Scotch Minister Announces Disci of Remarkable Germicide.

of Remarkable Germeice.

A claim of an autounding nature is put forward by a minister whose field of work lies within the bounds of the detection of the control of which he can cure every kind of infectious, loathsome, and incurable disease, even when considered, humanly speaking, hopeless. He has demonstrated to his own satisfaction that hospitals for infectious diseases are quite unnecessary, and that surgical operations except on the battlefield or in railway or other accidents, are totally uncalled for. No operation is needed, according to him, for appendicitis, for example, as it can be perfectly well cured by the germicide. The discoverer of the germicide has published a list of the names of 50 patients, with their addresses, whom he says he has cured, or is in process of curing, own in some cases, after they had received their they warrant? from medical practitioners.

New Danger for Burglars.

A phonographic device that will call the police by telephone adds a new hazard to the dangers of the burglar's profession. When an attempt is made to force a window or door with which the proper connections have been made an electric current operates a phonograph in the garret. The machine calls up central and asks for the police station. The phonograph then informs the officers of the robbery, giving street and number, and repeats this information as long as the receiver is down. Meantime, the intruder, all unconscious that an alarm has been rung in, virtually walks into a tray, and if the call is promptly responded to is soon in the lockup.

Our cows made $41 per head and I didn't feed any grain; only prairie hay, so you see we are doing well. FOUND HE COULD MAKE TIME.

Quick Response.

Life is such a contant rush to a well-known physician that to secure a little recreation he has recourse to ruses. A visitor called one night, and began a speech to the servant:

"I want the doctor to come over as quickly as he can." the servant answed. "It left orders that he was so busy that unless it was absolutely a matter of life and death he couldn't go out at all this evening."

"But," said the caller, "it isn't illness at all."

"What then?"

"We want him to come over and take a hand in a game of whist."

"Oh, that's different."

The servant disappeared, and reappeared a moment later.

"The doctor says he'll be over in ten miutes, sir," he announced.

Resenthal, the Planist, Made Muc Trouble in Hotel.

Rosenthal, the planist, is one of those entitled to have his crankiness termed "the eccentricities of genius," says the San Francisco Chronicle. When he inspected his rooms at the Majestic upon his arrival very late the other night, he went soutly to the adjoining doors, and placing his earse close to the cracks, exclaimed in brokes English, "Zgodd,, no sounds pass these." After nodding his approval of the grand plano and the furniture he frowned at the tan-colored proval of the grand piano and the fur-niture he frowned at the tan-colored window shades. "Must be green." He was assured that a change would be made especially for him the next day. At five o'clock in the morning Ros-enthal, clad only in his pajamas, came scurrying extetledly down stairs and into the office, where the 'drowsy a night clerk was nodding at the deak. at treet cars' Notee! PE-RU-NA A MEDICAL COMPOUND

In any medical compound as much depends upon the manner in which it is pounded as upon the ingredients used.

First, there must be a due proportion of the ingredients. Each drug in the pharmacopeia has its special action. To combine any drug with other drugs that have alightly different action, the combination must be made with strict reference to the use for which the compound is intended. The drugs may be well selected as to their effector, but the compound ENTIRELY SPOLLED BY THE SPOPORTION in which they are combined.

It takes years and years of experience to discover this proportion. There so law of chemistry, of pharmacy, by which the exact balance of proportion be determined. EXPERIENCE IS THE ONLY GUIDE.

In compounding a catarria remedy Dr. Hartman has had many years' ex-perience. In the use of the various ingredients which compose the catarria remedy, Peruna, he has learned, little by little, how to harmonise the action of each ingredient, how to combine them into a stable compound, how to arrange them into such nice proportions as to blead the taste, the operation and the charmonism of the compoundation of the compoundation of the central product beyond the criticism of occurre, pharmacists or chemists.

WE REPEAT, THAT AS MUCH DEPENDS ON THE WAY IN WHICH THE DRUGS ARE COMBINED AS DEPENDS UPON THE DRUGS THEM-SELVES.

The compound must present a stability which is not affected by changes of temperature, not affected by exposure to the air, not affected by age. It must be so combined that it will remain just the same whether used in the logging or mining camps of the northwest or the coffee plantations of the tropics.

A complete list of the ingredients of Peruna would not enable any druggist or physician to reproduce Peruna. It is the skill and asgacity by which these ingredients are brought together that pive Peruna much of its peculiar claims as an efficacious citarrh remedy.

However much virtue each ingredient of Peruna may possess, the value of the compound depends largely upon the manner and proportion in which they are combined. The right ingredients, put together rightly, is the only way a medical compound can be made of real value.
