lean 16x40, cement floor, watering device in barn, good milk house, good well and windmill, fenced and cross fenced. This farm is in good shape to go right on and make money from the start. Price $75.00 an acre. Call or write
F. H. REESE,
Dundee, Ill.

DANIEL F. LAMEY

SCHOOL BOOKS! SCHOOL STATIONERY!

We have a New Stock of all the Text Books used in the Barrington schools. You can find here anything you want in the School Supplies or Books.

Have You Any Old School Books?

We buy all Second-hand School Books that are now used in Barrington Schools. We would like you to bring them in next week, if you have any books to sell.

Dress Goods.

A Big Line of Summer Goods. A Large assortment.
5c to 10c and 12 1-2c per yard

Underwear.

Large Stock, all sizes, Men's, Ladies' and Children's Summer Underwear.

10c, 20c, 25c and 50c a Garment

School Shoes.

The Cheapest place to buy School Shoes is here.

$1.00, $1.25 and $1.50 a Pair

Daniel F. Lamey, Sodr Building
DEALER IN, BARRINGTON, ILL.

Cement Sidewalks

are our special line of business and those parties for whom we have done work can testify as to the durability of the sidewalks, while our competitors are wondering how on earth we can quote such low prices and yet furnish the Best material.
If you need a sidewalk let us figure with you.

Braham & Homuth

BARRINGTON, ILL.

You've no idea the amount of work it will save you. Try it.

An Engine Without An Engineer.

An I. H. C. Gasoline Engine

does not require an engineer to run it. It is so simple and practical in construction that it requires very little attention and is easily operated by anyone.

An I. H. C. Gasoline Engine

runs smoothly and produces more power than rated. It is very economical in the use of fuel, consuming less per horse power than any other engine of the same rated capacity.

An I. H. C. Gasoline Engine

is a wise investment. It saves time and money, and increases your profit as a result of the increased production. No progressive farmer can afford to be without an I. H. C. engine. There is one to fit your special need.

Made in the following styles and sizes:
Vertical—2, 3 and 5 horse power.
Horizontal—4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 15 horse power.
Portable—4, 6, 8, 10, 12 and 15 horse power.
Call and examine an I. H. C. gasoline engine and see for yourself the merits of this engine.
We also handle a full line of Deering Mowers and Binders and Weber Wapons, in fact everything the farmer wants on the farm. Call and examine our stock and be convinced that we are up-to-date implement dealers.

PROUTY & JENCKS.

This Space Reserved for the Up-to-date
Millinery Store.

Phone 272. Main Street, Opp. Depot

H. L. Prehm,

UNDERTAKER,
DEALER IN

Hardware, Tinware, Paints and Oils.

Quality the best, prices the lowest.

LAKE ZURICH, ILLINOIS.

If you want good work at a moderate price, send your

Laundry

to the

Barrington Steam Laundry
TELEPHONE 441. BARRINGTON, ILL.

SCREENS

Now is the time to prevent the entry of flies to your homes by putting in screens. I am in a position to make any size screens on short notice. The price won't hurt you, either. Just inquire of me how cheap I can equip your home with screens.

E. M. BLOCKS

FURNITURE AND UNDERTAKING

Telephone 301. Barrington, Illinois