Lecture at Baptist Church.

Capt. S. Alberli, having lately returned from Siberia through friendly assistance, is able to give one of the most thrilling and interesting experiences ever presented to the American public. Having served as an officer in the Russian army eleven years, two years in Turkey, three years in the Russian mountains, and six years in various different capacities, namely, engineer in the mines and exile transporter from place, thus knowing practically the everyday life throughout Russia and Siberia.

His name to American several years ago but had to return to Russia for the purpose of settling some business engaged to an estate left him by a relative, when he was taken prisoner and sent back to Siberia on the occasion not to serve the country but to make his name known as a hero. He managed to escape through friendly assistance, and to report to all the world his experiences and what actually exists in Russia and Siberia, where there is so much suffering and torture.

It will be time well spent by any one attending this lecture, as it is a thrilling and elevating, giving them an opportunity to learn something they never knew in a lifetime, and it is given by a person that has been through that country for years and has passed through all its horrors. Illustrated with 100 stereoscopic views and moving pictures.

Leonard-Donica Wedding.

A marriage that was the social event of the week took place in St. Ann's Catholic church Tuesday morning, October 1st, at half past ten o'clock when Miss Helen Donica of Grove avenue, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Donica, was married to James Leonard of Lake Geneva, Wisconsin.

Rev. Father E. J. Fox performed the ceremony and Charles Leonard of Beloit, Wisconsin, and Miss Marie McCarthy of Chicago, a cousin of the bride, accompanied the bridal couple to the altar.

Miss Donica was a pretty, delicate countess of white mousseline-de-soie over silk and Miss McCarthy also wore white. The artistic interior of the church was made further beautiful with floral decorations of white blooms, palms and ferns. A high central cluster of acanthus leaves was placed above the tabernacle and bouquets of marguerites, asters and gladioli adorned the altar on each side, while within the chancel rail palms and ferns were nicely arranged; the side altars were trimmed in white, and flowers and over the chancel rail was suspended a large arch of asparagus fern and hydrangeas under which the wedding party stood.

The ceremony was read immediately after the entrance to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. F. O. Williams, and a high mass followed. The church choir sang the chorale music of the mass and Mrs. Williams sang the solos, also singing during the ceremony, "O Promise Me," and later Millard's, "Ave Maria." Many friends gathered to witness the marriage and the wedding was pronounced one of the prettiest that have occurred here. It is also the first wedding that has taken place in this church for years.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Donica home at noon to a few relatives, friends and young ladies of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard left at three o'clock for a short trip to points unknown and will then settle in Lake Geneva where Mr. Leonard conducts an agency for musical instruments.

Miss Donica was born and raised in this neighborhood and has been a teacher in recent years in the Kelso, Donica and White schools. She is widely known for an industrious and thoroughly conscientious young woman whose capabilities have been acknowledged. Her school work has been appreciated and it is not generally known that she had been offered excellent positions in grade schools in towns on the north shore and Libertyville, Lake county, which she declined, preferring to remain nearer home. Her work in St. Ann's church will be greatly missed, she having always taken an active interest in the choir, Sunday school and care of the altars.

Mr. Leonard has visited around Wauconda and is a friend of the Davlin and Murray families. His sister, Mrs. James McGill of Delevan, Wisconsin, has frequently visited here. They will be at home after November first.

A Fable For Critics

Once there was an Ox. He was a fine, hefty Ox. He could pull a big load. He never balked, but always liked to go straight ahead.

But the Ox had enemies.

There was the Flea and his whole big family. "We don't care whether this Ox travels or not," said the Flea and his folks. "All we want is some of his blood." Whereupon the Fleas eternally pestered the Ox and gave him That Tired Feeling.

Then there was the Tom Cat and his brothers—the Doubting Thomases. "We don't know whether this Ox is going the right way or not," said the Thomases. "Anyhow, we'll scratch his back for him." Whereupon the Felines jumped on the back of the Ox and scratched him for fair, which made the Ox exceedingly sorrowful.

Then there was the Fiste Pup and his fellow Fistes—a whole litter of Fistes. "We don't care how slow the Ox goes," said the Fistes; "the slower the merrier for us. All we want is to lag behind him and bite his tail." Whereupon the Fistes snapped continually at the Tail of the Ox, which gave the Ox a mighty mournfulness.

Finally the Ox, pestered constantly with the Fleas and the Felines and the Fistes, got to looking sickly. He stopped and lay down on his job, and there was no more going forward for him.

KEY TO THE SITUATION: The town is the Ox. The Fleas and the Felines and the Fistes are those citizens who criticize every progressive movement and do everything they can in their petty ways to make the Ox quit pulling in the right direction.

MORAL: Give the Ox a chance to pull. Everybody holler, "Git up!"

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fever and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles Guaranteed by Barrington Pharmacy. 50c.

Mrs. Charlotte Earith.

Mrs. Charlotte Earith of Russell street died about four o'clock Sunday morning after an illness extending over a year's time. Her last days were somewhat less free from pain than previously and she was about the house until Friday night. She was conscious until the end and died peacefully. Mrs. Earith was the wife of the late Richard Earith who died September 1st, 1894. They were people who lived greatly to themselves; Mrs. Earith belonging to no organizations excepting the Dorcas society of the Baptist church and she never took active part in social affairs. She was a member of the Episcopal church and never affiliated with any church here. She was born in Sohane, England, August 20th, 1831.
